The Old Planters of Cape Ann

Paper Read at Manchester Historical Society Meeting Contains Much of Interest Concerning Early Days of North Shore

AT a meeting of the Manchester Historical Society on Monday evening Joseph A. Torrey read a paper on "The Old Planters of Cape Ann." After giving a brief history of the vicissitudes of the pioneers, who in 1624 came to what is now Gloucester to found a colony and to fish in the bay, and who two years later removed to what is now Salem, he related such facts as are known concerning those who made their homes in Manchester. Among these were William Allen, William Bennett, John Foster, Walter Knight, Laurence Leach, George Norton, John Woodbury, as well as of John Balch, Thomas Gardner, and Roger Conant who took root in Salem and Beverly. Concluding with a comparative estimate of the Puritan and Pilgrim character as exhibited at that period, he spoke as follows:

The Puritans sought to reform the established Church without leaving it. The Pilgrims were a sect of the Puritans, who, despairing of success in attempts to reform the Church from within, resolved to come out and be separate. They were stigmatised as "Separatists." They had left the Church of England before coming to Plymouth. For twelve years they had lived and formed a church of their own in Holland with John Robinson as pastor and William Brewster as elder. Holland, which allowed them much liberty, was yet but a temporary asylum. They must have a country of their own with freedom to worship God and liberty to shape their political institutions! For high religious motive, for devotion and sacrifice, the Pilgrims, as compared with the Puritans must bear the palm; but the Puritan was a close second. By such noble souls was New England settled. A body of men more remarkable for their piety and morality and more respectable for their wisdom never commenced the settlement of any country. It has been truly said, "God sifted the finest wheat of Europe to plant it here on virgin soil."

The Puritans were professedly loyal to the Established Church of England. On their departure for the New World Higginson declared, "We do not go to New England as separatists from the Church of England, though we can but separate from the corruptions in it; but we go to practise the positive parts of Church reformation, and propagate the true religion in America." He concluded this declaration with a fervent prayer for the church and state of England. But in their seven week's voyage, with leisure for serious discussion of their mission and later in conference with their Plymouth brethren, they must have concluded that their only hope for religious and political freedom lay in "a church without a bishop and a state without a king."

The fact remains that within six weeks of the landing of Higginson, on June 29, 1630 he established a veritable Congregational Church at Salem.

Of the two bodies I remark this distinction: The Pilgrims stood rather for religious freedom and the Puritans for political freedom, though each stood stoutly for both. The Pilgrims were comparatively mild. The Pilgrims never hanged anybody. The Puritans were independent, aggressive, uncompromising. Their heads were hard, their hearts not altogether so. It is not true, in the words of a wicked wag that on landing "they fell on their knees and then on the aborigines." The Indians were paid for their lands. The Plymouth treaty with Massasoit remained inviolate for fifty years till broken by the redmen.

The Puritans whipped the Quakers, who were a nuisance, and banished Roger Williams the pestilent "higher critic" of church and state. It is to the credit of the Puritans that they stamped out the Witchcraft delusion, albeit by heroic remedies. Their warrant was the scripture injunction, "Thou shalt not suffer a witch to live." They hanged the witches, while England and Germany at the same period burned them.

Intolerance was necessary for self-defence. They had come hither to enjoy their own opinions and this freedom must not be interfered with. The alternative was to banish or be banished by the intruders. The continent was wide, with room elsewhere for those who differed. By their very intolerance they founded institutions whose strength is freedom of opinion. Edmund Burke declared "the people of New England were not worse than the rest of mankind. Withal they were a sturdy race with just enough of grit, grace and greed to make godliness profitable for this life as well as for the life to come."

The Puritans had their faults or they would not have been human. They were faults of the age in which they lived. Their virtues were beyond those of their age. They builded better than they knew, which is a proof of divine guidance. God does not leave himself without a witness. They may be compared to the great image which Nebuchadnezzar set up, whose head of gold and whose feet were part metal and part mud, but planted on the earth. These pioneers of civil and religious liberty had a high ideal. They strove to attain it for themselves but were not so successful in imposing it on others. They had an ingrowing and outgoing conscience. They would regulate others' conscience as well as their own. This is a queer sort of freedom of conscience. The conscience that is good enough for one man is not good enough for two. We cannot legislate men into virtue. Man grows like a tree, from within. Only a right inward impulse can secure right outward conduct. Their devotion to Scripture was sincere but narrow. For English law they would substitute the laws of Moses. They saw some aspects of truth so clearly and nearly that they were blind to the facts of human experience, a sort of moral Myopia. After all, narrowness is forceful, liberalism is lax. Their faults were but the efflorescence of their virtues. "The flower will rot, the seed will grow." Conscience of the Puritan brand is apt to be wrong at first and right at last. Time makes ancient good uncouth. The world is not ready yet to accept a literal construction of the Sermon on the mount. But today there is a renaissance of the Puritan conscience in its better aspect and more enlightened application, especially as it has led to the exposure of private greed and public wrong and provide a remedy. The principles built into society by the fathers can alone sustain the nation through all its new occasions and new duties.

Such were the fathers. The women, too, were a patient, pious, brave lot whose trials were yet greater for they had to endure the fathers also. Let us not think of these pioneers only as saintly and heroic, and lose sight of the prosaic and essentially human side of their nature. They were men of like passions with ourselves. Their motives were mixed. They had faith, but they wanted fish. They respected conscience, but expected cod. Their piety was not altogether dissociated from pelts. And what was liberty without land! Said Capt. John Smith of Virginia, "I am not so simple as to think that any other motive than wealth will erect a commonwealth there, or draw a company from their ease and humors at home." The flag will follow trade is the popular notion. But this opinion does not cover all the facts, nor tell the whole story. These colonies had a commercial basis. The objects of the settlers were mainly religious. The objects of the promoters was the money supposed to be in it. So while the promoters invested in the trading and fishing companies and themselves remained at home and drew the profits through their governors and agents whom they appointed, the poor settlers were licensed to fish, fowl, hunt, hawk and trade with the Indians in the lands there about for the promoter's benefit chiefly, for their own incidentally with all the hazards and hardships thereto pertaining.

Without such financial backing these religious patriots could not have succeeded. It was a partnership secular and sacred. Had not the settlers been actuated by religious motives they would have abandoned the enterprise, as did several who attempted to colonize on a purely commercial basis. Had they followed the track of their Spanish predecessors, the lust for gold and the enervating climate might have been fatal to their virtue and this fair continent blighted by cruelty and corruption, instead of the abode of civil and religious liberty, an asylum for the oppressed, an apostle of freedom for the world. The time, place and the men were in happy conjunction. On their undertaking fate,—by which I mean providence—frowned at first and finally smiled. Exiled in Holland the Pilgrims would go to Virginia. But there religious freedom would have been denied them. Next, their intention was to settle near the mouth of the Hudson. But the Dutch, who were planning a colony of their own at that place secretly persuaded the captain of the Pilgrims' ship to contrive delays and then conduct them to these northern coasts, and there under the plea of shoals and approaching winter, discouraging them from venturing to the haven of their desire. The barren sands of Cape Cod, which was their first view of the New World afforded but a gloomy prospect. But they endured as seeing Him who is invisible. They held on and held out.

If the Planters could have had a glimpse of the glory that should crown their endeavors, how greatly would have they been sustained and cheered. But, like Abraham, they endured as seeing Him who is invisible.

Time doth her chart unroll that we may see
The Past, but not the Future yet to be.
Our fathers, could they but have seen
The changes to be wrought in their demesne—
The latent beauty of the sylvan scene,
The arts and industries on every hand,
The glory of a nation vast and grand,
Dowered with Freedom and divinely planned,
A country blest o'er every land beside,
How would hearts have thrilled with joy and pride!
For us they toiled and bled in Freedom's morn.
We are free-born!!

HOUSEBOAT, MARBLEHEAD HARBOR

Tea and The Dance

By SALLY STORROW

"WONDERFUL!" the Englishman languidly reached for his fifth cup of oolong, and asked, "Why are you Americans always in such a ripplin' hurry?"

"If that is a conundrum, I give it up!" gayly replied the New York girl, as she gathered her filmy wraps about her preparatory to leaving the tea-house."

"I also resign," murmured her attendant cavalier, as the twentieth motor-car whizzed up to the door, and the hostess was heard wearily explaining for the twentieth time. "No we can't serve it quite so soon. You see we do it English country fashion, and boil spring water fresh for each brew. You must wait just long enough for that, and for the toast to brown properly. We always do it separately for each order, to have it good." And then she piloted her tea guests into the rooms, tactfully bringing some antiques to their notice, to occupy their attention.

"Arnold Bennett says your United States is a crucible, and Isreal Langwill terms it a melting-pot for all nationalities, and so I presume the present stages of boiling are so rapid that everyone must perforce hurry," said the Briton, furnishing his own answer, as if it had been rehearsed.

"Why not call it a mixing-bowl," queried the hostess, in culinary wise, "so much of a stir,—and when we simmer down then shall we develop a veritable leisure class. Mr. Bennett, of whom you speak, tells that a New York host, after madly rushing him through the station to catch a somewhat earlier car, triumphantly explained at dinner that they had achieved just four and one-half minutes of saved time by the feat. 'And now what will you do with it?' asked the guest. But the host had not really thought of anything special there. It was just his way of hurrying. We had some people Tuesday who just loafed about elegantly," she continued. "You would have felt at home with them. Of course they were from Philadelphia. And Monday there were several Southerners. They never hurry. The card-parties make it nice for us. We can serve them quite proper tea, and all the accessories in good condition. But so much of American tea-drinking is of the 'gabble, gobble, git' order, to quote somebody or other, that they don't even bother to notice the blend."

"I may be enough of a heathen to enjoy Demerara sugar in my coffee," said the Englishman, "but I never take lemon with English breakfast, when there is cream on the tray." And he glanced at a plump dame who had put all the lemon slices in her cup. "It may be because she is reducing," he added softly, "but orange Pekoe with a slice of lemon, and of orange, with perhaps a clove in the cup now and then, is so much better."

"According to Hashimura Toga," said the lingering New York maiden, "we serve tea here stylishly, with tango, etc., and with great absence of stiff-souled Japanese ambassadorial dignity, when thirsty for oolong." "When the tea goes out the tango's in!" All gasped. "And that is why 'tis no longer difficult to compel men and husbands to come to tea!" Thereupon she wisely vanished. "Tea never makes persons dance, in Japan," said the Englishman. "As for me, I want iced tea with my tango at a hotel. But for my afternoon jaunt into the country, and my refreshing cup of hot tea, let me have it here." And he bowed to the hostess. "But really you ought to give it a name. The 'rose tree blend,' now; that is a quaint, and 'Londony' name.—I know it's not Sir Thomas's yellow label, 'though I'll wager it comes from London!" "Yes, that is why you like it, I presume," said the hostess. "A friend of mine, when she fills her own caddy, always does a commission for me there. She has a special place." "Tea-making, like dancing, is an art," said another guest, "and far better the slow ceremony of Japan than the nervously made tea in some American tea-places."

"Oh, they're not to blame," said the hostess. "Who could make tea proper, all the time conscious of some one waiting in a hurry? If you are not good I'll threaten to put your name in 'of those present,' another of our American customs that our British friend dislikes."

"What I don't like is the mixing of business and pleasure," said he. "Advertising, like diplomacy, should be tactful, as well as decently truthful. You go in such hordes too, all to one big place, then presto, change to another. There are a number of little artistic places all about London, each with its special flavor. It's more fun to try some of 'em sometimes, and then we love quiet. 'Popular resort' and 'regardless of expense' are strictly American phrases. Tête à tête tea sometimes appeals to me. An afternoon in the country, a small party, and a little originality now and then is so refreshing. A little informality, and the privilege to invite one's soul to loiter and stroll about a bit. Here, all the places seem cast in one mould."

"How could it be otherwise?" contributed the persistent guest. "Deadly efficiency and hopeless adequacy are American attributes of which we are proud. While efficiency, one hundred per cent, is proper enough in its place, it becomes a bore when eternally met with. Old-time simplicity, restfulness, democracy and courtesy are escaping us. We haven't time for 'em. The majority of folks see things plain black-and-white. 'Tis only the few who can appreciate the innumerable values of gray in between."

"That is why our dancing is usually accurate as clock work to be admired. But Southern nationalities usually dance as well because the poesy of rythm and harmony, the graceful languor, or brilliancy of abandon, depend so much upon the personal poise, of temperament and charm."

Rain last Friday afternoon did not deter a large gathering being present at the outdoor mass meeting in the interest of "Votes for Women" held on the grounds of Col. and Mrs. Henry E. Russell at Manchester Cove. In spite of the inclement weather, about 250 well-wishers of the cause listened to the several well-known speakers. The Russell estate proved an admirable location for the rally, the ivy-covered house and the superbly green lawns making a most pleasing setting for an out-door gathering. The residence is located on the side of a hill, overlooking the grounds. It was here that the crowd applauded the remarks of Miss Margaret Foley of Boston, the noted suffrage worker. It would seem by the manner in which her remarks and those of the other speakers were received that "the cause" must have received a considerable impetus locally from the meeting, for Manchester and Magnolia townspeople were interested auditors as well as the many summer people who attended the meeting. Mrs. Maude Wood Park, Mrs. Francis C. Scanlan and Wm. Roscoe Thayer were among the speakers. Col. Russell spoke briefly and Mrs. Russell followed with a few well chosen remarks. Tea was served after the meeting and an informal reception held. All present voted it the most successful meeting held on the shore thus far.

A SWIMMING POOL is one in fact, when out of a picnic party of twenty-four members and subscribers thirteen are able to swim to their destination three-quarters of a mile away. Last Friday a number of the young people went over to Kettle Island from Magnolia beach for a day's picnic, and more than half of them swam to the island from the club-house, among them two lads, Nolan Hussey and Reggy White, each eleven years old, and five young ladies. Swimming has its practical side and parents are keenly alive to this fact. On Saturday, August 29th, the last of the water sports at the North Shore Swimming Pool were held. The challenge cup in competition diving, to be won three years before possession is given, was won by Charles Wadsworth, 3rd, whose name will be engraved on the cup for 1914. Miss Johnston and Miss Polly Dumaine were given honorable mention, their score in points being exactly the same. The excellence of the diving by the young boys called for recognition, and the committee awarded a special cup to Fred Dumaine. Mr. James Burgess Green gave some of his amusing water stunts, which were greatly appreciated by the members. A mixed relay team of boys and girls swam a match of 25 yards in competition, which ended the program of the day and practically of the 1914 season. The membership of the pool has steadily increased and many of the cottagers along the shore have become stockholders in place of season subscribers. The membership and subscriptions of 1914 will reach a total of about 500.

Mrs. Robert S. Bradley has returned from Europe after a very trying trip. Embarking just prior to the war on the German liner, the Cincinnati, she was forced to bear the trying experiences incident to a trip across the ocean. The ship was darkened and ran through dense fog without sounding a horn until remonstrances were filed with the captain. Mrs. Bradley is at her beautiful summer place at Pride's and has begun again her interesting work with the Improvement society. The organization has under her direction provided for safety regulations in Central Square and has arranged for systematic street cleaning. Miss Bradley is still at Labrador doing social work with Dr. Grenfel and is intensely interested in it. Such a spirit of friendly service is indeed praiseworthy.

Miss Louie R. Stanwood has returned to Manchester after a visit to Peterboro, N. H., where she went last week for the MacDowell Music Festival. She will return to Peterboro later for another visit. Her activity in the suffrage cause brought her back to the North Shore for the present.

Dr. and Mrs. James Henry Lancashire returned to Manchester the early part of the week after a motor trip to Saratoga where they went to attend the futurity races last Saturday. Saratoga is Dr. Lancashire's old home, and Mrs. Lancashire lived there for several years. They were accompanied on the motor trip by Miss Helen Lancashire, Ammi W. Lancashire and T. S. Watson, the latter of New York.

An engagement which comes from Philadelphia, of much interest to the Boston contingent on the North Shore, is that of Miss Elizabeth Claxton and John Humphreys Storer, Jr. Miss Claxton is a daughter of Mrs. William R. Claxton (Emily La Farge) of Philadelphia. Mr. Storer is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Storer of Boston and "Ferncroft," Waltham, formerly of the Manchester colony.

AT LITTLE BOAR'S HEAD, N. H., on Thursday last, Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Adams, gave a very charming tea at their summer home, "Zamphire." Mrs. Wiltbank and Mrs. Stevens poured and Miss Bachelder presided over the punch bowl.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hubbard and Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Lippincott of South Bend, Ind., were week-end guests of Col. and Mrs. Geo. M. Studebaker at "Breaknolle," Little Boar's Head.

On Wednesday Miss Keyes entertained at luncheon in honor of Mrs. Bursley, of Portland, who is the guest of Miss Gilman. On Saturday Miss Gilman gave a luncheon for Mrs. Bursley, who has many friends at Rye and at Little Boar's Head.

Saturday afternoon being one of heavy rain and the storm keeping every one indoors, the guests at the Faragut, Rye Beach, planned an impromptu program, which was given in the Casino, to the delight of all present. Col. Flood was master of ceremonies and in his inimitable manner introduced the various celebrities who had been inveigled into appearing. Fun and good humor was the keynote of the afternoon's amusement. There were plantation melodies by a company of colored singers and dancers, led by the Carter Sisters; Miss Mary Carter recited "In Cotton Pickin' Time" in a very realistic manner. Miss Marian May, but recently returned from Europe, cleverly gave her views of Woman's Suffrage, and to this reply was made in a very happy and facetious view by A. L. Hubbard of South Bend. Henry Guy proved himself a buck-and-wing dancer of no mean ability and certainly of great agility, while E. G. Eberhart's contribution was most apropos of the weather. He sang in excellent form "The Rainy Day," an original parody on "The Perfect Day" by Carrie Jacobs Bond. Mr. Niedringhouse, of St Louis, whose make-up for the occasion was that of the traditional artist did some admirable cartoons of various well-known people in the audience. The orchestra provided music for the dancing which completed the afternoon's entertainment.

Yearly subscription to North Shore Breeze, $2.00.

THE North Shore Grill has offered a happy diversion for cottagers and others out motoring or shopping during the hot days of the present week. The delightfully cool garden with its dancing floor, about which are set canopied tables, furnishes a pleasant attraction where one might sip afternoon tea, and enjoy a little dancing to the accompaniment of the Hungarian orchestra; for no matter how warm, dancing is never tabooed, and this out-door dancing floor is just the thing when the days are warmest. Many prominent people have been noticed dining at the Grill this week. Nicholas Longworth and Rudolphe L. Agassiz entertained at luncheon there Thursday. William Fitler and family of Philadelphia dined at the Grill last night. Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Pollak, who have been at the Oceanside this summer, gave a farewell dinner at the Grill to a number of their friends before leaving. Russell L. Steinert, Claude Kilpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. E. Prescott Rowe, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Graham, Dr. J. H. Lancashire, Dr. and Mrs. Warren and Mrs. L. M. Sargent are among others noticed entertaining at the Grill this week. Wednesday night John Mason Little gave a dinner for Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Lemist Clark, the Misses Little and Amos Little. The party motored up from Swampscott and later enjoyed the dancing.

A. Schmidt & Son have taken another four-year lease of the store in the Donchian building, Lexington ave., Magnolia, which they have occupied the past four seasons.

MASCONOMO HOUSE, Manchester, is retaining many of its season guests this first September week and until the hotel closes will probably have a good complement of sojourners in the house. The management announce the closing of the Masconomo on or about the 15th of this month. Mrs. Frank A. Hyatt of New York has been spending a week at the Masconomo. Mr. Hyatt was a guest there earlier in the season. E. G. Watkins and family of Gardner have been spending a few days this week at the hotel. They are friends of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Carleton, also of Gardner. J. Willard Tuckerman of Brookline was a guest of Miss Elsie Morrill of New York over Saturday night, coming for the masquerade party. W. D. Parsley has been a guest of the Misses Johnson this week. The latter will remain the balance of the season. R. W. Ralston of Dallas, Tex., joined his parents and family at the Masconomo this week. Miss Addie Greenwood of Cambridge was among those at the hotel for a few days. W. Gordon McCabe of Charleston, S. C., joined Mrs. McCabe this week; she has been on the shore all season at one of the Masconomo cottages. A large assembly attended the masquerade party held in the Casino last Saturday evening. Many clever and original costumes were noted, especially among the ladies. Miss Marion Ralston, garbed as a Turkish maiden, took first prize for the most effective costume. Jack Wood of Dallas, Tex., dressed as a German comedian, captured first in the comics. Others included Harry Ralston as a Chinaman; Miss Mabel Fay as an Indian maiden; Alfredo De Castro of the Uruguanian embassy as a sailor; Miss Florence Marshall as a man in full evening dress; Mrs. E. F. Van Deventer of New York as a daisy girl; Mrs. A. L. Race, representing "Night"; J. Willard Tuckerman as a Mexican; Elsie Morrill of New York as Columbia; Miss Dorothy Morrill as Pierrette; and Miss Mary Wogan as a riding girl. Mrs. A. G. Wood of Dallas, Tex., recently returned to the Masconomo from a trip to Montreal, Can., in commenting upon the effort of the European struggle in the Dominion, says that the war has cast a veil of gloom over all Canada. She describes the sight of the troops leaving Montreal as a sad one, hundreds of relatives and friends of the departing soldiers seeing them off at the steamship piers.

One of the marriages of the coming winter that is of interest to the North Shore colony will be that of Miss Esther Turner and Laurence W. Morgan, the latter a son of George M. Morgan of Boston, who formerly summered at Smith's Point, Manchester. The date has not yet been selected, but the wedding will be solemnized in St. Paul's church, Brookline. The engagement was announced in July. Miss Turner is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Turner of Brookline and Newcastle, N. H. She "came out" last winter.

Robert M. Winthrop, who is spending the summer with his mother and sister at West Manchester, has been visiting his aunts, the Misses Ellen and Ida Mason in Newport the past week. He is expected home Sunday. Nothing definite has been decided as yet when he will return to England to resume his services with the American embassy in London. Keen anxiety is felt for the safety of Mr. and Mrs. J. Grant Forbes (Margaret Winthrop) and family, who make their home in one of the suburbs of Paris.

THE inclement weather last Saturday did not seem to dampen the ardor of the young folk who took part in the annual water sports of the Manchester Yacht club. The attendance, too, was fair, considering the rain. Norton Wigglesworth was in charge of the races and the judges were Alex. S. Porter, Jr., Ingersoll Amory and Alfred C. Needham. Kanrich's orchestra of the Ocean-side hotel, Magnolia furnished music. Silver cups were given as prizes and these were distributed at the close of the contests. Mrs. Gordon Abbott and Mrs. Norton Wigglesworth poured at the tea following the sports. The events began with walking the pole, each contestant wearing a fancy costume. John M. Cabot was dressed as a Dutch girl, Carleton N. Needham as an Indian, Augustus Putnam as a fisherman and Thomas Cabot as a dude, with a dog. Charles A. Hodges, Jr., Sturgis Grew and Thomas D. Cabot were other entrants. C. E.

Hodges, Jr., won first prize for distance walking, securing the flag at the end of the pole three times. In the obstacle race where each canoe was handled by two men, Sturgis Grew and Gordon Abbott won first prize. After proceeding about 500 yards from the floats the canoes were headed for shore and at a signal the crew jumped overboard and then boarding the canoes again paddled for the goat. Augustus Putnam and Thomas D. Cabot took second place. The other events were tub race—won by John M. Cabot; F. H. Cummings, second; Augustus Putnam, third. Senior swimming race—won by Russell Codman; Thomas D. Cabot, second. Junior swimming race—won by Augustus Putnam; Sturgis Grew, second; F. H. Cummings, third. Diving contest—won by F. H. Cummings; Augustus Putnam, second. One-end Canoe race—won by Thomas D. Cabot; Augustus Putnam, second.

OCEANSIDE HOTEL MAGNOLIA

THE gayest week of the season in Magnolia came to a climax last Saturday night at the Oceanside ball. With opening-opera-night splendor the foyer, the verandas and the big ball room revelled in the sumptuous gaiety of the assembling of famous voyageurs. Fashion began early in the day whipping groups together for dinners in cottages and clubs and at the hotels, and merrily drove the throng along in big motors to arrive at the Oceanside doors at nine. Fashion began earlier than the day of the ball, however, for it was a Costume ball, an unusual form of amusement for the Oceanside. Many appeared in costume, though it was not a Costume ball in the strict sense of the term. Fully 1,000 people thronged the ball room and piazzas surrounding. Among those appearing in fancy costume were: Mrs. Dorothy Potter of Philadelphia, who wore one of the most artistic costumes noticed on the floor that evening. It was oriental in effect, with pink chiffon over Nile green messaline trousers; around the waist was a Nile green sash, and she wore a lovely rose colored veil; her jewelry was a rope of pearls. Miss Alice Richard of New York wore a beautiful minarette costume, with scant white satin trousers, over which was a tunic of black shadow lace, the bottom trimmed with a row of pearls. She had a Turkish jacket of white brocaded satin, with little gold flounce and girdle of cloth of gold, and with elaborate head dress. Her sister, Miss Elvine Richard, was dressed like her, with the exception that her tunic was blue. Miss Helen Johnson was dressed as a little three-year old girl. Kenneth Seggerman wore a white Pierrot costume, with black spots. Miss M. Gamage of Pawling, N. Y., was dressed as a little Dutch girl, with her hair in bangs, with real Dutch cap and with real Dutch Nell blue duck trousers.

R. R. Deiter of Baltimore was in a black Pierrot costume. Miss Marion F. Howard of St. Louis was dressed as a French maid. Miss Madelein White wore a powder puff costume, of pink satin, trimmed with white swansdown. She carried a little hand mirror and a powder puff. Mrs. McElveen of Denver and her sister, Miss Virginia Case, were dressed alike, as French students in black velvet coats and trousers, big white collars and black velvet student's caps. Mrs. J. W. Lee, Jr., was dressed as a little three-year old girl, with pretty little checked dress, pink socks, and hair in curls on her shoulders, one side being tied up with a big pink bow. Mrs. W. S. Roberts of New York was in powder puff costume of white messaline, trimmed with swansdown, and with cap of white messaline trimmed with swansdown. Mrs. Hall, Persian costume. J. W. Lee, Jr., chef. Miss Ethel Morse, prunella costume,—white tulle skirt with silver spangles and with white satin bodice embroidered in silver, and a head dress of silver spangles. Miss Morse was one of the best dressed of the party. Mr. Honeyman was in black Pierrot with white spots. Miss Rhoda Higgins, as French maid. Miss Brainard, wateau dress. The Burke boys as sailors. Spencer Kennard in Spanish costume. Miss G. Solari of New York wore one of the most typical Turkish costumes of the many seen. Miss Caroline Merrill, modern Turkish costume. Roger Hill, Hindu costume. Miss Dieter of Baltimore, improvised oriental costume. Wendell Anderson, Spirit of 1776. Miss Catherine Appleton of Buffalo, pale blue satin costume. Miss Brush of New York, Dolly Vardon dress, quaint in style, with little old-fashioned satin shoes. Miss Ryckman, real Turkish costume. Ted Robinson, Spanish bull fighter. To give a further list of those who were there would be to print the entire Oceanside register and then select a generous list of names from the North Shore directory. Everybody was there and all joined in making the ball the grandest and most brilliant of the many delightful events at the hotel this summer. The ball was held in the big dining room. At intermission refreshments were served. The big room was festooned in bunting.

THE dancing contest at the Oceanside last Friday, the closing feature of the popular Thés Dansants conducted there this summer by Miss Flora Voorhees, was won by Miss Madelein White, of the ladies, and Kenneth Seggerman of the gentlemen, both being won on number of points. They were not partners in all of the dances. Miss Ethel Morse and Jack Darragh won second honors, respectively. Others competing were the Misses Brainard, the Misses Richard, Mr. Nettleton, Chester Lockwood and Spencer Kennard.

One of the numbers played by the Oceanside orchestra last Sunday evening, to the delight of the large audience gathered in the hotel lobby and parlors, was Percy Lee Atherton's latest production, "Magnolia Belles and Beaux," a waltz impromptu composed this summer since Mr. Atherton has been at Magnolia. This was the first time it was played, and the reception which it was given must have been a pleasing inspiration to Mr. Atherton, who was one of the audience.

One of the improvements which Oceanside guests will note when they return next year will be a new bath house at the beach. The foundations for this were put in last autumn, but it was not deemed advisable as the winter wore on and business conditions grew more depressing, to go to the expence of building the house for this season. It has now been definitely decided, however, to go ahead with the construction this fall. Work will be started within a few weeks. There will be 100 rooms, and the structure will have 100 feet frontage on the beach. The present old structure, the remnant of the big pavilion part of which was razed when the Swimming Pool was built, will be destroyed.

Col. E. F. Ladd of Washington and daughter Mrs. Wm. T. McMillan and son of West Point, N. Y., are at the Oceanside for a visit, joining Mrs. Ladd, who has been here all season. Mrs. McMillan will remain a week, but her parents will not conclude their stay until the hotel closes.

George D. Wick, Jr., returned to the Oceanside last night joining his mother, and bringing with him for a stay Clinton G. Abbott of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hailman of Pittsburg, Pa., are among the recent arrivals. They came Tuesday to remain the rest of the season. Mrs. Hailman's mother will join them Saturday for a visit.

Mrs. S. Y. Seyburn and Miss Seyburn of Detroit arrived at the Oceanside this morning to spend the balance of the season.

Gen. and Mrs. G. A. Garretson of Cleveland were welcomed back to the Oceanside Tuesday. They usually come to Magnolia much earlier in the season. They will remain until the hotel closes.

HIGH lights, low lights and crimson lights reflected the gaiety of the annual ball given by the Oceanside to their attendants in every line Tuesday evening. For the first time in years the ball took the form of a Costume Party, suggested undoubtedly by that given for the hotel guests Saturday night. It was as attractive an affair as has been arranged in years. Pillars were wrapped in blue and gold, with a profusion of golden-rod caught in the folds, and red, white and blue overhung the whole. Quantities of evergreen and Japanese parsols finished the picturesque illusion. The same wonderful music that has inspired the whole North Shore all summer played for the dancers, and trots and waltzes were never danced with more esprit-de-vie. Ice cream, cake and punch refreshed the guests, and the crowded ball room floor mirrored the enormity of the Oceanside organization of assistants. The hotel guests were almost as much in evidence, as lookers-on, as the employees and their guests. The biggest scream of the evening was Topsy, impersonated by Miss Ethel MacDonald, the newstand girl. When she and Mr. Bell did the cake walk everybody went wild. Charles Shea, as Slivers the clown, Everett Grady, one of the tray boys, as Solomon Levi, and Charlie Hughes, the carriage man, as the scare crow, made the biggest hits of the evening. But then, everyone was good, and the party was by all means the most enjoyable ever given for the employees. Among those in costume were: Allen MacDuff, doll girl; Chas. Hughes, scare crow; Chas. Shea, Slivers the clown; Bill Parks, Bill Meagher and George Tingley, clowns; Everett Grady, Solomon Levi; Frank Grady, Terrible Turk; Jack Holland, Jocky; Everett O'Neil, Chinaman; Joe Rogers, troubador; James Farley, Jack Downing, Albert Flanders, Sam Rostam, James McGivelly, cooks; Webster Hoagland, soldier; Arthur Linberg, cop; James Casey, cop; Joe Doucette, tramp; Ethel MacDonald, Topsy; Miss Shea, Java girl; Miss Smart, cowboy; Miss Marion Cahill, French band-master; Gertrude Quigley, Martha Washington; Gertrude Sweeney, cowboy; Celia Woods, suffragette; Mae McCaffery, gypsy girl; Grace McCaffery, Irish colleen; Joe Murray, Irish girl; Mae Flaherty, peasant girl; Mable Scott, Irish colleen; Alice MacGowan, nurse; Helen MacGowan, goose girl; Sadie Taft, co-ed; Nora Davenport, clown; Sadie Fay, nurse; Mae Davin, Indian; Mable Samson, American girl; May Connell, American girl; Angela Honan, Dutch girl; Irene Honan, Follies of 1915; Hit Hession, sweet sixteen; Gerturde Hession, powder puff; Mae DeCourcey, clown; Margaret O'Brien, dairy maid; Helen McCarthy, Indian; Ruth Stone and Annie Chrisbo, Red Riding Hoods; Kittie Hurley, parlor maid; Ruth Desbrow, ballet girl; Mary Dulligan, bathing girl; Mary Powers, Transcript; Arthur Curtis, Desperate Desmond; Mr. Carr, minister's son.

EAST GLOUCESTER summer life is continuing in a measure which predicts as good a September as in other years, despite the complaint of some that August enjoyment of the shore has been hampered by the inclement weather. All of the hotels will be open until after Labor Day and in most cases are to keep busy the greater part of this month.

The Rockaway hotel, East Gloucester, will close before the first of October. There are many guests in the house at this time who plan a further sojourn of from two to three weeks longer. Among those who are enjoying September at the Rockaway are: Mrs. Louise G. Leete of Washington, D. C.; Miss L. C. Butterfield and Charles Durkins of Wellesley Hills; Miss Laura S. Perry of Grand Rapids, Mich.; Mrs. J. N. Popham of Washington, D. C.; Donald B. Maynard and A. H. Gleason of Worcester; and Miss Fransioli of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Noble Burnham of Magnolia were recent dinner guests of Miss Going of Boston at the Harbor View hotel, East Gloucester. Mr. Burnham is professor of architecture and sculpture at Harvard university. Miss Going is well known about Boston as a composer and musician. She is leaving this week to spend a few days at West Newton, after which she will go to Goffstown, N. H., for September. This winter she will reside at 1045 Beacon st. David Tibbott of Germantown, Pa., a Princeton man, left the Harbor View Sunday for Wollaston for a few days' enjoyment of the golf links there before returning to his home. Mrs. Lillian Willige and Royal F. Nash are among those visiting at the Lane cottage, one of the Harbor View connections. Miss Florence Thom, who has been in charge of the dancing at the Harbor View this summer, returned to her home in Haverhill this week. She has made the hops at the hotel more of a success than ever and has incidentally taught many guests there and the surrounding summer colony many of the new steps. Among the week's arrivals at the Harbor View for September visits are: Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Powers of Concord; Miss E. M. Houghwout of New York; W. C. Hardie of New York; Miss I. C. Belder of Pittsburg; Dr. S. A. Bond and F. W. Fraiser of Boston; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Gruener of Fitchburg; Miss Mabel E. Houghton of Boston; Miss Margaret Cobbs and Miss Rebecca I. Johnson of Akron, O.; and Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Taft of Summit, N. J.

Hotel Beachcroft, East Gloucester, is continuing open with several guests enjoying the early weeks of September there. Mr. and Mrs. P. Lanen of South Groveland are guests of Miss Grace Lanen of Haverhill at the Beachcroft for a short visit. Miss Bertha C. Bennett of Brooklyn, N. Y., is a guest at the hotel of Mr. and Mrs. Coursen of Marietta, Ga. Mr. Coursen is at Eastern Point looking after the summer residence being erected for him on the Point which he plans to occupy with his family next season. Fred W. Condit, of the Title Guarantee & Trust Co. of New York and Mrs. Condit are enjoying a brief visit at the Beachcroft. They expect to return to the city in another week. Miss M. D. Condit, a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Condit, with her companion, Miss Winifred M. Grant of Westfield, N. J., are also at the hotel for the balance of the season. Other arrivals of the last few days include Mrs. Charles R. O. Doubleday of New York; Miss Elizabeth McDonald and the Misses Pierson of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mrs. J. D. Beacham and Miss J. A. Smith, another Brooklyn party; and Henry Travers, Jr., H. W. Griffen and Miss Virginia H. Griffen of Pittsfield.

The Mailman house, East Gloucester, will not close its doors until October 1. Most of the guests plan to remain until that date.

The Fairview is another of the East Gloucester hotels which will probably remain open until the first of the month. Miss F. C. Cruft of Boston is one of the former Fairview guests to remain there for a September stay. She has been spending August in Annisquam after stopping at the Fairview for July. Other guests of the week include: N. C. Brooks of Urbana, Ill.; Guy D. Hills of Albany, N. Y.; C. N. Osgood of Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ellis of Boston, who have a cottage at Bass Rocks; and Mrs. Lilla S. Farris of Boston.

Hawthorne Inn, East Gloucester, closes for the season on the 20th of this month. A steady influx of guests for Labor Day's week-end and the two weeks following has been marked the last few days, numbering among the arrivals many prominent people from all parts of the country. Percival Kuhne of New York was one of the prominent arrivals of the week, joining his daughter at the Inn. Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Swan of Elmira, N. Y., arrived there to remain the balance of the season. Other arrivals include: Robert W. Clark, U. S. N. of Annapolis, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Holloway of Buffalo, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Parkin of Niles, Mich.; Charles F. Rogers, owner of the Prince George hotel, New York and his guest, J. Ingersoll; Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Robinson of Coldwater, Mich.; Dr. and Mrs. Franklin J. Jewett of Providence, R. I.; and Mrs. E. C. Dillingham and daughter, Alice of Englewood, N. J.

Merrill Hall, East Gloucester, arrivals of the week include Mr. and Mrs. John M. Meserve of Hudson; Charles I. Gill of South Yarmouth; C. L. Merrill of Cambridge; M. L. Boardman of Southbridge; Mrs. J. H. Allen and Raymond T. Allen of Cambridge; and Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Churchman of Worcester.

BASS ROCKS on Cape Ann will start the migration homeward of its summer residents and hotel guests shortly after Labor Day. The holiday coming fairly late this year has somewhat extended the season and caused many cottagers to remain on the shore.

The Moorland hotel, Bass Rocks, is holding its Wednesday and Saturday evening dances as usual and these hops are an attraction to those in the summer colony. The Moorland will probably close about the 25th of this month. Mrs. Frank B. Knight of Chicago and Frank B. Knight, Jr., were among the Westerners to come to the Moorland for the balance of the season this week. Mrs. Charles J. Smith registered from Stockton, Cal., this week for a short stay at the Moorland. Other arrivals the past few days are: Mrs. Wm. B. Carpenter of Flushing, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Bailey of Springfield; Miss Elizabeth Camp of San Antonio, Tex.; J. A. Cunningham of Boston; N. D. Baker of Providence, R. I.; Mrs. Charles E. Clark of Philadelphia, with her sons, Charles E., Jr., and Herbert Clark; H. C. Baker and H. L. Beckwith of Providence, R. I.; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gosden of Pittsburg, Pa.; Frederick A. Hornbeck; and Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Chambers of Toledo, O.

The regular dance was held at the Thorwald hotel, Bass Rocks, on Tuesday evening and will probably be followed by equal enjoyable parties before the season closes at that hostelry. Arrivals for September include Prof. Wm. G. McGucken of New York State University, for a short visit. Others to come to the Thorwald for a week or two include: Miss A. G. Saunders of Lawrence; Mrs. J. H. Estey and Miss A. T. Hines of Brattleboro, Vt.; Mrs. Edward P. Townsend of Ardmore, Pa.; and Mrs. M. C. Ernst of Pittsfield.

Miss Caroline Sinkler of the East Gloucester summer colony, who has been abroad since spring, has just returned and is now occupying her pretty estate at Eastern Point for the remainder of the season. Miss Sinkler's brother and sister with whom she travelled became separated from her in England and arrived at New York last Saturday morning on the Adriatic.

PIGEON COVE continues to hold most of its cottagers and the hotels are entertaining many guests for the first few weeks of this month. The Rockport Country club has served as an added attraction this year and although everything is not on in full swing there is enough to make an extended stay enjoyable as long as the pleasant weather lasts.

Hotel Edward is fulfilling its reputation as a good "autumn house," as well as an ideal summer hostelry. The presence of steam heat in the Edward makes a chilly, rainy day one of comfort and although there promises to be but few such days this month an occasional cool spell is not uncomfortable in such a house. The Edward is remaining open indefinitely, and a houseful will be recorded on Labor Day and the week following. Next year the Edward will open the last of May instead of the middle of June, as this year. June business at the Edward was exceptionally good this year and there are many among the hotel's clientele who would like to come to the shore earlier another year. Wm. A. Nettleton of Kansas City has been spending August with Mrs. Nettleton at the Edward. Mr. Nettleton's mother has been at the Ocean-side this summer and has been a frequent visitor to Pigeon Cove. The orchestra at the Edward has been winning deserved popularity this season. It is a clever trio of accomplished musicians composed of Leo Reisman, George Penshorn of the New York Philharmonic orchestra and Frank Russell of the Boston Conservatory of Music. The week's arrivals at the Edward include: Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Cabell and Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Harwood, who motored to the North Shore from Richmond, Va.; Mrs. A. E. Frost, Miss C. V. Smith and C. W. Smith of Rochester, N. Y.; F. C. Warner of Delaware City, Del.; L. I. Handy of Wilmington, Del.; Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Richmond of Plainfield, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs.

ROCKPORT'S summer hotels will start closing next week when the Turk's Head Inn at Land's End finishes the season of 1914. The Granite Shore and Straitsmouth Inn will remain open a while longer to entertain quite a few vacationers who wish to extend their stays into this month.

The Headland house at Rockport is keeping open indefinitely. As in other years, it has many who are staying down for the early autumn days on the Cape.

The Manning house, Rockport, will not close before the 12th of October, at the earliest, and will possibly remain open beyond that time. Arrivals there this week include: Frank White and Mr. Smibby of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mrs. Human of Dorchester; Miss Mary Tucker and Miss Finney of Roxbury.

The Granite Shore, Rockport, will remain open for some time yet.

ANNISQUAM summer residents were treated to a most excellent concert in the parlors of the Grand View hotel last week, Thursday evening. Miss L. Ruth Everett, soprano; E. Alan Brown, baritone; and Joseph K. Dustin, pianist; were the artists and they gave a program which pleased immensely. Miss Everett sang in good voice a three-part selection, "Love's Epitome," followed by a piano solo by Mr. Dustin, admirably executed. Three solos by Mr. Brown and a duet by Miss Everett and Mr. Brown completed a pleasing evening's entertainment.

SWAMPSCOTT resorters are making the most of the splendid September weather,—virtually the best month of the year on the North Shore. Entertaining is still keeping pace with the desire of the members of the summer colony and for at least three week longer things will be fairly lively in that section. The Tedesco Country club held its last band concert by the Salem Cadet band on Wednesday, which was attended by a large number of members and friends from the Swampscott, Beach Bluff and Clifton shores. The last tea dance will come tomorrow afternoon, Saturday.

The Oakland house, Swampscott, is keeping open this season until the first of October to accommodate many of the guests who desire to enjoy September on the shore. New Ocean House, Swampscott

NEW OCEAN HOUSE, Swampscott. The season drawing to a close at the New Ocean House has in many respects been the most successful the management has ever enjoyed, and has firmly established this hotel among the best conducted and popular summer resorts in America. Despite the weather conditions—and they certainly have not been very propitious this year—the hotel has been practically full the whole season and during parts of July and August it was impossible to meet the demand for accommodations. The lavish scheme of entertainment which the management has offered has left nothing to be desired, and in this line plans are already being made to even surpass the enviable record of the past season.

The fancy dress ball at the New Ocean House, Swampscott, last Saturday evening was the event par excellence of the season, and was a fitting climax to the splendid entertainments that have made this hotel famous along the North Shore. There were over three hundred and fifty guests and cottagers present with over one hundred in costume, some being especially attractive while the funny creation caused no end of merriment. The dancing of the old-fashioned polka by Miss Dorothy Taylor and Mr. Harold Whitney, also an exhibition of the tango by Miss Taylor and Mr. Arthur Marvin was deservedly applauded, but the real event of the evening was a burlesque dance by Mr. Whitney and Miss Josephine Appel, who were awarded the prize cups. The prize cups for the best costume were awarded to Miss Janet Murphy as a Turkish girl, and E. M. Fielding as a Chinaman. Harold Whitney and Miss Josephine Appel took the cups for the most original costume and the prize cups for the best in the one-step were won by Miss Gladys Stanton and Winifred Culver, while Miss Gretchen Sandmeyer and John Craig, Jr., won the cups for the best in the Hesitation, and Miss Dorothy Dill and Harold Whitney were declared the best general dancers and were awarded the prize cups in that event. The judges were Mrs. R. L. MacDuffie, Mrs. H. C. Jealous, Miss Sampson, E. E. Buzzell and J. M. Fairbank. Among those in costume were: Miss Louise Murphy, Dutch Girl; Edgar Piehler, Dutch boy; Miss Dorothy Taylor, old-fashioned costume, style of 1860; E. M. Fielding, Chinaman; Mrs. I. A. Ratchesky, Japanese Lady; W. J. Freeman, colored gentleman; Mrs. Austin Bittenbender, Pierrette; A. MARBLEHEAD'S summer colony promises to remain intact for a few weeks, at least, most of the cottagers there and on the Neck are planning to remain until October,—many until the last week. Like all sections of the shore, the hotels are receiving many guests for over Labor Day week-end and next week. September is being recognized as the ideal month for a sojourn on the shore and this accounts for the encouraging number of arrivals at most of the houses.

Judge Long of Springfield and his family, who are members of the Marblehead Neck summer colony, returned home Tuesday. The Judge intended to remain on the shore longer this season, but the opening of the fall session of the Superior court at which he sits prevented a further stay at the Neck.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Lodge of the Marblehead Neck contingent plan to return to their winter home in Newton Centre the first of next week. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Yerxa of Boston and Marblehead Neck plan to leave the Neck shortly for a brief visit of two weeks at the White Summer life has not commenced to lessen at the Eastern Yacht club at Marblehead Neck as yet. A large assembly was noted at the regular Thursday band concert last evening and the tables were comfortably filled at dinner. Despite the fact that about all the tennis tournaments have been finished interest in the new courts continues unabated and they are busy sports morning and afternoon. There will be two or more concerts at the Eastern on Thursday evenings.

The last band concert of the season at the Corinthian Yacht club at Marblehead Neck last Monday evening was the scene of a large gathering of club members and their friends. The 150 dinner guests would indicate that the season was hardly on the wane as yet at the Corinthian. Two more of the popular Friday evening dances will be held. The Salem Cadet band furnished music.

Oceanside hotel at Marblehead Neck continues with a large number of guests for the remainder of September. This month has always been a big one with the Oceanside, and this season is no exception. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Arthur Shuman are among those thoroughly enjoying the water sports at Marblehead Neck and are planning a long season at their cottage "Mollhurst." Mrs. Shuman is especially fond of outdoor sports and is considered one of the best swimmers at the Neck, as well as a charming hostess; she is usually accompanied by her two sturdy young sons, who are also experts in the swimming line.

John N. Stevens of Brookline, who has been at the Percival cottage at Marblehead Neck all season, is leaving this week for the West on a business trip. He will probably not return to the North Shore this season.

HOTEL ROCK-MERE at Marblehead has a number of guests for September, several members of the Bar Harbor colony in Maine signifying their intention of making a fall sojourn at this hotel. Many week-enders for the holiday and the next few days will practically fill the hotel for next week. The regular Saturday night hop will be held at the Rock-Mere tomorrow evening, when the cottagers on the Marblehead shore are invited to attend. A Chicago motorist to pay the Rock-Mere a visit this week was Arthur Wheeler of the Windy City. He remained but a few days. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. McCully of Newark, N. J., are there for their fourteenth season. They were guests at the Rock-Mere the season that the hotel opened its doors and have always made Marblehead their vacation point each succeeding year. Ensign T. M. Shock, U. S. N., of Annapolis, Md., was a visitor at the Rock-Mere this week. Other prominent arrivals include: Miss Constance Harding and Mrs. John B. Harding of Philadelphia; L. C. Ivory of New York and Miss Randolph of New Jersey, frequent visitors at the Rock-Mere. Quite a party of New Yorkers are registered at the hotel, among them being Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Bement, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Gladwin, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Mulqueen, Miss Esther Mulqueen and Master Junior Mulqueen.

The Glover Inn at Marblehead is preparing for a busy week-end and Labor Day, when many parties have made reservations. Arrivals of the week at the Inn include: George M. Ainish and Mrs. Ainish of Hoboken, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Holden and Elbridge Kingley of Englewood, N. J.; W. O. LeFawn and Malcolm McMore of Malden; and J. R. La Rose of Boston.

Hotel Leslie, Marblehead, arrivals of the week include: Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Hare and Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Baldwin of Hartford, Conn.; Mrs. E. D. Bailey, Jr., of New York; and Mrs. R. Horn of Boston.

LINCOLN HOUSE, Swampscott, is remaining open until the 8th of September, Tuesday next, after a most successful season. During the greater part of the season the house has been catering to as many guests as it could accommodate, this in itself a tribute to the many new comforts and advantages with which the hotel has been surrounded this summer by the new management. Mrs. E. U. Sayers and Miss Sara Dean and maid comprise a London, England, party to come to the Lincoln House for a short stay. Owing to the troubled condition of their country they decided to make a trip to the United States and intend to leave this week for the Pacific coast. Miss Dean has won considerable repute across the Atlantic as a playwright and several of her productions have seen the footlights. Mrs. Sayers and Miss Dean came to the North Shore by way of Montreal. Miss Emily Smith of Washington, D. C., for forty years a member of the pension department in the Government service at the Capitol, has been a guest at the Lincoln house. Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Wiggin of Lowell came to this hotel on Monday to remain until the season closes. Stephen S. Pierce, his father, H. B. Pierce, and Mrs. E. R. Pierce, all of Boston, are enjoying a sojourn at the Lincoln house.

IPSWICH summer life at the many estates there continues with but little cessation with the coming of Labor Day. Although in some sections of the North Shore the cottagers begin to return to their winter homes shortly after the holiday it is different in Ipswich,—here the country estates are kept open until October and many stay down until Thanksgiving.

Richard Searle, Harvard '14, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Searle of "Inglisby," returned Wednesday from a yachting cruise in Canadian waters. Several friends accompanied him, and stops were made at St. Andrew and Bar Harbor on the return trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Evans R. Dix of South Dartmouth will spend the week-end and Labor Day with Mrs. Dix' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman of New York and Ipswich at "Sunswick," their Ipswich estate. John Bowditch of Framingham will also be a Labor Day guest of the Tuckermans. Mr. Bowditch has a most extensive estate in Framingham, adjoining "Owl's Nest," the home of his brother-in-law, Robert S. Perkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis R. Appleton of New York and "Appleton Farms," Ipswich, are planning to remain on the shore this year until Thanksgiving. Their estate is looking especially well during the late summer. The extensive gardens are all in full bloom and the farm itself is teeming with luscious fruits and vegetables which make up a true country estate.

Charles P. Stoddard of New York city is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Barnard of Boston over this week-end at their Ipswich estate, "River Bend Farm." The Barnards are among the late stayers and will probably remain on the shore until the first of October.

The Burnham House tea room on Linebrook road, Ipswich, continues as a sought-after place by motorists. Several parties have been entertained here the last few days and have found much to interest them in the quaint old Colonial house. On Tuesday a farewell party of St. Louis people was tendered Mrs. A. G. Whittemore, who has been summering at Rye Beach, N. H. Eight of her friends were in attendance. Mrs. E. B. Chandler of San Antonio, Tex., entertained four guests at luncheon on Tuesday. Mrs. Chandler is of the Bass Rocks contingent. Mrs. George H. Proctor motored over from Gloucester with six friends and had tea at the Burnham house one day this week. Mrs. E. W. Cobb of Swampscott was hostess to ten ladies at cards and luncheon on Tuesday. On the same day Walter Hayward of Ipswich lunched with five of his men friends at the Burnham house.

FEAR IS A MEAN FOE, taking advantages of individuals and communities in insidious ways, causing worry, anxiety and depression. It is the direct opposite of faith, that subtle virtue, that stimulates, ennobles and encourages to renewed activities. Both fear as a vice and faith as a virtue can find a place in any life. In trade fear of the future may stimulate or discourage activity. Recently the wars in Europe have developed a species of community fear in America that is paralyzing. Let fear depress any one business in a community upon which other enterprises depend and the mischief that fear will work is incalculable. Who would have ever dreamed of such a state of chaos in our trade relations. It is true that there are causes for some fear, but because this nation, with other nations faces a crisis, which must be met, there is no reason why all faith should be paralyzed. The reserve powers of life must be called into action to meet the emergency. There are difficulties at home and abroad, but the situations presented by the recent changes must be met in faith. America is a great nation and out of the present serious conditions good must come. Not that America gloats over an opportunity presented by the misfortunes of other nations; not that—that is unchristian, inhuman, yea, barbaric; but because every obstacle is a stimulant to the brain and new difficulties present or develop new and previously latent powers. If America faces a scarcity of goods absolutely essential to its well-being, the hardship must be borne, temporarily, but the very hardship will force it to find a new way out. The difficulty will develop initiative and initiative will produce results, and hence by faith the American difficulties of the present spell opportunity, which in the future must yield abundant fruit, because of endeavor.

GOOD FOR AUGUSTUS P. GARDNER ! He may lose his $20.42 a day in Washington by the "docking" of his pay, but he is worth more than that in the efficient work he has elected to render in the emergency abroad. Why all this stir about absent members anyway? The Democratic party now have a working majority and what does an opposition republican vote count!

DESPITE THE SERIOUS CONDITIONS ABROAD and the losses which the business enterprises of this country will have to bear the country itself is enjoying a wonderfully productive era. The great fields of the west are yielding rich harvests, record harvests in fact, that gladden the hearts of the industrious farmers and provide foodstuffs for countless thousands.

HOW MANY OF THE GERMAN-AMERICANS who are now trying to find defences for Germany's activities left the fatherland to escape military duty? If so loyal of speech why not in arms?

ACCORDING TO SOME BIBLICAL THEORISTS the end of the world is about to come. It is only too true for thousands of brave young men in Europe!

NEXT WEEK THE SCHOOLS OPEN AGAIN. Youthful minds will turn from work or play to the studies and discipline of the class room. It is a wise lad or lass that uses the opportunities presented to him. Comparisons are irritating, but there is some comfort, of a selfish nature, when one thinks of lads and lasses of the old world. What a depressing thought it is to think of those young lives, when school and play should claim their attentions and interests, given up to scout duty and military training, if boys, and to thoughts and talk of war and the handicraft of the needle, if lasses! War is a crime against young life. Young folk do not yield much in their thinking when comparisons are evoked, because of the limitations of their experience and the immaturity of their judgment, but parents here may gratefully prepare the little ones for schools with the consoling thoughts that a land of peace only can evoke THEORETICALLY, AT THE BEACH RESORTS the summer season will end on Monday. It is still true in the cheaper rococo resorts where merry-go-rounds and roller-coasters are the acme of amusements. But for two decades now the North Shore has become emancipated and steadily the season has been lengthened until now many homes are open all through the winter months. The Shore has charms that neither spring nor summer may rival. Happy and fortunate are those who listen to the call of nature and linger for the joys of the autumn season. A month still is left before fall will really be upon us. The very best month of all the year is here.

IF TURKEY IS FOOLISH ENOUGH to be drawn into the present embroglio the result will not be hard to foresee. The Russian forces will have a reason for entering the city of Constantinople and for forcing the Straits of Dardanelles. For years the Russian bear has looked with envy upon the Turkey domain. Once in possession it is not likely that Russia will ever release sovereignty. Whatever Turkey may do in this strife nothing would give Russia greater joy than a combat of arms about Constantinople.

IN THE EDITORIAL COLUMN of the Boston Herald our wise Major Henry L. Higginson gave the public the sane advice not to curtail too much. Circulation is a great thing for business. Stagnation is the inevitable result of fear and retrenchment.

THE Transcript's WAR REVEIWER calls it for the want of a better name, "The Butcher's War." And yet is there a better name?

THE "SEE AMERICA FIRST" campaign will not need much heavy advertising for some years to come.

GERMANY SACRIFICED ITS DEMANDS for sympathy in attacking a small neutral nation.

THERE IS MONEY "in" sugar—just now.

THE BEVERLY FARMS IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY is continuing its good work. A campaign of education has been conducted along the lines of town cleanliness with some results. In the efforts of the North Shore towns to keep the highways clean from newspapers, lunch boxes and rubbish the general public, particularly automobile parties ought to co-operate. Through the efforts of the organization two of the contractors doing business in the town have each agreed to furnish, without expense to the society, a man for one day each week. The society will employ a man for one day each week until the first of October. With a cleaner at work three days a week the highway from Chapman's corner to the Manchester line ought to be well cared for. In Central Square, with permission from the State Highway Commission, and under the direction of the police department white lines have been laid to mark the lanes of traffic for automobiles. This has long been a dangerous corner and it is only short of a marvel that serious accidents have not happened. The new lanes of travel plainly laid out will minimize the dangers.

ALL ABUTTERS, PARTICULARLY ON THE MAIN HIGHWAYS may well heed the request that has gone out from a local organization that there be a spirit of co-operation between the cleaning departments of the city and property owners. If every owner of land contiguous to highways will instruct their gardener or workman to clean up the highway or sideways along the road it will be a great contribution to the generally well-groomed appearance of the roads along the North Shore.

THERE ARE, DOUBTLESS, MANY TRADES that will receive a benefit from the paralysis of business in Europe, but when all things are considered it will be found that the whole world will have suffered by the war. Millions of men cannot be withdrawn from the productive industries of the world to engage in battle without effect upon the world's wealth.

NO OPERA THIS WINTER and possibly no Symphony concerts! All because of the Kaiser's love of the music of battle. One more score "agin" the war.

JAMES B. DOW, CANDIDATE FOR REPUBLICAN NOMINATION FOR REPRESENTATIVE FROM THE BEVERLY-DANVERS DISTRICT

Mr. James B. Dow of Beverly Farms (Ward Six of the City of Beverly) has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for representative from the 20th Essex District, which is the Danvers-Beverly District.

Mr. Dow came to live in the district thirty-five years ago and established at Beverly Farms a landscape gardening, florist business. Later he established and conducted the "James B. Dow Coal and Wood Company," carrying on both enterprises until a year ago when he retired from active business life. He has a branch of this business in Manchester, also, with office on Beach street.

During all these years Mr. Dow has remained loyal to the republican party and has served its interests efficiently. He was a member of the committee that arranged the agreement with the Town of Danvers where that town was assured of personal representation. For many years he served on the Republican City Committee. In local affairs he has shown a public spirit and interest. For several terms he served on the Beverly School Committee and is now a member of that board. As assessor from Ward Six on the Beverly Board of Assessors, he rendered good public service.

With a spirit to serve, his qualifications were recognized by the West Beach Corporation, which is an organization of Beverly Farms citizens that owns West Beach, and he was chosen a director and then elected president. Under his administration the unsightly booths along the shore were removed and the present adequate bathing pavilion constructed and opened for public service.

Interested in educational problems, Board of Trustees of the Beverly Industrial School and now serves. Upon the organization of the Beverly Y. M. C. A., he was chosen to represent Ward Six. All of his life in Beverly Farms, he has been identified with the interests of the Beverly Farms Baptist church although a Presbyterian himself. As pupil, then as teacher, and then as superintendent, he has been interested in its Sunday School work. He is now the teacher of the Men's Class.

Now that he has retired from business, he has the time to serve the district and has consented to run for the House. He is being loyally supported by his many Beverly friends who feel that it would be hard for the district to find a better man by business training and temperamental inclinations to represent it.

IT IS EVIDENT that the innocent must pay the penalties of war also. Now little Switzerland is harassed by money needs. Belgium is repulsing an invading army while Norway and Sweden wait in suspense for any change in events that will threaten them. And all of these find their trade communications and exports and imports hindered by the war. The United States finds that the traffic through the Panama Canal is affected noticeably and our imports seriously. Never in the history of the world has there been a more potent illustration of the community of interests of all the world's people.

AND THIS IS APPLE YEAR! The trees are deeply laden,—and the markets of Europe shut off. Thousands of barrels waste away on the ground while many want. The Boston Transcript editorially suggests the establishment of apple missions in the cities after Edward Everett Hale's idea. Such a depot would serve as a charitable apple-clearing house. To it the fortunate possessors of apples could send their surplus stock for distribution among the poor and needy. This is a most excellent idea and one which some charitable person with the will, the energy and the efficiency—and the leisure should attempt.

THE GERMAN-AMERICAN MEETING held in Boston in historic old Faneuil Hall was a violation of the inheritances of that sacred building. Our nation is pledged to neutrality and any public demonstration of a partisan nature is a direct disobedience of the President's injunction that the people maintain in act and behavior a strict neutrality. Mayor Curley was caught napping when he permitted the use of the old hall. But, there is some satisfaction in recognizing the dangers of such meetings and stopping them before serious public harm has been done.

IT IS A POOR WAR that does not do some good. It is hard to see, however, who profits by this war.

WHAT HAS BECOME OF the "Subway-under-the-Channel" idea?

Manchester harbor is a busy place at the present time. This morning from the Breeze office we observe five dredgers and construction outfits at work. Two dredgers of the Bay State Dredging Co. are at work on the inner harbor, cutting another wide swath out of the mud flats, and at Point of Rocks another outfit is blasting a trench for the sewer pipes. Beyond that is another dredger cutting a trench on the bottom of the harbor for the sewer pipes, and further outside is the outfit laying the pipes. The outfall of the sewer pipes has been completed and some 1,400 feet of pipe laid.

TOMORROW'S BALL GAME

If the weather is favorable tomorrow afternoon it is expected a record crowd will be out for the third in the series of the ball games between Manchester and Beverly Farms on the Manchester grounds. Last Saturday the rain prevented a game. As the series now stands Manchester and Beverly Farms have one each. Each team is sure of taking the next two and thus ending the series. But—that's another story.

Manager Holland will put Mueller, the crack twirler of the Lynnhursts into the box in place of McNair, it is said. Manchester slammed Perk, too flamboyantly in the last game, and so they are to put a new pitcher in the box. But, it would seem that the Manchester boys do not care a great deal who is in the box; what they want is a chance to slam the ball, for they are doing some almighty good work at the bat nowadays. Grover was never in better trim and is right after the Farms' scalps. A great game is expected Saturday. Everybody turn out! The game is at 3.15.

Manchester will play the Samecs of Dorchester Labor Day on the local diamond. The Samecs, it will be remembered, stole a game away from Manchester in the last couple of innings on July 4th. That was before the Manchester fielders were properly tuned up. Things may look different Monday.

ELECT MANCHESTER MAN

FRANK A. FOSTER CHOSEN PRESIDENT OF ESSEX COUNTY DEMOCRAT CLUB

Frank A. Foster of Manchester was chosen president of the Essex County Democratic club at the annual outing of that society held last Saturday afternoon at Tuck's Point, West Manchester. He has been secretary of the organization for some years and his faithful work in this capacity was rewarded by selecting him as the club's chief executive.

The outing was but slimly attended owing to the inclement weather. Many thought that the affair was postponed, but the program was held, as scheduled, with the exception that the "big guns," including Gov. Walsh, Atty. Gen. Boynton and Lieut. Gov. Barry did not appear.

At two o'clock the 60 members who attended sat down to dinner in the pavilion at the Point; this was followed by the election of officers.

Judge Thomas P. Riley of Malden and ex-chairman of the Democratic state committee, made one of the principal speeches of the day and kept up his reputation of being one of the principal spell-binders of the Democratic party in this state.

The selling of state bonds over the counter to the public was dwelt on by State Treas. Mansfield.

Other speakers were: Postmaster Sheedy of Salem; Gen. Wm. F. Stopford and Jeremiah Desmond of Beverly; Wm. H. O'Brien of Boston, former candidate for Congress; Joseph B. Maynard, ex-chairman of the Democratic city committee of Boston; Michael A. O'Leary, chairman of the state committee; and John A. Keegan of the state committee.

Officers elected were as follows: Frank A. Foster, Manchester, president; Henry J. Cottrell, Beverly, sec'y.; Francis J. Crowell, Beverly, treas.; Michael F. McGrath, Salem, 1st v. p.; Gen. Wm. F. Stopford, Beverly, 2nd v. p.; John O'Connor, Peabody, 3d v. p.; J. J. Sullivan, West Newbury, 4th v. p.; Marcus Pettingill, Danvers, 5th v. p.; Executive committee, Micheal P. ## EQUAL SUFFRAGE NOTES

The Manchester Equal Suffrage League will hold its September meeting on Wednesday evening, Sept. 9, at 8 o'clock, at Mrs. Leach's Tea Rooms. There will be special business to discuss, and refreshments.

We regret that it has been impossible, thus far, to arrange with the Anti-Suffragists for a joint meeting in the Town hall. The date chosen by them conflicted with Mrs. Russell's rally, and this we were obliged to refuse. The president (Miss Stanwood) will be glad to meet any advances from the Antis.

Miss Stanwood, president of the Manchester Equal Suffrage League, went to speak for the cause in Rockland last week. This meeting was an out-of-doors affair, much like Mrs. Russell's meeting, on a smaller scale. These open-air meetings are becoming quite the thing, and we may look for many of them next year.

Mrs. Henry E. Russell, whose Suffrage rally last week was such a great success, was one of the first ladies to take a table at the Red Cross bazaar, or Fête, to be held at Mrs. Robert Bradley's in Beverly in October.

Among other North Shore ladies who have recently come into the suffrage ranks are Mrs. Amory Eliot, Mrs. Wm. Dewart, Mrs. Samuel Carr and Mrs. S. V. R. Crosby.

A PROTEST

Editor North Shore Breeze:

As an experienced teacher in the public schools, and a believer for many years in the fair consideration of the subject of "votes for women," I should like to protest against the statement made by Mrs. Henry Preston White, under the Anti-Suffrage Notes of your issue of August 28, in regard to the so-called "feminization of the public schools."

At first sight, her remarks seem hardly worth answering, in so far as they are merely a part of the typical alarmist program of the anti-suffragists, whose arguments are based chiefly on calamity hunting, and dark prognostications, for the future in the horrible event of their being asked to do their duty as citizens and cast their vote with their more public-spirited suffrage sisters.

But I should like to protest against the unthinking use of the word "feminization." These alarmist statements are too often based on the unintelligent bandying of such catch-words. On all sides we hear the term "feminism" used indiscriminately as a synonym for anarchy, civic disorder, class hatred, and similar evils of our time. Would it not be well, before using such apparently elastic terms in argument, to define them a little more precisely?

Just what does Mrs. White mean by the "feminization of the public school?" Does she refer to the obvious fact that most public school teachers are women, because men cannot be found to undertake the laborious, conscientious work required of teachers for the ridiculously small salaries paid by the State? Men are only too ready to leave this unprofitable field to women. But surely Mrs. White cannot consider it a calamity that these women teachers, whose "place is the home," should be so willing to exercise their God-given function of educating the young in the school instead of the home, when they might be engaged in any one of the more profitable pursuits followed by men?

And what a horrible calamity it would be if, as Mrs. White suggests, the text books should be "made over so that the women of history will be given a more prominent part (!)." There were women in history, then, even before the much-abused term "feminism" caused men to tremble for their laurels in the text books!

Moreover, the term "militant" has so little bearing upon the question of suffrage in America that its application to the leaders of the movement sounds a bit incongruous. But if "militant" doctrines are injurious to the peaceful minds of school children, should we not omit from our text

ANTI-SUFFRAGE NOTES

BY MRS. HENRY PRESTON WHITE.

"English suffragists," said a member of the Massachusetts Anti-Suffrage organization lately returned from abroad, "are being asked rather sharply if all they want the vote for is to uplift humanity, why they do not use the municipal franchise which they now enjoy. The housing and health problems of today are being studied at first hand by the municipal corporations of England, to which women are eligible. But they show little or no interest in the matter."

The Socialist support of the Suffrage cause has been a fine thing as the women have viewed it. Now they are going to have a chance to learn of the price which the Socialists demand of them. The platform for the Massachusetts Socialists which is to be adopted at the September convention is right at hand. It contains the usual plank in favor of votes for women but with these additions: "Full suffrage for all adult men and women and the right to vote for all aliens over 21 years who have resided in the state for one year and have declared intentions to become citizens."

books all accounts of "wars and rumors of war?" Above all, we should omit the history of our American struggles for representation with taxation, and the stories of the Nineteenth Century riots in England, when men were struggling to get the vote and the community was threatened with an acute attack of —masculinism, bringing free public education and other like horrors in its train?

Seriously, I must protest in the name of all clear-headed women against the abuse of the word feminism, a term which in itself is no more logical than "masculinism." After all, in the face of the present situation in Europe, can any of us be too sure that the world would suffer from a little more "feminization?"

Band concert tonight.

The members of the Manchester Woman's club are reminded that the annual dues must be paid on or before Sept. 15. Mrs. Rand will be at home Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 14 and 15, to meet members.

The dance to be held in the Town hall next Friday evening under the auspices of Masconomo council, K. of C. will be one of the largest of the summer, no doubt. An energetic committee is working hard for the success of the affair. Refreshments will be served at intermission, consisting of ice cream and cake. Carey's orchestra will furnish the music.

Mrs. Harry T. Swett was called on to Washington last Saturday, through the efforts of Miss Mabel T. Boardman, to assist in the big work which the Red Cross is undertaking in connection with the European war. Miss Boardman, as is well known, is one of the heads of the American Red Cross. Mrs. Swett has been assisting Miss Boardman in Manchester for the last two seasons.

Late yesterday R. C. Allen and Joseph Tomasello went to Singing Beach for a swim. In diving from the raft Mr. Allen lost his wedding ring. Mr. Tomasello mentioned the incident to Robert Gardner, who is of the company laying the outlet to the sewer system. Gardner took one of his divers to the beach this morning and within twenty minutes after the latter dropped overboard he came up with the ring. It had sunk into the sand, but in running the sand through a small sieve the ring was found.

MAGNOLIA

The cabaret show at the Men's club, Magnolia, Wednesday evening, was one of the events of the season, and incidentally an amusing and thoroughly enjoyable one. The ladies in the recent minstrel show of the Women's club assisted and helped the success of the affair. The band led by Leon Foster made a big hit, and gave a splendid account of itself under Mr. Foster's baton. The Misses McCaffrey, Callahan and DeCoursey were heard in pleasing solos and were accompanied by Miss Angela Homan. A chorus consisting of both girls and boys sang at intervals during the evening from their positions at the tables. Among the men, Messrs Parker and Sullivan sang very acceptably. Winslow Story showed the audience that he was master of the banjo. James Cooper gave an original laughing solo which made a distinct hit and he followed this with a solo and clog dance, stamping him as a most versatile artist. Everett Brady as the Hebraic owner of the restaurant where the cabaret was supposed to be going on introduced the "artists" in a most amusing manner. Four colored (?) waiters looked after the pleasures of the guests at the tables. Mr. McDuff played for the dancing which followed the show.

Rev. F. J. Libby, formerly pastor of the Village church here, will occupy the pulpit Sunday morning. Service at 10.45, followed by communion. Rev. Dr. Walter S. Eaton the regular pastor, will preach at 8.15 in the evening.

The Masquerade Party at the Women's club last Tuesday evening was perhaps the most successful affair of the season, many appearing in costume. The march at 9.30 was led by Mrs. Bertha Wilson as "Ikey" and Miss Susan Symonds as a Lady of Quality. Three prizes were offered: one for the prettiest costume, one for the most original, and one for the funniest. All the costumes were so good that it was very hard for the judges to make their decisions but the awards were finally made as follows: the prettiest costume, Miss May McCaffrey, Tambourine girl, the most original; Miss Jennie Degenkolds, representing the Boston Transcript; and the funniest, Miss Gertrude Hession as Daddy Longlegs. Among the other very attractive costumes were two baby dolls. Yesterday the exhibition of Grace LaRue the popular musical comedy star, will come to B. F. Keith's Theatre next week for a limited engagement of positively one week only. As the star of the first Ziegfeld Follies, "Miss Molly May," and a number of other big musical offerings, Miss LaRue needs no introduction to American playgoers. For the past year she has been appearing in London, as a feature of one of the biggest and most successful revues in the British metropolis. She will offer a brand new repertoire of original songs, and as usual, her sartorial display will be both wondrous and beautiful. Another strong feature of the week will be Harry Berresford, late of "The Conspiracy," supported by his own big company in the bright little comedy of youth and springtime, "Twenty Odd Years." Mr. Berresford is one of the finest character actors on the American stage. His new vehicle is a really delightful comedy, and he is most capably supported by a large company of favorites.

Arrangements have been made to have the streets on the State Highway cleaned three times a week. The work will be done from Chapman's Corner to the Manchester line. The improvement society is to pay for it one day each week and the firms of Connelly Bros. and D. Linehan & Son will each furnish a man one day a week. With a systematic tri-weekly cleaning the highways ought to be kept in first-class shape. Automobile parties could be more careful about throwing refuse and lunch boxes out of their cars when passing through.

If the weather is good Beverly Farms will have plenty of good baseball the next few days. Tomorrow, Saturday, the third game of the Manchester series will be played at Manchester. On Monday, Labor Day, the Knights of King Arthur of Gloucester will be the attraction at the playground and in the afternoon the same team will be played at Stage Fort park, Gloucester.

The Building Committee of the Beverly Farms Baptist church have begun a financial campaign to paint the church building two coats of white paint. A good part of the money is now available, but the committee is hard at work trying to raise the remainder. The pretty white church is a landmark along the North Shore. It is considered one of the best planned suburban churches in the State of Massachusetts. With its two new coats of white paint it will improve the looks of the village. It is ever so true that nothing looks so slack in any village than to see its public buildings uncared for. The public buildings along the North Shore are well cared for, as is attested by the interest taken in any public improvement project.

The Myopia Hunt club horse show Labor Day will prove a strong attraction for many Beverly Farms people.

CONGRESS MAY NOT AJOURN

There is a growing sentiment to the effect that Congress will not adjourn, but instead will take a short recess after election time. Putting aside their personal comforts, the members are inclined to the belief that it is unwise for Congress to definitely adjourn until December, while the war situation in Europe continues acute.

It is really too bad that the reclamation bills were made a buffer in the House, and there appears to be little probability of these measures passing the Senate at the present session, even though there is a great demand for relief in the public land states.

A narrow escape from a serious accident in which Driver John W. Morgan and the new tractor at the Farms station figured occurred last Tuesday afternoon. Someone had pushed the speed lever of the machine from neutral to the first speed notch and when Mr. Morgan cranked the machine up it crashed through the doors and into the street, but not before he had jumped to the seat. He succeeded in stopping the tractor, but was badly cut about the head and badly shaken up by the dash of the machine through the doors. The engine was not damaged.

The new voting list has just been posted on the library building in Central sq.

THE HEROES OF MEXICO

Undoubtedly the American newspaper readers have greatly missed the accounts of what John Lind was doing down in Vera Cruz, but apparently the sage of Minnesota has dropped out of sight far beyond the horizon. Nelson O'Shaughnessy, who was a crony of Huerta's, and who under very trying circumstances did splendid work for his government, has been pressed into service as an emergency clerk, and the chances are that a little later on will be sent back to Mexico City to represent his country. President Wilson scolded a little because of some of the reported indiscretions of O'Shaughnessy during the height of the Mexican trouble, but when the charge de affairs came back and talked it over with his chief it was all right, and metaphorically speaking, Woodrow Wilson slapped O'Shaughnessy on the back and told him he had done well.

THE LIGHT THAT KILLS

The city of Washington is a great place for automobiles. In fact there are perhaps more of them than in any other city of its size in the country. A modern device on the automobile, by which a glaring searchlight has been thrown on the roadway, has claimed a lot of victims, and the result is that in the District of Columbia this instrument of death has been banished. Of course the owners of big automobiles resisted because big headlights indicate that their automobiles cost a lot of money. By putting a piece of muslin over the front of the searchlight, or by means of frosting the glass with soap or some other substance, the glaring light has been brought under control.

IN ONE MINNESOTA DISTRICT

Four years ago Mr. James Tawney of Minnesota was chairman of the Appropriations Committee of the House of Representatives, and was one of the half dozen committee chairmen who arranged legislation as fore-ordained by Joseph G. Cannon, who kept a tight rein on Congress and manipulated the system of legislating according to the rules in a manner that was no more to the credit of the country than the present plan of the caucus, Tawney was defeated, and one might have supposed from reading the wails in the newspapers controlled by the old guard that the government was in danger of coming to a sudden stop. Former President Taft was one who took this view of the situation and in order to forestall the impending national crisis a sinecure was fixed up, with the result that Mr. Tawney has not suffered a curtailment in his income. The man who beat Tawney was Sidney Anderson, and when he arrived in Washington he was twenty-eight years of age. He was pointed out as illustrating the horrible mistakes that voters sometimes make, because Washington above all other places could not understand why a young, inexperienced man should have been chosen to replace a wheel-horse who was ready to faithfully stand by the political machinery until it busted. However, Anderson was unconcerned, and started to work. He was appointed on the Ways and Means Committee, but when he found that this was an empty honor he resigned, and in doing so made a vigorous attack upon the caucus system, and showed the necessity for a complete revision of the rules of the House of Representatives in order that individual members might be enabled to do the work that the country and their districts expect of them. Anderson is a member of the Agricultural Committee and is doing splendid work since he has found a place that furnishes more latitude than was the case in his former assignment to a committee where he was a minority member of a strictly party committee. He is one of the best debaters in the House, and the judgment of the Capital has been revised in such a manner that it has become convinced that the Minnesota district knew what it was doing when it sent Anderson to Congress, and knows what it is doing by keeping him there.

FILIPINOS GETTING THE OFFICES

The first step toward independence in the Philippines has been in turning over as far as possible the machinery of government to the natives of the island, and it is doubtful if any process could have been invented that would have brought more protests from the American residents holding the snaps. The legislation in reference to ultimate independence for the Philippines has received the tentative consent of President Wilson, and it is expected that it will appear before Congress to be acted upon next winter. Of course it is going to mean a big fight, as there are many view-points concerning what should be our attitude toward the islanders.

PENNY POSTAGE

Such issues as that of penny postage have been knocked higher than a kite by the financial stringency in the money situation, created by the war. There are a number of bills before Congress providing for reduction of postage rates, and these were in anticipation of a large increase of the revenue by reason of the parcel post. However, the parcel post has not been as great a money making institution as was expected, and therefore between foreign wars, postal disappointments, and other adverse conditions, it will likely be necessary to put two cent stamps on your letters for a long time to come.

HE IS NOW FIGHTING FOR PEACE

Congressman Bartholdt, who has been posing as one of the greatest peace advocates in the world, has swung into the defense of the German Kaiser, and has exhibited so much partisanship that it is doubtful whether he is adding to his prestige, chances for securing the Nobel peace prize, for which he is so eager that his friends in the House of Representatives have enlisted in his support to the extent of subscribing to a petition in his interest.

THE GET-RICH-QUICKS

People nowadays are not selling gold bricks as a means to get rich quick, since the same results appear to be obtainable by selling plain, common, ordinary food stuffs. So many ways have been found by which the food market can be manipulated that the Washington government has found it necessary to increase its activity in order that poor people may be permitted to continue to live.

THE BAD SPOTS

A determined effort has been made to remove the bad spots in the river and harbor bill, and to leave the remaining good meat in the barrel. The theory is that the bad "spots" may ruin the contents of the whole barrel. In the case of apples one bad one often spoils all the good fruit. The same principle can be applied to pork barrels. Many valuable projects have been tied up in the bill along with the bad proposals. Obviously the thing to do is to weed out the bad items.

Choate Island

The Ancestral Home of Forty Lawyers

By MARY HARROD NORTHEND

THE early settlers coming to the shores of New England gave the old home names to the spots of their selection and perpetuated many of the familiar customs. And here in the new scenes they built their homes and all along the coast the names they left remind one of the scenes and localities from whence they came.

Near to the town of Essex, in the river which bears the same name, is the historic Choate Island which has been the home of the descendants of John Choate, who emigrated to America in the middle of the seventeenth century, and settled in what at that time was included in Ipswich, but later was set apart as Essex.

This spot was in the early days one of the favorite resorts of the Indians whose burial ground is still seen in a beautiful knoll on the northern slope near the water's edge. It was the last reservation which was sold to the town of Ipswich and it is within the memory of man that there encamped on the opposite shore in the woods for many years an Indian and his squaw, mingling freely with the white men. One day they were seen to pass round the point in their canoe, glance back longingly at the Island, and then pass forever from sight of Essex.

It was when the Island was first inhabited that a band of the Tarrentine Indians planned to come quietly up the Ipswich river in forty canoes, suprising the white men and exterminate the settlement. This diabolical plan was discovered by one of the friendly Indians of the Agawam tribe and the natives were warned and thus the infant settlement was saved from annihilation.

When this island was first settled it was covered with dense forests of which then as now we could say with the Quaker poet,

"Health comes sparkling in the streams;
The pines are trees of healing."

John Choate, known as "Sergeant John," the first of the name in America, came to this country in 1655, settling on a creek which was the dividing line between Essex and Ipswich. He was a successful and enterprising farmer and gradually acquired title to the whole of the island, known at that time on account of its peculiar formation, as Hogg Island.

The ownership of the island passed in succession to his son Thomas, to whom his primitive neighbors gave the title of "Governor." The house to which he took his bride in 1690 remained standing more than a century, the foundation being still visible. Just in front of this now stands the house erected in 1725 by his son Francis Choate, the second of the family to live on the Island. He was by trade a blacksmith and his art was put into requisition through the making of all the iron work used in the construction of three schooners built by Francis and his brother Thomas with the assistance of Caesar, a slave. All of the wood used in making the ships was sawn by these three by hand. While not himself a seafaring man, he was much interested in maritime affairs, owning and chartering many vessels engaged in coasting and fishing trade.

Francis Choate was prominent in the church and it is recorded that "among the Choate ancestry, none were so illustrious for piety as Esquire Francis and his good wife Hannah."

Like many others in those days, he was the owner of slaves, the first one, Ned, being purchased at Long Wharf by his father. Governor Thomas Choate, while attending a General Court in Boston. Ned married and became the father of many children, two of whom slept in the barn one night after a famous husking, and being taken sick, died and were buried on the island, being the only ones besides the Indians who have been buried there.

Ned lived to be ninety years of age and two of his children remained with Mr. Francis Choate as slaves until 1845 when their freedom was given them but they chose to retain their old position and accordingly were cared for as long as they lived.

William Choate, fourth son of Governor Thomas Choate studied for the ministry but relinquished it to master the science of navigation, following the sea and becoming the captain of a ship when only twenty-five years of age. During the winter months it was his habit to take charge of the school on the island, and his thorough methods with his own children fitted them with a far better education than that of the boys on the mainland.

He was a dignified man, tall and very handsome, disinclined to public life yet it is said that he became collector and treasurer of the parish during the Revolutionary War. Tradition says his wife was one of the bravest of women, and when one day a British frigate was seen in the bay and twelve men were stationed to prevent the enemy from landing on the island, she was the only woman who did not flee for protection to the mainland, but remained on the island with her little ones without suffering harm from the enemy.

The last Choate to be born in the old homestead on Choate Island was Rufus Choate, one of America's greatest advocates. He was born on Tuesday October 1, 1799, the event being carefully noted by his father in the family Bible.

A scholar by instinct, he entered Dartmouth while he was yet sixteen and there distinguished himself by his remarkable fluency and high rank. Under the college system of rating he held a standing of absolute perfection which in the history of the college has been reached by only three graduates. Rufus Choate, Professor Putnam and Judge Walbridge A. Field.

After his admission to the bar in 1823 his reason, ambition and conscience brought success and increasing honors and his devotion to the welfare of his country was shown in his service in the United States senate, by which he relinquished for nearly seven years the personal benefits which he might have received from the private practice of his profession. To the wisdom of the statesman and self-sacrificing devotion of this patriot great honor is due and the passing years have proved the far-sightedness which prompted independent action and any adverse criticism is now regretted.

His labors in behalf of the Smithsonian Institute were added to his other public services and his life of sixty years forms an epoch of influence and finds its true verdict in the words of his friend Mrs. James T. Fields.

"Built up of our larger hope,
Of equal laws and equal right.

Nor ages quench his light."

Among the eighty descendants born upon Choate Island were many daughters whose excellent qualities of mind and heart brought to them marriages with sons of equally notable families and the moral loftiness, love of right and justice insured them in the hearts of all who knew them.

There is no island which has a more distinguished history than has Choate Island as forty lawyers including the Hon. Joseph H. Choate were descendants of the first Choate who inhabited the island and many were born there.

The House of the Seven Gables

Perhaps the Most Interesting Place Historically on the North Shore

SALEM was fortunate in the devastating fire of June 25 to have spared to the old city most of the places of historic interest which tourists to the North Shore always make a point of visiting. Chief among these landmarks of olden times is a venerable mansion now generally acknowledged as the scene of and inspiration for Nathaniel Hawthorne's famous romance. In fact, it is the only house that has ever been known as the House of the Seven Gables, although its claim to that picturesque name has been sometimes disputed.

By the time Hawthorne came to know the house most of the ancient features which distinguished it were no longer to be seen and his knowledge of them could only have come through the recollections of the childhood of his cousin, Susannah Ingersoll, who eventually inherited the house in 1812. Miss Ingersoll had become a recluse because of an unfortunate love affair with a young naval officer. Although she refused to allow a man enter her house, she did not close her doors to Hawthorne and the visitor to the house can picture him sitting in the comfortable window seat in the parlor gazing down the harbor, or ensconced in the comfortable depths of the "Hawthorne chair,"—a shy dreamy youth, glad, no doubt, to hear all the tales of the past that his eccentric old kinswoman could tell him, of the times when the house had seven gables, and an overhanging second story, and a secret staircase.

Up to 1883 the house saw many changes of ownership and in the meantime the character of the neighborhood had changed. An alien population had made a peaceful invasion of this old Puritan town for the purpose of working in the shoe shops and factories which now replace the old time Salem shipping. Settlement work, following in the wake of this influx of foreigners, was started in Turner st., where the house stands today, and one of the settlement committee was inspired to buy the House of the Seven Gables and so give the settlement a name and a home.

The house was thoroughly repaired and traces of four gables were discovered, which, added to the three gables remaining on the house, made seven. Several leading antiquarians were invited to inspect the house, and all expressed the opinion that it once had seven gables. It never rains but it pours! Still another gable was found.

The secret staircase was rebuilt according to the description of Mr. Upton, one of the owners, who took it down twenty years before. The secret staircase is not mentioned in the story of "The House of the Seven Gables," but the mysterious way in which Clifford appears in the room where the judge is sitting dead seems to indicate that Hawthorne had heard of it.

In restoring the house some compromises were made with historical accuracy in fitting it for use as a settlement, but nothing was changed to make the house fit the story. Some of the word pictures used by Hawthorne in his story were probably flights of fancy and support his statement that he used "material of which air castles are built." However, to the careful student the points of difference are trivial compared with the underlying resemblance which assures us that the ancient mansion on Turner st., Salem, well deserves the name by which it has been known for decades, of the House of the Seven Gables.

This historic mansion is one of much interest for visitors to the North Shore and a visit there before returning homeward this season would leave pleasant memories of the historic section of the shore.

Important among the social events of the early autumn on the North Shore will be the dance and bridge tournament to be given at the Essex County club Friday evening, Sept. 25, by the Beverly Hospital Junior Aid association. Nine-thirty is the hour set for the affair, and tickets may be obtained by sending check to Miss Hope Norman, Beverly, before Monday, Sept. 21. Tickets for the dance are five dollars for ladies and three for gentlemen, and for the bridge ten dollars a table. The Junior Aid is the newest association on the North Shore and the membership is made up of the younger members of the summer colony who are taking this means of extending much needed help to a most worthy institution. The executive committee is composed of Miss Katharine W. Tweed, president; Miss Alice Thorndike, vice pres.; Miss Phyllis Sears, secy.; Charles E. Cotting, Jr., treas.; Misses Katherine L. Putnam and Julia Meyer and Dudley L. Pickman, Jr. The first meeting was held and organization effected recently at a meeting at Mrs. Allen Curtis's, Beverly Farms.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Frazier and son Frank D., returned the latter part of last week from a motor trip to Syracuse, N. Y., where they went to attend the fair. Live stock from Mr. Frazier's farm at Ipswich captured many of the blue ribbons and special trophies.

Bishop Lawrence will take the service at the Emmanuel Episcopal church, Masconomo st., Manchester, Sunday. Morning prayer and sermon at half-past ten.

Mrs. W. Scott Fitz left Manchester yesterday for Jackson, N. H., to spend the early autumn as usual. On her return from the mountains she will go to her residence in Boston.

Social life at Magnolia is rapidly on the wane, with the closing of the big Oceanside hotel the last of next week. Green Gables club closed last Saturday, but the North Shore Grill, which has had a most successful season, increasing in popularity as the season advanced, is to keep open until the first of October. Many cottagers out motoring and shopping have dropped into the club for afternoon tea and luncheon and—dancing—during the week. Several dinner parties have been given, too. Miss Marion Greeley of the Manchester colony was hostess for a party of eight covers Wednesday evening. Bradshaw Jacobs gave a dinner of six covers Tuesday evening. Many big changes are to be made in the Grill before next season, important among which will be the enlarging of the dining room and dancing space.

North Shore people are taking a great deal of interest in the tournament and sale to raise funds for the Red Cross hospital ship "Red Cross," which will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 6th, from two to six at Mrs. Robert S. Bradley's, Pride's Crossing.

Henry Rogers Dalton of Boston died suddenly Thursday morning at his summer home, "White Cottage," West Beach hill, Beverly Farms, in his 76th year. Mr. Dalton was born in Chelmsford, the son of John Call and Julia Ann (Spaulding) Dalton, and since the Civil War he has been an insurance broker. At the outbreak of the war he enlisted as a private and his rise in the ranks was rapid. He was a major when the war was over. Mr. Dalton is survived by his wife, who was Florence Chapman; two sons, Henry R. Dalton, Jr., and Philip S. Dalton, and three daughters, Miss Elizabeth L. Dalton, Miss Ellen B. Dalton and Mrs. A. W. Cooley of Milton. The family has been identified with life at Beverly Farms for a great many years.

MYOPIA HUNT CLUB'S twentieth annual open-air horse show held at Hamilton Monday was attended by one of the largest gatherings that ever turned out for this popular Labor Day fixture. The program extended over morning and afternoon. Ten classes were carded for the program, supplemented with an interesting offering of gymkhana events and topped off with a dashing polo game to complete the entertainment of the thousands who came from all along the North Shore. The show was staged on the practice polo field, and in the afternoon, when the crowd was the largest, it was fringed a dozen deep on all four sides, presenting a striking picture of life and color. Around the field there were probably 500 motor cars parked. Here and there were smart-looking horses attached to smart-looking equipages. There was plenty of competition especially in the classes for hunters. Everything was run off in clock-work order. There was a pretty even division of the blues, reds, yellows and reserve ribbons and the judges had a difficult time in picking the winners, especially in the hunters. There were comparatively few women riders during the day. Two of the largest entry lists were missing yesterday, those of Charles G. Rice, owing to the death of a relative, and those of George S. Mandell because of the illness of his brother. The judges were Francis H. Peabody, Jr., and Dr. S. A. Hopkins for the polo ponies and Charles S. Bird, Jr., of Walpole; Henry W. Bull of the Meadowbrook Country club and John P. Bowditch of Framingham for the hunters. The show was in charge of a committee of the Myopia Hunt club, consisting of James W. Appleton, Frederick J. Alley, H. P. McKean, Jr., Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., Ellis L. Dresel and Thomas G. Frothingham, Jr. One of the features of the jumping events was the splendid performance of Royal Oak, a black gelding owned by Frederick J. Alley of the Myopia Hunt club. Royal Oak is 23 years old and Mr. Alley has hunted him for seventeen seasons and today he is just as strong as ever. Monday he won third prize in the class for qualified hunters up to 200 pounds. Misses Elise Ames and Miss Julia Appleton won ribbons during the afternoon and the awards proved popular. In the Master's challenge cup, the event for the best hunter owned by a member of the Myopia Hunt club, George von L. Meyer, just home from Europe came over from Rock Maple farm, with his daughter, Miss Julia Meyer, just in time to see the judges award the blue ribbon to his hunter, Leminton. Just before the gymkhana events were started, Judge William H. Moore drove over the field behind a team of four grays, with the bugler winding the hunting calls as the black and yellow coach passed before the admiring gaze of thousands. On the box with Judge Moore was George Howard of Washington. Roger Sturgis of Boston also rode on the coach. The gymkhana events were funmakers, Miss Joan Whitney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Payne Whitney, winning the going to Jerusalem, or musical stalls event, while Charles Appleton's team won the push ball game, the only goal being scored just after the big ball was put in play. Arranging for the surprise obstacle race, the committeemen had to contend with a brisk breeze blowing over the field which ripped the paper walls through which the entrants were to send their mounts before the final dash around the canary and red poles. Shaw McKean was the winner. The polo game was the last offering for the afternoon, with the Reds, made up of Harry Lee at one, Dudley P. Rogers at two, Shaw McKean at three and F. Blackwood Fay at back, playing the Whites, with Ellis L. Dresel at one, Norman Prince at two, J. H. Proctor at three and John B. Moulton at back. Eight periods were played the Reds winning by a score of 8 to 5 $\frac{3}{4}$ . Scoring was done by Messrs. Prince, McKean, Dresel, Lee, Proctor, Moulton and Rogers. No goals were scored in the third and sixth periods. During the afternoon Gordon Prince, A. F. Sartwell and R. H. Reece were tossed, but they all came up smiling. During the afternoon the Eighth regiment band provided a program of popular music.

A luncheon was given at the Essex County club Tuesday by some twenty-five of those who recently played in the golf tournament and attended the luncheon given by Dr. J. H. Lancashire of Manchester. The luncheon was incidental to a golf tournament, which was one of the events of the day. Those who arranged the affair planned it also as an acknowledgement of Dr. Lancashire's interest in promoting golf events, including his presentation of prize cups. To make the occasion memorable, his friends presented Dr. Lancashire with a beautiful loving cup. In behalf of those present and concerned in the gift, the presentation was made by Richard H. Dana, and in addition to Dr. Lancashire's brief speech of acknowledgement of the honor shown him, William J. Boardman and others spoke informally.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Kidder and Mrs. John Pickering Putnam, formerly of the Brownland colony, Manchester have had most exciting adventures in Europe during this summer, finally returning on the Franconia last week. They went over together in June on the Crown Prinzezen Cecelie. Mr. Kidder had to give up his automobile in Paris. Many of their Boston friends and relatives are still abroad, vainly trying to get transportation to America. A. V. Kidder of the Ipswich summer colony, who with his wife and two children are occupying the Gerald Hoyt place at Appleton Farms, has had a most anxious time regarding his father and mother. Mrs. Putnam is the mother of Mrs. Samuel Hare Powell (Elsa Putnam) of Providence, whose summer home "Rock Lawn" is at Greenwich, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jordan, who have been spending the summer in Scotland with the former's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Eben D. Jordan, are expected home on the Franconia, which is scheduled to sail the 15th of this month, as originally planned. The senior Mr. and Mrs. Jordan and Miss Dorothy Jordan will remain in Scotland until October. The shooting season has not been a successful one socially, of course, and the many friends invited to visit the Jordans had to change their plans necessarily. Mr. and Mrs. T. Adamowski were with the Jordans for a short visit, but they have since returned home. Mr. Jordan's sister, Mrs. Foster, had to change her plans to join in the Red Cross work.

Mr. and Mrs. John Markle of New York, who are spending the season at the Eben D. Jordan estate, West Manchester, are to remain on the shore until the first of October, and maybe later. Mrs. Markle gave a luncheon of sixteen covers Tuesday, one of many such delightful informal affairs given during the summer. Mr. and Mrs. Markle's house-guests at the present time include Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Remick of New York; Mr. and Mrs. John Nesbitt Conyngham (Bertha Robinson) of New York and Wilkes Barre, Pa., who are in their way home from Bretton Woods; E. W. Robinson and Master Robinson and Miss Alice Maxwell, the latter from Rockville, Ct. Mrs. J. H. Wright of New York, who has been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Markle is still here.

Mrs. Joseph A. Iasigi of Boston, has been spending a day or two on the North Shore this week with the Misses Mary F. and Fannie Bartlett at Old Neck, Manchester. The Misses Bartlett are remaining at the seashore for the early autumn, as usual, and will close their cottage about the tenth of October, when they return to their Boston home, 227 Commonwealth ave.

Y., which is a suburb of Utica, joined Mr. Sanger's sister, Miss Sanger, and the former's little daughter at the Oceanside Sunday, after returning from Europe. The party landed in New York Friday of last week, after a hard time of it in Europe and will remain until the hotel closes.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lee, Jr., and two children, of Philadelphia, who have been spending August at the Oceanside, have returned home.

Gen. and Mrs. Geo. L. Andrews of Washington are spending a week or two in Boston, after a season at the Oceanside.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Stephenson and Miss Katharine Holden of Philadelphia arrived at the Oceanside yesterday to remain until the hotel closes.

Miss E. F. Risser of Rome, Italy, registered at the Oceanside yesterday, a guest of Mrs. A. F. MacArthur of New York, who is to remain until the hotel closes with apartments in Lawton cottage.

A very successful lecture on "Practical Gardening" was given by Mr. Maurice Fuld, the well known horticulturist and lecturer, at Miss Cecilia Bowe's studio yesterday for the benefit of the Gloucester section of the American Red Cross. There was a large attendance at the lecture, most of the prominent women of the North Shore being present. An encouraging sum of money was received from the sale of tickets. So enthusiastic was the audience over the lecture that a request was made for another lecture by Mr. Fuld. It is announced by the ladies of the Gloucester section of the American Red Cross, of which Mrs. John Hays Hammond is chairman, that a second lecture by Mr. Fuld will be given on the subject of "The Scientific Gardening of the North Shore," at the Universalist church, Gloucester, on Saturday afternoon, September 12th, at four o'clock. MARBLEHEAD'S summer colony is fast dwindling and the hotel rosters are slowly diminishing. Most of the cottagers, however, will remain on the shore quite late, many until the middle of October.

The races of the fleet of the Corinthian Yacht club at Marblehead, Labor Day virtually marked the end of the busy season there. Ideal weather on that day made the work of the boats pleasing to the skippers and a pleasant day of sport was the result, with the Commodore's cup at the trophy. This evening's dinner-dance at the Corinthian will be the closing one of the season. Last week Friday, 150 set down to dinner and many more came for the dancing. Although there will be few more formal functions at the club this season, the house will probably remain open until the first of October.

The Hotel Ocean-Manor closed a most successful season last Tuesday morning. A full house on the Labor Day week-end, when many came down for the races, ended the 1914 season most auspiciously. The early closing of the hotel was made necessary by the many improvements on the exterior of the house which have been planned since spring. Several additions to the house equipment will also be made. A heating plant of the latest approved method will be installed, a sun-parlor and ball-room being added. Considerable interior decorating will make the house more attractive for next season. The Ocean-Manor will probably open early next season, on or before June 15.

The Oceanside hotel, Marblehead Neck, is remaining open until October 1, when it will close on the most successful season it has had in years, despite the general business depression and complaint of some hotels that the season has not been up to par. The tea garden there, on the rocks overlooking the ocean and race course in the rear of the hotel, has become a fixture and was well patronized by members of the Neck colony. Arrivals at the Oceanside the past few days include: Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Leighton of East Jaffrey, N. H.; Mrs. Vernon F. West of Portland, Me.; Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Quimby and L. B. Quimby of Laconia, N. H.; R. E. and K. B. Gifford of Somerville; Miss Edith M. Ackerly of Hartford, Conn.; and Mr. and Mrs. Karl E. Weston of Williams-town.

ROCK-MERE hotel, Marblehead, is still doing business and no date has been set for closing. Numbered among this week's arrivals were many old patrons of the hotel, who have returned from early season visits for an autumn sojourn on the Marblehead shore. Prominent among the arrivals of the week were: Mrs. C. A. Alexander and son Carl of Brookline; Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Brown of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Walker of Hartford, Conn.; W. H. Gray and family of New York; Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Hanna and child of Philadelphia; Mrs. Henry M. Smith, Miss M. Smith and Alfred W. Smith of Enfield, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Browne of Providence, R. I.; and Wm. E. Paine and family of New York.

Glover Inn, Marblehead, had a busy Labor Day and week-end. This house prides itself on being one "of autumn pleasure" and offers special inducements to the late stayer on the shore. Arrivals during the week included: Edward L. Bacon of Newton; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Patterson and daughter of Dayton, O.; and a Scituate party composed of Geo. V., Adair F., Ivan H., and Geo. V. Yenetchi, Jr., together with Miss Agnes V. Olson of the same place.

SWAMPSCOTT summer life is fast drawing to a close and with the hotels closing and several families getting back to town this week the end of the season of 1914 is in sight. Altogether, it has been a rather lively one on the Swampscott shore and the hotels have enjoyed a prosperous business. The Tedesco Country club will still be the centre of amusement for those who remain late on the shore,—the club will be open indefinitely.

Lincoln House, Swampscott, closed its doors for the season last Tuesday morning. On Monday evening Roy F. Bergengren, proprietor of the hotel, tendered a banquet to the business men of the Bergengren block, Lynn. Several improvements before next season will make the Lincoln House one of the best equipped hotels on the coast. This is the house' first year under the management of Mr. Bergengren and his success has prompted him to make further strides to please his patrons.

The last concert of the season at the Tedesco Country club, Swampscott, was held last Wednesday. About 250 were entertained at dinner. There were also 500 dancers present at the last Saturday tea dance of the season last week. The club will be a popular place for golf and tennis for weeks to come in spite of the closing of the season in some places. On the 15th the New England Iron league will gather at the Tedesco for sports and dinner. A large number of golfers were noted on the links Labor Day, the fine weather bringing out one of the largest crowds of the season at the clubhouse.

The Oakland House, Swampscott, is remaining open until October 1, and many guests there are staying until that date. At a prize bridge party Thursday of last week at the Oakland Mrs. Alexander Scully of Chicago a season guest winning and Mrs. Miller of Passaic, N. J., and Mrs. Fred McQuesten of Marblehead Neck taking second and third respectively.

The New Ocean House concluded one of the best seasons in its career Tuesday morning. This popular hostelry has been making wonderful strides in the years that the E. R. Grabow Co. has had the management of it. Already plans are being made to take care of the unprecedented year awaiting all North Shore hotels the next summer. Mr. Grabow is arranging for a number of important changes and improvements in keeping the hotel to the front as being the representative hotel in this part of the North Shore.

HAMILTON-WENHAM'S summer colony, like all those of the inner shore, remains intact with the advent of Labor Day. Unlike sections where the hotel contingent forms the principal basis of the colony, that in Hamilton and Wenham counts among its residents many families who have been summering there for years. In most cases the cool autumn weather of October sees most of these families still on the shore.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Cochrane of Hamilton are home from Europe and are enjoying an autumn stay at their home here.

Hon. George von L. Meyer and Mrs. Meyer of "Rock Maple Farm," Hamilton, returned from Europe on the Mauretania last Friday. They were at Badhisseng when the war broke out and like other Americans in the war zone had a thrilling time in getting back to the United States. Lieut. Rogers, husband of Alys (Meyer) Rogers, is now in Haytian waters, having been stationed there since the uprising. He was for a time this summer in Mexico when the trouble there was at its height and was located at Vera Cruz, on the warship Sacramento.

Congressman Augustus P. Gardner is expected to return home to "Sagamore Farm," his Hamilton estate, about the 18th of this month. The residents of the town are preparing to tender him a reception upon his return. He is to speak at the Hamilton Town hall before the primaries preceding the coming fall election.

Mrs. Thomas P. Pingree of "Sunnyfield," Wenham, entertained a party of young people at Choate Island Essex, over the holiday this week. In the party were the Misses Lefavour, Dodge, and Fowler and Messrs. Currier, Lincoln and Dodge.

William Phillips, third asst. secretary of state, of Washington and Wenham Lake, has been spending a week in Maine. He is returning to Wenham today.

Yearly subscription to North Shore Breeze, $2.00.

The current topics lectures by Mrs. Ward at the home of Miss Helen Burnham at Wenham, have taken on an added interest since the war in Europe. Mrs. Ward has been devoting her talk solely to war topics and a large assembly of ladies attended the lecture held Wednesday afternoon of this week.

The Wenham tea house is remaining open until November 1, this year. The patronage the last few weeks has been unusually good and Labor Day was a big day with the motorists along the old County road.

Members of the Wenham Village Improvement society met at the home of Mrs. B. Hammond Tracy last Friday afternoon for their regular monthly meeting. After the business session a visit to the Tracy gladioli gardens, "Cedar Acres," was made, following which tea was served.

On Tuesday evening an automobile coming down Cedar st., Wenham, swerved from its course and struck the wall surrounding the property of Miss Helen Burnham. The wall was considerably damaged, and the car was somewhat smashed. The car was a Ford, but as the number plates were removed by the driver after the accident it was impossible to identify the machine. The car is now at a local garage.

IPSWICH summer folk might be termed winter folk as well, as the majority of the families having estates there during the summer months remain on the shore until October and November, several spending Thanksgiving here. This accounts in a measure for the elaborate estates there, designed for permanence and with all the features of a gentleman's country estate. Not only extensive and well kept floral gardens, but large crops of fruit and vegetables which are prize winners at the country fairs are grown on these estates. Now, in the fall of the year, everything about Ipswich is alive in the truest sense of the word.

R. T. Crane of Chicago and "Castle Hill Farm," Ipswich, is on a business trip to Chicago and is planning to return to his summer home for some time yet. Mrs. Crane, her father, H. N. Higinbotham, and Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Higinbotham, the latter of Joliet, Ill., are still at Ipswich. Mr. and Mrs. Higinbotham occupy a cottage on the Crane estate.

Y<sup>e</sup> Burnham House, on Linebrook road, Ipswich, is still open and catering to many motor parties for tea and luncheon. The tea room has numbered among its patrons this year many parties from the New Hampshire and Maine resorts, motorists who think nothing of coming down from Rye beach or York Harbor, Me., for a day on the North Shore. The Burnham House has proved just as interesting an attraction for hundreds of tourists this year as it has in seasons past and many visitors will remember it as the "quaintest place on the North Shore."

The livestock of the Upland Farms, Ipswich, owned and operated by Frank P. and Frank D. Frazier of New York and West Manchester, took a good share of the prizes at the big fair at Syracuse, N. Y., last week. This exhibition is the largest of any in the Eastern states and there is such an exceptional exhibit of livestock there it is quite a plum for an owner to capture a few "firsts." The Frazier farm has attracted considerable attention during the last few months by reason of its model milk farm and dairy about a mile outside the town of Ipswich. With such an equipment as this farm has and the prize stock of Guernsies which are the pride of the farm it is not surprising that it is winning prizes at all of the fairs throughout New England. At the Syracuse fair Florham Monarch, the prize bull of Upland Farms, in the senior bull class, took a championship and a grand championship. In the class for aged cows, Flora of Viniera and Hanbury's Wickham Lady took first and second, respectively, the former winning a championship. Ultra Lady took a first in the two-year old cow class and in the class under two years old Florham Princess took a first, championship and a grand championship. Firsts were also captured in the classes of get of one sire, produce of one cow and exhibitor's herd. The Syracuse fair continued from Monday, August 31, to Sept. 5. The Hartford exhibition has been continuing all this week and closes tomorrow, Saturday. The Upland Farms herd will also exhibit at White River Jct., at the Framingham fair and at Brockton the first of October.

EAST GLOUCESTER and Eastern Point cottage folk are not accepting Labor Day as the "official" ending of the summer season. Many cottages are to be kept open through the month, with but few exceptions and it is only in the hotels that there is any appreciable falling off in numbers.

Hawthorne Inn, East Gloucester, is not closing early, —it is to remain open until the morning of the 22nd. Although practically all of the many social functions at the Inn are at an end, there are many guests there who find plenty to attract. Prominent among the guests who plan to remain until closing time are: Mrs. G. W. Gail, Miss Helen Gail and G. W. Gail, Jr., Mrs. C. E. Fobus and Mrs. A. G. Luscomb of Worcester; Mrs. A. L. Gifford and Miss Elizabeth L. Gifford of Tarrytown, N. Y.; Wm. A. Hill of Washington, D. C.; Morris L. Cooke of Philadelphia; Henry R. Bowser of Richmond, Va.; Wesley Broadway of Stamford, Conn.; Mrs. T. S. Gray and daughter of Stamford; H. S. Howard of San Francisco; and Henry L. Davis of Germantown, Pa.

Hotel Beachcroft, East Gloucester, will end the season of 1914 about the middle of the month or shortly after. This house has been quite successful the past summer and, like the other hotels along the shore, is preparing for a banner season next year. Arrivals the past few days include Robert J. Martin of New York; Misses C. L. and E. C. Pousland of Cambridge; M. F. Nicholl and E. H. Lamson of Scotch Plains, N. J.; Miss Edna R. Gardiner and Miss Lydia G. Chace of Providence, R. I.; Franklin E. Johnson of Lowell; Miss Emily L. Croswell of Boston; Mrs. Sally Wilson of Washington, D. C.; and Misses Grace C. and Harriet L. Davis of Albany, N. Y.

The Harbor View hotel, East Gloucester, is keeping open this year until the middle of October and has a number of guests for autumn stays. Miss Helen Cudahy of the well-known Milwaukee Cudahys is making a short stay at the Harbor View. Instead of going into society, Miss Cudahy has taken up the study of nursing and has been at the Massachusetts General hospital, Boston, for sometime. H. H. Kaenper of Philadelphia, a German by descent, who is stopping at the Harbor View, tells some interesting experiences of his flight from Germany at the time of the outbreak of the war. Although he succeeded in leaving the country as early as August 5, it was not until he had been detained several times. Other guests include Grenville H. Norcross of Boston; Mr. and Mrs. George D. Lacy of Springfield; Arthur C. Sprague of Wollaston; Miss Mary Clatterbuck of Ogdensburg, N. Y.; Harold P. Littlefield of Cohasset; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Hersey of Hingham; S. B. Wheeler of Boston; and F. H. Decker of Providence, R. I.

Arrivals at the Fairview, East Gloucester, this week, include: L. W. Watts of Boston; Mrs. J. T. Gurney and Miss A. M. Catt of Boston; and Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Reynolds of Worcester.

Merrill Hall, East Gloucester, is closing the 15th of this month. Like most of the smaller houses, it has fared well this season and has had a houseful practically all summer. Among those to come there until closing time were; Mrs. J. A. McArthur of Lynn; Miss F. H.

The Mailman house, East Gloucester, is keeping open until the last of October. Guests arriving there the last few days include Brayton Byron, and Mrs. W. C. Byron of So. Bethlehem, Pa., and Edward S. Byron of Crooked Lake, Fla.; Miss Grace Pratt of Deerfield; Miss Louise Hastings of Brookline.

ROCKPORT hotels are showing the results of the after Labor Day migration and but small contingents of vacationers are left in the summer hostelrys of that place. The cottagers in most cases are staying down for September, although but few plan to remain on the shore much later.

Turk's Head Inn, Rockport, closed this week, Tuesday, for the season. It had practically a full house over Labor Day, including many motor parties who came to the Inn for one of their famous "motor dinners."

Straitsmouth Inn, Rockport, is remaining open until the 22nd. Several guests there plan to remain until the closing date. Guests at the house now for short stays include Mr. and Mrs. James Cleaves of Medford; Walter A. Davis of Boston; Miss Hilda Justin, and Mrs. Edwin L. Harrington, both of Philadelphia; Mrs. R. A. Flanders and Miss Constance Flanders of Brookline; and Mrs. Shinn of Boston.

Manning House, Rockport, will not close its doors for some time yet, probably not until the 15th of October. Meanwhile there is quite a houseful remaining through the next two or three weeks. Guests there include Mrs. George Sheldon and Miss Frances Sheldon of Lincoln, Neb.; Andrew Wright and Robert Wright of Brookline; Alice G. and Grace E. Cusick of Brookline; George Payne and Miss Cecilia Payne of Freeport, L. I.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Taylor and Miss Alice F. Taylor of Watertown; and Misses Alice F., Anne and Margaret Turley of Brookline.

The Granite Shore hotel, Rockport, is keeping open indefinitely, as long as the guests in the house are desirous of staying on the Rockport shore. This house was a busy place over Labor Day and the week-end and has a number of guests there for this month.

No date has been set for the closing of the Headland house, Rockport, and it will remain open indefinitely.

PIGEON COVE hotel guests are "staying on" well and are enjoying the mild September weather at this popular resort. The cottagers, also, have not commenced as yet to leave for their winter homes and the colony is quite as busy as before Labor Day, which in many places sounds the death knell of the season.

Hotel Edward at Pigeon Cove, Rockport, had practically a full house over Labor Day and the week-end and has retained many of its guests for longer stays. Every one who has visited the Edward this season has been charmed with the house and the steam-heating plant has proved a popular adjunct these cool evenings. J. B. Pevear of Cincinnati, president of the General Electric Co., is at the Edward with Mrs. Pevear for a stay, and has been entertaining some friends there the last few days. Judge Quill of Beverly, his daughters Ruth and Mary and their friend, Miss O'Brien of Boston, spent Labor Day at the Edward. A motor party to come to the Edward last Friday night for the week-end and holiday included Mrs. Frank W. Eddy, Mrs. W. O. Mundy, Miss Frances Eddy, and Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Bunney. They left on Monday evening. Thomas F. Maguire of Portland, Me., entertained over Labor Day at the Edward, H. L. Jones and E. T. Breslin of Springfield. J. E. Full, director of the Copley-Plaza hotel corporation of Boston, together with Mrs. Full and daughters Frances A. and Virginia L., have been spending a few days at the Edward. Other guests there include Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Drake of Boston, who came to the Edward on Labor Day on their way to the mountains; J. E. K. Herrick and C. E. Perry of Springfield, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Strout and daughter of Concord; and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Grandison of Boston.

The Ocean View, Pigeon Cove, is keeping open until the 15th of this month. Among the guests who are staying until that time are Miss E. T. Wandell of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. F. H. Elliott of Lowell, Miss Sarah W. Pyle of Wilmington, Del.; Miss Edith Russell of the same place; Mrs. Bernard Shields of New Orleans; and Miss Althea Robinson of Birmingham, Ala.

Yearly subscription to North Shore Breeze, $2.00.

MYSTERY ISLAND has been very popular the past week as the season draws to a close,—tennis and bathing parties, picnics and dancing. Mr. and Mrs. Jake Rogers returned from a ten days' cruise on the Maine coast with Mr. and Mrs. Chilly Ayer of the Hamilton colony. Among those registered at the "Casino" during the past week were James S. Proctor of Brookline; Roger E. Hall and John Lodge of West Newton; R. G. Warner and Wilfred Wallace, 2d, of Boston; Miss Marcia Taylor of Manchester; A. F. Redway, J. W. Cummings, J. Wyman Flint, Jr., T. P. Brooks, Francinne Lanimore, Van Duzer Bruton and William W. Nolan, all of Cambridge; W. E. Brooks of Melbourne, Australia; Maurice E. McLaughlin of San Francisco; J. C. Parke of the British Isles; James P. Stearns, 2d, of Brookline; Louis McNamara of Boston; Edgar C. Fulton, Jr., of Hartford, Conn.; D. A. Hartwell of Louisville, Ky.; Pelham W. Bogert of Newport; Joseph Stuart of Newton; "Pip" Morgan of Westbury, L. I.; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bramwell and party, of Boston; Coburn Smith of Brookline; Mrs. Clarine Lucas, H. G. Barbee, Mrs. Lucy Gill, J. F. Riordan, Mr. and Mrs. Wolcott Johnson and family, Mrs. Thomas Russell, Miss Barbara Russell, Miss Fenno, Brooks Fenno, Jr., G. B. Perkins, Miss E. W. Cruft, and Miss Twichell, all of Boston; Roy Bristol of the U. S. S. Cummings; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lee and family of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blakie of Magnolia; Kenneth Lewis of Beverly Farms; Miss Frances Kammerling of Brookline; George McKay of Marblehead; Nathaniel S. Simpkins of Beverly Farms; Alex Cochrane of the Myopia club; R. H. Knight and S. L. Marshall of Manchester; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sanders, Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Shreve and family of Salem; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Percival of Marblehead, H. A. Fabian of Dedham.

EDITORIAL

JULY AND AUGUST OF THIS YEAR have been off summer months in more than one sense on the North Shore. The weather has not been satisfying as summer weather, to say the least. It almost seems as though it has been necessary to see July and August through to enjoy the summer weather the first days of September. In late June the Salem holocaust aroused everyone's sympathies. The sorrow, suffering of this calamity were evident all through July. And horrors above horrors have fallen upon the human mind by the European conflict. The closing of the stock exchanges, the cessation of business connections with Europe, the anxiety for friends and relatives abroad,—all these and everything more that war means has made August a memorable month of no good repute. In the sportmen's paradise some things have gone awry. The yachting world lost the friendly contest for the America's cup. In the surf, the bathers have been fewer than usual. Life at the clubs has been exceedingly dull. From Boston to Rockport it has been a decidedly off year. But all these are inconsiderable compared with the cares of the European nations. The summer season of 1914 will long be remembered.

THE NATIONAL CALAMITY that has befallen us may may aid President Wilson in his personal ambitions. Save the shipping proposition he has handled the situation skilfully and he may even be able to put that through. The American people do not often change administrations in a crisis and it is almost assured that the Democrats will renominate Wilson and perhaps the party will be able to hold enough independent votes to re-elect the head of the ticket.

WHAT RUIN AND DISTRESS would have befallen the new world if the stock exchanges had remained open! No one knows how many fortunes have been kept intact by the level-headed action of the board of administrators of the Boston and New York exchanges.

AMERICA CANNOT PLAY a Monte Cristo "stunt" and call the world his own because of the purchase of a few ships. A few government owned ships may help a little, but it is a long way to an efficient, American-owned and operated marine shipping supremacy.

THERE IS A HUMAN SIDE to this fearful struggle. What are common soldiers thinking and talking about? It cannot be that all of them understand. And it is a wonder that ranks are kept intact so well in the face of a withering fire!

BY AN ERROR IN ENGRESSING, there is a Tennessee law prohibiting owners of live stock from running at large. What a pity such "pounding" of Kaisers cannot be arranged.

THE ALLIES HAVE MAINTAINED a good fighting, watchful, waiting campaign. This is exasperating to the Germans whose line of progress is impeded.

WITH THE REPUBLICANS OF THE STATE united for Hon. Samuel W. McCall of Winchester as their candidate for governor, interest in the state campaign centres largely on the three-handed contest for the nomination for lieutenant-governor, in which Col. A. H. Goetting of Springfield, Speaker Grafton D. Cushing of Brookline and Elmer A. Stevens of Somerville are engaged. Many Republicans feel that it might have been more pleasant, all things considered, if Col. A. H. Goetting of Springfield, last year's standard bearer, had been accorded a renomination by unanimous consent, in view of his splendid run of last year, when he polled 34,000 more votes than the head of the ticket. Republicans all over the state recall his particularly strong run. They remember his five years' record of efficient service in the governor's council, and realize that his ripe experience and clear insight of state affairs gained thereby are valuable assets for a lieutenant-governor. Furthermore, with the candidate for governor coming from the eastern section of the state, the lieutenant-governor should be selected from the western part if the greatest strength is desired for the ticket. There is no stronger man in public life in Western Massachusetts than Col. Goetting.

WHAT HAS BECOME of the high sounding "Knights" of Labor and their elaborate parades all over the Commonwealth. The Boston celebration, of course, saves the face of organizations, but the day has really become one of the best of the holidays. So to speak, Fourth of July opens the mid-summer season and Labor Day with the opening of schools the same week ends the vacation season for thousands. It is the auspicious date upon which Labor Day falls that makes it one of the most popular holidays.

UNTIL NOW, TO THE ORDINARY INDIVIDUAL, the strange stories of newly-invented rapid fire guns, aerial bombs, artillery machines and other deadly instruments have not meant much believing as many did that it was but an interesting by play of science. But the destructive use of the murder machines in this war has forever disillusioned the most simple.

ON THE SECOND OF SEPTEMBER, the French remembered Sedan and held the Germans. France was not able to obtain revenge but it was able to take the "spunk" out of a hilarious military celebration of the day by Germany.

THE REPUBLICAN PRIMARIES in this county will be of great interest. Some notable contests are on, but it is unlikely that an aspirant for Washington honors will be able to unseat a worthy and honorable man.

IT IS EVIDENT THAT THE GERMAN FLEET is not going to take any chances with the British line of battle.

THE ARMAMENT PROGRAM of the American nation ought not to be opposed seriously after 1914!

'BUS LINE TO MANCHESTER

Story & Greenwood, proprietors of the auto 'bus line between Gloucester and Magnolia, announce that they are to extend their schedule to Manchester, starting tomorrow, Saturday, Sept. 12. For the present the trips will start about noon and will continue about every two hours until eleven o'clock, but as the patronage demands it the schedule will be increased. At the present, too, a seven-passenger touring car will be used for the Manchester service, entirely separate from the Magnolia 'bus, but early next month a large 28-passenger White 'bus, heated and electric-lighted, will be used in the Gloucester to Magnolia and Manchester service.

Starting Saturday the 'bus will leave Gloucester at 11.30 and returning will leave the square in Manchester at 12.45. The next will leave Gloucester at 1.30, Manchester at 2.45; then Gloucester at 3.30, Manchester 4.45; Gloucester 5.30, Manchester 7; and the last trip will leave Gloucester at 10.30 and Manchester at 11.

The fare between Manchester and Gloucester will be 20c. From Manchester to Manchester Cove 5c, and to Magnolia 10c.

This firm ran a 'bus line all last winter between Gloucester and Magnia, and the service was very much appreciated by the public and was well patronized. The new service will practically give Manchester an electric line to Gloucester with service more than half an hour later than the last train from Gloucester at night. The new 'bus will be the very latest thing out with seats arranged as a railroad car, with center aisle, and seats for two on either side.

The 'bus will run Sunday as well as week-days on the above schedule.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE, BOSTON

"Along Came Ruth" Henry W. Savage's comedy triumph which made Broadway shake with laughter during its run at the Gaiety Theatre, New York, last winter, is now repeating that success at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston.

MANCHESTER

Henry Ritchie of Minneapolis is paying a visit to his former home and among old-time friends and his relatives in the East. He was at Manchester last week visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Reed, Mrs. Reed being Mrs. Ritchie's aunt. He has since gone to Perry, Me., his former home. It was 40 years ago that Mr. Ritchie went West. He has not been back since, and both literally and figuratively Mr. Ritchie had his first "taste" of the salt water when he reached Manchester, for he went to the ocean and actually tasted of the water to refresh his boy-hood memory of the briny deep. For the first time in 40 years, too, he saw his sister Sunday. She came on from Worcester and spent the day in Manchester. Mr. Ritchie has been connected with a wholesale cigar house in the west for the last 28 years.

BOSTON THEATRE

The magnificent personal triumph of Dustin Farnum in his sensational popular-priced engagement at the Boston Theatre the past two weeks has induced Manager Leahy to retain him for the coming week. That the standard of these popular-priced star attractions may be increased from week to week Mr. Leahy has also secured Dustin Farnum's brother, William Farnum, and together the brothers will present a mammoth revival of the most stirring of all war plays, "The Littlest Rebel." This means, of course, that there will be two stars next week as both Dustin and William Farnum have long since occupied a leading position among American dramatic stars. It was in "The Littlest Rebel" that the two Farnum brothers scored their greatest Boston success at this same theatre two years ago and the only difference between the production seen then and the one which will be staged next week is in the fact that the former was presented at standard prices while this time it will be offered at popular prices of, from 10c. to 50c., with a few in the evening at 75c.

MANCHESTER SECTION

Friday, September 11, 1914.

Wm. Hall of Boston was in town Sunday renewing acquaintances.

Mr. and Mrs. Hedley Vickers of Chelsea spent the holiday with the latter's brother, Peter Diamond, Forest st.

Revere Pulsifer, who has been at Newport News, Va., since graduating from Tech., as naval architect at the navy yard, was home to spend Labor Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allen and two children of Leominster are in town for a two weeks' visit with Mrs. Allen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Olsen, Norwood ave. Mr. Allen's mother will come here for a short visit in the near future.

At the Town hall tonight a dance is to be held under the auspices of Masconomo council K. of C. It will probably be one of the largest dances of the summer. Grand Knight Edward P. Flynn will be general manager; the floor director will be Patrick J. Gilmore; William Kearns, asst. floor director, and the aids will be John J. Connors, Martin Gilmore, Wm. O'Brien, George Evans, Patrick Cleary and Cornelius Kelliher.

Of those who have gone to the front in England in the present war are two men more or less known to Manchester and North Shore folk. One is Leonard S. Blount, formerly in partnership with Harold S. Bater in the garage, off Summer and Beach sts., under the firm name of Blount and Bater. The other is P. G. H. Bennett, who was the manager of the Regent Garage, which succeeded Blount & Bater at Manchester and in Boston. The former has been connected with the engineering department of the aviation corps of the British army for sometime. He has now gone to the front as one of the aviation corps. Mr. Bennett is too old to join the army and he has entered the field as a connection of the Red Cross corps. Before going into the automobile business in Boston Mr. Bennett was in charge of Eben D. Jordan's string of show horses at his stable in Egypt.

Roderick Macdonald and family of Chelsea were in town over the weekend and holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Benj. F. Bigwood, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Lucas and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Baker motored to York Beach on Labor Day.

Miss Evelyn Ryan of Roslindale and Miss Marion Shea of Worcester were guests over the holiday of their aunt Mrs. Hannah Tappan, Bridge street.

Miss Prinnie Dodge returns to York, Maine, Saturday to continue her work for the third year as teacher of Commercial branches in the York High school.

The ball games in Boston this week have been attracting a complement of fans daily from here. The crowd of 72,000 which saw the two games Labor Day speaks for itself for the popularity of this great sport.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Sackett of Lynn made one of their annual trips to Manchester last week in their new car, having completed a fishing trip through New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and the Provinces. Mrs. Sackett had quite a laugh on the rest of the party when she caught a 14-pound salmon, that being the largest prize. She is a bright young woman and afforded a great deal of pleasure to the rest of the party.

Manchester has special interest in the sailing of the "Red Cross" from New York yesterday not only because of Miss Mabel Boardman's connection, but because two of the corps of nurses on the ship are known in Manchester. One, Miss Anna Bond, has been at Gardiner M. Lane's, and another, Miss Kathrine McCarthy, is a sister of Lawrence F. McCarthy, the popular instructor at the playgrounds. She has been a visitor to Manchester on several occasions. Mr. McCarthy went to New York to see his sister off.

Your Daughter Ought

To know something of practical business and be able to support herself if necessary. She should attend the Salem Commercial School.

CAPT. JOHN W. CARTER

WELL-KNOWN MANCHESTER CITIZEN,
ONE OF OLD-TIME SEA CAPTAINS, PASSES AWAY.

Capt. John W. Carter died at his home on School street, Manchester, Tuesday morning at the age of 68 years, 7 months. He had been ailing for some time, but was able to carry on his business as tinsmith until recently when he turned over the active duties of the business to his elder son.

Capt. Carter was one of the last of Manchester's old-time sea captains, Capt. John Allen being the only survivor at the present time. He was the son of Capt. John and Mary (Burgess) Carter. After attending the Manchester public schools he entered Dummer Academy. When quite young he sailed a foreign voyage with his father, shipping before the mast on the bark Robert. He steadily advanced until he became mate and later he became captain in command of the Hattie B. Hall, on which he sailed from Boston to Liverpool. Some days out in crossing George's Banks a terrific gale was encountered. The ship sprang a leak and sank and the captain and crew were saved by an Italian ship and landed in Liverpool. His wife, the late Carrie (Haskell) Carter, was with him at the time, it being, in fact, their honeymoon.

He continued his voyages and a while later Mrs. Carter accompanied him on another trip. When off the Cape of Good Hope a son was born whom he named Leonardo after the captain who saved his life. This was his last voyage, and, giving up the sea after 21 years, he settled in Manchester buying the stove and tinsmith business, which he since conducted.

Capt. Carter was a member of Magnolia lodge, 149, I. O. O. F., and was one of the vice presidents of the North Shore Business Men's association. He was a constant attendant at the Elder Brethren gatherings and was present at the outing in July. He was also an ex-engineer of the fire department.

He is survived by one daughter, Agnes, and two sons, Leonardo W. and John Carter, also a sister, Mrs. Hattie Kitfield, all of Manchester.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at Crowell Memorial chapel, the Rev. A. G. Warner of the Baptist church officiating. The Odd Fellows held their services also.

Burial was in Rosedale cemetery.

MANCHESTER LEADS

BEAT THE FARMS AGAIN BY SCORE OF 10-4. BATTED FARMS TWIRLER OUT OF BOX. GROVER UNDAUNTED.

Manchester tied another string to the 1914 inter-town championship by running away with the third game of the series between Manchester and Beverly Farms last Saturday on the Brook street playgrounds. There was nothing to it, from the Manchester standpoint, for Grover was on the mound for Manchester,—an insurmountable mound for the Farms boys to get over. Manchester slammed McNair so badly in the other games Manager "Dutch" Holland decided to put Mueller of Lynn in the box last week. He stayed there until he was batted out in the fourth. Mueller's arm was off. McNair came into the game again in the last of the fourth, and while he held the Manchester boys down somewhat, there was considerable hitting for all that. Manchester has McNair's number, it would seem.

Grover, on the other hand, was there with the goods. He pitched a splendid game, never weakening for a minute. He was just as strong in the last two innings as he was in the first two. In the eighth he struck out three men, and in the last he pitched only ten balls. He struck out 17 men in all. McNair struck out six.

Manchester played a good all around game. They were particularly good at the bat. The Farms boys were weak on their fielding and were utterly unable to touch Grover. Collins played a great game for Manchester.

The fans are all looking for another victory for Manchester tomorrow, and it is said if Manchester wins the series the Knights of King Arthur of Gloucester, who beat the Farms last Monday both morning and afternoon, will arrange a game with Manchester. They are after Grover, who beat them last year in the Hammond League finals.

It is said McPherson will play with the Farms tomorrow and that McNair will pitch.

"CABIRIA" LEADS THE WAY

The widely heralded photo spectacle "Cabiria" from a scenario by Gabriele D'Annunzio, Italy's foremost poet and dramatist, which opens at the Tremont Temple Monday evening, Sept. 14, is one of the most interesting novelties of the times. This picture was made by the Italia Film Company of Turin and the American tour is under the personal direction of Louis F. Werba and Mark A. Luescher, who heretofore have directed and produced high class musical comedies exclusively.

"Cabiria" is said to have been staged in five countries at an outlay of $250,000 with a cast of five thousand, and it will demonstrate a new and important function of the camera. An expenditure such as this and the payment of royalty such as d'Annunzio demands would never have been possible if it were to have been seen only by the people of Italy. But in "Cabiria" the producers created a motion tableaux for the world and the picture machine makes it possible to show the colossal spectacle everywhere. It points out remarkable possibilities, as performances which have hitherto been confined to one place, to which the multitudes had to travel, such as the Oberammergau production, or the notable presentation of Jean d'Arc by Maude Adams, at the Cambridge stadium, can in this way be done with unlimited expenditure and then given to the entire world, through the medium of the camera, to see and enjoy.

For the presentation of "Cabiria" an orchestra of twenty-five solo musicians and a chorus of thirty will be introduced and—altogether it promises to be the most brilliant and pretentious motion picture presentation in Boston. Matinees are announced daily at 2.00 P. M.

WILL M. CRESSY AND BLANCHE DAYNE AT B. F. KEITH'S

For the grand opening of the regular fall and winter season at B. F. Keith's Theatre, Boston, there has been gathered one of the biggest and best galaxies of international star attractions ever presented on one stage. All nations are represented. Will M. Cressy and Blanche Dayne, without question the cleverest exponents of the American rural type of humor in this country, will appear in Mr. Cressy's best and newest playlet, "The Man Who Remembered." With its scene laid in the back office of a New Hampshire general store, "The Man Who Remembered" abounds in the comedy and pathos which Will M. Cressy alone can put into it.

COMMUNICATION

Editor North Shore Breeze.
Dear Sir:

In the recent issue of your paper Miss Bates takes Mrs. White to task for the latter's statement in regard to the "feminization of our public schools,"—a fact which is universally admitted by Miss Bates herself and everyone else, and almost equally universally deplored by all thoughtful people. She goes on to protest against Mrs. White's "unthinking use of the word 'feminization'." Feminization merely means making feminine and as Miss Bates admits "the obvious fact that most public school teachers are women," it is hardly unthinking to say that the schools are being feminized. Women teachers certainly can hardly be expected to make them virile, can they? Miss Bates' irritation at the word feminization is due to her confusing the old word "feminization" with the modern term "feminism" which has come to mean something quite different, standing as it does for the doctrines of a cult. The preponderance of women teachers in our schools is unquestionably liable to result in feminizing our boys, in making them womanish, which is the exact counterpart of making our girls mannish, and surely Miss Bates would desire neither, for the highest type of each sex is that which has most developed its own essential qualities, and in this lies progress for the race.

Miss Bates' most serious confusion of ideas is shown, however, when she mixes up women's public spirited duty as citizens with the casting of a ballot. It is of great benefit to the state that it should have an intelligent body of public spirited citizens free from political affiliations to work outside of and above all parties solely for the public good. No voter can stand aside from political parties, for the prerogative to vote entails its use upon the conscientious citizen, and by our vote we cannot but align ourselves with one side or the other. Anti-suffragists are opposed to woman's suffrage not on the negative side but very positively because they want to help their country in the best, in the completest way. That their public spirit is very real they have amply shown. Not suffragists, but anti-suffragists, after the Salem fire, opened their headquarters as a centre for collecting, mending and shipping clothing and supplies to the sufferers from that horrid calamity, and again during these last days have those same rooms hummed with the whirr of sewing machines and the click of scissors, as garments were cut and made up for the Red Cross errand of mercy across the sea. If the suffragists are more public spirited than their protesting sisters they have yet to give the sign.

MRS. WILLIAM LOWELL PUTNAM.

A SUFFRAGE LETTER

I have just been visiting on the coast of Maine, where I found the ladies busy with Red Cross work and of course I joined them. The ladies who were in charge of this work were suffragists from Chicago,—not only suffragists, but voters! The latter fact gives them the more time now to do whatever branch of public service may interest them. I confess that the cutting and sewing of flannel garments for the European soldiers seemed to me a bit old-fashioned; but then, war is old-fashioned! I do not for a moment mean to disparage the importance and helpfulness of the Red Cross work; but many thoughtful women of today are engaged in the deeper work of peace. And they cannot do very much for national and international peace until they have the vote. That is one of the reasons why we refuse to be halted in the steady forward-march of the woman movement and the peace movement, which go together. The assertions of anti-suffragists, in connection with Red Cross work, seem rather undignified, and even funny, when we remember that Clara Barton, who founded the American Red Cross, was a great suffragist, and that the women who did the most patriotic and self-sacrificing work in Massachusetts in our Civil war, were suffragists. Those women set aside their work for the ballot until the cruel war should be over. But if we go on waiting until men have got through fighting, we shall NEVER get the franchise,—and we shall never have peace!

It sometimes seems as if antis are interested in war and suffragists interested in peace. But in fact, let us note that both suffragists and antis are working together on the North Shore Red Cross Committee. And we know that if our country were at war, all our women would be as loyal and self-sacrificing as are Christabel Pankhurst and all the English suffragists at this time.

On this same visit, a Chicago man, who is a very militant international lawyer and a peace advocate, told me that the women voters in Chicago had already begun the work of cleaning up that most corrupt city, and that throughout the state of Illinois their vote has already done great work for

MAGNOLIA.

An interesting exhibit of the work of the dressmaking class was held at the Women's club-house last Thursday with seventeen completed dresses shown. All members of the class were beginners and dollar dresses were selected for the first work. The award for the prettiest and most fashionable dress was made to Miss May de Courcey. The garment was of black and white awning striped voile and was made with a long tunic, white vest with roll collar, white cuffs. Mrs. Clifford Story's dress was judged the best made. It was a simple little green chambray house dress with a white collar and white cuffs and cost only 85 cents. The exhibit of the embroidery class was held Friday and samples of all the work taken up, which included the button-hole stitch, cross-stitch, punch-work, Swedish weaving and Italian relief were shown. The members of the class gave a party to Miss Martha Wonson, the instructor, in the evening and presented her with a vase. Miss Wonson has been very generous of her time and interest in the class this season. Mrs. H. C. Foster matron of the club, was given a large party Saturday evening by the members of the club and was presented with a very beautiful ring of amethysts and a diamond. The affair was given partly in honor of her birthday and partly, as a farewell party as Mrs. Foster, after eight years' work at the club, is resigning this year. Mrs. Foster has been more than faithful to the club and has been connected with it since its opening.

Edward French has returned to Everett after spending the summer with his grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Symonds.

Mrs. Winslow B. Story has been entertaining her friend, Miss Bresnahan of Beverly, for a few days.

W. B. Richardson has returned from Peterboro, N. H., where he has been spending a few weeks.

Miss Florence Andrews of Gloucester was a guest of Mrs. D. C. Bal-lou, Thursday.

Miss Eva Gray of Gloucester has been a guest of Miss Amy Lycett this week.

The "Minstrel Show Girls" of the Women's club made up a motor ride to Gloucester Thursday evening. Mrs. H. C. Foster, matron of the club chaperoned them.

George Edward Dix, aged 28 years, died at his late home 584 Hale st., Pride's Crossing, last Sunday after an illness extending over three years. Up to the time of his illness he was one of the most active of the local young people and was much liked by all who knew him. Since being ill he has been constantly confined to his home. He was a member of St. Margaret's court of Foresters. Funeral services were held Tuesday morning at St. Margaret's church. Rev. Fr. Walsh celebrated mass. Rev. Fr. Mitchell was deacon and Rev. Fr. The fourth game of the series will be played on the Beverly Farms playgrounds tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon and no doubt will be witnessed by the largest crowd of the season. ## STATEMENT

So many requests have come to me for information as to my candidacy this fall that I wish to make a preliminary statement at this time.

There are many important questions now before the city, and I consider it my first duty to devote my time and energy to this work rather than to devote it to campaigning.

At the municipal election in December, I shall be a candidate for Mayor. Prior to that time, we have a State primary and a State election involving not only state issues but National issues. After these two elections have been held I intend to present to the citizens of Beverly not only the record of the last two years, but other facts relative to municipal administration.

The tea-house "Tabby Cat" purrs more contentedly than ever, now that Wenham has been competently classed with Concord and Grafton as having the three best tea-houses in the entire state.

B. Hammond Tracy of "Cedar Acres" has again brought honor to Wenham, by winning seven prizes, amongst them the "sweep-stakes," at a recent Newport flower show. Moreover there was nothing finer in the line of gladioli exhibited in Boston during the recent national meetings

What Can be Done With Cobblestones

By MARY HARROD NORTHEM

THE use of cobblestones is coming more and more into vogue and is solving a problem unusual and effective. Having become accustomed to look upon them as useful for street pavings chiefly, the introduction of them for house and garden purposes gives a new incentive to owners of large estates for the making use of unusual varieties of these stones.

Cobblestones are of various sizes and shapes, ranging from the dimensions of a hen's egg to a much larger size. In fact, the smallest are scarcely more than large pebbles while the largest are little less than small boulders. We find them in stable yards, garden walks, terraces and porches. For the former they should be small, chosen of uniform size and carefully set on or in concrete with the same substance poured over them, firmly pounded into place and made level. The advantage of a cobble paved space in front of a stable is to give the horses more foothold than a granolithic or concrete paving. If properly laid it is nearly as easily kept clean.

For a garden walk or terrace, cobblestones may be used either by themselves or in combination with other materials. If small cobbles are used alone they must be closely laid, pounded into place and filled with gravel or concrete. The latter is better for it does away with weeds that come up between, just the same as with brick paving.

Large cobblestones, selected with flattened surfaces and laid flat side up make a desirable garden walk. They should be ready to present a fairly even surface but not fitted too closely together, for in between the chinks can be planted low growing simples such as thyme, which when trodden upon and bruised yields a sweet perfume. A porch paving can be made of cobbles but the porch should be of the ground level. For this purpose large cobbles are most suitable and much care should be taken in selecting and laying so that as even a surface as possible may be secured.

For porches where the covers are simply of rafters or trellis work for vines to clamber over, much like a pergola, supports are attractive if made of cobblestones. The intersection between vines is effective with the gray cobblestone showing through.

Garden walls intended for planting, when made with a batter or slope and sufficient soil between, make a durable wall little affected by frost, and afford particularly favorable conditions for the growth of such rock and other plants as may be set in between. For such walls the large irregular cobbles are more desirable than field stone or quarry faced stone. The sharp angular edges of the latter necessarily give the wall a somewhat harder aspect while the worn and rounded edges of the cobbles impart a much more agreeable and mellow effect.

For field divisions nothing can be pleasanter to look upon than the old stone walls of New England. A dry cobble wall can be made of all sizes, the larger and heavier stones being placed on the outside while the small stones can be used for filling. Frost does not affect such walls.

Large cobbles may also be similarly turned to account for the retaining walls of low grass terraces, or terraces in a hillside vegetable garden. The batter or slope of such a wall will depend to some extent upon its height. Freedom from frost, damage, and ease of drainage are strong points in its favor.

Rough gardens made of large cobbles are always interesting. In a shady nook in many a garden or in an angle between house walls, a load of large cobbles with rich soil in the crevices will often give just the necessary setting for ferns, hepaticas, columbines, and other wood plants that like to be let alone.

In the building of bungalow fire-places, large cobbles may be used to advantage, their rustic tone according well with the informal character of the structure. When used for this purpose it is necessary to set them in a strong mixture of gravel and cement, or in a very strong mortar. With a setting of this sort, smaller cobbles, too, may be introduced at will for the sake of variety.

By selecting stones of graded sizes in this manner, and combining them with large slabs for lintel and mantel shelf, a fireplace of unusual character and not a little charm can be made at comparatively small expense.

Another use of cobblestones, both staunch and ornamental, is in the construction of chimneys. In cases like this, owing to the nature of the materials employed, it is usually best to slope or batter the sides of the chimney, making it taper towards the top like a cone or pyramid. If sufficiently strong mortar or cement mixed with coarse gravel is used, the outer surfaces can be encrusted with little cobblestones and in that way a very pleasing texture can be secured, similar in its softness of line to some of the old English buildings whose walls are made largely of small flint in combination with the soft chalk stone of the southern countries. A chimney of this sort built entirely on the outside of a bungalow or cabin is a feature of real architectural merit. Indeed there is no good reason why walls entirely built of cobbles or coated with them, cannot be built with excellent effect.

Although the possibilities of the cobblestone have been far exhausted in the few hints given, these suggestions give some idea of how these often despised cobblestones may be utilized.

Miss Henrietta Thaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Thaw of Pittsburg, has been spending the week on the North Shore with Miss Helen Lancashire, at Manchester. The Thaws have just returned from France, where they were in the midst of the multitudinous troubles incident to the war. Mrs. J. H. Lancashire and Miss Lancashire were in New York last week and met them on their arrival. To Miss Helen Lancashire their narrative of the conditions in Europe and especially in Paris proved of unusual interest as she has an intimate knowledge of France and Paris through her residence there in connection with her studies a year or two back. Miss Lancashire and Miss Thaw were at the Oceanside, Magnolia, Tuesday as luncheon guests of Count de Rosa, the Italian consul at Boston.

Mrs. W. H. Moore was called to Chicago last Saturday by the death of her mother, Mrs. Small, who lived at Highland Park. The death was rather sudden, as Mrs. Small was on to Pride's Crossing early in the summer. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Small Moore live at Lake Forest, which is near Highland Park.

A most interesting collection of eight German police dogs is offered for sale by Houston A. Thomas at his kennels at Hamilton. They are highly bred and were selected by him as a fine type of these loquacious animals. They were bought in Zurich of a well known breeder whose dogs are well known all over Europe. The pedigree of the parent dogs contain on both sides names of dogs famous for their exploits. The puppies are but eight weeks old, and already show much of the lively spirit of this type of dog. They are admirable watch dogs for country estates and are pleasurable pets as well. According to newspaper reports German police dogs have been used as sentries in the European war.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ivins Croll and daughter, Miss H. Pauline Croll are of the Boston contingent who will remain on the shore for the autumn, as usual. They will keep their summer residence, "Sunnybank," on Smith's Point, Manchester, open until the last of October. Mr. and Mrs. Thaddeus C. Defriez, 2d, (Grace Croll), who have been spending the summer at Nahant, run over to Manchester quite frequently to be with the latter's parents. They have been at Nantucket for a week or two before settling in Boston for the winter.

Mrs. Wm. F. Draper and daughter, Miss Margaret Preston Draper, who have been abroad all summer, are on their way home and after a brief stay in New York, will go directly to Washington, where they will spend the winter. They have been missed in the Manchester colony this season.

An engagement of much interest to North Shore people, especially the Boston contingent is that of Miss Alice Cotting and Edward L. Kent, the latter of Brookline. Miss Cotting recently returned from Europe and is now at Pride's Crossing for the early autumn.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Treat Paine, 2d, are to give a ball for their debutante daughter, Miss Elizabeth M. Paine, on Friday evening, Dec. 4, either at the Copley-Plaza or the Somerset, Boston. "Kettle Cliff," the Paine summer home at Coolidge Point, Magnolia, will be closed about the fifth of October when the family will return to Brookline for the autumn before settling at the Back Bay residence, 264 Beacon st., for the winter.

The Oceanside Hotel, "Desk" Magnolia

THE wedding at Fresh Water Cove, Gloucester, on Thursday of last week of Miss Marcy Irvin Curtin, the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Foster of Washington, and Charles Beaver Browne of Philadelphia, was one of the very delightful events of the season at this part of the Gloucester shore. The ceremony took place at "The Boulders," the summer home of the Fosters overlooking Gloucester harbor, and was performed at four o'clock in the afternoon by Rev. Dr. Charles Candee, brother-in-law of the groom, of Wilmington, Del., assisted by Rev. Dr. Walter S. Eaton of Magnolia. The Episcopal single ring service was used. The house, a beautiful place of the bungalow type, was attractively decorated with cut flowers and ferns and the porches overlooking the water were unusually attractive with evergreen and flowers. The bride, a charming blonde, wore a gown of white satin, cut rather low, and with train, trimmed with lace with a silver thread in it. A long tulle veil was caught up with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of orange blossoms and lilies-of-the-valley. The bridesmaid, Miss Frances Kibbee of Albany, wore a white lace frock trimmed with French flowers, and a plumed leghorn hat. She carried rosebuds. The best man was Dr. Charles Browne of Philadelphia, a brother of the groom. The other attendants were little Misses Sarah Browne, daughter of the groom, and Frances Crowell, a cousin of the bride, as flower girls, and Samuel Browne, as page. The little girls wore pale blue chiffon dresses with pink ribbons. After the ceremony the fifty guests, nearly all of whom were members of the respective families, enjoyed a buffet lunch before the bride and groom started on a three weeks' motor trip through the White Mountains and the Catskills. Mr. Browne, is a Princeton man and is a broker in Philadelphia. Mrs. Browne has been one of the very attractive girls in Washington set, and a grand-daughter of former Governor Curtin of Pennsylvania. They will make their home in Wynnwood, Philadelphia.

Thomas R. Goethals, son of Colonel George W. Goethals of Panama Canal fame, was a recent guest of Eliot G. Mears at "Orchard Home," Essex. Mr. Goethals was an usher at Mr. Mears' wedding to Miss Gladys Chute in June.

Dr. and Mrs. George H. Washburn of 377 Marlboro st., Boston, and Manchester, have announced the engagement of their only daughter, Miss Anna Loraine Washburn, to Rev. Basil Douglas Hall, pastor of the Congregational church of Paris Hill, N. Y., a village some 10 miles distant from Utica. Rev. Mr. Hall, who graduated from Harvard with the class of 1909, is a son of Rev. Charles Cuthbert Hall, who was for many years president of the Union Theological seminary. Dr. and Mrs. Washburn are still at their summer home in Manchester, and will remain probably until the middle of October.

Dr. Henry F. Sears and family will remain at their summer home at Beverly Cove all the autumn, returning to Boston in November.

Miss L. Erdna Reggio of Boston, who has been spending the summer at the Catskills, is visiting her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. Nicholas Reggio, at Beverly Farms.

It is understood that the marriage of Miss Marion McGinley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. McGinley of Pittsburg, and Norman Storey Mackie, is to take place on the 10th of October. The McGinleys have not been on the North Shore, as cottagers, this year. They formerly summered at Manchester.

Mrs. John T. Brush and daughter, who have been occupying a cottage at Magnolia this summer, have returned to New York city for the winter. They will spend part of the winter at Indianapolis.

A garden party was held Wednesday afternoon at "Finisterre," the estate of Mrs. John Clay at Eastern Point, Gloucester, in aid of the Red Cross fund. Members of the Gloucester citizens' committee of the International Red Cross held a whist party at the Hawthorne Inn Casino Thursday afternoon, followed by a dance in the evening. Mrs. J. D. Randall-MacIver is the originator of the plan to raise money in this way and is chairman of the general committee. Mrs. John Hays Hammond is the treasurer and honorary chairman and Mrs. George W. Woodbury is working chairman.

Only thoroughly trained competent servants (male or female) supplied. References personally and carefully investigated. .. ..

OCEANSIDE HOTEL at Magnolia will close Saturday morning after breakfast, completing a three months' season. While hotels along the New England coast complain of a poor year the Oceanside, which is one of the biggest resort hotels in the country, with accommodations for about 750 guests, has had a season of average merit. While not exceptionally good, it has not, on the other hand, been unusually poor. It was as good as the average year. The Oceanside is different than most hotels in that it caters very little to transient trade. Its clientele for the most part has been coming to the North Shore for years, and in some cases for generations. The families are people of means and they come to the Oceanside because it is, essentially, a family hotel. Among those who have remained for the closing are the following: Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Carter and Miss Dorothy Bradley, Brookline; Mrs. Lee McMillan, New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. A. F. MacArthur, New York; Mrs. Geo. H. Nettleton, Kansas City; Miss Mary Patterson, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Potter, Mrs. Dorothy Potter and baby, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Paine and family, Brookline; Miss E. E. Risser, Rome, Italy; Count de Rosa, Boston; Miss Georgia Solari, New York; Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Stephenson, Philadelphia; Mrs. W. T. White, Miss Madelein and Master Reginald White, Lowell; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Wadsworth and Miss Isabella Wadsworth, Philadelphia.

"Stoneledge" the summer home of the Alexander Steinerts, at Beverly Cove, is just now in the full bloom of its autumnal glory. There is a wonderfully interesting display of dahlias, including many rare varieties, and these with thousands of asters of many colors together with the other beautiful gardens of autumn flowers, make the estate one of much attraction for lovers of flowers.

Owing to alterations to be made in the building we are forced to remove a large quantity of our stock at once. Unusually low prices. Call and see our exceptional offering.

Many attractive things are to be offered for sale at the "Red Cross" benefit to be held on Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 6th, from two to six at Mrs. Robert S. Bradley's, Pride's Crossing. From present indications this will be quite the important event of the season on the North Shore, even if it is one of the last. As a matter of fact the cottage colony do not begin to leave much before the second week in October as a rule. There will be a table of fruits and vegetables, and a candy table to be presided over by the young ladies will have the delicious candies from Demonet in Washington and the Whitman nougat, also the famous White Mt. cakes from Philadelphia. There will be a table of useful articles, to be presided over by Mrs. Bradley, on which there will be many articles for automobile use, which come in handy for the tourists, such as bags of all descriptions, rugs, hats, veils, sandwich boxes, etc., and there will also be a small table for children. The sale will begin at two o'clock.

AS USUAL IN EVERY ENTERPRISE of public note and practical humanity the North Shore is taking the lead. The Red Cross movement has passed beyond the experimental stage and has now become the recognized agency for organized humanitarian work whether it be rendering aid in the flood districts of the middle west, the fire-swept precincts of Salem, the flood areas of China or the war-scarred lands of Europe, the world looks to the Red Cross to lift the banner of humanity and to rally around it the organized workers for practical and sane relief. Miss Boardman of Manchester is the international leader of the work. Miss Louisa P. Loring of Pride's Crossing has charge of the state work, while Mrs. Robert S. Bradley of Pride's Crossing is the active leader of the work on the Shore. Early in October a Red Cross benefit will be conducted in the home and on the spacious grounds of the Bradley estate at Pride's. The efforts that are being put forth to make this event a success ought to triumph. In any interest that effects humanity the North Shore is interested, and this event in early October ought to be generously supported.

THE GERMAN ARMY has been in retreat, but retreat and defeat are not words of the same meaning. The Germans had the Allies all but routed and in retreat and they came back. To conceive that the stupendous German military machine has been whipped is a serious mistake. They can and may come back. Nothing short of a defeat at arms in a decisive battle will avail anything. Such a battle has not yet been fought. But one thing is certain that there will not be a siege of Paris for the present. There is an irony of fate in the fact that perhaps after all the strategy and cunning of the German military leaders to throw the contest upon neutral territory so that another nation rather than their own would become the scene of battle, the decisive battles will be fought on German soil. The war is not yet ended, however, and peace is a long way off.

ON MONDAY THE MAINE ELECTIONS were held with some surprising results. The censure that was expected to be placed upon the administration did not quite materialize, although the republicans made some gains. But altogether it was a gratifying record for the democrats. But "as goes Maine so goes the Nation" is no longer a trustworthy slogan. The losses made by the progressive party are significant. It is evident that the tide is beginning to ebb, but it does not appear that the returns indicate that their hope has become "forlorn" as yet.

CONGRESSMAN GARDNER WAS WISE in his decision to remain in England to assist in the work of relieving the distressed Americans. To have returned merely to do political work to gain his renomination would have been disastrous. Mr. Gardner can continue his relief work and the voters of the district will attend to his renomination.

PLUCKY BELGIUM WILL SEND a floral exhibit to the California Exhibition.

FORMER PRESIDENT CHARLES W. ELIOT of Harvard University has come out with a very clear statement of the difference between heartfelt sympathies and legal neutrality. There is every reason why the American public is out of sympathy with the German aggression and its war like campaigns, but that is not a disregard of its neutrality professions. It will be hard for the average German who cannot understand the American point of view to believe that the American people have warm hearts for the German people but have no sympathies with the German military program. America does not wish the annihilation or the punishment of the German people as Germans; on the contrary the American nation wishes to see the great nation of Germans to come into their own industrially, and commercially, but not by military aggrandizement. They can only come into their own as the militarism which has brought on this war is crushed. In wishing this spirit crushed in Germany America's real wish is to see a new Germany rise out of the battlefields of the old world. The spirit of republicanism and humanity are strong in the new land. The humanity of the American people goes out to the German people bound in the shackles of the military idea while the republican spirit of our people desires to see Germany self-ruling with all the freedom and success such as republicanism only can bring to that Old land. As a nation we must stand neutral, legally and strictly, but there is no reason for muzzling the press or for one to withhold his opinions. The German cause is unpopular in America not because the American people dislike the German race, but because the cause they have endeavored to fight out has not been high or exalting. The destruction of Louvain, the violation of Belgium neutrality and the rapid attacks made on France cannot be overlooked. Such military accomplishments are not in keeping with ambitions of the American people. It looks as though the German cause was lost. The German Kaiser has not been fighting a holy war and if in his glory warfare he be humiliated America is glad. But this a different feeling from rejoicing over the slain and wounded German soldiers who have laid down their lives.

A WISE ORDER HAS GONE OUT from the school superintendents in this section forbidding the partial discussion of the war situations in the class rooms. This does not mean that current events may not be referred to or even studied, but it does mean that the class room must not be used as a means to propagate the bias of any teacher. Any thoughtful man will appreciate the fact that the range is short and that to interpret rightly the events that are now transpiring it will be necessary for time to pass.

THOSE BELGIUM MILITARY MEN left in the rear of the advancing horde of Germans are now causing the mass some worry.

THE CONVENIENCES AND SIGNS OF WEALTH of yesterday are the inconveniences and signs of poverty tomorrow.

IN THE DEATH OF HENRY R. DALTON the North Shore has lost an excellent citizen whose public spirit and generous philanthropy will be missed in the community in which he lived. He was one of four brothers to give their services to the government during the dark days of the Civil War. Of him our own townsman, Major H. L. Higginson writes, "it is through such men that our country has prospered and will prosper so long as we breed such men. The army service weakened the health of Henry so as to make his life a struggle to do his daily work; but throughout his life this courteous gentleman has kept up his end bravely and cheerfully, and has given his friends a hand, a smile, a gay meeting which they all miss. Nobody ever heard him complain and he never failed in his inborn courtesy." Such a tribute is worthy of both Dalton and Higginson. Mr. Dalton will be missed in his place among us.

THE CLEVER PRESS AGENTS for busy and ambitious professional people have struck an oil well in the European War. No longer does the leading Prima Donna lose diamonds and gold she never possessed. All that is now needed is a foreign connection, a harrowing escape to America and all touched up with artistic references to personal service in making "necessaries and comfies" for the wounded. Lucky press agent! His lines must be quickly laid. Already the reading public is aware of his schemes.

BOSTON NOW MUST EAT ITS OWN WORDS. With reason or without reasons its press has openly attacked the "Pork Barrel Appropriation" and now that economy is the watchword enforced by the European situation the committee has unanimously agreed that the appropriation for the dredging of the harbor at Boston is one of the least necessary of the proposed improvements. It is not often that such ironies of fate befall a city, but then Boston must with patience bear its share of the economy that is incident to the European war.

THE AMERICAN RELIEF COMMITTEE has done exceptionally good work in rendering assistance to our refugees in Europe. That they should find it necessary to defend their activities was inevitable. Anyone who has had any experience in relief work knows the difficulties that are inevitable and the impostors that are certain to get in their work. It was right for the committee to take the defensive, but it will be wrong for them to give it any worry.

NOW COLLEGE GATES SWING WIDE OPEN for another academic year. Another generation of youths will cross the campus of Fair Harvard and take possession of its old halls and precious inheritance with the same spirit that inspired youth of other years. It is a wise student that appreciates as he works through college the richness of his opportunities and the pleasures that are his.

SENATOR JAMES WAS SOMEWHAT ASTONISHED to discover that the sacred Faneuil Hall sheltered within its sacred precincts a market of markets; That he should be surprised is not surprising.

DESPITE THE UNPREPAREDNESS of England and its dependence upon a "volunteer" militia, these raw "greenies" are rendering a good account of themselves.

WHERE IS THAT NAVAL BATTLE? It is more than evident that Germany knows better than to try England's dreadnaughts out.

ON TUESDAY THE VOTERS of this District will go to the polls to determine the nominee of the republican party to Congress. It appears that there is the semblance of a contest on for the nomination, but Mr. Augustus Peabody Gardner's nomination on Tuesday will be a tribute of the district to him for efficient, painstaking work. Mr. Gardner has served the district faithfully and by virtue of his work and he is entitled to the renomination. A staunch experience republican, faithful to all the best inheritances of the past, with an initiative that has released him from any danger of being hide bound. He has been a progressive republican leader in highest and best sense of the word. The voters of this district are intelligent enough to know that the best interests of the district will be conserved by the renomination of Mr. Gardner for Congress.

THIS YEAR BEVERLY FARMS PRESENTS a contestant for the republican nomination to the House of Representatives,—Mr. James B. Dow. The district which includes Danvers and Beverly is this year entitled to two representatives. Unquestionably, Mr. Dow should receive one of these nominations. The voters of Beverly Farms should carefully mark their ballots for the local contestant and they will. Mr. Dow has made a success of his own business and has now the leisure to serve the district in the House of Representatives. Without any disparagement of the qualifications of the other candidates Mr. Dow should be one of the two candidates nominated by his district.

NO VOTER SHOULD FAIL TO ATTEND the polls and vote at the primaries. There were days when the old time caucuses were in disrepute, but those days are gone. It is more highly important now for the members of a party to determine who shall be their nominee as it is to vote for them on the day set apart for election. In fact the determination of the character of the nominee is very important because it determines the man for whom the voters vote. In many districts a nomination is tantamount to an election and consequently a vote for the nominee is in reality a vote equal in importance to the election day vote.

ART, MUSIC, SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY must all pay for this terrible war in men and means. Now comes word from the seat of war that the battlefield has claimed the master artist of the violin,—Kreisler.

AND NOW THERE IS A HOPE for a Symphony season! With the Opera closed and Symphony, too, the music-loving public of Boston would have cause to remember 1914-15.

To the Voters of the Third Essex Senatorial District:

Having been requested by a large number of my friends in the district to allow the use of my name for the Republican nomination for senator from the district, I consented to do so, knowing at the time that Senator Norwood had announced that he should not be a candidate for a third term, both personally and in interviews in the Gloucester and Newburyport papers. So at the time of my decision the field was open, and having served the voters of the Twenty-first Representative district for two years to the best of my ability and I believe satisfactorily to my constituents, never missing a session during the whole time, I decided to allow my name to be used in connection with the nomination. If the voters of the district have sufficient confidence in me to believe that I can properly represent their interests, I shall be glad to receive their support. I believe with Senator Norwood that with the large territory covered by the senatorial district, the election of a candidate for two successive terms is a sufficient honor to any man, and the interest of the district will be best subserved by following this rule, both in the senatorial and representative districts.

Voters of Manchester:

One of the candidates for the republican nomination this year to represent the Twenty-first Essex District, which is composed of Wards 4, 5 and 8 of Gloucester, and the Town of Manchester, is Augustus Hubbard of Gloucester. Mr. Hubbard is probably better known to Manchester voters than any other candidate that Gloucester could put before the voters. He is better known to the older voters than to the younger generation, for he has always been prominently identified with politics throughout the district.

He is head of the well known firm, bearing his name, manufacturers of the famous Hubbard's Biscuits, though he is now retired from active business, and can, accordingly, devote all his time to the office if he is successful.

Mr. Hubbard was in the State House some years ago, representing his district in Gloucester, before Manchester was in the district with the three Gloucester wards.

He was slated for the Senate eight or nine years ago when James F. Shaw, of Manchester, was elected. Everybody was of the opinion at the time that Mr. Hubbard was the logical candidate for that position. It is for that reason, largely, that Manchester voters are so favorable to Mr. Hubbard's election to the lower branch at this time. It is Manchester's Chance to Show they have not forgotten what Mr. Hubbard did for Manchester at that time in stepping out of the way and letting Manchester's candidate get by.

trict, which comprises the towns and cities from Newburyport to Manchester and Cape Ann. Mr. Boyle has served in the lower branch for the last two years. He stands strong in the Gloucester district, from which he was elected last year as the choice of one of the wards who put Mr. Boyle up instead of a candidate of their own.

Senator Norwood of Hamilton is candidate for re-election for a third term, as against Mr. Boyle.

For representative from this district there are three candidates on the republican ticket. Augustus Hubbard, Mayor Harry Foster and Fred M. Gorman, all of Gloucester.

Mr. Hubbard has been in business in Gloucester for a great many years and has served in the legislature before.

Mr. Gorman, the youngest of the three has been in business in Gloucester for the last ten years.

Mayor Foster is well known to everybody in this end of the district as he lives in Magnolia.

Events of Interest from the Seat of Government

By J. E. Jones

The Breeze Bureau.
NEW YORK CITY,
Sept. 15, 1914.

A FOREIGN-AMERICAN CENTER

There are six million people in this gigantic city, and a very great portion of them came from Europe. I do not know how many are foreign born, but on the streets they impress you as being mostly of an alien sort. The newspapers print so many war extras that it makes one almost dizzy; great crowds stand hungrily awaiting the bulletins as they are posted in front of the newspaper offices; there are knots of people gathered everywhere—and one subject is discussed; there is but one thing of interest: the war that is ruining Europe and its people.

Last night in the subway I sat beside a laboring man reading a German newspaper, and as he read the tears were streaming down his cheeks. It was one of those "packed trains" at the rush hour; and those standing as well as those sitting, had their gaze glued upon the newspapers before them. Many wore crepe upon their hats or sleeves; and on every face there was the look of unbelief and horror. I have been here for several days and I do not recall having seen any one smile or look happy. Gloom is everywhere, and that too in a city famed because it is second only to Paris in gaiety and irresponsibility and its "don't give a darn" atmosphere. But New York is at the rim of the war; its foreign commerce is suddenly stopped, and thousands of business institutions are suffering in consequence. I talked to a man connected with the New York World, and ventured the assertion that the papers were doing well since they were putting out so many extras. "Circulation without advertising is no good," he replied, "and the advertising business has been cut to the bone." It's true—and the agencies and the magazines have been recording principally cancellations. And that is only a straw that shows how the wind blows.

NEW YORK HARBOR

I took the boat at One Hundred and Twenty-Ninth Street for Coney Island, and that is a trip of two hours through the very heart of the harbor. First we came upon the battleship Minnesota, apparently "sticking 'round" like a policeman at a summer garden, so as to be handy in case any thing should turn up. Next there was the Erin, gayly decked in the colors of England and Ireland, which had arrived as the escort for Shamrock Third, to lift the American Cup if possible. But Sir Thomas Lipton and the N. Y. Yacht club were not to test their yachts this year, for there is not going to be any race. Down past the piers we steamed, and oh, what a sight! There was foreign commerce tied tight, fastened to the docks. The German boats were thickest, for some of the British and French ships were still attempting to carry on commerce. The Vaterland—greatest ship in all the world, was hemmed in by a half dozen smaller ships at her dock; and we are told that the Hamburg-American Line has $20,000,000 worth of ships on this side of the Atlantic. The North-German Lloyd ships were crowded together in much the same manner, and the great monsters tied to their docks reminded one of the fate of the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse of this line, which a few weeks ago was one of the proudest vessels afloat—but it has gone to the bottom of the sea.

Farther down the harbor we came upon the dreadnaught Florida, and its gray coat and its mighty guns reminded one that it was in position to help keep things neutral about Uncle Sam's waterway. The great statue of Goddess of Liberty towered close by, and farther along was Sandy Hook. There were no liners to come or go, and beyond the flickering lights at night "off Sandy Hook" no ships were safe unless they floated the flag of the United States, which in all this crazy world is about the only genuinely sane powerful nation that is left.

Just beyond Sandy Hook the British cruisers have been on guard, carrying their war almost to our front door. A few boats have put out to sea, but they have been careful to hug the coast line, and keep within the safety zone.

THE ANXIETY OF THE FOREIGNERS

The United States is apparently filled with the reservists of the European nations, and there are thousands of them here in the hotels, eagerly trying to return to Germany, France or other countries, to "get into it." Mostly they are doggedly-determined young men, swelling with patriotic impulses, and so partisan when you come to talk with them that one wonders what there is to get excited about if the victories are all won by the Germans (when you talk to one of the Kaiser's subjects), or all the fortunes of war are with the allies—if you are talking with a Frenchman or with an Englishman. A few days ago there was a big parade, and I watched it on Fifth Avenue. With muffled drums a small army of women robed in black, marched down the great thoroughfare, as a protest against the war. Here and there a woman would lean forward from the crowd of spectators and clap vigorously. In another place a man would do the same, and once two or three persons applauded at the same time, but the general silence of the great gathering was considered the best evidence of understanding. At different places men stood with raised hats as the peace flag passed.

The crowd which saw the parade was immense. It began at Fifty-eighth Street, and from there down the Avenue the people stood three deep on both sides, while children sat on the curb stones at their feet. The crowd massed on the steps of St. Patrick's Cathedral, with its drapery of mourning for the pope.

Silently and sorrowfully the foreigners in the metropolis who are perhaps brought closer to the situation than any other part of the United States, watch the shifting scenes and fortunes of war, as their brothers and their fathers, and their old friends fall in battle, and as the places so dear to them in the mother countries are razed by devilish warfare.

I MEET M. D. BERLITZ

I called on M. D. Berlitz, having learned that he was on this side of the water. He is a young old man, and an extremely active one. "I came over to see my grandchildren," he said, "and was caught here in New York, and could not get back to Europe." As we talked he told me how he had built up the greatest system of schools of languages in all the world. "I have four hundred schools scattered throughout the civilized world," he said, "and three hundred of them are in the war zones; I cannot even communicate with most of them, and those I have heard from are closed, while my managers and teachers have gone to war, and those same men who served me so faithfully and who did such a great work, are against each other in opposing armies." Mr. Berlitz was born in Germany, was knighted in France, and is a citizen of the United States, though he spends most of his time abroad. Nearly all of the four hundred great schools were installed by himself, and he tells with pride how he brought the work to success, and how the schools at New York, Washington, Chicago, and elsewhere were nursed to full maturity under his personal care nearly half a century ago. You ask whether this man was crushed because of the misfortunes to his business? I cannot tell you because his speech and manner did not indicate any feeling in that direction. He is one of the great citizens of the world, and he talked like a man in profound sorrow, but his feelings were all for "his people" and he called them by name, and told of their successes in Moscow, St. Petersburg, Antwerp, Paris, Cologne, Liege, London. There was no censure in his tone or his voice—but there was plenty of sorrow and regret, and it extended to all those unfortunate countries of Europe engaged in this cruel war. And as I left him I carried away an impression that will last forever, that here was one of the greatest creators of an educational and business system that the world has produced; and I thought that had there been more men like him, who had won individual renown, in control of the politics of Europe, that the things we are reading about today could never have been.

"Now My Yachting Days are Over"

Capt. Grush's Reply in Poetry to Letter from
T. Dennie Boardman

A touching sentiment, coming from the soul of an old-time yachtsman, who with advancing years is forced to give up his life-work, is expressed by Capt. Reuben E. Grush of Beverly in the accompanying poem recently written to his employer, Com. T. Dennie Boardman of West Manchester. The verses are well above the ordinary plane.

The poem was written by Capt. Grush in reply to a letter sent him by Com. Boardman while the latter was on board the yacht "Intrepid" at Monhegan Island, off the coast of Maine. The author is now 76 years of age, and for many years has been in charge of Mr. Boardman's estate in West Manchester. From 1866 to 1880 he was sailing master of Com. Boardman's several yachts, the last of which was the schooner "Foam." He has made two passages around the world.

(Reprinted from the Boston Sunday Globe.)

Yes, "many times we passed Monhegan,"

With its light that led our way,
Through the channels and the islands
That lie off Penobscot Bay.

Those happy days now pass before us,

Yachting seasons of long ago,
Like a dream they hover o'er us,
Still so bright as evening's glow.

Days in which we knew no sorrow,
And our hearts were young and free,

Then no trouble did we borrow,
Sailing o'er life's stormy sea.

I can see the land to leeward
Drawing nearer day by day,
The ship won't luff—I cannot tack her—

Neither will she fill away.

Now my yachting days are over,
And my hair is growing gray,
And some day I'll cast anchor
Where the ship will safely lay.

said in its current issue.

"In this year of salary-grabbing there was no more trying position in the legislature than that of chairman of the committee on public service and it is no exaggeration to say that no member of the senate could have filled it more satisfactorily to all concerned than did Sen. C. Augustus Norwood of Hamilton.

"He was perhaps more closely identified with the so-called anti-vaccination bill than any other this year.

"Although the bill failed of passage it opened up a discussion which was useful in disseminating much information about a subject which does not receive much attention from the ordinary citizen.

"Sen. Norwood was born in Hamilton Aug. 21, 1880. He attended the public schools and took his degree at Harvard, and at the Harvard Law School. He is vice-president of the First National Bank of Ipswich and a member of the Essex County Republican club, Old Town Country club, Harvard clubs of Boston and Newburyport and the Salem club. He served on the board of selectmen for four years. Besides heading Public Service he served this year on the committees on Judiciary and Public Health.

BOSTON THEATRE.

Blanche Walsh in a magnificent revival of Clyde Fitch's greatest dramatic triumph, "The Woman in the Case" will be the attraction for the coming week at the Boston Theatre. The announcement of Miss Walsh's appearance in this city will be welcome news to playgoers because of her immense popularity and long absence. Her last Boston appearance was made nearly eight years ago. The engagement of Miss Walsh, who has for years maintained a foremost position in the ranks of leading American stars, will mark an epoch in the stock theatrical history of this city as it will signalize her initial appearance at popular prices. Miss Walsh will appear in her original creation of Margaret Rolfe. The piece is presented in four acts and offers opportunity for excellent acting.

The daily matinee scale ranges from 10c. to 50c., while the same prices rule the evening, excepting a few orchestra seats at 75c.

In these days of long-distance swimmers about which we read much in the papers, we note Manchester has one who would vie with many noted swimmers for honors if the opportunity were presented. She is Miss Ruth Spry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Spry, Morse Court. On Sunday, a fortnight ago, she swam from Town Wharf, in the center of the town, to Singing Beach, an estimated distance of four and one half miles in two hours and ten minutes. The water was colder than usual and the sea was rough, after the outer harbor was reached. She was accompanied by her father and by Gordan Cool and Thomas Marsh in a boat. Very few people knew of the feat which may be counted upon as one of the best ever performed by a swimmer hereabouts, especially one so young as fifteen years.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Torrey closed their house on Wednesday, and returned to Hudson, N. H., for the winter.

Mrs. Hollis Roberts and little daughter Helen have been spending a few days with Dr. and Mrs. Richard B. Larcom in Haverhill.

James Beaton is to open a grocery, bakery and variety store on Central street Wednesday of next week. This is the store in the building owned by Mr. Rabardy.

Rev. A. G. Warner of the Baptist church started Monday on the remaining two weeks of his annual vacation, to be spent in the state of Maine. Mrs. Warner accompanied him.

Manchester is to be represented at the front in the European war it would appear, as one of her sons, Irving Andrews, who moved to the Provinces some year or two ago, has enlisted and has been at the big training camp, Valcartier, Quebec, for the last two or three weeks, according to postals received by his friends here. The Canadian troops are being transported as fast as ships are provided.

Manchester will have the opportunity of hearing W. F. Berry, Superintendent of Christian Civic League of Maine, on Wednesday evening at 7.45, at a rally to be held in the Congregational church. During the week beginning the 20th rallies will be held all over the state. The object of these rallies is to awaken the public interest in the so-called Hobson Resolution now pending in the Senate, the aim of which is to enforce eventually national prohibition. Everyone invited. Good speaking and music.

MANCHESTER WINS SERIES

DEFEATED BEVERLY FARMS IN FINAL GAME LAST SATURDAY BY SCORE OF 5 TO 4.

(Written for the Breeze)

At the Beverly Farms playground last Saturday Manchester took the deciding game of the inter-town series, winning five to four, after a very thrilling game exciting through the various misplays of the Manchester team. The Manchester team won because of their sharp and timely hitting and splendid pitching of Grover. The Manchester pitcher not only had the Farms batters to contend with, but eight cheap errors made on easy chances by his own players. This fact alone is all that kept the game from being one-sided.

Grover's work, without a doubt, was one of the gamest exhibitions of pitching seen in this section for a long time. He kept the hits well scattered, the first inning being the only one the Farms batters could get two in an inning. Beverly Farms' only earned run came in this inning on a triple by Hopkins, followed by Hillery's two base hit.

In the field, for the Farms, Goldsmith, secured from the Beverly Progressives, played a fine fast game. At the bat he made two hits,—a timely single and a scratch hit to the infield barely beating the throw to first. He covered third base in good style. Mueller in center field played an excellent game, pulling down several hard chances.

Perkins, the Farms catcher, had his little finger broken (right hand "Tip," not left) early in the game, but continued in spite of this handicap and caught his usual fine game.

Besides Grover's fine pitching for Manchester the playing of O'Leary at third, and Gott at first was a treat. Frankie's throwing to first base was surely cause for much deserved praise. At the bat, Bond for Manchester did considerable heavy hitting, getting three hits, one of them a triple.

Of course, according to all laws of statistics, mathematics and precedent Manchester had no license to win this series but "Dutch" Holland's "once-in-a-while team" couldn't stand the strain of its newspaper games and was over-trained. It reminded Manchester fans of the family that wore wigs,—they never fooled anybody but the family that wore them. The article appearing in the Beverly Times Wednesday, August 12th, was certainly an insult to the player it was directed at. If you don't believe it dig up this issue and see for yourself. Also reference in a later issue to the "triple alliance" of Mgr. Holland, Capt. Perkins and "Hop" McNair was so transparent it didn't fool anybody (probably never was intended to) and isn't a good sport's way of conducting a team. Manchester stands for clean baseball only, is a good sport when she loses and throws no mud in the newspapers. The Beverly Times to the contrary (issue of Sept. 14).

To speak plainly, Beverly Farms should not have won the game. The box score kept by two unprejudiced and competent scorers, as well as the opinion of many fans in both towns, bear out the fact that the game went where it belonged. Surely we had no assistance from the umpire.

Now, altogether! When the Knights of King Arthur play Manchester, who will the Farms root for?

TO PLAY SERIES WITH K. O. K. A.

For the championship of the North Shore Manchester and the K. O. K. A. of Gloucester will cross bats Saturday afternoon on the Brook street diamond, Manchester, for the first of a series of three games. The K. O's are the undisputed champions of Cape Ann this season, and have beaten many of the fastest teams in this section of the state. They beat the Farms in two games on Labor Day. The Manchester team has been strengthened somewhat since the game with the Farms last week. Murphy, captain of the General Electrics of Lynn, one of the best teams in the state, will play second base, in place of Bond who will be in the outfield, and Ring of the strong Lynnhursts, will play short instead of Walen, who will probably be on the bench. The rest of the line-up will be as usual, Noyes being the out-fielder on the bench.

MANCHESTER BASEBALL ASSOCIATION WILL MEET.

A meeting of the Manchester Baseball association is called for next Monday evening, Sept. 21, in Lee's hall, at which time plans for next year will be talked over. There is a strong desire on the part of Manchester fans to bring about the organization of a North Shore league comprising teams in Beverly, Beverly Farms, Manchester, Gloucester and Rockport, and possibly Ipswich and Essex. This is one of the things that may come before this meeting, which is called for at 7.30.

"WARS OF THE WORLD" AT HIPPODROME

The Hippodrome, New York, has "gone and done it again." That is the universal verdict on the new production, "Wars of the World," which opened at the gigantic playhouse last week, and which has now entered upon a career of unexampled prosperity.

"Wars of the World" is a scenic pageant that carries its spectators from the "dawn of civilization" down to the centuries when the sword was strong into the decades when class ruled mass to the present struggle for equal rights and even further. The spectacle is not any attempt to capitalize the present war in Europe. Throughout its entire length there is no single reference to any of the present contending parties. On the contrary, it is a plea for universal peace, and to that extent has timely interest. The "chorus" of the piece, a being personifying History, calls War the last great obstacle between civilization and the millennium, and this note is struck repeatedly throughout the performance. Over a thousand people and one hundred animals are employed throughout the production.

Arthur Voegtlin, William J. Wilson and Manuel Klein are the three presiding spirits of the Hippodrome responsible for this year's magnificent spectacle. It is divided into three acts and many episodes.

PATRICK H. BOYLE OF MANCHESTER,

AS PRACTICAL POLITICS SEES HIM

From a recent issue of Practical Politics we reprint the following:

"One of the oldest members of the house in point of years is Rep. Patrick H. Boyle, a republican from Manchester-by-the-Sea. Mr. Boyle belongs to the republican party, and has figured prominently in its activities in his home town for several years, and is now chairman of the republican town committee. Mr. Boyle is this fall a candidate for Senator from the 3rd Essex district, and on his record as a careful, conscientious and conservative legislator should have little difficulty in winning the seat from Sen. Norwood, who has had it for several years and shows a keen desire to continue in the place indefinitely.

"As clerk of the legislative committee on water supply, Rep. Boyle had a great deal of work to do, during the past season as the committee sat almost daily from the opening of the session on matters relating to water supply and other town affairs in many parts of the commonwealth.

"Of special interest to Mr. Boyle was a bill, which he "fathered" on behalf of the Gloucester Master Mariner Association, and which provides that all fresh fish shall be sold by weight. This bill particularly affects fishermen in Gloucester. He took an active interest in many of the big general problems of the year.

"This is Mr. Boyle's second year in the house. Besides serving on the water supply committee, he gave much of his time to the committee on counties, which considered many important matters.

"In local political and social affairs Rep. Boyle is a recognized leader, being a prominent member of the Pilgrim Fathers organization, Masconomo Council of Knights of Columbus. He is proprietor of a livery stable. He was born in Ireland, Dec. 20, 1849, but came to this country when in his teens and graduated from the public schools in Manchester."

Boy Scouts' Camp

Scout Master Warner Writes of Annual Outing of Manchester Boys

The best camp yet, is the general verdict of the Manchester Boy Scouts concerning their annual outing at Province Lake, N. H. The troop left Manchester, Wednesday, August 19, at 7.27 a. m., and arrived at Burleyville, N. H., at 12.30 noon. A four-horse hay-rack was ready to receive persons and baggage and very soon we were started on our seven-mile ride to camp. The air was cool and refreshing; the view charming as we passed over hills and through valleys. Province Lake was like a mirror as we came upon it. Those who saw it for the first time were enthusiastic over its beauty. Thanks to our faithful horses, we were in camp at 3.30.

While one detail was getting water, another was seeking wood; still another was pitching tents and a fourth was assisting the cook in that all-important first meal—supper. At 6 o'clock all tents were pitched. Mess call received a most hearty response and twenty-three hungry fellows made the first onslaught on Chef Crombie's reputation as a cook. The Chef was thoroughly prepared and, throughout the camp was equal to all emergencies, proving himself an ideal man for a boy's camp.

After supper beds were made. Then interest centered about the camp-fire. Many hands soon had a substantial woodpile ready for the torch. While flames were leaping skyward all were making merry with songs and stories. A practical talk on the life in camp was given, followed by evening prayers. At 9.00 the bugle sounded tattoo; at 9.15 the call to quarters, and at 9.25 taps. Nothing camp was organized with Rev. A. than the clear notes of the bugle in the silence of the night. In the morning camp was organized with Rev. A. G. Warner as general superintendent and as supervisor of the commissary department; Rev. C. A. Hatch medical supervisor and in charge of tent inspection; Mr. Granville Crombie, chef.

The boys spent their time in general work about camp, in hiking, swimming, fishing, baseball, golf and other forms of general recreation. At evening a huge camp-fire was lighted, the boys gathered about it, told stories, sang songs, gave recitations or listened to instructive talks.

The Scouts played and won three ball games. The battery work of Frank Knight and Harry Baker was largely responsible for this splendid showing. Good team work on the part of the Scouts characterized all the games.

Church attendance was required both Sundays. Rev. Mr. Cowper of Sanbornville, N. H., preached the first Sunday and Rev. Mr. Hatch conducted service Aug. 31.

The Scouts were honored with an invitation to spend the day at the summer farm of Mr. Emery of New York. Tennis, croquet, baseball, and a victrola concert made up the entertainment and ice cream and cake was served.

The arrival of Mr. Lester Moody, our drill master, was a distinct addition to our camp and made possible a broadening of the camp activities. Two exhibitions were given by the Scouts. The last on their own parade grounds where they were the hosts to the people of the country about. Under Mr. Moody's direction the Scouts made a splendid showing and won hearty commendations for their work. Under the leadership of Mr. Moody several boys qualified for advanced Scout work, passing their tests in signaling, hiking, cooking and first aid.

There were several small accidents, but the skillful care given the injured one, by Mr. Hatch removed all danger of serious consequences.

The order of each day was, first call at 6 a. m.; reveillé at 6.30; assembly 7.00; exercises 7.05; mess call at 7.30; 8 to 9 policing camp; 9 inspection; 9 to 11 work period; 11 to 12 swimming period; 12 mess call. Afternoon free until 5 p. m.; mess 5.30; 6 retreat and call to the colors; 7 p. m. assembly for camp fire, songs and talks about camp-fire; 9 tattoo; 9.15 call to quarters; 9.30 taps.

Life in camp was most harmonious and individually profitable. The camp-fire in the cabin fireplace on stormy nights made a centre for cozy association and was much enjoyed.

The most impressive time in camp life is closing camp. After the last camp-fire is in the glow, a summary is given of what the camp may mean to the boys in after life. The important truths that are basic in worthy character are emphasized and the value of allegiance to noble ideal is clearly impressed upon the minds of the boys. Forming a circle about the fire and holding hands we sing "Nearer My God to Thee," "The Scots Farewell," and "God Be With Us Till We Meet Again." Evening prayer closes the camp.

It is our firm conviction that this year ideals were broadened, life purposes made more definite and the real value of manliness more deeply realized. The hearty co-operation of everyone for the success of the camp is most heartily appreciated by the Scout Master.

ALBERT G. WARNER, Scout Master.

A very pretty fall wedding was that on Monday evening September 17, at Manchester, when Miss Marguerite E. Leary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leary, and Paul A. Savage of Back Bay, Boston, were united in marriage.

The ceremony was performed at the parochial residence of the Sacred Heart Church by the Rev. Mark J. Sullivan at quarter of six. The bride was attended by her sister Helen A. Leary and the groom's brother, John F. Savage was best man.

The reception was held at the home of the bride on Tappan street, at six o'clock, which was attended by 200, of which many were from Boston and the vicinity.

The couple received a great many gifts of silver, cut glass, linen, and furniture.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE NOTES

BY MRS. HENRY PRESTON WHITE.

Miss Mabel T. Boardman, head of the National American Red Cross Society, accompanied by Miss Louisa Loring, who has been designated as Massachusetts agent in the relief work that is being done in this state, visited the headquarters of the Public Interest League of the Mass. Anti-Suffrage association at 685 Boylston st., Boston, on Tuesday morning of this week. To the forty and more volunteer workers present they outlined the great work undertaken by the American Red Cross people and expressed appreciation of the part Massachusetts is taking in raising funds and making garments. Miss Boardman voiced the hope that aid might also be forthcoming in the furnishing of clothing for the women and children. "This is quite as much relief work," she said as that done directly for the soldiers, and it is important and the need is exceedingly great throughout all the countries now in war. It is necessary that this clothing be new and that it be packed in separate boxes, distinct from hospital supplies, as it will be handled in a different way."

Miss Boardman brought with her various patterns for the garments most required and explained how to use them to the greatest advantage; she also inspected the supplies and looked over the work already completed and showed her satisfaction with all that had been accomplished.

Offers of aid are pouring into headquarters and the office force is kept busy sending out patterns and directions to the many enquirers. Already seventy-six towns have written for material and directions for organization, and the garments as soon as completed will be forwarded to the League for transmission to Red Cross headquarters.

Woman suffrage has not made good. That is the most substantial indictment which can be brought against it. It has not made good, even in the sparsely settled states of the West, where it has been adopted. A Chicago Anti-Suffragist recently sent to the Massachusetts headquarters a letter, in which she voiced this idea.

"In Chicago," she wrote, "where all the encouragement, automobiles, money and political backing possible, was brought to bear, only one woman in four could be persuaded to cast a ballot, and the women candidates who expected the benefit of the feminine vote lost in every instance, while men like 'Bathhouse John' used 'votes for woman' and 'woman bosses' to assure their return to power more easily than ever.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE LEAGUE

The Manchester Equal Suffrage League held its monthly meeting on Wednesday evening, Sept. 9, at Mrs. Leach's tea room, with the president, Miss Stanwood, presiding.

The secretary, Miss Leach reported a steady increase in membership and a very good sale of suffrage articles, at the tea room. A vote of thanks was passed to Mrs. and Miss Leach for all they have done for the league this summer.

The discussion was chiefly on the subject of war and peace, especially peace, which interests suffragists more than does war. It was the opinion of the meeting that women must work harder than ever for the franchise, in order that they may the sooner be able to work for peace. The president, however, reminded the members of the Red Cross appeal for money, (which has also appeared in the Woman's Journal) and said it was for individuals to decide what they wish to do and to give. The suffrage association must go on steadily with their peaceful and patriotic work even if half the world reverts to barbarism; and must not be frightened from their plain duty by any unjust criticisms.

Mrs. Martha Chute told some interesting anecdotes, and spoke strongly for the peace movement.

It was decided that the October meeting shall be the annual meeting, for the election of officers, etc., also that a public meeting shall be held in the Town hall during October.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE, BOSTON

Startling novelties are following each other in rapid succession at Keith's theatre this season, for next week will be shown something entirely new in stage effects. It is nothing more or less than the entire stage heaped high with soap bubbles, upon which beautiful light effects are shown, and in which live people come and go,—all being part of a remarkable dance produced by Bert French and Alice Eis.

In addition to this attraction there will be another headliner, Nat Willis, the happy tramp who has an entire new fund of stories and songs.

Cressy and Dayne, last week's headliners, hold over, appearing in a new sketch, while the rest of the bill will be made up of headliners, Abou Hamid and his troupe of whirling Arabs; Lyons and Yosco, the most famous of all street singers; The Five Annapolis Boys in a military singing sketch; Moore and Yates, Hope Vernon; and Madame Eva's comedy dogs.

Mr. Dow's strong presentation of the subject, and his many suggestions were well received, and the Grange hopes to hear him again. Mr. Dow believes that vocational work does not begin early enough. He would like to see boys and girls fitted for their life work at 16 years of age. He feels that school boards and citizens should wake up to the necessity of doing something more for the large number of pupils who leave school at 14 years of age.

Mrs. Knowlton is a member of several social organizations including Preston W. R. Corps.

The annual entertainment and dance under the auspices of Clan Wallace, No. 127, O. S. C., was held last evening in Neighbors hall, and was, as usual, largely attended. A large delegation from Boston, accompanied by the pipe band of the Highland association, were among those who attended from out of town. The Irvine Sisters of Boston, champion Scotch dancers, gave several special dances which proved especially entertaining. The music by the bagpipes and the many kilt costumes offered a pleasing and novel variety to a most enjoyable affair.

in the face of adverse conditions, consented to serve the party and accept its nomination made a splendid election contest in behalf of the party, polling more votes than the party candidate for governor for the first time in the history of the state. As the governor to be nominated, and two of the three candidates for lieutenant-governor came from the eastern section of the state, the friends of Col. Goetting of Springfield believe, to fairly balance the ticket, that the middle and western sections of our Commonwealth, which rolls up our Republican majorities, should be again represented by the selection of August H. Goetting as the Republican nominee for lieutenant-governor.

The Grill will be open until October 1st, and possibly longer if this summer weather continues. Many luncheon and afternoon tea parties have been noticed there the past week, and not a few go in for dancing in the evening.

Everybody on the North Shore is taking a lively interest in the bridge tournament and sale for the benefit of the "Red Cross," to be held on Tuesday afternoon, October 6th, at Mrs. Robert S. Bradley's, Pride's Crossing. Announcement is made that the benefit will be held even if rainy, in which case the sale will be held in the large coach-house of the stable, and the bridge tournament in the Bradley residence, of course. As an additional feature the committee announces that the Beverly Farms band has kindly consented to play during the afternoon, in some part of the estate not to interfere with the card-playing. Everything points to the affair being a huge success.

Mr. and Mrs. James M. Hunnewell and their children, will close their cottage at Marblehead Neck and return to their Boston residence, 14 Chestnut st., early in October. Mr. and Mrs. Edmund H. Talbot, who have spent the summer at Marblehead Neck, will return to 176 Bay State road, Boston, about the middle of October.

Mr. and Mrs. Colville Barclay, who are occupying the S. Parker Bremer cottage at Gales Point, Manchester, plan to remain there until the middle of October. Mr. Barclay, who was charge d'affaires of the English Embassy through the greater part of the summer, now passes most of his time in Washington, coming to Manchester for week-ends.

Mr. and Mrs. Prescott Bigelow are making a return visit with Mr. and Mrs. George Barnard at their Ipswich home, coming down from their place at Fitzwilliam, N. H., in time for the Sargent-Lee wedding at Beverly Farms tomorrow.

The dance and bridge tournament to be given at the Essex County club, tonight, by the Beverly Hospital Junior Aid association, will be one of the smartest occasions of the late season on the North Shore. Miss Katherine Tweed, the president, and the Misses Alice Thordike, Phyllis Sears, Katherine Putnam and Julia Meyer, with Charles E. Cotting, Jr., and Dudley L. Pickman, Jr., the other officers, have been working night and day for its success. About 200 are expected to attend.

J. Pierpont Morgan's palatial yacht the Corsair dropped anchor in Manchester harbor the first of the week while Mr. Morgan and his son Junius Morgan and the latter's fiancée Miss Converse visited Mrs. H. S. Grew and others of Mrs. Morgan's relatives at Manchester. Mrs. Morgan (Jane N. Grew) is still in Europe.

Several social functions enlivened the closing season at Magnolia last week in connection with the Buck-Dutcher wedding Saturday, which was one of the prettiest weddings of the season on the North Shore. On Thursday night Mrs. Pierpont Dutcher, in honor of the house party at the Dutcher cottage, gave a picnic and lobster bake on the beach, followed by dancing at the Coolidge bungalow. Some thirty young people attended this and had a most glorious time. At the North Shore Grill Friday evening a dinner of sixteen covers was given for the bridal party followed by dancing.

An effort has been made to bring to the North Shore for a meeting at some public place, probably in the Manchester Town hall, Mme. Vandervelde, wife of Minister of State Amil Vandervelde, one of King Albert's envoys to President Wilson. Mme. Vandervelde has come to America to solicit aid on behalf of the Belgian children and widows, whose fathers have been killed in the war. Queen Mary of England received Mme. Vandervelde a day or two before her departure from England for this country and expressed her heartfelt sympathy on behalf of the Belgian children and widows. The welcome that Mrs. Vandervelde received at the hands of the English people shows that nothing could be more practical or more touching than her mission. She hopes and believes that the American people will follow the example of Queen Mary and the English.

Prominent among the debutantes of the winter will be Miss Frances Bradley, the youngest of the three daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stow Bradley, of the Pride's colony. The largest entertainments in her honor will be two dances at the spacious Commonwealth avenue home, Boston, the dates of which have not been definitely set.

Only thoroughly trained competent servants (male or female) supplied. References personally and carefully investigated. .. ..

J. D. Cox of the Magnolia summer colony returned to Cleveland Saturday. Mr. Cox had the Winslow cottage there this season.

The D. B. Husseys are returning to St. Louis this week after spending the summer at Magnolia.

Funeral services for Mrs. Alice Munroe Burnham, wife of William A. Burnham, who passed away Sunday, were held at Emmanuel church, Boston, Wednesday afternoon, at 3.30 o'clock. Mrs. Burnham died at Manchester, where the family has occupied the Stevens cottage on Summer street. Death was due to dropsy. Mrs. Burnham had been in failing health for several years and for the past year had been more seriously ill. She was about fifty-five years old and was formerly Miss Alice Munroe, daughter of the late John and Marian Hall Munroe of Paris, France. She had resided most of her life in Paris. She is survived by her husband, William Appleton Burnham; a daughter, Mrs. Austin Gray of New York, who was formerly Miss Alice Burnham, and two sons, William Appleton Burnham, Jr., and Frederic Munroe Burnham, both of Boston.

The marriage at Magnolia last Saturday of Miss Dorothea Dutcher, daughter of the late Pierpont Edward Dutcher of Milwaukee, and Mr. James Lawrence Blair Buck of Hampton, Va., was a most happy occasion and quite the smartest of the late season functions on this part of the North Shore. The ceremony was performed at four o'clock at the little Magnolia Chapel by the Rev. Dr. Sam'l H. Dana of Exeter, N. H., an old friend of the family, who officiated at the marriage of the bride's parents and also baptized the bride. A reception followed at the Dutcher cottage, corner of Lexington and Hesperus avenues. The maid of honor was Mrs. Pierpont Edward Dutcher, Jr., of Milwaukee and the bridesmaids, all school friends of the bride either in New York or in Florence, Italy, were Miss Margaret Mead of New York City, Miss Josephine Stevens of Boston, Miss Reba Forbes of Brooklyn and Miss Gerturde Van Dyke of Milwaukee. Mr. Buck's best man was his brother Barrett Buck of New York City. The ushers were W. Power Blodgett of Boston, Edward Adriance of New York, Sydney Frissell of Hampton, Va., and Kenneth Loose of New York City. Little Miss Juliet Carleton of New York, a neice of the groom, was flower girl. The bride wore a gown of white satin, with duchess and point flounce, a family heirloom, worn by Mrs. Dutcher at her marriage. The gown was in court train. The bridal veil was caught up with orange blossoms. The maid of honor was in yellow satin and the bridesmaids wore gowns of apricot satin and tulle sashes to match and each carried a basket of sunburst and fire-flame roses. They wore black velvet and chiffon picture hats. The young couple were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Webster of New York, parents of the groom, and Mrs. Dutcher, the bride's mother. The decorations at the church were very pretty, gladioli, clematis and oak leaves being used with beautiful effect. At the house gladioli and white dahlias were used profusely. The Salem Cadet orchestra played for the reception and dancing, and buffet lunch was served. A dinner of sixteen covers was served for the bridal party before Mr. and Mrs. Buck started away on a six weeks' trip to the Adirondacks. They will live in Hampton, Va., where Mr. Buck is connected with the famous Hampton Institute as agricultural expert.

After the close of the season the John Clays, whose summer home is at Eastern Point, Gloucester, usually go to their place near Edinburgh to enjoy the autumn and winter shooting. This year, because of the war, their plans will be changed. The government has commandeered all their horses, and they and many others in Great Britain will hold all thought of social matters in obedience until the present crisis is settled. The Clays, who are connections of the Armours and whose winter home has been Kansas City, will pass the winter in Chicago.

The Leopard Moth is our latest pest and is proving the most injurious. Very few people fully realize the injury that this insect causes to all deciduous trees and to a great many shrubs. A striking instance of this fact is shown by the complete destruction of the beautiful elm trees at Harvard College. The small borer after hatching, starts in the new wood on tips of branches. As soon as the tip commences to die the insect crawls back from six inches to four feet toward the trunk of the tree and starts a new hole. It eats the sap wood which of course taps the flow of life giving sap and causes the branch to wither and die. In many cases the branch breaks off. The work of the insect is constantly advancing toward the larger wood. Working in the borer form for two years, each season eating and growing larger, it pupates the winter of its second year, in its last boring, coming out in the form of a moth in June and July. Then the moth lays its eggs. These eggs hatch out in about ten days and the small borer crawls to the tip to again begin the cycle. If proper work is done when the tips are withering the small borer can be exterminated and the work simplified. Once the tree is free of the large borer the future work will consist of tip work only. Most people are unaware of the presence of the Leopard Moth until they notice that the tree is in a bad condition. This should be avoided by an expert inspection now. The R. E. Henderson Co., of Beverly has been doing some very satisfactory work on North Shore estates this summer combatting this pest. Their work has been very satisfactory due mostly to the fact that they have men especially trained to successfully combat this insect. Several samples of the work of the Leopard Moth may be seen at the Breeze office.

WAR IS NOT CONDUCIVE to good poetry. Art can never be the servant of such a foul fiend. No really great or even really good poems have yet been penned.

WITH INTERNATIONAL EXCHANGE at 4.93, times seem to be changing for the better. Really, for a war-time exchange the figure is reasonable.

HALL CAINES' CAUSTIC AND MIGHTY PEN has come to England's aid. But a just cause needs not to raise Caine to defend its activities.

IF THE FILIBUSTERING REPUBLICANS succeed in having the Pork Barrel Bill thrown out entirely and a new bill for a greatly reduced appropriation introduced it will be of advantage to the Democratic Party and will be a great blessing to the country. Retrenchment should be begun before added taxes are levied.

AND NOW THE RHEIMS CATHEDRAL! War has no reverence for human life or human virtue. Can it be expected to reverence the mere handicraft of human manual skill even though it be used to create an edifice for the worship of God?

"THE BRIDE SHOP" AT B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

A bevy of beautiful girls, without question the prettiest gathering of its kind ever seen upon a vaudeville stage, is the piece-de-resistance of B. F. Rolfe's newest and best musical comedy, "The Bride Shop," which heads the bill at B. F. Keith's Theatre next week. "The Bride Shop" is a lingerie establishment where brides go to purchase their trousseau. This forms an excuse for the introduction of beautiful girls in wonderful clothes, and offers excellent opportunities for fun-making by Andy Toombes, the elongated comedian. The book of "The Bride Shop" was written by Fred DeGressac, author of "The Enchantress," "The Purple Road," and "Sweethearts." The principal feminine role is in the hands of Lola Wentworth. The surrounding bill is exceptionally strong in novelities and features. "Love In The Suburbs" is a rattling farce in which a policeman, a housemaid, and a suburbanite get mixed up with the most ludicrous results. "The Girl From Milwaukee" is a charming society bud with a beautiful soprano voice, who has some splendid selections.

BOSTON THEATRE.

One of the strongest dramatic offerings of the season will be next week's attraction at Manager Leahy's Boston Theatre. Wilton Lackaye whose last Boston appearance was made in the all-star cast of "Oliver Twist" will make his reappearance in Cleveland Moffatt's masterful drama, "The Battle." Theatregoers will recall the enormous success scored by Mr. Lackaye in this stirring piece when it was presented for a long run in Boston several seasons ago. The engagement of Mr. Lackaye like those of the preceding well known stars, that have appeared for some weeks at the head of the Majestic Players, will mark his first appearance at popular prices. The presentation of this absorbing play, which presents a graphic picture of conditions in the slum quarters of New York City will be staged under the personal supervision of Mr. Lackaye, and no expense will be spared by Manager Leahy to give it an exact reproduction of its original. Mr. Lackaye will essay his original creation of John J. Haggleton, one of the strongest dramatic achievements of his whole career.

The same scale of unheard-of prices, 10 cents to 50 cents, will prevail. On Monday evening, October 5th, Mr. Leahy will inaugurate his season of grand opera. "Aida" will be the opening bill. The scale of prices during the opera season will range from 25 cents to $2.50. Mail orders and subscriptions for the entire season are accepted now when accompanied by cheque or money order payable to the Boston Theatre and will be filled in the order of their receipt.

The military and naval features and the visualized pages of history, presented in beautiful tableaux, are proving quite the sensation of the moment, when all the world is wrapped up in the subject of war. From the early dawn of history, down to the storming of Vera Cruz, the great upheavals in human society are shown in a series of magnificent stage pictures that baffle all attempts at description. For instance, Rome's stand against the barbarian hordes that sought to stamp out early civilization is depicted in a manner that is both beautifully allegorical and impressionistic.

THE WAR CORRESPONDENT IS OUT OF WORK these days. The agile penmen of other times must find new occupations or ways for adventure if the allurements of the profession are dramatic. The good of all concerned is served the better by the refusal of the allies to permit the war correspondents to report the war without censorship. The "suppress" bureau has its work to do and in the end the public will acknowledge that, despite the desire and clamour for excitement and news the decision of the military authorities to make the campaigns as secret as possible is wise. The main facts of the war have been published, though many details have been withheld. From the military point of view the censorship becomes a necessity and a military precaution, but there is a defense for the bureau that is still greater. It would be an international calamity to give the reading public all the undigested and poorly written hurried scrawls of newspaper correspondents. Not only would it be impossible to develop and maintain a truthful public opinion and knowledge of the facts, but it would tend to debauch the minds of the millions of readers of newspapers and reviews. There is enough now that leaks through to satisfy the news interests of intelligent people. But for wealthy newspaper syndicates to feed the debasing instincts of the public with harrowing tales of slaughter and experience would have the tendency to lower the quality and standard of public thinking. The newspapers as they are now conducted have their lowering effects upon human minds, especially upon the thinking of young children. To feed the inflamed fancies of growing boys with tales of carnage, bloodshed and slaughter have suggestive ills that teaching and instruction cannot blot out. One of the greatest curses of our own civil war was the results the conflict inflicted upon the boys who were too young to bear arms, but whose minds were alert enough to sense the meaning and perils of war. The censorship works many hardships, the morbid minds are unsatisfied, the press writhes under the restraint, the newspaper correspondents are cooling their heels in out-of-the-way districts, the fame of individual generals is unheralded, mothers and wives and friends worry for news that does not come, but in the end all must acknowledge that the censorship has its rightful place in this horrible carnage, both for the military and for the humane reason.

THE ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE has been waging a statewide campaign for national prohibition. The issue of National prohibition has advocates that can not be rallied around the No-licence flags.

SEPTEMBER HAS BEEN A "GLORIOUS" MONTH, despite the truth that "glorious" is a much abused adjective. When driven to despair to express himself the patriotic orator seeks it out as the climax for his spread eagle address. In conversation the word is debased by illegitimate use when the conditions are not worthy of so "great" a word. "Glorious" is a great word but September has brought some "great" weather. Again the words fail. How can weather be "great"? It is well after all that language has its limitations. Perhaps one ought not for the sake of rhetoric, pure and of good usage, to say glorious or great when speaking merely of weather. But the weather has been good enough and great enough and glorious enough, to break all the rules of grammar and good English to describe it. Anyone can talk about the weather. Everybody has to. It is not always a sign of conversational powers or even an average thinking ability to descend to it in conversation or—to resort to it for an editorial in our weekly. But,—has not September of 1914 been as worthy of conversational comment and editorial enthusiasm as the debaucheries of the old world? September has been a glorious month! There comes the word again. Let it stay, Mr. Blue Pencil! September has been a glorious month. It calls forth regrets from languid pupils and teachers and workers within doors. The Breeze never poses as a weather prophet, but it has always maintained that the summer colonists who came early and remained late were wise, for they have learned the charms of a North Shore spring and fall. This year the fall month has excelled the charms of mid-summer. During all the summer there has been no such successions of days to compare with the spell of weather that began on Labor Day and that has continued until the day this paper goes to print. The colonists who have returned to Boston or New York have surely missed the best weather of the season on the Shore.

THE GOVERNMENT INTENDS TO PROVIDE new means of obtaining sufficient revenue to maintain the business of the nation. It is proposed to tax brokerage business and banking companies as in the Spanish War. This may well appear just at the first glance, but the burden does not fall as justly as appears at first. From what are the brokers to pay their tax for the good of the government? There has been no stock market since the 31st of July and it has been for the good of all concerned that such wise precautions were taken by the exchanges of the country. But if there be no business the brokers can have no revenue. To add to the burden already great the additional tax will be a still greater hardship upon all brokerage houses. In ordinary times, with stock transfers and the conduct of the brokerage business, no-one would object, but in these unusual times with such forms of business practically at a standstill it would seem wise that some other way out of the financial difficulty of the nation be devised.

WITH AN ENTHUSIASM THAT IS WORTHY of the organization and the workers of the Red Cross society progress is being made in the arrangements for the Red Cross benefit to be held in Beverly Farms the sixth of October. The whole North Shore should rally to the colors of the society and make the event one long to be remembered for its profitableness for the good of the "cause."

WHEN UNCLE SAM GOES into the telephone and telegraph business and annexes the coal mines and operates the railroads most all of us will have to look to Uncle Sam as an employer?

"DON'T TALK WAR, TALK BUSINESS" is a slogan that stares out at one on the office desk of a business friend and in the columns of the newspapers. That will do as a slogan or as an ideal if one may speak of war and ideals in a single paragraph? But how can one talk war without talking business or talk business without talking war? Has not the real business of every man been to live? To live one must have bread, a roof and some clothes. To live one must rise above the commonplace of mere animal existence and think high thoughts and become interested in current events and history in its making and unmaking? Never was it more true that "man cannot live by bread alone." To talk business is to talk life. To talk life we must think and know and seek to understand. To him who finds the end of the business of living in the trade of the market place it will be impossible to talk business without talking war? Is there any line of bread winning that has not been affected? Did the increase of thirteen per cent in the cost of living just after the declaration of war mean nothing? The market place where business is being done is terror stricken by the howl of bullets and the hiss of enmity. Can a banking credit be exercised with the same alacrity today as on July 20? Does a dollar purchase as much today as then? On the narrow limited dollar-and-cent plane of life can one talk business without talking war? If one lives not to earn and amass financial credits, but to put into life and to take out of life all that one can, can one disregard the consequences upon civilization of the horrors of war and the miseries entailed by bloodshed and the annihilation of human talent by the sword and bayonet? One cannot talk business without taking into consideration the war. Nor can one talk war without sooner or later awakening to the fact that it effects seriously the "business" of living of every inhabitant of the world.

THE MOST IMPORTANT INTERNATIONAL EVENT of the year, apart from the war, is the signing of the Home Rule Bill of Ireland. The continental war has loomed so large in international affairs that this event has passed without the real consideration which its importance commands. Ireland for a century has conducted an energetic campaign for a Home Rule on matters concerning its own insular affairs and now wins. The autonomy of Australia and Canada have been the envy of every Irishman. For over thirty years the Home Rule agitation has colored the politics of Great Britain. The change has now arrived and Irish autonomy of insular affairs has been granted, and Ireland, not all Ireland, however, is happy. Fortunately the ill-fortune of the continental war has unified all Ireland and England so that the operation of the new autonomy will become a fact with less friction than would have been possible otherwise. The transcendent importance of repelling the Germany enemy has made all Ireland one with itself and all Ireland one with England and Scotland. There is a certain justice in Irish Home Rule that every American must recognize. It is natural that a minority fears the results of becoming a minority, but affairs do not always turn as people think they forsee. The new Irish Parliament cannot afford to sacrifice justice to all Ireland now that justice has been done to Ireland. It is to be hoped that even the foes of Home Rule will be able to recognize its advantages and profit by its provisions.

THE SALEM FIRE seems like a far off forgotten fact, the continental war looms so great.

BLOCK THE KAISER!

THE CARPENTERS AND BRIDGE BUILDERS of the city of Boston have started a campaign to increase wages again. The maximum now sought is sixty-one cents an hour and five working days a week. No one begrudges the skilled workmen of the saw and tri-square his honest gains nor doubts that he is worthy of his hire; but such a proposal must surely arouse comment and thought. Someone must pay these aforesaid sixty-one cents, and who? Eventually it is paid by the unfavored and poorly paid workmen of other lines of trade. Increased workmen's wages means the increase of the cost of construction work and repairs. It will take longer now for a poor man to own his own house than ever. Increased costs means increased costs in interest money where construction work is done with hired money. Increased cost means increased taxes. Increased taxes and increased interests means an increase in the cost of the maintenance of a house, if the poor man owns his own home. If he rents his home it means an increase in rents for the increase of the maintenance of any property will be charged up by the owner onto the rent account. Who is going to pay the sixty-one cents? Why the poor man eventually and with deathly certainty?

THE ATTENDANCE AT THE PRIMARIES on Tuesday was not large. As the years go the poll was what has been called "light." But there is some encouragement in as large a vote as was polled. There have been several reasons why the vote was light. The Presidential year always inspires interest all the way down the ticket. In a year in which there is a contest on for the gubernatorial nomination there is a tendency all along the line for renewed interest and an increased poll. Despite the disconcerting "atmosphere" created by the war and the absence of a gubernatorial contest the poll was reasonably good and bespeaks an interest in the primaries that is encouraging. The importance of the primaries has not yet become known to all voters, but the process of education has been begun. In the near future the real contests must precede and end with the primaries. If a voter expects to be more than a "rubber stamp" at the polls on election day it behooves him to become interested in the problems preceding the primaries. It is loyalty to a party to vote for its nominees, but it is intelligent voting when the voters assert their rights to determine who shall have the party nominations.

IT IS A QUESTION HOW LONG ITALY can remain out of the struggle. If Trieste and Trente are ever to fly the Italian flag again it would seem that the time had arrived. Germany is not likely to forgive Italy even though the Kaiser never said it.

AUGUSTUS PEABODY GARDNER has been renominated from this district by the republican party for Congressman. The district can be depended upon to select an intelligent, faithful, solid man to represent them. The district does not need a "high flyer" in Congress.

OCTOBER APPROACHES. None fear it, for it brings the charms of an Indian Summer and the richly laden fruits of man's struggle and toil with the earth.

IN AS MUCH AS FOUR-FIFTHS of the beet-root sugar of the world is produced in the countries at war it is not surprising that the price of sugar soared.

THE KAISER SAYS "my" soldiers. King of England says in his address "our" colors. Just the difference between autocracy and a limited monarchy.

THE WAR TAX.

A regular civil war has broken out in commercial circles as to the manner of producing war revenue legislation. One of the earliest effects of the war that has hit the press of the country is the cancellation by the American Tobacco Company of $1,000,000 worth of advertising which had been arranged for the coming twelve months. This company has been using all of the leading periodicals, and has been a patron of country newspapers as well as the larger papers in the cities. In the case of the country press the loss will not be heavy as the American Tobacco Company boasts of the skill displayed by it in obtaining space from publications at ridiculously low figures. It is stated that much of its space has been bought for as low as four cents an inch, and last year a new employee won fame in the advertising field of New York by the fact that he was reported to have cut down the advertising cost of the tobacco trust $75,000 in three months. And yet the tobacco trust which has perhaps done more to demoralize country newspaper advertising than any other organization in existence, likely expects the newspapers to help them escape the tax that is to fall upon them.

THE TERRIBLE TURK

The Turkish Ambassador in defending the policies of his country recited a whole lot of unpleasant facts concerning some of our own internal conditions, calling particular attention to the lynching of negroes, as indicating that the people of the United States are no farther advanced than those of Turkey, where missionaries are occasionally hamstrung, killed, or turned loose with their ears cut off. The Stated Department took exception to what the Ambassador had to say, and the chances are that if he breaks over the traces again he will be asked to pack his trunk.

Turkey has been an outlaw among the nations, according to the viewpoint of the Washington government, and if that country imposes 100 per cent tariff increase on the importations of American products, as has been threatened, the United States will raise a protest. Whether that will be effective or not remains to be seen. Nothing short of a warship, sent to Turkey during the Roosevelt administration, has ever appeared to influence the Sultan's government.

ADVISES USE OF LIME

Mr. H. M. Camp, who is acknowledged as an expert on soil conditions in a statement issued through the Lime Service Bureau of Washington, reminds us that the world's supply of potash is obtained from Germany and that with this source of supply cut off by the European war, there will inevitably follow a famine of this material as soon as present stocks are exhausted. The price of potash has already mounted skywards. As potash is a soil essential, the predicted famine bids fair to be a serious matter to our agricultural interests. Mr. Camp says that lime, in addition to valuable action in neutralizing the soil activity and supplying the needed calcium for plant growth, has the property of rendering soluble and available to plant life the store of inert potash in the soil, and he therefore concludes that the application of lime to the soil will release the potash.

WHO WANTS WAR

The locomotive and automobile, the typewriter, electric lights, and automatic Maxim guns are modern inventions which have produced their tremendous affect upon present day civilization and warfare. It seems to be considered a gratifying boast for the navy officials to tell how battle-ships which a few years ago were considered the pink of perfection, have been relegated to the junk heap. The United States has spent $477,072,952.25 for maintaining its navy. The appropriation for the present fiscal year is $139,964,331.61. If the big navy advocates who are very nearly sufficient in number to control Congress, should have their way, this annual appropriation will be doubled. While the United States is priding itself upon the fact that it is a nation of peace, yet it is a positive fact that between sixty and seventy cents of every dollar collected in taxes is spent upon war measures and pensions that have grown out of previous wars. Ask your Senator or your Congressman about it, and he will promptly inform you: "Oh, we have to do it because other countries are doing the same thing." In view of the evidence of fearful destruction going on in Europe, the wisdom of maintaining peace in such a manner comes into grave question. The 3000 miles of border separating the United States and Canada does not require a single musket or an ounce of powder to maintain peace, and yet Canada is a foreign country. Europe is looking to the United States more today than ever before in history, and the neutrality of our people is essential. It may be that Uncle Sam will talk the great powers into disarmament, but if he enters upon such a course he will need the support and sympathy of the masses of the people of the United States, who may expect to be resisted in their efforts by the war makers of our own country, by men who lead easy lives in the army and navy, and who constantly keep up disturbing talk in order to preserve their own power. This is carried so far that each year when the appropriations for new warships are considered by Congress, some sort of a bogus war cry is started.

A great many of the most intelligent people of the country are more convinced that now is the time to strike for disarmament of the powers of the world. Men and women who believe in this sort of thing should let their representatives of government know their viewpoints. Europe will soon have all the war it wants, and if the disheartened people find the great United States in the lead for universal peace, it may be that great benefits to the world and civilization will ensue. The theory that a powerful army and navy are the only guardians of peace has brought its direful results to Europe. Now is the time for those who believe in the foolishness of such a policy to exert their influence to stop this barbaric inheritance that has come down from savage races.

MANCHESTER WINS

TAKES FIRST GAME IN SERIES WITH FAST K. O. K. A. TEAM OF GLOUCESTER

The Knights of King Arthur of Gloucester, found Harold Grover of Rockport, Manchester's popular southpaw, the same old stiff proposition in the first game of the North Shore championship series with Manchester at Manchester, Saturday, finding him in only one inning. Fitzgerald proved easy for Manchester and the Knights dropped the first contest of the series by a score of 7 to 4.

Al Pierrotti took up Fitzgerald's practically hopeless burden in the fifth and was on the firing line for the remaining four innings. He blanked his opponents in during that time and allowed them only two hits.

O'Leary's double and two wild pitches gave Manchester the jump in the opening session and they were never headed. They followed up the advantage in the next inning by putting four more counters across the pan. McQuarrie started the trouble when he mussed up Collins' roller. Grover was struck out, but Ring walked and Gray followed with a single, scoring Collins and putting Ring on third. McCarthy drew a pass, filling the bases. Bond was retired on strikes, but O'Leary shot a fine single to center which produced two more runs. Murphy hit to Saunders who fumbled and McCarthy scored. Saunders threw out O'Leary at the plate, however, and choked off further hostilities.

The fourth inning was the big one for Saunders' Pets. Sam Peterson started the fun by producing a dandy single to center. He promptly stole second and rested there while Moriarty and Ed Peterson fanned. The fireworks followed with two men retired. On the hit and run, Saunders poked out a single, scoring Peterson, and the former took second on the throw in. Hansbury's single put Saunders on third and he stole on the first ball pitched. Pierotti kept up the good work with another safety and Saunders and Hansbury raced to the plate. McQuarrie made a good bid for a hit when he sent up a Texas leaguer to right that McCarthy captured after a hard run.

A big crowd saw the game, which was a pretty good one to watch and the fans seemed satisfied. The teams meet in the second battle at Webster's Field (Bass Rocks Station) on Saturday afternoon.

Manchester's line-up was the same as in the Farms series with the exception of Murphy of the General Electrics at second, and Ring of the Lynnhursts at short.

Mr. and Mrs. John Weir have the sympathy of the community in the loss of their young son, who died at their home on School street last Saturday night.

The fall and winter arrangement of trains on the Gloucester Branch goes into effect Monday, Sept. 27.

BATER-BINGHAM

Miss M. A. Bingham of Boston and Manchester was united in marriage to Harold M. Bater on Monday, Sept. 14. The wedding was a quiet affair, not many of the friends of the couple being even aware of their intentions. Miss Bingham is well known in Manchester where she has been coming for a number of seasons to conduct dress-making rooms at Mrs. Rogers on North street. She has parlors on Huntington ave., Boston, and numbers members of the Back Bay set among her patrons. Mr. Bater is proprietor of the Regent Garage at Manchester and also on Lansdowne st., Boston.

TOUCHING.

A teacher trying to impress on her children the rightness of kindness toward all animals, took them for a walk, to bring the lesson home to them.

Hearing a scream from little Johnny, she asked: "What the matter Johnny?"

"I've been sitting on a hornet," was the tearful response, "and I'm afraid I've hurt the poor thing."

TRICKED HIM!

Hiram—Haw! Haw! Haw! I skinned one of them city fellers that put the lightning-rod on my house.

Silas—Ye did? How did you do it?

Hiram—Why, when I made out the check to pay him, I just signed my name without specifying the amount. I'll bet there will be somebody pretty mad when he goes to cash it.

FOUND WANTING.

Mr. Tomasello has received so many felicitations on the recent arrival of a third son and heir in his Dorchester home that he decided to honor the event by entertaining his Manchester friends by an occasion of this kind. Those who know "Joe" know him as an A No. 1 fellow, and his good-fellowship last night but commends him all the more to his host of friends in Manchester.

WHY'S AN EGG

Since the first hen crossed the road the short-winged fowl has had its partisans, and most people who have had an opportunity have at some time or another "raised chickens." Although this has been going on for centuries the same old question is discussed as to whether egg farming can be made to pay. The average hen's egg weights about two or three ounces and varies in length from two to three inches. Someone who may or may not know what he is talking about, has declared that 300,000,000 eggs are consumed each week in the United States. The estimate seems to be fair enough as it is only three eggs per person. If then these 300,000,000 eggs were placed in a row, that is, end to end, they would cover 10,000 miles, which is considerably more than one-third of the stretch around the globe. Then why not commend the industry of the faithful hen, who, whether she can be made to pay or not, is conducting her affairs on thousands of farms and back yards. The world loves chickens and her products; and whether she pays or not her fruit will ever remain permanent on the breakfast table.

A SAD THOUGHT.

"What could be more sad than a man without a country?" feelingly asked the high-school literature teacher of her class.

"A country without a man," responded a pretty girl just as feelingly.

BASEBALL ASSOCIATION ELECTS

A business meeting of the Manchester Baseball association was held Monday evening at Lee's hall the feature of which was the big crowd that attended. The hall was crowded—an evidence of the interest Manchester folk are taking in baseball and their desire for the continuation of a team next year.

Very little was done at the meeting outside electing officers for next year, and hearing the report of the secretary. The officers elected were as follows:

Wm. W. Hoare, president; Walter R. Bell, vice-pres.; Frank Floyd, sec'y.; I. E. Irish, treas.; Charles E. Williams, asst. treas. Collectors, Roland Knight, Willard Rust and Allen Dennis. A committee of five, to be appointed by the president, is to report at the next meeting on the matter of a manager or managers for the coming year. A rising vote of thanks was given to board of managers of the present year.

The meeting adjourned to next Monday evening at 7.30 at Lee's hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Powers of Athol have been among this week's visitors at Beverly Farms.

The North Shore club will hold a dance in Neighbor's hall on Thursday evening, Oct. 8th.

Former Mayor Chas. H. Trowt is the latest to get an automobile. He has just become the owner of a Ford touring car.

Frank A. Williams and family have moved back into their home, the Hodgkins cottage, on Hale st., which they have rented for the past two months.

The Beverly-Beverly Farms auto bus has not been run for over a week. The Farms people have now got so used to the poor service that they have hardly missed it.

Mayor MacDonald has caused a fine new style arc light to be located in the square, in front of the Beverly Farms depot, a spot that was particularly dark and much traveled. The improvement is much appreciated.

Miss Mary Corrigan, one of the operators at the Manchester telephone exchange, substituted at the Farms exchange last Friday and Saturday in the absence of Miss Lillian Merrill, who was on her vacation.

Beverly Farms people should be interested and give their aid, even in a small way, towards the benefit which is to be held on the estate of Robert S. Bradley for the "Red Cross" on Tuesday, Oct. 6th. The Beverly Farms Band will give their services and a large party of Beverly Farms young ladies will also aid toward the success of the affair.

Work, which has been going on during the past weeks, looked after by the Beverly Farms Branch of the Improvement Society, in having men out cleaning up the rubbish, paper, etc., along the streets, will probably stop for this year on Oct 1st. This has indeed been a great improvement and much appreciated by all who take pleasure in keeping things clean. It is suggested that if all property owners along the streets will do their little part in keeping things clean along their respective frontage, it will be a great help towards making Pride's and Beverly Farms' places of increased pleasure to live in.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE NOTES

BY MRS. HENRY PRESTON WHITE

Anti-suffragists are at a loss to understand the wild acclaim which the suffrage workers have been making over their "victory" in the New York republican convention, which hardly seem borne out by the non-partisan newspaper comments. The Troy Times, in commenting on the convention said, among other things:—

"Probably the woman suffragists are disappointed, probably those who were joining together in dissimilar union direct primaries and increased power for the Governor are disappointed, and others may have felt the tooth of frost-bite on their hopes; but those who believe in Republicanism as a declaration of principles justified by experience, and who hope to see the new Constitution a symmetrical chart for state policies and not a crazy-work quilt of individual fancies, are very well satisfied with what was done at Saratoga."

Massachusetts anti-suffrage workers are curious now as to how soon they will hear of the returns from the suffrage melting-pot. Judging from the preliminary reports it must be a veritable treasure trove by this time, and the delay in announcing the gains is rather confusing. There will not of course be any need to make any new appeals for money. That is providing the stories sent out were true. If they were not true, it is a fair inquiry how they can morally explain such misrepresentations. The whole melting-pot scheme begins to look like something that was wished for but did not happen, notwithstanding the wedding rings contributed.

Miss Minnie Bronson, General Secretary of the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, has written to the Massachusetts Anti-Suffrage officials predicting that the seven states to vote on suffrage this fall will turn it down.

A school principal elevated by the slogan that votes for women would mean the cessation of all wars has been rather rudely shocked by the attitude of the young girls under his charge. "I have talked to them and asked them not to read about the battles in their text books," he said, "but almost invariably they say, 'Why, the wars are the most interesting part of the whole book; if we had to omit that it would be such a dry subject.'"

GAME A TIE

BEVERLY FARMS AND PROGRESSIVES
CALL GAME WITH SCORE 5 TO 5

One of the gamiest exhibitions of baseball seen at Beverly this season was that of last Saturday afternoon when the Farms nine crossed bats with the Progressives on Beverly Common. It was the third game between the two teams and the second to end in a tie.

"Jimmie" Travers of the Indianapolis Federals, who pitched against the Farms team when these two teams met before, was on the firing line for the Progressives, but was inclined to be wild. On the other hand "Hop" McNair, was in brilliant form, fanning eleven batters and allowing only three hits in six innings, at which time he was forced to retire owing to the fact that he received a sprained ankle in the first half of the sixth by sliding into third base. "Bill" Harty, of last year's Gloucester High team, was sent to the mound and did exceptionally well, having the honor of fanning seven men in less than four innings.

The Farms boys took the lead early in the game and were leading 4 to 1 until the eighth inning, when hits by Low, Walizer, Phoenix, Travers, Griffiths, Herron and Goldsmith was responsible for not only tying up the game, but put the "pols" ahead by one run. With the sun fading away and darkness coming on the Farms team came to bat. McPherson slammed one for a single, "Pat" Parsons placed the ball in the outfield for a safe blow; Muller fanned, John Sudbay went out, Travers to Griffiths. With two out, the score in favor of the Progs, 5 to 4, the fans diminished but Travers, who passed only ten men during the afternoon, sent his spitter towards the plate, it went by Fletcher Low, who was catching in place of Douglas Baker in the eighth, and McPherson came home with the life saver for the Farms team.

When the Progressives came to bat it was dark and Low, Walizer, Phoenix went out in order and then the game was called, with the score 5 to 5.

Catcher Everett Perkins of the Farms team, showed his usual heady playing which has been a feature of the work of the Farms team this season, and many runs were stopped from coming across the pan through his excellent work.

The two teams will meet again this Saturday afternoon at Beverly Farms. The score:

NEWSPAPER IMAGINATION

In these days of wild rumors and sensational headlines, it is little wonder the public appreciates the Boston Evening Transcript's policy of always adhering to its high standard of news service to the public. There are no big headlines based on unconfirmed rumors. Carefully edited and analyzed news, invaluable to those who want the real facts of the war, is given each day. Many new readers have been added to the Transcript's circulation because they appreciate the character of its news and the way it is presented. If you appreciate all the news that is real news, not scare heads, supplemented by many features as interesting as those of any magazine, you should give the Evening Transcript a trial. All requests for sample copies are filled on receipt by the Boston Transcript Company, Boston, Mass.

NAME PLEASE?

It is a rule of this as well as all other papers to accept nothing for publication without knowing from what source the communication comes. The name is asked for, not for publication, but merely as a matter of good faith. Only when requested by the sender, are names published.

We make mention of this matter at the present time because of a communication received Monday signed "One-a-Subscriber," coming apparently from a dis-gruntled baseball fan. Because of the incoherent reasonings the evident lack of knowledge of baseball, and the veiled threats, we do not see how we can consistently put the communication in print, though we shall be glad to next week, if we are privileged to know who is the author.

The party was mislead in the first place in accusing the editor of writing the account of the Manchester-Beverly Farms game two weeks ago. The article plainly stated at the top that it was "written for the Breeze." We would like to inform the correspondent, too, that he shows little knowledge of baseball when he thinks "tb" in the box score means "times at bat." It means "total bases," and "times at bat" is designated by "ab."

As to "that dirty account of the ball game" we defy anyone to show us wherein the article did not give the Farms team and individual players just as good a "write up" and mention them just as frequently and impartially as the Manchester players. The editor read the article over very carefully when it was submitted to him and he felt the two teams were properly written up. What our friend probably takes offence at is the last part of the article in which the writer in the Breeze takes someone to task for articles appearing in a contemporary publication weeks previous to the series relative to the Manchester players. We would like to ask our "Once-a-Subscriber" friend how he would feel about the articles referred to if the shoe were on the other foot and the articles related to "Hop" McNair, Perkins, Johnny Sudbay, Hillery, or any other of the boys. The Manchester boys felt pretty sore about these articles when they appeared and they can't be blamed for wanting to print some sort of a reply to them in some paper.

Now if any Beverly Farms fan wants to put in his version of it the editor will be more than glad to print the letter but we must know (privately, at least) who the communication comes from.

Miss Alma Jepson has spent the past week at a Boston hospital, where she has undergone an operation for throat trouble.

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Walters of Wilmington, Del., have spent the past week at Beverly Farms the guests of friends.

Beverly Farms railroad station was transferred this week from Arthur C. Holland, who has been the acting station agent since last May, to Wilbur E. Macdonald. Mr. Macdonald gave up his duties the first of the summer on account of ill health.

One of the best ball games of the season should be that to be played at the Beverly Farms playground Saturday afternoon, at 2.30, between the Beverly Progressives and the Beverly Farms teams. All should turn out to see this game and be as generous as possible when the hat is passed.

Lawrence J. Watson, 2nd, who has just returned from a trip through New York State, had the pleasure of calling upon Dr. Wm. J. Dougherty, formerly of Beverly Farms, now located at Saranac Lake for his health. He found the Dr. in fairly good health—improving continually—in the best of spirits and he wished to be remembered to all at Beverly Farms.

John G. Macdonald is the new Beverly High school football coach. He is a former Holy Cross athlete and will be familiar to the Farms ball fans as the star catcher for the Knights of King Arthur team of Gloucester at the Labor Day ball games against Beverly Farms. A number of Beverly Farms boys, students at the High school, are candidates for the football team.

Peter Smillie of LaSiguanea, Isle of Pines, W. I., who has been a visitor at Beverly Farms the past three weeks, left today for home. Mr. Smillie while here was given considerable improvement work to do for parties who have recently become owners of plantation property at Isle of Pines.

After the fire at the Foster garage last Monday evening, had been particularly put out, Capt Alfred Williams of the Ladder Co. went on the second floor of the building looking for more fire. He stepped on a trap door which went down under him and he fell to the ground floor fracturing two ribs. He was taken to his home where an examination failed to show any internal injuries, although his injured ribs caused much pain and restlessness.

Members of the Beverly Farms Band had an outing last week-end going to Chebacco Lake where they had for occupancy the "Edgewater" cottage. They took along their musical instruments and gave a concert, which was much enjoyed by the occupants of the surrounding cottages. A number of friends of the members accompanied the band and helped make the affair a most enjoyable one.

Fire of an unknown origin gutted the garage on the Mrs. Sam'l Foster estate, corner Beach and Hale sts., last Monday evening. Besides the building, a Packard automobile and nearly all the contents of the building were destroyed. The flames had made great headway on the interior of the building before the fire was discovered. The department did excellent work and soon after their arrival had the fire checked. It was for a time a spectacular fire and was watched by hundreds. The Foster estate is occupied this year by Fran-constantly miss the familiar and well-loved figures of the McCabes and George Jones. It is hoped that Geo. Jones and Michael McCabe will regain their health; Owen McCabe, alas, has gone home.

This year the church departments have executive committees to attend to matters of detail, and these committees are doing quiet but effective work. The department of social service has issued a program giving names and topics for the monthly social service forums up to March. A series of study conferences will also be conducted jointly by this department and the department of missions.

DISTRICT RALLY AT BEVERLY

SOCIETY NOTES

Oliver Ames and family are closing their Pride's Crossing place next Wednesday and will go to North Easton for the autumn, before moving to their Commonwealth ave., Boston, residence for the winter. Their two daughters, Misses Elise and Olivia Ames will be with Mr. and Mrs. Ames, but the two sons are at school—Ollie, the older, at Harvard where he has just entered upon his second year, and Richard at St. Mark's at Southboro, where he has entered upon his final term.

♦ ❖ ♦

Gardiner M. Lane is at a Boston hospital recovering from the effects of an operation performed Monday. Mr. Lane and family returned a few weeks ago from Europe and went at once to his North Shore estate, "The Chimneys," on Summer st., Manchester. He was not well and therefore remained at Manchester with his family until he was brought to Boston on Monday

John Hays Hammond, Gloucester, left Tuesday for New York, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Natalie Hammond and his sister, Miss Elizabeth Hammond. The daughter enters school in New York this year. Mr. Hammond will go to Hot Springs, Va., for a few days and will probably leave for California late in the month. Mrs. Hammond will remain at Fresh Water Cove until the middle of the month.

SOCIETY NOTES

The important event of the coming week, on the North Shore, will be the Red Cross benefit at Mrs. R. S. Bradley's, Pride's Crossing, next Tuesday afternoon. If the weather is not fair the sale will be held just the same. A band will furnish music and a bridge tournament will be one of the features.

The Eugene Gray Fosters plan to conclude their stay at Magnolia on the 14th of this month, when they will return to Brooklyn, N. Y., for the winter. Mrs. Foster's father, Mr. A. F. Southerland has been spending most of the summer here and is, as usual, getting a great deal of enjoyment out of the golf links at the Essex County club.

Rev. Wm. H. Dewart and family closed their house at Manchester yesterday and have gone to Milton to spend the autumn. They have taken the house at 54 Beacon st., owned by Geo. von L. Meyer, for the winter.

Miss Fannie Bartlett returned to Old Neck, Manchester, Tuesday, after a fortnight's stay at Woodstock Inn, Woodstock, Vt.

Miss Rosamond Bradley returned Wednesday from a summer spent in Newfoundland and Labrador in connection with the Grenfell mission and hospitals.

Picturesque Magnolia

"Unexplicably Forsaken in its Autumn Loveliness"

IT is with an irresistible feeling of depression and regret that one says "Good-bye" to picturesque and almost incomparable Magnolia. Shut away from the city, it lies in its own peaceful serenity, charming itself in its own small world.

Autumn has tinged the foliage with colors that cannot be adequately described by pen; only the artist's brush can reveal its own language the magnificence of the present though regretful grandeur.

There is a sadness there now with the declining year. The long white road to the cliffs is deserted, and the glades and by-lanes are empty, too, save for the occasional flight of the sparrow and the owl. No longer do the "cold grey stones" echo to the shouts of happy children; only the faint cry of the gull is heard calling her mate in the hollows of the lower chasms.

Dotted here and there on the hillside, each tiny dot a lonely house, is revealed to the eye what remains to face the winter's storms now that the summer passes away.

Yet Magnolia seems at its best, inexplicably forsaken in its Autumn loveliness. It can boast proudly of sunsets that equal those of the Alpine heights of the blue Friuli's mountain. The much tried business-man need no longer seek unrewarded some restful spot "far from the madding crowd," for Magnolia can cater to the most fastidious. A nest for the homebird, prodigious subjects for the limner; and exhilarating air that acts as a draught of vintage on the world's melancholy. It holds an inimitably healthful characteristic of its own, binding for ever the sweetest fancies in the mind.

Has it not a double charm, its woods opening on to the sea, and now perfect in color touched by the "fall"? See the russet and the red leaves blending beautifully with the orange and the green.

As a seaside resort it can never pass away. The vestiges of winter are sometimes harsh; but Magnolia suffers (so it seems) least of any place on the North Shore. Surely only the pessimist can hesitate to describe it comme il faut. It rarely leaves an ambiguous impression with its visitors. The traveller afar comes back to it, and the children are ever happy on its sands.

Still, in one brief month Nature has extended a parting hand. Wild birds are taking their evening flight over the pools, and the setting sun hangs like burnished gold on the horizon's brim. The far away hum of the waves on the beach edging and flowing, is heard in the ears long after the day has "dropped into the shadowy Magnolia closing its eyes reluctantly with the fading year.

A sudden sleepfulness prevails, and there it lies, dear gulf of by-gone things."

—G. HUBERT RAND.

Of the many family pets owned by North Shore people the large and intelligent German police dog owned by Miss Elise Ames of Pride's Crossing is the most wonderful that has come to our attention. Aside from being a splendid specimen of an animal "Simmy-Sim" is almost human as far as intelligence goes. He can understand every word his mistress says, it would seem, and is as attentive to her as can be. Miss Ames prizes her pet very highly and gives it the best of attention and care. Miss Ames has been on a short visit to the South Shore this week.

It was erroneously stated last week in our Magnolia local items that Robert Wilson Hyde, the limner, and the Bill shop, had closed for the season. We regret the error, which was of course unintentional, and desire to say both Mr. Hyde and Mrs. Bill plan to keep their respective places of business open for some time yet.

The Vincent club fair to be held at the Copley-Plaza, Boston, on Friday, Nov. 13, is of much interest to many North Shore girls, members of the club. All articles intended, for the sale must be tagged with name and address of sender and sent to Miss Alice C. Thorndike, 601 Beacon st., before Nov. 1.

Only thoroughly trained competent servants (male or female) supplied. References personally and carefully investigated. .. ..

The wedding last Saturday at the picturesque little Unitarian church on Masconomo street at Manchester, of Miss Margery Lee to Francis Williams Sargent, Jr., was the most important social event of the closing season. Miss Lee is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lee of Brookline and Beverly Farms. Mr. Sargent, Harvard '07, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis W. Sargent of Wellesley. About 140 were present at the wedding including the immediate families and more intimate friends. The chapel was decorated with Easter lilies and bunches of the same flowers tied with white ribbon at the head of each pew. The time for the wedding was set at 3.30 and previous to the ceremony, John P. Marshall, organist, of the Boston Symphony orchestra, and Bessie Dellecollier, violinist, rendered the following selections: Hymn to St. Cecilia by Gosenot, Salve D'Amour by Edgar, and Prize Song by Wagner. The bridal party passed down the center aisle to the strains of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin. Rev. Dr. William Lyon, pastor of the First Unitarian church of Brookline, officiated, using the single ring service. Miss Lee was gowned in white silk, her dress having a long train, and she wore a long veil of white tulle, caught up with a spray of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of Easter lilies. Miss Florence Lee, the younger sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Miss Margaret Sargent, youngest sister of the bridegroom, Miss Constance Gardner, Miss Anne Means, Miss Josephine Rantoul, Miss Anna Agassiz and Miss Esther Turner were the bridesmaids. All wore gowns of light blue taffeta and hats to match and carried bouquets of small pink roses. Constantine Hutchins, a classmate of the bridegroom, Harvard '05, was best man. After the ceremony Mendelssohn's wedding march was played as a recessional. The reception, which immediately followed the wedding, was at Villa Al Mare, the beautiful summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee at Beverly Farms, for which some 600 invitations were issued, nearly all of the North Shore summer colony being represented. A special car attached to the 3.15 train from Boston brought a large number of guests. Mr. and Mrs. Sargent were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. George Lee and Mr. and Mrs. Francis W. Sargent, parents of the bride and groom, and the members of the bridal party. The ushers were Francis R. Appleton, Jr., Robert L. Bacon, Thomas B. Gannett, Dudley L. Pickman, Jr., Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., James J. Higgison, Harrison Tweed, George Whitney, F. Skiddy von Stade, John Austin Amory, I. Tucker Burr, Jr., Eliot Farley, Harry Lee and Philip Balch Weld. Refreshments were served at tables set on the open verandas, on the lawns and under commodious marquees spread on the lawn. An orchestra furnished music for dancing. Mr. and Mrs. Sargent left in the early evening for a bridal tour. They will join the year-round colony of young people in Beverly Farms this winter.

Yearly subscription to North Shore Breeze, $2.00.

THE DISASTER THAT BEFELL the English vessels that were sunk by a submarine was unexpected and although tragic, causing much loss in lives and money, it must be accepted as one of the hazards of war. The incident at once arouses the old question concerning the relative value of the submarine and the dreadnought. The efficacy of the submarine has been established. There are those who have contended that the development of the aeroplane and the perfection of the submarine effectually displaces the old lines of battleship building. This recent incident is cited as a proof of the contention. The naval experts, however, do not agree on this point. While the value of the submarine has been established beyond doubt, to assert that it has displaced the battleship is an altogether different proposition. One of the strange things about the war in Europe has been the practical inactivity of the German navy. The English navy has been at work at police duty in both oceans. The German navy has been bottled up in the Baltic. It will be safe to assume that the destruction of these three battleships will arouse the entire English navy to action and precaution. If the English navy can drive the German navy into the open a naval battle such as the world has never seen would unquestionably follow. It is the apparent policy of the German government to conserve their naval resources in the war and depend upon the work of the soldiers on the field to win or lose their cause. If this be the policy England will have the task of watching for submarines.

A Church Organized in Departments

From the Congregationalist, Sept. 24

WHAT can we give our church members to do? A church needs some system of activity as truly as any other organism; work is necessary to interest. How can we render evident the fact that a church is a working organization? The tendency is for a congregation to be a deliberative body, an absorbing body, sometime a fault-finding body. The same employer makes work for idle hands within the church as outside. And chiefly there is a world to save for Christ—how can we best get about it?

Facing this question two years ago, a small church outside the city attempted to solve its problem by organizing in departments. From the "Men and Religion Movement" came titles for the departments already provided—social service, Bible study, boys' work, missions, church extension and membership. Does not the very list suggest Christian activity?

Social service looks with reforming eyes toward the moral and spiritual environment and has advocated village improvements, conducted a "Standard Oil" campaign against mosquitoes, helped secure a better housing law, and has participated in victories for no-license. The department aims to impart a sympathetic understanding of social reform in the state and nation, and maintains a monthly Sunday night forum, with speakers and discussion, following the example of Ford Hall and the Labor Temple humbly and afar off.

The department of Bible study encourages every one to search the Scriptures, and provides lectures on Biblical themes. It advocates for our Sunday school and for individuals a graded system of study possessing pedagogic merit. It trains Sunday school teachers.

Boy's work is another name for supervised recreation activities amongst the children of the community. Boy Scouting is an especial favorite, and baseball is not neglected as a means of grace.

The department of missions makes an "every-member canvass" of the congregation and raises the church's apportionment. Missionary barrels are packed and sent to encourage Christ's workers on the frontier. Stereopticon lectures are offered, a study class is carried on for people of all ages and both sexes, and once a month the opening exercises of the Sunday school are conducted by this department in the interest of missions.

Church extension is concerned with special evangelistic neighborhood gatherings in homes or schoolhouses and with cottage prayer meetings. Once a year special evangelistic meetings are held, with visiting pastors in charge, when the Saviour's appeal is tenderly presented to all hearts.

The department of membership aims to add new members and to render membership more helpful. The department provides church ushers, a reception committee for church services, free pews for strangers, district visitors to look after the sick and new comers, floral decorations for the church and messengers to distribute the flowers after service. It manages the Congregationalist club.

No change was made in the organization of the Sunday school, the Y. P. S. C. E., the Ladies' Aid Society, the examining committee or the financial board. The music committee and choir are practically a seventh department of the church. Old machinery was abolished so far as it conflicted with the new plan—the former calling committee, the missionary committee and the periodic missionary collections. As it happened, the old-style prayer meeting had abolished itself some time before this reorganization took place. The church no longer elects ushers, leaving their appointment to the department of membership.

A CHAIRMAN FOR EACH DEPARTMENT

At the annual meeting of the church a chairman is elected or each of the six departments. It happens that three of these are, by sex, male and three female. Because there was not sufficient eligible material within the membership, the church ventured outside and chose two of the chairmen from the congregation. Of course, all derive their authority solely from their election by the church, an election in which only members participate. From time to time the chairmen meet with the minister as a church cabinet.

Each chairman appointed a suitable time and invited enlistment in his department. Any one of the congregation might join upon the simple basis of interest in the particular line of work involved. One might enroll in two or more departments. Each department held a business meeting and elected its own secretary, who should also act as treasurer. Necessary committees were appointed in each department. The deacons are chairmen, each of a department. So far as they have spare energy they also serve as general managers and inter-department adjusters. The minister is general adviser, and is not a department officer.

If one were to appraise the plan after two years of trial, he would first note that no miracle had been wrought. The church has not become a large metropolitan center, with crowds thronging the services, and it is still outside the city. Certainly, however, many new people, both members and others, are happily at work for the dear Master, along lines of their own choosing. No friction has developed whatever. Every one is reasonably contented and cheerful. And far more respect is paid to the church by the community to which it ministers.

FAIR PLAY ASKED

TIE VOTE—ALL THREE MEN WILL NOW RUN

As a result of a recount of the vote for the Republican nomination in the 23d Essex district at Manchester Tuesday evening, the vote stands a tie between Mayor Harry C. Foster and Fred M. Gorman, each man receiving 293 votes. As the vote was declared on election night Mayor Foster led by two votes.

In the recount at Gloucester Mayor Foster lost one vote in Ward 5. In Manchester a vote declared a blank by the counters was decided by the registrars for Gorman. Both men will run on nomination papers and there will be no regular Republican candidate.

Augustus Hubbard, the third candidate at the recent primaries, who received only a few votes less than the others, will also run, thus making three men in the contest on nomination papers.

There appears to be some question as to the way in which Ward 5 of Gloucester is being used in this matter of representation at the state house. When the original agreement was made in 1906 for a ten-year period—an agreement signed by the chairmen of the committees representing Wards 4, 5, and 8 of Gloucester and the Town of Manchester—it was the understanding that Ward 5

It appears that everything went as agreed until last year, when it was Ward 5's turn to have a representative. It will be recalled that P. H. Boyle of Manchester was re-elected last year for a second year, Ward 5 waiving its right in Manchester's favor. This year it is Ward 5's turn again, and so a candidate was put up—namely, Augustus Hubbard. But it appears that Ward 8, which had its two years in 1907 and 1908, is putting two men in the contest—Mayor Foster of Magnolia and Fred M. Gorman.

Many people feel that if agreements stand for anything in this case, the Ward 5 man ought to be elected, just as agreed, this giving equal representation to all parts of the district. It is said, further, that Manchester of all other parts of the district, ought to stand by this agreement, inasmuch as favor was shown Manchester last year in electing its man for a second term when that was not in the agreement.

VOL. XII October 2, 1914. No. 40

PRESIDENT WILSON has been a fortunate man politically. Generally speaking the voters of our land are not partial to theorists or professors of colleges for public office. The President overcame these objections and was elected the governor of his State by a generous margin with good luck in his way. The democratic party had constantly met with defeat in the national elections and the nomination to the presidency by that party had been a questionable asset. Then came the four years of Taft and the surprising activities of Mr. Roosevelt and in an incredibly short while the democratic nomination became a valuable one. Wilson's good fortune was with him again and he was elected. Elected, the problem of maintaining his policies was solved by having a strong backing in both branches of the Congress. Again good fortune smiled on him. To succeed in one's policies as a party program is one thing and to make them succeed as a national program is another matter. The Wilson policies have never had a chance and just when public unrest and business depression began to pave the way for unrest with the administration and desire for a return to the republican policies the war broke out in Mexico. The President's dilemma was his salvation. A loyal nation waited patiently, war was averted and Wilson won. Again fortune smiled. Like a rising storm the European war broke with unprecedented rapidity upon the whole world. It has caused a world-wide depression that will take years to remedy. But above the storm rises the good fortune of the President. He has met the situation honorably and with characteristic good sense. The nation honors him for his success. He was big enough to meet the situation, but it was the situation that brought out the talent of the man. President Wilson's problem again was his good fortune. The present war has done more for the personal successes of the President and for the party policies of the democratic party than that organization has been able to do during its entire ascendancy of recent years. Good fortune smiles!

THE NEW MARINE INSURANCE BUREAU of the national government has a big task upon its hands. Its first "job" has been the preparation of a list of contraband and near contraband articles which are uninsurable and which are forbidden exportation privileges. It is to be hoped that the list has been carefully outlined and that their work will be successful in preventing any embarrassing episodes with any of the nations at war.

ALL LONG FOR PEACE, but it is folly to think or speak of it until the arms of nations have won a victory that will assure peace for a goodly period of time.

THE LIQUOR PROBLEM will not down. It is and will be for some days to come an intensely live issue. The progress that has been made in personal abstinence from the use of alcoholic liquors has been phenomenal and the growth of public sentiment against it as a business has been equally surprising. So quietly has this sentiment grown that but few persons realize the sum total of all the "yes" votes in the country is but a trifle larger than the "no" vote. A nation-wide campaign has now been begun for national prohibition. The question is a large one. There are many who earnestly disbelieve in the use of liquors personally, who think the time has not yet come for prohibition. Be that as it may the question is before the country and the individual states now have the problem placed before them. It is doubtful whether such a movement will succeed the first year. But every state that votes for the national amendment is a state gained. This vote cannot be revoked and it stands, so that a running fight may be kept up for years until a sufficient number of the states have declared themselves in favor of the amendment. When the requisite number has been obtained the national amendment will become operative automatically. The enthusiasts of the prohibition movement are sanguine of an early victory. Whether their forecast be true time only can tell; but it is evident as it has never been before, that the real problem of legislation on the liquor problem has been transferred from the limited battlefield of the separate states to the larger field of national legislation. Every well-informed citizen will be interested in the progress of this new change of alignment.

THE EUROPEAN WAR has thrown its burdens upon our national government as well as upon all private enterprises. The restoration of the war taxes of the days of the Spanish war is probable, with its many objectionable features. To the list of taxed articles, gasoline is to be added. Such an addition seems unjust for gasoline is no longer a luxury it has become a necessity, an indispensable factor, in every day life. The theory of all special taxes is to place them where the burden will be felt the least and if possible upon the luxuries of the rich and the poor, as beer and tobacco and silks and finely manufactured products of man's skill. There was a time when a tax upon gasoline would have been a tax upon a luxury and upon the rich. Such a tax now will fall upon the commercial and industrial enterprises. Those who use the automobile for pleasure can reduce the mileage of their motors, but business men who use the motor in business must continue to use it despite the tax. The American Automobile association has opened a campaign against the proposed tax and whether they succeed or not the interests of the commercial users of gasoline will be ably presented.

IT IS NOW AUTHORITATIVELY ANNOUNCED that regardless of the embarrassment and inconvenience caused by the war that the Symphony concerts are to be given this winter in the city of Boston. With the opera suspended for the winter and the Symphony concerts also omitted, there would be but little to interest music lovers in the city this winter. But thanks to the enterprise and heroic efforts of the board of managers of the Symphony organization this disappointment is spared the lovers of music.

THERE HAS BEEN A DECIDED CHANGE in the methods employed by Germans in America to influence public opinion. Early in the war some serious blunders were made that will take long to correct.

THE ABOLITION OF THE OLD CAUCUS methods of making nominations did away with some evils that were undesirable as well as undemocratic. Now there are those who are raising objections even to the direct primary. If these contentions be true the voters have left one evil for another. It is put forward that as a rule the names early in the lists have been favored by the voters. The man whose name begins with "A" has an advantage. The nominations of the Republican officers for the state is brought forward as a case in point. The point appears to be well taken in this particular. To assert, however, because of this remarkable indication of the success of men whose names begin with one of the letters near the beginning of the alphabet in this particular election that this is an apparent law of the primaries is not true. No one will doubt the advantage that accrues to the favored candidates whose names begin with "A" or any of the early letters in the alphabet, but this factor is not the only one in considering election successes. If the voters will carry this fact in mind it will not be long before the average voter will be aware of the psychological advantage of such names and make a choice with that idea in mind. This particular disadvantage is not so serious that the whole system should be abandoned before it has been thoroughly tried.

THE MARCONI COMPANY has been reprimanded by Mr. Daniels because of alleged dangers to the neutrality of our country. The Marconi Company resents the restraint and is determined to regain its rights by a contest in the courts. Whatever the legal rights of the company may be it would seem that in view of the dangers of this company violating the neutrality of the nation the company, as a moral obligation to the government and to the people of the world, ought to be willing to subject to the reasonable restrictions that have been placed upon it.

RHEIMS FELL as a part of the perils and disasters of war. It is reasonable that so much talk should have been made of its destruction, but who is weeping over the countless homes of many men and women and children. It is a pity the Rheims cathedral has been burned, but it is a thousand pities that so many homes have been ruined and so many human lives lost.

THE WAR HAS CRIPPLED the smelting companies doing business in America because of the lack of cyanide. One good company for prudent reasons has passed its dividends upon its common stock. How strangely the world struggle effects the affairs of every nation and all people.

THE NOMINATION OF MR. MCCALL to lead the Republican forces in the state campaign was fortuitous. If the conservatives and progressives of the party will unite in his candidacy an old-time victory is assured. The insolvency of the progressives does not deter them from activity.

CLEVER THEODORE ROOSEVELT ATTACKS the Liquor Traffic in an avowedly No-licence district, but stops just short of declaring himself with the prohibitionists of that state. Whatever else may be said of Roosevelt he is a politician of no mean merit.

AFTER THE AIR HAS BEEN CLEARED of the present strife how will Turkey stand with all its treaties abrogated?

NOW FOR INDIAN SUMMER!

THIS IS APPLE YEAR. Apples may be found anywhere and everywhere except in the hands of the consumer. The apple problem of the north is a brother to the cotton problem of the south with the disadvantage in the north. The southern cotton crop may be stored with but little deterioration, but with apples—that is different. The Boston Chamber of Commerce suggests a minimum price of thirty-five cents per peck as a reasonable figure for retailing apples. Despite the Chamber of Commerce the law of supply and demand is still operative and the producer will not be obliged to wait for "his price" to make a sale. The producers of apples should be given a generous return for their crops, but it is an open question whether any organization can with any show of success establish prices for the sale of the bumper apple crop.

ITALY STILL REMAINS NEUTRAL despite the ambitions which the people of that country have in the direction of Trieste and Trente. The hopes of winning these portions of territory would have been an excuse, without any real merit that could have easily influenced that country. Italy, however, still remains neutral. But that neutrality is an uncertain factor and causes the Kaiser much anxiety. The Italian troops are now mobilizing. It is not difficult to conceive of circumstances that might easily arise in the European situation that would force Italy to action to protect her own honor and integrity. If Italy can be kept neutral that will be one great gain for the cause of peace.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT THAT OUR TROOPS were to be recalled from Vera Cruz was good news to the nation. But the announcement was quickly followed by the administration's announcement that the withdrawal had been temporarily postponed. If it be true that neither Villa nor Carranza will be a candidate for the presidency peace will soon be restored in our neighboring land. There is still cause for unrest over Mexico, but there is a light upon the clouds and the apprehensions of this nation will not materialize.

IT WAS THOUGHT MANY YEARS AGO that all of the pension schemes of the Civil War had been thoroughly exploited, but now Uncle Sam begins to feel another hand in his capacious money bag. The worthy veterans of the war are entitled to their honorable pension, but only honorable and legitimate claims ought to be paid.

WINSTON CHURCHILL stated a truth succinctly in a single sentence when he asserted "peace with the German people might be arranged in good time, but there would be no peace with Pussian militarism short of the grave." This is a serious charge, but is it not near the truth?

THE CONSTANT RUMORS concerning the death or health of members of the royal family is but a part of the uncertain news conditions. Men of the Civil War recall rumors concerning the death of Davis and even of Lincoln.

PRESIDENT WILSON IS IN LINE for the Peace Prize. If he can bring peace out of this international chaos he is worthy of anything.

COLLEGE DAYS have again begun. A new generation of Harvard Men have taken possession of the historic precincts.

"THE 'GIN' HAS BEEN TAKEN OUT of Virginia."

THE National Capital

Government

By J. E. Jones

The Breeze Bureau.
Washington, Sept. 29, 1914.

COLORADO COAL STRIKE

The President has enlisted as a strike breaker, and is using his efforts in an attempt to settle the big Colorado strike, which has been in progress for several years. Mr. Wilson has told the operators who visited Washington that they should wave all technicalities and look only to the main proposition of re-establishing normal conditions in the Colorado coal fields. When President Roosevelt intervened to settle the great anthracite coal strike in Pennsylvania, John Mitchell appeared expressly as representing the miners. That strike was settled in accordance with the principle that each man, whether a union member or not, had a right to contract for his labor with his employer. This incident is urged in behalf of the appeal being made by the President and outsiders for mutual concessions from employers and employees alike.

CANDIDATE FOR LIGHT-WEIGHT CLASS

Secretary of State Bryan has taken off twenty pounds in avoirdupois. In doing this he has, for the first time in his career, followed a Republican as his example. When President Taft left the White House he was so corpulent that one of the White House automobiles was hardly spacious enough to carry him about. But the ex-president reduced at the rate of twenty pounds a month for three months. In view of this record Secretary of State Bryan has concluded that to drop from 220 to 195 pounds by dieting and violent exercise ought to be an easy thing for him. Once a week Mr. Bryan goes to the farm of Senator Blair Lee of Maryland, cuts down a tree, and then cuts it into lengths suitable for short fire-places.

PRIVATE ENTERPRISE CAN ACCOMPLISH MUCH

The Washington government has been carrying on a far-reaching and effective press agency propaganda with reference to South American trade. The exporters and opponents of the Administration have been shouting from the housetops that it is about time to have some sort of real shipping done between American ports and South American countries. The Panama Canal has been doing business for several weeks, but there has been no rush of orders that would indicate that it would be necessary to dig another ditch across Nicaragua, and with foreign shipping tied up by the European war, it would seem that something really ought to be done to promote our South American trade. The Washington schemes appear to be largely visionary, and some of the plans suggested are pure "bunk." Senator Weeks of Massachusetts suggests that six American warships, loaded with sample of American products, be sent to South American ports, and he would also permit representatives of trade organizations of this country, in a limited number, to accompany the ships, so as to explain the advantages of American wares to prospective purchasers.

Now, to avoid misconstruction, it should be said that Senator Weeks has been a most intelligent and persistent champion of the policy of "getting busy" for Uncle Samuel on the high seas, and, after all, what could afford a more useful diversion for the idling battleships than to go on parade with Yankee wares? But Secretary Redfield says no, and he declares that although his department is keenly interested in any legitimate plan to promote our foreign trade, yet when it comes to making an actual investment of capital in Latin America, with the idea of securing early material advantage, that individual and corporate products should be pushed and displayed, not only under the auspices of the federal government, but by commercial and other firms.

"OUR MERCHANT MARINE"

One of the first things that happened when foreign commerce closed down, and German ships tied up in the harbors of the world was an attempt by the American Congress—and this was instigated by the President—to establish some sort of a basis for a merchant marine. The whole affair seems to have resulted in a fiasco, and now comes forward Secretary Redfield of the Department of Commerce, who opposes the pet scheme hatched by the Secretary of Navy and the Postmaster General, to have certain transports that are included in the Navy used for merchant purposes. Mr. Redfield might have kept his peace without interfering with the seemingly patriotic performance of his associates in the Capitol who were patriotically waving the American flag over imaginary

United States ships, had not the scheme proved obnoxiously popular.

WHEN MARK HANNA WAS ALIVE

When Mark Hanna was alive, he bent every effort to secure ship subsidies, and most of the country was of the opinion that the Ohioan had simply invented a new method by which to loot the Treasury. But years have come and gone since Marcus trod the floors of the Senate, and Uncle Sam still stands stock-still on the pathways of the high seas. Statesmen are beginning to realize that it is necessary that there be some sort of government aid, if private enterprise is to invest its capital in steamships. The German and British governments devised many plans to make their shipping supreme upon the high seas, and while Uncle Sam looks wistfully out across the waters, he still confines his efforts to press agency work—and this is getting to be somewhat of a "chestnut."

THE RURAL MAIL SERVICE

The Post Office Department has joined the economy crowd, and as a result the increase in salaries for employees of rural free delivery service has not gone into effect, and probably will not for some time to come. The Postmaster General is advocating a new plan to put the entire rural mail service into the contract class, as has been the policy with reference to the so-called star routes. Postmaster General Burleson states that by doing this the government would save twenty million dollars a year.

THE WAR TAX

Republicans are insisting that there would have been a deficit in government revenues, even though there had been no European war, and while they are willing to submit to the steam roller process by which more than one hundred million dollars are to be raised, yet, in view of the fact that the fall elections are but a few weeks away, they are going to make all the noise possible to have it appear that the Underwood tariff is as much to blame as the break in foreign commerce.

MORE RETRENCHMENT

The Secretary of Agriculture has instructed all chiefs in the department to retrench, and to keep all their work within the emergency restrictions. Therefore there will be no attempt at extensions of projects until the government money market has improved.

Everybody reads the Breeze.

GAME A TIE

K. O. K. A. - MANCHESTER NINES 4 TO 4 WHEN GAME WAS CALLED

After nearly two hours and a half of wrangling and arguing with occasionally a fistic encounter between the spectators, last Saturday's game at Webster's field, Gloucester, between Manchester and the Knights of King Arthur for the North Shore championship was called by Umpire Jack Martin after Manchester's half of the seventh. The score was 4 to 4, Manchester having pushed a pair of runs across in that inning, tying the score.

Just how the game should be decided would take a Philadelphia lawyer to fathom out. The Knight's claim victory on the ground that the score goes back to even innings which would wipe the first of the seventh and make the score 4 to 2. On the other hand, Manchester has claim to the game according to rule 77, relative to the home club furnishing sufficient police protection to preserve order and keep the playing field clear.

There was a big crowd present, and there was lots of enthusiasm. It was a battle royal, and when the teams meet at Manchester, Saturday, another hot game is likely to result.

Manager Saunders of the K. O.'s sent Lothrop to the firing line to even up the series if possible, and the selection proved a good one. Lothrop showed his usual superb brand of pitching, but was given wretched support.

Manchester had the same line-up as the week before in the opening game of the series, when the Manchester boys won. Grover pitched in grand style, as usual, and the Manchester boys batted well.

A big crowd is expected if the weather is good tomorrow, but the Gloucester fans may expect what is coming to them if they try to put over any rough house on the Manchester grounds. A big crowd of fans from Beverly Farms are coming down for the game, which will be called at 2.30. The summary:

MANCHESTER

Hot-buttered pop-corn Wednesday and Saturday afternoons and evenings.—Green Indian Maple Products Co., 23 Central st., Manchester. adv.

James Beaton is opening a new store on Central st., Saturday in the Rabardy building, opposite the Manchester Tea Rooms. He will handle the Lawrence Knitting Co. line of goods, and also a good assortment of grocery and bakery products. This date also marks the 28th anniversary of Mr. Beaton's marriage, and his friends ought to present their best wishes tomorrow by calling at his new store and extending a greeting if nothing more. This is the only store in that section of the town.

INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

Two automobiles came together on the Manchester-Hamilton road Sunday and as the result Frank Tent of Manchester was severely injured, four ribs being broken. Mr. Tent was in a car owned and driven by Geo. E. Willmonton, in which were also Mrs. Willmonton and their 3-year-old son, George. Mrs. Willmonton was shaken up considerable but was not injured though she has since been confined to her bed most of the time.

The accident happened on the curve in the road beyond the stable connected with Lake-croft Inn. Mr. Willmonton's car was rounding the corner on the right hand side of the road coming toward Manchester. A heavier car owned and driven by Gordon H. Balch of Boston and Beverly Farms came around the corner from the opposite direction. It is alleged to have been travelling at an excessive speed. At any rate it crashed into the Willmonton car.

Both cars were damaged but Mr. Willmonton managed to fix his up temporarily and rushed Mr. Tent to his home in Manchester, where Dr. Blaisdell attended him.

GRAND OPERA

TWELVE-WEEK SEASON OPENS AT BOSTON THEATRE NEXT MONDAY

The dream of Boston music lovers to secure real Grand Opera at prices within the means of the masses is to find its complete realization at the Boston Theatre beginning next Monday evening when a season of twelve weeks of popular Grand Opera will be inaugurated. Despite the war in Europe which has crippled most of the great opera houses of the world, the management of the Boston Theatre has assembled a company of high class artists that will compare very favorably with the permanent organization of the Metropolitan and the Boston Opera Companies in the past. As a foundation for these artists there will be a superb chorus recruited from the chorus which the Boston Opera Company took to Paris last spring, and generally conceded in musical circles to be the finest in the world. The splendid ballet of beautiful young girls has also been secured from the Boston Opera House, as well as the magnificent orchestra. With such a foundation an ensemble is assured equal to that of any opera house in the world, not even excepting the Metropolitan in New York. As for the artists,—they will speak for themselves before the first week is over. Suffice it to say that a number of genuine sensations are promised, particularly among the tenors and the sopranos. Despite all this the prices will be extremely low, ranging from twenty-five cents to two dollars with a few at two dollars and a half. There will be performances every evening at 8 o'clock, and on Wednesday and Saturday afternoon at two

The opening bill for Monday night will be a spectacular production of the great Verdian opera, "Aida." The scenic settings for this opera will surely startle the most blasé. They have all been painted especially for the opening, and the gorgeous Nile scene must be seen to be appreciated. This opera will see the Boston debut of two local singers, who, although the bearers of wonderful reputations from abroad, have never sung in opera in their native city. The first is Blanche Hamilton Fox, the brilliant mezzo-soprano, who will sing the role of Amneris. Miss Fox is a world figure in opera, having sung leading roles in all of the great opera houses in Europe. Her home coming will be made the occasion of a magnificent reception from her hosts of Boston friends. The other Boston product is Joseph Florian, a splendid basso, who has been heard in every great operatic city but his own. The title role of Aida will be sung by Johanna Kristoffy, the leading soprano of the great Hof Opera in Vienna. It was the European war which made it possible to bring this remarkable artist to America. Giuseppe Tricario will sing the role of Radames. He is one of the very few dramatic tenors who compare with Caruso, Zanetello and Tamagno. Ferruccio Corradetti, the world famed baritone will sing Amonasro, while the role of Ramfis will be entrusted to that sterling basso Pietro di Biasi. One hundred and fifty people will take part in the wonderful triumphal scene. This opera, "Aida," will be repeated with the same cast on Wednesday afternoon.

On Tuesday and Friday evenings the favorite opera of "Carmen" will be given with Alice Gentle from Hammerstein's Manhattan Opera Company in the title role; Umberto Sacchetti, a tenor, who was at the Boston Opera House for three seasons as Don Jose, Pietro Gallazzi, as the Toreador, and Rina de Sales, another Boston artist, as Micaela.

"Lucia di Lammermoor" will be sung on Wednesday evening and Saturday afternoon with the following cast: Miriam Ardini, next to Tetrzini, the most sensational coloratura soprano in opera; Ramon Blanchart, the famous Boston Opera Company baritone; Attilio de Crescenzo, a lyric tenor who has been proclaimed a second Bonci and Pietro di Biasi.

The supreme favorite, "Trovatore" will be given on Thursday and Saturday evenings.

He (at church)—I wonder why those pretty girls across the aisle look so sad?

She—Oh, it's because each has a new bonnet, I suppose.

He—I don't see why that should be productive of such melancholy.

She—Why, each thinks the other has the prettiest.

He—Then why don't they exchange and be happy.

Why not patronize a local institution with your printing?

"How do you like your new music master?" "He is a very nice, polite young man. When I made a mistake yesterday, he said, 'Pray Mademoiselle, why do you take so much pains to improve upon Beethoven?'" —Le Figaro.

First Artist: "Well, old man, how's business?" Second Artist: "Oh, splendid! Got a commission from a millionaire. Wants his children painted very badly." First Artist (pleasantly): "Well, my boy, you're the very man for the job." —Life

When Mrs. Twickembury attended a dramatic festival, it disturbed her sense of fitness that the people who represented pioneers entered in a body. "That's no way for those pioneers to come in," she exclaimed, "they ought to come stranglin' in."

"I should advise you to gamble rather than write," said the man of conspicuous opinions.

"Yes," replied Mr. Penwiggles; "but a gambler has to have money to start with."

"THE ROAD TO HAPPINESS"

William Hodge has scored a new "Man From Home" hit at the Wilbur Theatre, Boston, where his latest big play success, "The Road to Happiness" is now in its fourth week. Large and enthusiastic audiences are being nightly delighted with the droll originality and native humor of his character of Jim Whitman in this "cheerful comedy of optimism." All the Boston critics are unanimous in their praise of his unique interpretation of this part. Philip Hale, of the Herald, declares: "The audience was greatly amused by Mr. Hodge and whatever he said excited laughter—laughter of the hair-trigger kind."

MR. AND MRS. VERNON CASTLE COMING TO B. F. KEITH'S

The tremendous all-star vaudeville bills that are being presented at B. F. Keith's this season are the talk of New England. The greatest array of headliners ever offered, nearly all of them new to Boston, have been booked for the fall and winter season. Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Castle, the reigning pets of society, who are without question the absolute peers of all modern dancers, come to B. F. Keith's Theatre shortly. The exact date of their appearance has not yet been announced, but it is expected it will be within the next month. For the week of October 5th, a great line of novelties has been booked. Chris Richards, the famous English comedian who scored such a tremendous hit at B. F. Keith's last Christmas week, will return with his funny hat and ridiculously supple legs. Mr. Hymack, the chamelon entertainer, who changes his clothes quicker than a woman changes her mind, will return to Boston from abroad after an absence of six years. He is presenting an entirely new act this season. Willing, Levering and company have a unique comedy novelty called "A Day at the Country Fair." All kinds of bicycles, made up to represent aeroplanes, battleships, autocars, horses, and all other kinds of vehicles are utilized.

WORLD'S GREATEST PURE FOOD EXPOSITION

A thorough awakening is evident among merchants of America manufacturing food stuffs, emphasized by the latest reports from Elgen J. Rowe, under whose personal direction the Boston Retail Grocers association with the active co-operation of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, and various grocers and provision dealers associations of the state, are to give the Boston Domestic Science and Pure Food Exposition in Mechanics Building from October 5th to 31st. A new spirit of activity and confidence, promoted by the advantage that has come to the American merchant through the European War appears to be felt on all sides.

More varied exhibits, and more interesting exhibits are secured for this year than ever before. Special efforts have been made to incorporate educational features.

Among the educational exhibits will be those made by the city of Boston with the hearty co-operation of Mayor Curley by the State of Massachusetts, with the earnest interest of Governor Walsh, and by the United States government. The Cuban government has asked for their enormous exhibit additional space of over 1,000 square feet to install a Deering, who have been the instructors at the Ward 1 playground the past season, the affair taking place at the home of Miss Publicover on Hart st., last Saturday evening. The two instructors were called into the parlor, Miss Publicover being presented with a handsome string of pearls and a fountain pen, and Mr. Deering with a handsome pipe and a fancy jar of tobacco. Although both were completely surprised each responded in a pleasant manner. All entered into the spirit of the joyful occasion. There were solos by Miss Louise Heaphy and Flora McPherson, and dancing, including the real old Irish breakdown. The affair was a most happy one and was in charge of the following Beverly ladies: Mrs. J. J. Deering, Mrs. Robert Williams, Mrs. Wm. Davis, Mrs. James McPherson, Mrs. Richard Brown, Mrs. Robt. McNutt, Mrs. Richard Heaphy, Mrs. Auger, Mrs. Chas. Page and Mrs. John H. Nash.

MADDALENA-RITCHIE

A pretty wedding of much interest to Beverly Farms people, because the contracting parties have lived here the past two summers, took place at the Holy Cross Cathedral, Boston, last Tuesday at 6.30 when Miss Helen Mary Ritchie, was united in marriage to Joseph Bernard Maddalena. The bridesmaid was a sister of the bride, Miss Alice Ritchie, and the best man was Joseph Masters. The bride was beautifully gowned in white satin and lace. Her veil of tulle was caught up with lilies-of-the-valley, and she carried a bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley. The bridesmaid was gowned in light blue and carried a bouquet of American beauties. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary Ritchie, 80 Berkeley st., following later by the serving of a collation at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Maddalena, Clarendon st. At both places the decorations were very pretty. The presents consisted of silver, cut glass, etc., making a beautiful display, also a large amount of gold coin, the latter gifts from the young couple's relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Maddalena left on a vacation trip west for a month and on their return will reside in Boston and at Beverly Farms for the summer months. The wedding was attended by quite a large number of Beverly Farms people.

Two gentlemen were driving in a wagonette, when a spark from a cigar set fire to some straw at the bottom of the carriage. The flames soon drove them from their seats. A countryman, who had been following them on horseback, alighted to assist. "I have been watching the smoke for some time," said he. "Why, then, did you not give us notice?" asked the astonished travellers. "Well," responded the man, "there are so many new-fangled notions nowadays, I thought you were going by steam." —Boston Herald.

OUR WAR WITH MEXICO

With the withdrawal of the American troops from Vera Cruz, the Washington government calculates that it has pulled off the greatest "war" in modern history—since it has been a "war" that has brought peace with but little bloodshed. The affair will be exploited by the Democrats in their campaign while the Republicans will insist that "watchful waiting" was simply luck.

THE "SILENT TOILERS"

Mr. Walter C. Jenkins has prepared one of the great stories of the year on the domestic silk industry, for the National Magazine, and he very aptly comments in the opening paragraphs: "As diamonds are diamonds, so silk is silk." With the true instinct of a trained writer, Mr. Jenkins starts with the inconspicuous little worm that as a manufacturer has all captains of industry distanced a mile, while as for mechanics, none in the history of the world have as yet learned to compete with these "silent toilers who clothe the nations in silk," even extending the field of their usefulness to the hosiery of Fifth Avenue maids, who perform their part in popularizing silk as clothing. Mr. Jenkins' article is shortly to appear in his publication.

"What happened to Babylon?" asked the teacher of her Brooklyn class. "It fell!" cried the pupil. "And what became of Nineveh?" "It was destroyed." "And what of Tyre?" "Punctured."—Exchange.

Much sympathy is felt for "Hop" McNair, the star pitcher on the Beverly Farms ball team. At the game on Beverly Common two weeks ago, while sliding into third base he injured his ankle, which at the time was thought to have been badly wrenched. Since then examination has shown a bone was also broken. His ankle has been put in a plaster cast and he will be unable to work for some time.

George Drinkwater is back to his duties at Varney's Drug store refreshed and vigorous after a vacation spent in New York.

After an illness of considerable length Mrs. Joannah, wife of Richard Barrett passed away last Sunday at 87 Haskell st., Beverly Farms, at the age of 78 years. She was born in Ireland, but had passed most of her life in the country, being a resident of Beverly Farms most of that time. Funeral services were held Tuesday morning at St. Margaret's church, and burial was in Salem.

Chas. Maddalena has concluded his season's engagement at the North Shore Provision Co., and has a position for the winter in Boston with Maddalena, the caterer.

Ragged support and the inability to hit Hadley, the visitor's pitcher, was the principal reason why the strong Progressives of Beverly defeated the Beverly Farms team at the playgrounds last Saturday afternoon by an 8 to 2 score. It was a cold day, and this apparently had the effect of giving the Farms team a chill, as they made errors galore and also kept the attendance down to the smallest number of the season. Harty pitched for the Beverly Farms team and did well. The visitors had on the field probably the strongest team that they have had this season and put up an excellent game.

Mrs. William Winchester and her sister, Miss Alma Jepson, concluded their season's stay at Beverly Farms this week, moving to Boston on Monday.

Dr. Neal Murray, the dentist, has leased one of the offices on the second floor in the new Murphy block on West st. He will occupy it on Dec. 1st.

The ball game last Saturday afternoon at the Beverly Farms playgrounds finishes the schedule for this year and it is very likely that there will be no more ball games there, unless they are scrub games between local picked nines, the balance of this year. Games have been played here nearly every Saturday afternoon and also on holidays, since May 30th, and these have been a source of much pleasure and enjoyment to Beverly Farms people. The Farms has been represented by a strong team, which has broke even on number of games won and lost. They have played the strongest teams in the semi-professional class, and nearly all the visitors have presented the very strongest line up that could be got together. To Arthur C. Holland is due all credit for his excellent management of the team. He has certainly made a reputation that should later on lead to larger things in baseball affairs, and to him is due the thanks of the Beverly Farms baseball public for his faithful and efficient service.

Howard E. Morgan, Jr., and John Toomey, two popular Beverly Farms High School students, have been selected from the large field of candidates for regular places on the football team of the orange and black.

Lawrence J. Watson, 2nd, left the first of the week on a business trip through New York state.

in connection with the S. C. Gould fire Saturday evening in South Hamilton. The boys helped move endangered goods, pumped water to fill buckets, watched roofs for falling embers, used wet brooms to extinguish dangerous sparks, and made themselves generally valuable. It is not too much to claim that they saved the Albert C. Holland house, as at a critical moment they were the only ones at work there.

SOCIETY NOTES

The marriage on Wednesday of Miss Ruth Appleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis R. Appleton of New York and Ipswich, and William Greenough Wendell, son of Prof. and Mrs. Barrett Wendell, of Boston, was the leading event of the week on the North Shore. The ceremony was performed in the Ascension Memorial church at Ipswich at 3 o'clock by Rev. Roland Cotton Smith, rector of St. John's Church, Washington, who is a cousin of the bride, assisted by Rev. Robert Parker, rector of the Ascension Memorial church. Miss Appleton had for her maid of honor her first cousin, Miss Kitty L. Lawrence of New York, and Mr. Wendell's best man was Johnston L. Redmond of New York. The ushers were Francis R. Appleton, Jr., and C. L. Appleton of New York, brothers of the bride; Roland L. Redmond, also of New York, Frederick Schenck of Lenox, George Putnam and Barrett Wendell, Jr., both of Boston, the latter a brother of the bridegroom. A reception was held at "Appleton Farms," the country estate of Miss Appleton's parents, after the ceremony at the church. This is the second marriage to take place in the Appleton family this season, the first one having been that of Miss Alice Appleton, sister of the bride, and Clarence Hay, which was solemnized in the Ascension Memorial church at Ipswich in August.

SOCIETY NOTES

At a recent meeting of the North Shore Swimming Pool in Magnolia, it was voted to increase the number of directors from twelve to fifteen, and Arthur M. Jones and Samuel S. Stevens were added to the board as representing the younger element of the club. The operation of the Pool during the summer was successful and about five hundred members and subscribers used its facilities. After the meeting adjourned the directors met for organization for 1915. The old officers were re-elected and are as follows: Costello C. Converse, president; William H. Coolidge, vice-pres't; Horace H. Stevens, treasurer; Frank S. Chick, secretary. Provision was made for repainting the house and pool. By reason of European conditions, a large addition to the Magnolia colony is expected, and cottages are already well engaged. The Pool will be fully prepared to do its part for the interest and amusement of the colony.

Miss Frances Porter of Boston, was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Yates at West Manchester. Mrs. Yates gave a luncheon and bridge party on Thursday of last week at her West Manchester home.

The big Red Cross benefit at Mrs. R. S. Bradley's, Pride's Crossing, Tuesday afternoon proved a glorious success and netted some $3,000 for this most commendable cause. Though the North Shore season is far spent, there are yet scores of families here and these turned out in large numbers for the affair. The weather was splendid, though the early part of the day looked unpropitious. It was the intention of Mrs. Bradley and her committee to have the tables on the lawn at the approach to the mansion, but, instead, these were arranged in the large reception hall. Just outside on the veranda overlooking the ocean and the near-by island, the choicest fruits and vegetables of the season were arranged in baskets, surrounded by autumn foliage. There was seemingly no end to the contributions which were also placed on tables on the lawn and the stone seats along the terrace, which is just over the tops of a grove of pines on the water's edge. The soft gray of sea and sky brought out all the beautiful colorings of the apples, grapes, melons and other luscious fruits sent from the hot houses of Mrs. Lester Leland, T. Emerson Proctor and others of the North Shore, who have won many prizes for their products. Within the spacious residence were other things displayed for the purpose of attracting purchasers. Miss Frances Bradley, Miss Agassiz, Miss Rantoul and Miss Denegre were among those who spent a busy afternoon at the cake and candy table. Miss Rosamond Bradley, Mrs. Roger W. Cutler, Miss Edith Fitz, Miss Alice Thorndike and others of their friends had the toy table in charge. There was a fancy table also, with Mrs. L.H. Newell, Miss Margaret Thomas and many of their friends to attend to the sales. Mrs. F. I. Preston, Miss Ann Lee, Miss Lane of Texas, Miss Jane Bolan, Miss Anna Connolly, Miss Margaret Connolly, Miss Alice Chapman, Miss Lottie Chapman, Mrs. Howard Doane, Miss Jane Watson and Miss Alice Lahey, aided, in numerous ways, the work of attending to all who came with the desire to spend money generously and show their appreciation of Mrs. Bradley's generosity. Miss Louisa Loring, full of enthusiasm for the cause, had a table on which were Red Cross literature, "first aid" boxes and other things to interest those not already members of the organization. This was a feature which everyone was anxious to inquire about and a long list of new names, testified to the persuasion of Miss Loring and the ready sympathy of those who listened. Nor was this all to entertain and instruct, for the drawing-room the enclosed piazza, the den and the billiard room were utilized for a whist tournament in charge of H. H. Ward, Mrs. H. G. O. Colby and a large committee. So great was the demand for tables that Mrs. Bradley's boudoir upstairs was also filled with tables. Tea was served in the breakfast-room and the dining-room, with Mrs. Ezra C. Fitch, Mrs. W. B. Thomas and others presiding in turn. Mrs. Bradley was busy everywhere and when she found a moment to spare from the duties attendant upon such an affair, she was at a table on the veranda where scientific sanitation literature, and disinfectants were for sale. As chairman of the Women's Municipal league committee which is working towards the extermination of flies Mrs. Bradley has made a study of these pests and has won many other enthusiasts to labor in her campaign for health and cleanliness. During the afternoon the Beverly Farms Band played a pleasing program of gay music and the scene was delightful when the entire company was assembled. One of the significant aspects of the undertaking was the hearty response from everybody; the employees of all the estate as well as the owners and their friends worked together toward its success and helped make a goodly sum to be sent across the sea in aid of the stricken cities and suffering victims of the war in Europe.

Gardiner Martin Lane, one of the most prominent of the North Shore colony residing in Manchester, passed away last Saturday at the hospital in Boston where he was operated upon the previous Monday. So many were the activities upon which Mr. Lane in life had exercised a beneficent influence, so numerous were the people who through association had learned to respect him, that the funeral services in his memory held Monday noon in Emmanuel Church on Newbury street, Boston, became a striking tribute to the high place he had won in this community. Men who had known Mr. Lane in college and whose acquaintance had continued through his business career as a railroad official and as a member of Lee, Higginson & Co., men who had come to know him in connection with the various public-spirited and philanthropic enterprises with which he always was associated and other friends, both men and women, to the number of between five and six hundred were present to assist in the final honors. The following tribute by John Phillips Reynolds recalls Mr. Lane's characteristics thus: "To those who knew Gardiner M. Lane intimately, his friendship was a great privilege and inspiration. Although he was in charge of large affairs and accomplishing so much both in business and in semi-public work, yet his modesty was very marked. No one ever heard him tell of his achievements—he did no self-advertising, and so there must have been, during his life, many who did not fully appreciate the wide range which his activities covered or the extent of his kindness and generosity. His loyalty to his friends was beyond measure and is difficult to justly describe. Once you were his friend, no word ever escaped him except in praise, no criticism of you, no doubt of your friendship ever passed his lips—wild horses could not drag from him a derogatory word against his friend, and when the friendship was abused, as in a large acquaintance must sometimes happen, and busy-bodies took occasion to whisper to him how badly his friend had treated him, he would either say absolutely nothing or turn it off with some casual remark and no comment. It was loyalty that was twenty-four carats pure! This marked characteristic was no sentimental softness, for right and wrong were ever clearly defined in all his actions and if a wrong act was committed, whether by friend or foe, no one was quicker than he to stamp it for just what it was, and there again came in that wonderful loyalty, for he would have it out with the friend, but he never spoke of it to others. A true and loyal man of great capacity, and a kind and generous friend, who gave all that was in him for the accomplishment of that which was given him to do, he will be greatly missed."

The Sign of the Crane tea house at Manchester closes next Thursday, the 15th, for the winter, to re-open about the 30th of May. The tea rooms had a most successful season—one of the most successful of the many along the North Shore. Not only did the motorists and visitors from distant parts of the North Shore pay regular visits, but cottagers in Manchester and at Beverly Farms have used the tea rooms as a most convenient dropping in place all season. Mrs. Dean, the proprietor, announces that she is to keep the house open all winter for week-ends and house parties, and already a number of Wellesley college girls are planning to pay frequent visits here this fall and winter, especially when the winter sports are on.

THE PROBLEM OF REFORESTATION has not yet been solved in New England, but greater progress has been made during the last season than in any other year since active reforestation work was begun. America may well look to Europe to learn a lesson in forestation economy. The lines of development have been three in number. The development of shade tree planting along roads and streets by individuals and communities has been continued. The planting and the encouragement of the planting of private acreage by individuals has been surprisingly large. But greater progress has been made in the purchase of forest reservation by the state governments and then reforested and cared for scientifically. The advance work has been aided also by conservation activities. Greater care is now being given to stands of timber by private individuals. The increased cost of lumber has made money expenditures in clearing stands of soft woods, under-brush, and the clearing of the forest floors economically possible. This movement is of vital interest to the North Shore, for the greatest asset the Shore has apart from its proximity to the large centers and its attractive sea-shore is its standing growths of beautiful trees. Denude the woodlands of their timber and the beauty of the Shore would be materially harmed. Public sentiment in the North Shore towns has now been crystalized and the man or group of men who seek to exploit their own private lands for present gains will know that the public cannot approve the ruthless waste such activities cause. Now private owners are beginning to realize that such destructive timbering is an economic loss to the penny-wise woodland owners themselves.

THE ESTABLISHMENT BY PRESIDENTIAL PROCLAMATION of a Peace Sunday to be observed by all the churches in our broad land was a commendable idea. More progress has been made in creating public sentiment against war and its crime against civilization during the last two months than in any two centuries in the history of the world. The European contest has at least accomplished this much for the cause of civilization.

THE PROGRESSIVE PARTY should courteously accept the welcome which the republican party assures them if they will but return to the fold. This is a coalition that is inevitable. Consequently delay means failure for both the republican and progressive parties.

A DEMOCRATIC CONGRESS AND SENATE will do more to assure a republican victory two years from now than any other course events may take in the next few months.

WHILE PUBLIC SENTIMENT IN AMERICA, for ethical reason, is against Germany and its martial program, it will be well to remember that Germany has a reputation for military prowess that is established by martial ability. To make news that corresponds to the desire of the public is a human failing. To color the news for local consumption is an error that even careful and honorable newspaper proprietors may commit. The owners of unscrupulous papers that are catering for a monetary returns will not be over careful in editing news. News that will sell papers seems to be the standard of such men. There is a well pronounced leaning in America for news favorable to the Allies. There lies the danger. German power may be too easily underestimated. This terrible war has only just begun and the great German race is fighting despite the apparent injustice of their aggressions, as though fighting for their native heath and for domestic liberty. It cannot for a moment be believed that Germany will lay its arms down quickly. The Kaiser and the army will fight to the bitter end. During the war in the Seventies the news that came to America constantly failed in an appreciation of the gains made by Germany. The Breeze is not unfriendly to the German people, but it is opposed to the military policy of that great nation. It believes, however, that the military power and ability of that nation should not be underestimated. It knows that the cause of civilization rests with the Allies and their success will mean the conquering of the spirit of militarism and make for international peace. But the militaristic ideal is so entrenched in German public ideals and policies for Germany's own salvation and the true success of its people that that policy must be thoroughly conquered. But militarism will die hard. This war will not be a short one and the Germans will not easily be overcome. The fight will be severe and the reading public should carefully read war front news and make such allowances for the inevitable "coloring" the news will inevitably have for American consumption.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT BY A CANDIDATE for the Governorship of Massachusetts that he favors Nation-wide Prohibition indicates that there is something growing in this State. The Prohibition question cannot be downed!

THE FALL OF 1914 WAS INCOMPARABLE up to the twentieth of September. After the first of October had passed and the favorable weather continued, a record was established. The good weather has been particularly surprising and gratifying after the unusually inclement summer. All of the summer resorts in Massachusetts suffered financially this year. Then came September. The lengthening of the season has been noticeable in recent years but with such a September and October the season will be longer than usual this year.

IT IS NOW ANNOUNCED that the British government "cornered" sugar and was able in this way to assure the British public of sugar at reasonable prices. It is evident in the American prices paid for "sugar" that it was not the government that had "cornered" sugar.

BELGIUM—THE MARTYRED NATION!

THE CAPE COD CANAL has now been in operation for a month, allowing time to measure its usefulness and to determine its probable success and the difficulties which experience alone might reveal. The Canal has already taken its place as a great New England waterway. The objections which were advanced concerning the swiftness of the tide have been found to be unfounded. During the month barges, commercially employed, schooners and steam vessels, as well as large pleasure crafts, have used the canal. At night the entire length has been illuminated by electric lights, making it navigable at all hours night and day. It will be some time before coastwise steamers or naval vessels can use the canal, but work is being done to deepen the waterway. When completed it will permit the passage of any of the naval vessels. The military and naval advantages of canals and inner waterways has been demonstrated during the present European war. Eventually so important a waterway must be taken over by the government and operated as a government enterprise. Among the incidental advantages that have accrued to the people of Massachusetts is the passing of fish from Massachusetts Bay into Buzzards Bay. It is reported that cod which have never found their way up into Buzzards Bay have been caught by the hand line of pleasure seeking fishermen. No commercial advantage is expected from this passage of fish from one bay to the other. The Massachusetts Bay shore has been successfully planted with lobster seed. With the Woods Hole Fisheries station so near there are new possibilities for lobster culture in both bays for it places the Woods Hole station very much nearer than before. In fact the geographical advantage the Woods Hole station acquires for service in Massachusetts makes it possible for that station to render increased service, and such, as only could have been rendered previous to the Canal construction, by the establishment of a fisheries station by the government on the Massachusetts Bay shore. Now the Woods Hole station can serve both shores advantageously.

THERE HAVE BEEN LOYAL SPIRITS who have been laboring to create a healthy public opinion against war but their efforts have been discounted for many who have been interested in a general way in peace have never dreamed that such a holocaust as now menaces all Europe could be possible. Every editor, journalist, teacher and clergyman in the land now realizes that the development of a peace party in America is not a negligible program. There are dangers in America from the militaristic ideals of the old world. The immigrants to the new world are all steeped in the fears and training of the older world military systems. Peace, honorable peace, should be the aim and desire of every country the world over. President Wilson's proclamation was wisely announced, carefully written and will further the great cause that must be championed by every thinking man in the community.

IF GERMANY SUCCEEDS IN MASTERING the European continent does anyone for a moment suppose that it will respect the barriers of an ocean or the distance to the American shores? Will a nation that has no honor for neutrality and no consistent respect for treaties ("scraps of paper"), have any respect for the Munroe Doctrine that America has flaunted in the face of the world for a century. America's cause is being fought out on European soil by the allies.

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY was not slow in finding the holes in the armour of the democratic machine. The economic argument still reigns supreme in politics and domestic affairs.

THE LAND OF PEACE AND HAPPINESS never seemed more blessed to this nation than during the months just past. To enjoy this peace and be grateful is not national phariseism. The Master of Men has forever rebuked such a spirit by his story of a Publican and a Pharisee. Being thankful for national peace and being grateful that this nation is not at war like other nations is not condemnable. No nation regrets the horror and exploitation of human life and industry in Europe more than America. The European War and its suffering cannot be blotted out or forgotten. In these days the nation can be inspired with sympathy for the suffering nations across the sea and yet be grateful for the blessings of liberty which have been assured to it. Well did Washington warn the young republic of making entangling alliances with the old world. America has had no martial arrangements with any of the warring nations. If a war entente existed with any of the nations at war this land of ours would also have been involved. With a Mexican difficulty to the south and unrest in South America the result would have been a world war of proportions even greater than the present conflict. America may well be grateful.

THE NEW HAVEN RAILROAD under the direction of Mr. Elliott is facing its problem with optimism and efficiency. It will take time to solve the great New England transportation problem, but it will be done. The serious business depression that inevitably followed the opening of the European contest has not helped matters. But New England's prosperity is assured by the genius and working ability of its people. The prosperity of New England means prosperity to its railroads. The prosperity of its railroads has a reflex action upon the business of the district its branches serve. The business interests of the New Haven and of New England cannot be divorced. Progress has been made already and before many years have gone by the New Haven and the Boston & Maine will have come into their own. Meanwhile this struggle across the seas has had a tendency to divert the muck-raking news mongers from their vicious attacks upon American enterprises to the discussion of the war and its many ramifications.

THE CITY OF BEVERLY IS CONGRATULATING ITSELF this year upon a low tax rate. The city holds the record low tax rate for cities in Massachusetts. This new record is due in no small measure to the careful work of the assessors. The administration under the direction of Mayor MacDonald has endeavored and succeeded in maintaining a low tax rate and an efficient maintenance of city affairs. When the election day comes round the voters of Beverly ought to remember the low tax bill.

THERE WILL BE A CHANGE OF POLICY in the ranks and interests of the republican party toward the progressive party. The olive branch of peace has been hung out. Will the progressives seize the advantage of working out their program within the ranks of a party that has a chance to win. If the progressives and the republicans will but unite success will be inevitable.

THE ABILITY OF MCCALL IS ACKNOWLEDGED and every day that goes by adds to the powers of his candidacy. The republican party has made no mistake in its gubernatorial nomination. A strong man with a clean record is the available and true slogan.

WHO WILL WIN THE PENNANT appears to be as great an issue in the world of sports as the issue of the war in Europe?

LET US DECIDE THIS QUESTION ON ITS MERITS

Editor North Shore Breeze:

In a recent issue of your paper reference is made to the Republican Representative contest in the 21st Essex District. Among other things you stated that under an agreement entered into some years ago among the Chairmen of the Ward and Town Committees of the District, that this year the Representative should be chosen from Ward 5. It may be well at the outset to remark that but for the so-called waiver of Ward 5 (and the people are curious to know who made the waiver), Ward 5 would have had it in 1914; but someone or some few presuming to speak for the electorate generously waived the agreement and declared for your estimable townsman, Patrick Boyle. It is also significant that the loudest noise and the most persistent clamor for adherence to the agreement is made by the devotees of one of the candidates who is one of the signers of the agreement. The people would like to know in these days of popular sovereignty who the men are that have authority to make and unmake Representatives to the General Court, to make, alter, repeal and waive agreements binding on the people of the 21st. Essex District. If such an agreement ever had any binding force, was it not very wisely broken in the selection of the very able and conscientious Boyle? If such an agreement was binding on the people of this District would we have had the benefit of the services of Mr. Boyle for a second term? Clearly not. The people are concerned in the election of a man who by experience and knowledge can do most for his District, who is familiarly acquainted with its needs, and I yield to none in my activity and attention to the requirements of the District.

There has been revolt in the Republican ranks because attempts have been made to force machine-made candidates on the people, causing a division in our party and consequent deserved defeat. Shall we repeat the experiment after so disastrous a result to the party. My opponents are candidates for election. It was their evident intention to run independently (from statements made before the result of the caucus was known). But for their avowed declarations to run thus I would have contested the count for the nomination before another tribunal, but by their previously known attitude I have saved the State and myself time and expense in not asking for a review of the count.

Our district is in need of important legislation; attention in the matter of crying improvements; the lowering of the State and County taxes. If chosen I shall dedicate myself to their fulfilment and the 21st. Essex District will get what she has had and has a right to expect, namely experience, acquaintance, energetic and undivided attention to the necessities of the District.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE NOTES

North Shore Suffragists, and other neighbors, will be interested to know that at the great Suffrage Bazaar to be held in Boston on November 23 and 24, half of the proceeds are to go to Red Cross for European relief work. This means a great sacrifice for Suffrage work in Massachusetts, but is cheerfully made at this time, by unanimous vote of the Ways and Means Committee and the Executive Board. At the Bazaar Committee meeting in Boston, on Wednesday, Miss Grace Monks was present as a messenger from Miss Loring, (of the Mass. Red Cross), who sent her warm thanks and appreciation to the Suffragists. Miss Loring is herself in favor of Equal Suffrage and so is Miss Monks. If the Bazaar is as successful as last year's the Mass Red Cross will gain several thousand dollars thereby.

There is to be a North Shore Table, which will include the Lynn, Salem and Marblehead Leagues, and we hope that Manchester and Beverly will also contribute to this table. Gloucester is to have a separate table, with a special, characteristic Gloucester feature (still a secret!) Mrs. H. E. Russell is to have the flower table, Miss Stanwood, with her Writer's League is to have the book-stall, and other North Shore women specially interested in the Bazaar are Mrs. H. P. McKean, Mrs. Louis Shaw, Mrs. Fred Dumaine, etc.

The Manchester League reports that Mrs. W. S. Pinkham, of Colorado, has been secured to speak in Manchester Town Hall on the conditions in Colorado and Massachusetts, on October 21. There will probably be a Peace speaker on the same occasion.

Miss Stanwood, pres. of the Manchester League, says, "I am told that while I was away in New Hampshire there appeared in the Breeze some more of Mrs. White's extraordinary reports of Equal Suffrage "failures," etc., in the West,—and I am asked to answer them. I reply that Miss Jane Addams has already more than answered them at the recent meeting in Boston, and I add—come and hear Mrs. Pinkham in Manchester!—Meanwhile, there is in the current Harper's Weekly an interesting and accurate account of the recent primaries elections in California, where the women fully vindicated themselves. Please read it. I confess that I find the golden autumn days on the Shore too precious to spend in answering all the inaccurate reports of the Antis."

MANCHESTER WOMAN'S CLUB

FIRST MEETING OF THE 1914-'15 SEASON HELD TUESDAY

The Manchester Woman's club held first meeting of the season at the Congregational chapel Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Grace K. Beaton, as president, delivered a short address of welcome to the visiting presidents, to the new members and to the old members. A very large attendance was present.

Miss Vera M. Kitfield, the recording secretary, read a report of the special meeting, which was held July 6, at the chapel in response to an appeal from Mrs. Perkins, the state president of the Federation of Women's clubs, for aid in behalf of the Salem fire sufferers. At that meeting it was voted that the Club contribute $100 toward the relief fund and a relief committee was appointed to do what was possible to help the Salem Relief committee. Following is the committee: Miss Ellen Clarke, chairman; Mrs. Annie Sinnicks, Mrs. Martha Chute, Mrs. Flora Hersey and Mrs. Lillian Prince.

As Miss Clark was not able to be present Tuesday afternoon, she delegated Mrs. Chute to read the report of the committee's work during the summer. The first work, which was done, was the making of 100 "comfort" or sewing bags for the Salem women who had lost their's with their more valuable things. In view of the fact that the club had already given $100 the committee realized that this work must be done without financial aid from the club so a letter was sent to prominent merchants in the vicinity telling them of the committee's plans and asking that contributions be donated for the good work. Most generous contributions were received from the following firms: H. M. Bixby Co., Salem; C. F. Hovey & Co., R. H. Stearns & Co., Dame Stoddard & Co., Brown, Durrell & Co., Jordan-Marsh, and Gilchrist Company, all of Boston; Belding Silk Co., Northampton; Corticelli Silk Co., Florence; A. Heminway & Son, New York; J. B. Williams Co., Glastonbury, Ct., and the Salem Gas Co., of Salem. It was decided to make the work of the comfort bags a representative Manchester affair and, in accordance with this idea, the presidents of all the organizations in town were invited to meet the committee and to join in the work with the understanding that the material should be furnished by the Woman's club committee, and that the bags turned in by each president of an organization should be given to the same society in Salem. As a result of this co-operation 112 sewing bags each fitted with 2 spools of cotton, 2 spools of black silk, a box of waste silk, needles, pins, tape, tape-needle, scissors, linen thread, etc., were made and distributed. The minimum value of each bag when completed was $1.50, so the committee was able to report an additional $160 contributed by Manchester women. The following societies assisted in the work: The Congregational Missionary Society (Mrs. J. F. Rabardy, president) 5 bags; the Congregational Social Circle (Mrs. Emma Stanley, president), 8 bags; the Manchester Ladies' Division of the Ancient Order of Hibernians (Mrs. John Connors, president) 17 bags; the Baptist Missionary Society (Mrs. Mabel Wilmonton, president) 6 bags; the King's Daughters (Mrs. Edward Crowell, president) 6 bags; the Women's Relief Corps (Miss Mary Morgan, president) 5 bags; The Parent-Teacher Association (Mrs. Seddie Follett, president) 5 bags; the Arbella club (Miss Fannie Knight, president) 30 button bags. To a few specially destitute women of the disaster extra gifts of sofa pillows, puffs, etc., and the generous donations of the members of the committee and of the club were too numerous for mention here. A few typical letters from the recipients of the gifts showed how greatly the time and labor put into the making of them, particularly of the comfort bags, were appreciated. To Mrs. J. W. Marshall, Central street, belongs the credit for having inspired the committee with the splendid idea and to Mrs. Martha Chute for putting it into execution.

The president then made mention of the Domestic Science and Food Exposition at Mechanics Hall, Boston, which is being held this month, and read a letter from Mrs. Percy V. Pennypacker, the National President of the General Federation of Women's clubs, containing a plea for buying American made goods during the struggle in Europe and for encouraging in every possible way the American artists, designers, manufacturers and workmen, who have thus had this great opportunity thrust upon them.

Miss Porter, accompanied by the Rev. Mr. Hatch as pianist, rendered a very beautiful violin solo, the "Meditation" from "Thais."

The speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. J. Harry Poole of Brockton, who gave a fine address on "The Work and Play of Club Life." Under the work of club life, Mrs. Poole dealt largely with the Biennial Conference of the General Federation of Women's clubs at Chicago in June. She spoke briefly of the various resolutions passed at that conference. Prominent among these were resolutions endorsing civil service appointments condemning questionable stories which have appeared recently in our monthly magazines, condemning the extreme new dances, but commending the graceful modern dances and condemning extreme dressing among women; recommending that the Children's Federal Bureau at Washington publish in the simplest possible language pamphlets on sex hygiene; encouraging universal peace. Of special importance was the resolution which was passed on suffrage, concerning which there has been so much discussion. For this reason Mrs. Poole gave the resolution verbatim and it was as follows:

"WHEREAS: The question of the political equality of men and women is today a vital problem under discussion throughout the civilized world, therefore,

RESOLVED: That the General Federation of Women's clubs gives the cause of political equality for men and women its moral support by recording its earnest belief in the principles of political equality regardless of sex." The enthusiasm for suffrage was in the air owing partly, no doubt, to the fact that Illinois had just granted municipal suffrage to its women, and the passing of the resolution was inevitable although it was not unanimous.

Mrs. Poole gave some interesting examples of the splendid addresses by such speakers as Jane Addams, Ella Flagg Young and Mrs. Pennypacker. The latter is a strong believer in the absolute necessity of a young element on the women's clubs and she had six young girls address the conference upon the needs of women's clubs and the things they might accomplish. Mrs. Perkins, Massachusetts president of the Federation, spoke very strongly upon the need of an endowment fund in Massachusetts and upon the likelihood of the movement being much agitated in the next two years.

In suggesting work that might be done for the betterment of local conditions, Mrs. Poole spoke of the free art exhibition which the Brockton Woman's club holds for one week each year at an expense of about $200. The club also buys for the city one good painting each year. Other suggestions included the opening of the school-houses for community uses, censorship of moving picture theatres, improvements in the bakeries and markets and the advisability of opening the public library Sundays.

Mrs. Poole dwelt upon the second part of her address more briefly and divided the plan of club life into three parts: The constant attendance, the finding of something good in each meeting, and sociability, the latter, perhaps, the most important of the three.

The speaker's address was very well received and she was presented with a bouquet of roses.

Afternoon tea was served by the directors of the club, following the address. The vice-presidents, Mrs. Annie H. Knight and Mrs. Carrie L. Knight poured.

The next meeting of the club will be held at the Chapel, October 20, and will be a musical afternoon in charge of the music committee of which Mrs. Edith Williams is the chairman. Mrs. Robert T. Glendenning is to be the hostess.

The forest fire wardens have had some difficult woods fires to fight the last fortnight. Last week a serious fire started in the section off the railroad and in the vicinity of Brownlands at Old Neck. It took 24 hours for Warden Peter A. Sheahan and his crew to get it under control. Another big fire in the woods back of Manchester kept up two days this week. The woods are so dry that a fire once started gains tremendous headway in short time.

Manchester school girls are doing their part for the Red Cross work in helping the unfortunates in the European war. The sewing classes of the higher grades under the direction of Mrs. Ketchum, the instructor, are making articles for the wounded soldiers in hospitals, such as night gowns, and later on, perhaps, bed-socks and the like. The privilege was offered those pupils not having anything else they wanted to work on in their classes, and pretty nearly all the girls decided to take up this work. Mrs. Ketchum took up the matter with the Boston committee, and while they were glad to have the work done they were not in a position to furnish the materials. Miss Loring of the Essex County branch of the Red Cross work, as soon as she learned of the offer of the Manchester girls, promptly shipped 50 yards of cloth with assurance that as much as needed would be supplied. And so the Manchester school girls are busily engaged doing their part toward the distress incident to the great conflict.

MANCHESTER BROTHERHOOD

CONGRESSMAN GARDNER THE SPEAKER
—LARGE ATTENDANCE

Congressman A. P. Gardner of Hamilton was the speaker before the Manchester Brotherhood last Monday evening in the Vestry of the Baptist church, which fact was responsible for the record attendance, there being 184 present on that occasion.

Mr. Gardner's subject was, in a general way, relative to the European situation. It is evident that he was of the opinion that the German empire was the fundamental cause of the war. He read an extract from reminiscences of Bismarck, and in his belief, the present crisis in Europe is no more than a duplicate of the situation at that time.

He also spoke of the assistance rendered by the American embassy in England in the disbursement of funds and information in regard to the location of Americans abroad. As an employee of the U. S. government he was one of the foremost in serving the people of this nation, and the way in which this was done, was perhaps one of the most interesting parts of his talk. He also related his experience in a trip he was obliged to make in to France, and the description he gave was a good example of the difficulties which many Americans abroad were obliged to tolerate at the time the war broke out.

Mr. Gardner said that while he respected the attitude of this nation regarding neutrality he could hardly restrain himself from expressing his views of the causes of this war and the attitude of the German empire. He suggested that he might make a statement when he returned to Washington in the fall.

SUMMER ST.

MAGNOLIA

The Men's club closed for the season last Saturday, the third of the month. The season here has been quite successful considering the dullness which has prevailed all along the Shore this summer and much of the credit of this is due to the untiring efforts of the Rev. F. J. Libby of Exeter, who has been manager this season, and of Frederick Dunbar, assistant manager.

The Women's club has been closed since the first of the month. The club is to lose Mrs. Harry Foster, who has been matron since the opening of the club eight years ago. Mrs. Foster has been the back-bone of the club in all those years and will be sorely missed by the girls and women who come to Magnolia in the summer to work and who have found the Women's club a home under her management. Her entertainments have been of the jolliest sort and all the members have always entered into the spirit of them.

Mrs. Caroline Butler returned to her cottage on Summer street Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schmidt and family of Washington, had the cottage during the summer season.

Mrs. Abbie Story, who has been spending a fortnight with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Foster of Winchester, returned Tuesday.

The Congregational Sunday School opened for the winter months last Sunday. Classes begin at noon each Sunday.

Gilbert Crispin spent Sunday in Boston visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Smith and daughter, Miss Gertrude Smith, have returned to Boston for the winter. They closed their Raymond street cottage Sunday.

Mrs. D. C. Ballou spent Tuesday with friends in Boston.

Mrs. Fanny Reese passed away at her home at 126 Magnolia avenue, Thursday, October 1, after an illness of about six weeks, at the age of 73 years. Funeral services were held Saturday morning, October 3, at 9 o'clock, with requiem high mass, Father Keenan officiating. Burial was at Gloucester. Mrs. Reese had made her home here for about seventeen years and leaves a large circle of friends to mourn her loss. One son, Thomas Reese, who is employed at the McMillan estate, survives her.

WILLIAM HODGE AT WILBUR

William Hodge is in the fifth week of his big success at the Wilbur Theatre, Boston, where "The Road to Happiness" is being traveled every night by a host of playgoers, who find that the play sends them away feeling better and life looking brighter. The Wednesday matinee is a popular one and on Monday, October 12, there will be a special Columbus Day matinee.

Some of the sentiments expressed by Jim Whitman, village youth and optimist, the new character impersonated by Hodge in this piece, bear the same element of homely thought as did the sayings of Daniel Voorhees Pike, the role Mr. Hodge made famous in "The Man from Home."

"You can't fight trouble with tears; tears help trouble as water helps flowers," says Jim. "The only way to whip trouble is to smile at it, and if you can't sing, whistle. If you weep your heart aches, and if you smile it dances."

MANCHESTER WINS SERIES

OUT-PLAYED K. O. K. A. IN FINAL GAME OF SERIES LAST SATURDAY

There can be no doubt in the minds of baseball fans hereabouts as to the standing of the Manchester baseball team this year. Since early July the team has made steady progress and has rolled up game after game toward its claim now of being champions of the North Shore.

With one or two exceptions the line-up of the team has been the same all season. The game last Saturday, the final game of the series with the Knights of King Arthur of Gloucester, showed the team in brilliant form, and there can be no question but that the team was superior in every way to the visitors. Even with "Brick" McInnis and Perkins of Gloucester, who have been playing every day the past season, to give them added strength, the Knights were unable to put Grover and his strong supporters down to defeat. Only one inning did the visitors connect with Grover,—in the fourth, when they pushed in four of their five runs. There was some question as to that inning. Grover and Collins changed signals immediately after and, unusual as it may seem, after so much smashing in that one inning, there was nothing doing from then on. Grover was tight as a drum and ended the game as he usually does, by striking out the last man up.

Bond lead the field of batters on both teams. He smashed the ball for safe hits four of the five times up, and one of these times for two bases. His fielding, too, was a feature of the game. He picked off one fly that was something long to be remembered by those who saw it. Gott and Gray also made some timely hits. Gray made a great hit with the fans when he smashed out a beauty in the second inning and scored two runs.

A touch of excitement was added to the game when some of the players got mixed up in the second inning. The police rushed onto the field to separate them and it looked for a while as though the crowd was to mix in. The police, knowing the spirit of the Gloucesterites and the way they acted the week before at Webster's Field, was on the alert and prepared to quell any trouble that might start. They were wise in acting quickly as they did.

Last Saturday's game will probably end the Manchester baseball season. Mgo.y ozpruguuhr f m2fis se(iguuu It was hoped a game could be arranged for tomorrow with the Maples of Salem or the U. S. M. C. nine, but these teams have broken up for the season. The summary:

GRAND OPERA

The enthusiastic reception accorded the opening of the grand opera season at the Boston Theatre last Monday evening by both press and public dispelled every element of skepticism that may have been entertained by those who questioned that high class grand opera could be produced at a popular scale. Never in the history of the historic Boston Theatre did a more brilliant gathering of opera lovers display such profound enthusiasm. From the rise to the drop of the curtain the performance was frequently interrupted by enthusiastic applause. Long before the end of the performance it was evident that the opera season which is scheduled for a period of twelve weeks will prove highly successful both artistically and financially. Manager Leahy chose Verdi's "Aida" as the opening bill to introduce the strength of his admirable company. That his selection was wise and praiseworthy was evident by the remarkable performance given. To quote Mr. Olin Downes, the celebrated musical critic of the Boston Post, "Aida" was conducted with authority and spirit and adequately represented in the solo parts. The most dramatic moment of the first scene of the first act, the moment which relieved the frigidity and suspense of an opening in an American opera house was the appearance of the Messenger. We do not remember to have heard his lines delivered with more authority and dramatic emotion. The chorus and orchestra chosen from these departments of the Boston Opera Company, lived up to their reputation. It may also be said that members of the ballet of the same institution danced with rather unprecedented grace and liveliness. There was real operatic enthusiasm, such as has been seldom observed of late here."

An excellent repertoire has been arranged for next week. There will be a special matinee on Monday, Columbus Day, Oct. 12, when that supreme favorite "Trovatore" will be sung with Kathryn Lynbrook as Leonora, Blanche Hamilton Fox as Azucena, Luigi Mainiero as Manrico and Pietro Gallazzi as Count di Luna. On Monday evening "Otello" will be offered with Mmes. Kristoffy and Renis and the MM. Corradetti, Tric-

AS TO ONE OF THE K. O. STARS

The official batting and fielding averages of the Tristate league (Southern) have been given out and "Brick" McInnis in 98 games batted for .298, only two points below the coveted .300 class. In 98 games he was 376 times at bat, scored 45 runs and made 112 safe hits. He is also credited with six sacrifice hits, and 14 stolen bases. He fielded his position in good style, standing fourth among the regular first basemen of the league with an average of .981.

He was third in number of put-outs and assists, the others having taken part in more games. He made 873 put outs, 55 assists and 18 errors in the season's play. "Brick" was out of the game for two weeks in August on account of illness, otherwise he would probably have been in the .300 class in batting. However, the .298 mark is one not to be despised, for two more hits out of four times up would have given him a .300 average. He stood 20th in the batting list which included all over 25 games.

SOCIETY NOTES

His Excellency Dr. Constantine Dumba, Austro-Hungarian Ambassador to this country, will conclude his season's stay at Manchester the last of next week and the embassy will be removed to Washington on the twenty-fourth of October. The embassy's stay on the North Shore has been a little longer than usually, one reason for this being the lateness of Madame Dumba's return from Austria. She is coming over on a Dutch liner and ordinarily would have reached here by now, but it is thought the ship will reach New York about the twenty-fourth. She has been spending the spring and summer in Vienna and at the Dumba country estate outside of Vienna, whither the Ambassador intended to go after establishing his staff in Manchester for the summer. The outbreak of the war, however, caused a very sudden change in the plans and he has remained here all summer. Baron von Suderhorst Zwiedinek and family, who have had the Brown cottage, on School st., Manchester, will leave for Washington the last of October.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Culbertson, of Louisville, Ky., who have been at their Manchester Cove estate all summer, closed their cottage Monday.

Miss Fanny Faulkner closed her Magnolia cottage last week, returning to her town house, Boston, for the winter season.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Hall McAllister and her daughter, Miss Louise McAllister have returned to Boston for the winter. They have been with Mrs. Boylston A. Beal at Manchester since July.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Gannett will have the Beacon street house of the Draper family (Mrs. Gannett was Dorothy Draper) at 150 Beacon street this winter. They will not go to Boston until late in the month, however, as they want to note the progress which is being made on their new cottage on Blossom Lane, started some weeks ago.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. H. J. McGowan, who with her daughters has had the Tenney cottage at Manchester Cove this season, returned to Indianapolis last week.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. S. Reed Anthony of the Beverly Farms colony will move to Boston for the winter the latter part of the month. She will occupy the James Lowell Putnam house on Beacon street instead of her own Commonwealth avenue home this year. Mrs. Anthony has been among the first to subscribe to the Saturday morning lectures at Ford hall, which will open October 24.

SOCIETY NOTES

Miss Mabel T. Boardman has sent her congratulations to the Red Cross Benefit Committee for the success of the benefit and sale at Mrs. R. S. Bradley's, Pride's Crossing, last week. Her letter is as follows: "Congratulations to Red Cross Benefit Committee for great success, and many grateful Red Cross thanks to all who aided. There will be many thanks also, even if you do not hear them, from those whose pain and suffering you have lessened.—Mabel T. Boardman, Washington." It is gratifying to learn that the receipts from the sale last week have now grown to $3,400.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison K. Caner returned last Saturday from a week's motor trip to the Berkshires. They are to keep their cottage at Manchester open until the first of November—later than usual. Two of their sons are in Harvard, which is responsible in a measure for their lateness in returning to Philadelphia for the winter.

◆ ◆ ◆

The Misses Amy and Clara Curtis have closed their cottage at Manchester Cove and sailed yesterday from New York to spend the winter abroad, as usual.

The Charles W. Wards, who are settled at their town residence, 67 Colchester st., Brookline, after a summer in New Hampshire, have been spending week-ends at their Manchester cottage all the autumn.

◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. George Dudley Howe closed her North Shore establishment at Smith's Point, Manchester, yesterday and returned to her Boston home at 265 Commonwealth avenue. Her sister-in-law, Mrs. James Howe, who has been with her during the latter part of the season, returned to Boston with her.

North Shore people will be interested to know of the engagement of Miss Edith Norman Hunter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Hunter and Louis Lorillard, both of Newport, which was recently announced at the home of the latter's uncle, Senator R. L. Beeckman, at Newport. Miss Hunter is a season's debutante attractive and much sought after. Mrs. Frederick H. Prince of the Hamilton summer colony is her aunt. Mr. Lorillard is a Yale man and a member of several prominent yachting clubs. He is at present at Geneva with his mother, who is ill.

Saturday, November 14, has been the date settled upon for the wedding of Miss Mary Lawrence and Stephen W. Sabine. Miss Lawrence is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lawrence of Groton and Nahant, where they have a charming place on Nahant Road.

Only thoroughly trained competent servants (male or female) supplied. References personally and carefully investigated. .. ..

Among the many North Shore matrons who are giving freely of their time and interest to the Red Cross work in aid of the European soldiers none is more energetic than Mrs. John Hays Hammond, who has inaugurated a number of "sewing bees" where garments are made. The "bees" are being held at the beautiful Hammond estate at Lookout Hill, West Gloucester.

HOW TO LIVE 100 YEARS

Is the Name of a New Book

Eugene Christian, F. S. D., the world's greatest Food Scientist, has just published a new book called "How to Live 100 Years."

This book tells you what to eat according to your age, your work and the time of the year. It teaches you how to select, how to combine and how to proportion your food at meals so as to establish perfect digestion and assimilation of food and perfect elimination of waste. In other words, it teaches you how to cure all stomach and intestinal disorders by removing their causes, which is wrong eating.

If you have indigestion, gas, fermentation, sour stomach or any such disorders after a meal, this book tells you how to put the remedy on your table at the next meal.

Dr. Christian shows that all animals except man live about eight times as long as it takes them to get their growth. If man should do this he would live nearly 200 years, but civilized man dies at the average age of 39. He begins to lose his teeth, his eyes and his hair, and drops into his grave only a few years after he is grown.

Dr. Christian shows that 22 per cent. of all the human beings born into the world die before they are one year old. 25 per cent. more die before their fifth birthday, and more than half of the human race die before they are twenty-five.

All other animals on the globe live eight times as long as it takes them to get their growth. Man breathes the same air, drinks the same water, lives under the same sunshine, but differs from his brother animals only in his eating, therefore Dr. Christian shows conclusively that this appalling discrepancy must be on account of his eating habits and he has proved that his theory is true by curing over 23,000 people within the past ten years by teaching them what to eat and

EQUAL SUFFRAGE

The Manchester Equal Suffrage League held its annual meeting on Wednesday evening, Oct. 14, at Mrs. Leach's Tea Room. After barely one year of life, the League was found to be in a strong and healthy condition, with many plans for the immediate future.

The following officers were elected: —President, Miss Louie R. Stanwood; vice-presidents, Mrs. Flora Hersey and Mrs. Otis M. Stanley; secretary, Mrs. George Silva; treasurer, Miss Etta Rabardy; librarian, Mrs. Wm. J. Johnson. A vote of thanks was passed to Miss Florence Leach, the retiring secretary, who will probably be in Boston this winter.

Miss Stanwood reported that a Suffrage League is just starting in Beverly, which will complete the chain of leagues along this shore.

Jane Addams' new book and other Suffrage literature may be obtained from Mrs. W. J. Johnson.

The Manchester league announces a public meeting in the Town hall on the evening of Wednesday, October 28, (not 21) at which there will be a Suffrage speaker (Mrs. Pinkham of Colorado) and a Peace speaker also. Full announcements will be made in next week's paper. It was voted that the collection at the Town hall meeting should be for Belgian relief and not for Suffrage work.

This book does not disarrange or upset the family table. It teaches the housewife what foods the meal should be composed of, so as to make them chemically harmonious and perfectly digestible and healthy.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE NOTES

BY MRS. HENRY PRESTON WHITE.

Marvelous signs and omens of the success of the suffrage cause are coming out of Nebraska. Miss Jane Thompson, National Suffrage Organizer, has reported that victory is certain in her mind. Her confidence is based on the wonderful fact that the children in the state at the meetings ask for buttons. The significance of such a demonstration is hardly to be denied by mere facts or logic.

"The so-called suffrage sweep," said Mrs. A. T. Leatherbee of the Massachusetts Anti-Suffrage Association, when speaking at a recent meeting "has come about through the failure of the men to appreciate the significance of the question. The average man has had the feeling that it was ungallant to raise the issue with the women. Conditions are changing and the effect is being felt. The fact that the vote is only incidental is being driven home. As a result, in New Jersey both political parties at their state convention stopped short of endorsement; in Rhode Island a similar position was taken; and in Massachusetts the Republicans passed the issue entirely, while the Democrats contended themselves with the plank of last year."

The suffragist city treasurer of Leadville, Colorado, has been found to be short in her accounts, and has been dismissed. Votes for men!—Boston Transcript, October 2, 1914.

Massachusetts is a man-suffrage state, and Boston naturally a man-suffrage city.

According to suffrage speeches, everything should really be going to the bow-bows.

The Boston Board of Health has just announced, however, that the death rate of children under one year of age has fallen in Boston from 549 in July 1896 to 139 in July 1914.

Will suffrage advocates please notice.

LAUNCH CLUB ELECTS

Little Robert Gardner, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Gardner of Magnolia avenue, was struck and seriously hurt by an automobile owned by H. W. The little boy, who was on his way to the post-office to mail a letter, was struck while walking on the sidewalk and rendered unconscious. The chauffeur, who is said to have been drinking, did not stop the machine, but continued to the Farnum summer home where he met Mrs. Anderson and started for

No. 42

IT IS REPORTED that Clarence Weiner of the Class of 1900, Harvard University, has added a codicil to his will by which Harvard becomes a beneficiary on condition that Professor Hugo P. Munsterberg be relieved from service at the University. It is evident that Mr. Weiner has taken strong objections to Mr. Munsterberg's attitude toward the European conflict. There is no doubt but what many minds have been deceived by his connections and have made false deductions as to the attitude of Harvard to the war. Any misapprehensions that have arisen have been set to rest by ex-President Eliot's vigorous denial of the righteousness of the German cause and his convincing defence of the Allies' martial retaliation. No one can resent Clarence Weiner's loyalty to his Alma Mater, as mistaken as he is in his way of showing his devotion. He sees Professor Munsterberg's defence and dislikes it, but the method in which his resentment takes form is not agreeable to the democratic spirit of the new world. Weiner is using money to shut off liberty of speech and democracy of spirit in an institution of learning. Harvard stands for Truth and the Truth cannot be bought. It cannot be muzzled by ten millions of dollars. To permit a money consideration to influence its spirit of personal freedom would be fatal and would harm Fair Harvard. Professor Munsterberg, from our point of view is in the wrong intellectually and ethically, but that does not permit anyone to brow-beat him into subjection, nor will it convince him of the real moral turpitude of the German government in this contest. It is evident that Weiner's views are those of most Americans, but he is committing a grave error in the step he has taken and has placed his Alma Mater in a compromising situation. He ought never to have made such a proposal to such an august body. The honorable thing for Mr. Weiner to do is make his will in favor of the University without the string. Professor Munsterberg's resignation, sent to President Lowell, Wednesday, probably will not be accepted by the corporation.

AT THE ANNUAL MEETING of the Improvement Society at the home of Mrs. Bradley the annual reports of the work done in Pride's and Beverly Farms were read. Among the many interests of the Beverly Farms people there is a place for the work of the society and the good work of the past year should be continued into the coming year.

THE EFFICIENT AND ECONOMICAL ADMINISTRATION of the City of Beverly under the direction of Mayor Herman A. MacDonald has been appreciated by the citizens of that city.

THE FALL OF ANTWERP is the final crushing blow to the Belgian Kingdom and affords Germany the commercial port it has so long desired. With one of the best harbors in the world and with lines of railroads radiating throughout all Europe, and with a way out to India through the Balkans the importance of the Suez Canal as an English possession is neutralized and Gibraltar no longer stands in the way of commercial progress to the Germans. If Antwerp can be held the Germans may well be content to forget that their plans against Paris have been frustrated. Professor Carver thinks that the war is won as Antwerp falls. If the Allies can be held where they are or even at the next long line of retreat Antwerp and the sea will be held and Germany will have a front on the west coast of Europe. But the war is not yet ended. If the Allies fight out their battles on the continent and win it is unreasonable to suppose that Antwerp will be ceded by a victorious nation to Germany in the stipulations for peace. The fall of Antwerp is a serious loss to Belgium, it is disconcerting to the Allies as an armed force and is a menace to England. The war is not over, peace has not yet been declared. The fall of Antwerp threatens Holland, crushes Belgium, startles England, but it will arouse the world again to the seriousness of the European situation.

THE AUTUMN FOLIAGE is now in all its beauty, but walks in the woods are dangerous because of the open season on hunting. Pleasure seeking pedestrians in Beverly Farms and Manchester have been alarmed by the sound of fire arms and the whistling of bullets through the trees. Last year a resident was injured by a spent bullet, although no serious harm resulted. Owners of fire arms should beware of these dangers. Those holding licenses to use fire arms must be careful and the police are taking extra precautions against arms fired by persons not holding a license.

BY THE DEATH OF GARDINER M. LANE Massachusetts has lost a good citizen of broad public spirit and sterling honesty. His faithful work for the many enterprises of the Red Cross society has made his name familiar throughout the length and breadth of the land. In peace they have laid him away. His going is a loss to his family, the business world in which he moved, and to the public whom he so generously served. The world has been the richer for his life in it.

THE ITALIANS OF BEVERLY AND BOSTON celebrated Columbus Day with devotion and some success, but the public in general had very little emotional feeling for the celebration of the day other than to seize an opportunity to gain a fall holiday. The business enterprises in Massachusetts were closed for the day and all the workers sought a holiday in the open air. It is quite evident that the need of a holiday in October was father to the thought of observing Columbus Day as a holiday.

THE ABANDONMENT OF THE MOTOR, as a means of recuperating the national treasury is just. Already the motorist is taxed and over-taxed. He is taxed for owning it, taxed for washing it, taxed for running it and the government was to tax him for buying or selling it.

CAN ANYONE ESTIMATE the future of war if Turpinite, the deadly shells that break and petrify in place every living thing within four hundred yards, can be placed in the hands of armed forces?

THE BRAVES WIN, Football has the field.

ONE OF OUR NORTH SHORE RESIDENTS makes an informal appeal in a letter to the Breeze for the protection of our woodlands, as follows: "We were in Manchester for this last fine week-end, admiring the foliage, but—may we be spared forest fires!!! From the Farms to Boston the air was full of smoke as we motored back. The last autumn drouth we had, we chanced to be in New Hampshire, and all shooting and campfire privileges were suspended till after a good rainfall. I understood today that Governor Walsh was being asked to do the same."

ANTWERP FALLS, but two months later than planned. Those two months have been disastrous to the Germans.

THE ELEVENTH WEEK of fire, fight and fusilades! Horrors do not cease.

Do You KNOW how to pronounce Przemysl?

EVERY ADVANTAGE THAT WE ENJOY in this world is offset by disadvantages. Often these disadvantages neutralize the gains made by the advantages. The unparalleled good weather since the first of September has been a blessing to many; but the grass and woodlands are suffering. Now the pleasant weather may become a drought and a rainy day is a great need. The dangers from woodland fires are great. In Lynn and Lynnfield the citizens had a baptism of fire in the forests on Columbus Day. Governor Walsh has issued a proclamation warning campers and woodsmen against the building of fires in the open air, and also against hunting in the uplands.

THE PROGRESSIVES tried "to scoop" the Prohibs, but they declined to be "scooped."

"WHEN DRIVEN TO BAY the Bull Moose always takes to the water."

Manchester Public Library

THE work of re-organizing the Manchester Public Library is now finished. The card catalogue is complete up-to-date. The catalogue, including the shelf-list, contains 34,315 cards, 20,337 of which are printed cards purchased from the Library of Congress, the others have been typewritten. The cards from the Library of Congress have had the call number placed on each and the subjects have been written on in red ink with the typewriter. The number in red ink in the upper left hand corner of the card is the call number. It consists of the class number and the book number; the former indicates the class in the Dewey Decimal classification to which it belongs; the book number stands for the author's name. A circular has been issued describing the card catalogue and giving the ten main classes of the Dewey Decimal classification. These will be ready for distribution at the library in a few days.

Any one using the library now should be able to find the book he wants, if it is in the Library. In the card catalogue one can find all the books by one author and all the library has on any one subject. Each book is entered under both its author and subject as well as the title in the catalogue. If a book treats of more than one subject a card has been written for each subject.

The library has an excellent collection of bound periodicals. These contain a wonderful fund of information and can be readily consulted with the use of Poole's Index to Periodical Literature and Reader's Guide to Periodical Literature. The American Library Association has issued a similar work indexing books of essays called The A. L. A. Index to General Literature. The library has recently purchased this book with its supplemental volume. These books are a help in supplementing the card catalogue if one wishes to make a thorough study of any subject.

Several changes have been made in the arrangement of the library. The young people's books are all marked J and placed in one alcove. The white labels have been removed from the backs of the books and the numbers have been put on in white ink.

The numbers in fiction have been abandoned. These books are arranged on the shelves alphabetically by the authors and should be called or by author and title. The Young People's fiction is marked J and is arranged in the same way.

The people of Manchester have reason to be proud of their library, which is one of the largest collections for a town of its size. The library contains many books that thinking people enjoy reading and will continue to enjoy for many years to come. New books are purchased frequently and the library keeps abreast of the times.

—MARY P. FARR, Library Organizer.

THE MOST INTERESTING ENIGMA in the European situation is: What will Italy do? If she remains neutral will it be an advantage to her if the Allies win? If Germany wins will not that power endeavor to gain such an advantage as it would have tried to have gained if Italy had actually joined the Allies? Germany will never forgive Italy for not maintaining the Triple Alliance compact according to Germany's interpretation. Italy's future course and destiny is as interesting as that of any of the European nations.

There was a woman, (now she grieves,
Who tried preserving autumn leaves.

The finest leaves she sought and found,
She weighed the sugar, pound for pound,

She washed the leaves and boiled the syrup
And gave the stuff a faithful stir up.

But when the mess was cooled and tasted,
She vowed 'twas time and sugar wasted.

May lead, as thus, to curious capers,

And devotees of Art, sweet Art,

ARBELLA CLUB MEETS

The first meeting of the Arbella club this season was held at the Congregational chapel, Manchester, Tuesday afternoon with a large attendance present. The membership amounts to about 150 now.

The meeting was opened by Miss Fanny Knight, the new president, and the first number of the program was a piano solo by Miss Helen Knight, one of the Camp-Fire girls, who furnished the autumn foliage for a most effective decoration of the chapel. The members of the Camp-Fire girls, a comparatively new organization here, are Misses Helen Cheever, Madeline and Pauline Semons, Margaret O'Brien, Melissa Stanley, May Gray, Helen Knight, Helen Johnson, Katherine Northrup, Elsie McCormack, Nina Sinnicks and Annie Lane. The girls of this body attended in their uniforms and acted as ushers.

The members of the club, new and old, were welcomed and a brief sketch of the work and play of the coming year was given. There are to be sewing, cooking and gymnastic classes, for which a small fee will be charged.

Lemonade, sandwiches and crackers were served by the committee. The meeting was an enthusiastic one and the coming year promises to be prosperous for the club, which, though still in its infancy, has done so much for Manchester girls and young women.

"MY WINTER IN CALIFORNIA"

Harmony Guild met at the Congregational chapel, Manchester, Monday evening and was entertained by a most delightful talk by Miss Gertrude Goldsmith on "My Winter in California." Miss Goldsmith is an instructor in the Salem Normal School and is a pleasing speaker with a gift of vivid description, and her account of her winter at Berkeley, where she studied at the University of California, was full of interest. She also visited Pasadena, which impressed her as the most beautiful of the Californian cities, with Santa Barbara ranking second. At Pasadena is located the San Gabriel Mission where Romona is said to have been baptized. Four of the six bells in the cupola of this mission are left and are still in use and the original vestments of the Franciscan fathers may still be seen there. Pasadena is in the heart of the poinsettia region where the brilliant scarlet flowers grow in masses and to a great height.

The speaker was also impressed with the vineyards, the ostrich farm and the alligator farm of that district. Monterey, Miss Goldsmith pronounced the most interesting of the towns, both historically and intellectually. It is a hill town, picturesque in its neglect. The speaker spent a week in the wonderful Yosemite valley and gave splendid descriptions of the points of interest and of the famous beauty spots, such as Sierra Point, Nevada Falls, etc.

The Guild has decided to do some Red Cross work for the wounded soldiers of the European war in line with most of the other organizations around Boston. Sheets and pillow-cases are to be made.

ALEXANDER-HUTCHINSON

John Alexander and Miss Flora Hutchinson, both of Manchester, were united in marriage at the Congregational parsonage last Saturday evening, by Rev. Chas. A. Hatch. They will reside at 17 Brook st., Manchester.

William Penn, in his Charter of Rights, provided that for every five acres of forest cleared one acre should be left in woods. Foresters today maintain that on an average one-fifth of every farm should be in timber.

ADDIE M. TARR.

Many Magnolia people will be grieved to hear of the death of Mrs. Addie M. Tarr, for many years a Magnolia woman, at Sheridan, Wyoming. Death occurred Monday at the Sheridan General hospital and was caused by blood poisoning. Mrs. Tarr was in many ways a remarkable woman and she leaves scores of friends in Magnolia and Gloucester, who loved and respected her for her ability and courage. She was born in Gloucester 50 years ago last month, the daughter of John and Julia Knight, and was educated at the Gloucester schools, graduating from the High school there at the age of sixteen. She was the valedictorian of her class. She attended the Salem Normal school and after teaching a few years in a girls' reformatory took an advanced course at Salem. She married Captain Robert Tarr of Gloucester and they removed to Malden, where they made their home for a time, afterwards living at what is known locally as "Magnolia depot." One child, Mrs. Emmett Cain (Olive Tarr) survives her. After Captain Tarr died Mrs. Tarr and her daughter removed to Washington, D. C., where the former was employed at the census office. Eight years later they returned to Magnolia village to live, Mrs. Tarr teaching in the Salem schools and working for the temperance cause with which her father, John Knight, had been prominently identified. In 1910 Mrs. Tarr with her daughter returned to Washington and remained there until June, 1913, when she took a homestead at Gellette, Wyoming. The daughter was married to Emmet Cain soon after and went to Moorehead, Montana, to make her home. Mrs. Tarr received an appointment as teacher in the Gellette schools and held that position until the first of this month when she was taken ill and removed to Sheridan. The remains were brought to the East for burial and the funeral services will be held at the chapel here Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

FRANK G. SEVERANCE.

Frank G. Severance passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John J. Burke, 612 Western avenue, Magnolia, last Friday, October 9, at the age of 74. He is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Howard Todd of New London, Conn., and by a brother, who makes his home in Rhode Island. The deceased was born at Newport, N. H., August 27, 1840, but made his home at East Gloucester for a long period before coming to Magnolia to live about four years ago. Funeral services were held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Burke, Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock the Masonic burial service being used. Interment was in the family lot at East Gloucester.

GRAND OPERA

The Boston Theatre Opera Company has firmly established itself as a company of distinctly high class and one that can be compared with those of the leading opera houses in the world. This fact has been conclusively evidenced by their extraordinary work during the last two weeks. Never in the history of grand opera in music-loving Boston has an opera company been showered with more enthusiastic praise than the admirable company which Mr. Leahy has corralled for his season of grand opera at the Boston Theatre.

On Monday and Friday evenings "Un' Ballo in Maschera" will be the offering and music-lovers will be enabled to witness in the principal roles a major portion of the best artists of the company including the Mmes. Blanche Hamilton Fox, Miriam Ardini, Kathlyn Lynbrook and the MM. Giuseppe Tricario, Fenruccio Corradetti, Pietro di Biasi and Joseph Florian.

On Tuesday evening that ever popular double bill, "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "I Pagliacci" will be sung with the Mmes. Gentle and Sapin and the MM. Sacchetti and Gallazzi in the first named and the Mme. de Philippe and the MM. Picco, Opezzo and Giuliani in the last mentioned.

For Wednesday matinee "Rigoletto" is the selected opera with another attractive list of artists including the Mmes. Gentle and Ardini and the MM. di Crescenzo, Blanchart, di Biasi and Florian.

On Wednesday and Saturday evenings, Buccini's supreme triumph "La Boheme" will be sung with the Mmes. Johanna Kristoffy and Erminda Blanchart. The list of principal artists will introduce Guido Ciccolini as Rodolfo. This tenor has appeared in the leading opera houses of Europe and possesses a voice of rare quality and ability for clever acting. The other principals include M. Corradetti, Gallazzi, di Biasi and Corrucini.

For Thursday evening, "The Barber of Seville" with the Mmes. Ardini and Sapin and the MM. di Crescenzo, Corrucini, Picco and di Biasi will be sung.

On Saturday matinee, "Carmen" will be repeated with Alice Gentle in the title role. Miss Gentle's work in the principal role of Bizet's favorite composition has been compared with that of Calve and other notable prima donnas. The remainder of the principal roles will be entrusted to the MM. Sacchetti, Gallazzi, Giuliani and Florian.

The usual scale of popular prices, ranging from twenty-five cents to two dollars and a half will prevail. One of the features of the management during the season of grand opera is the strict attention paid to all mail orders. Out of town opera-goers may be assured that when orders with remittances are sent payable to the Boston Theatre they will receive prompt and accurate attention.

THE TELEPHONE GIRL

One of our exchanges most truthfully says that the telephone girl sits in her chair and listens to voices from everywhere. She knows who is happy and who has the blues she knows all our sorrows; she knows all our joys; she knows every girl who is chasing the boys; she knows of our troubles; she knows of our strife, she knows every man who is mean to his wife; she knows every time we are out with the boys she hears the excuses each fellow employs; in fact there's a secret 'neath each saucy curl of the quiet demure looking telephone girl. If the telephone girl would tell all she knows it would turn all our friends into bitterest foes, she would sow a small wind that would soon be a gale, engulf us in trouble and land us in jail; she would let go her story (which gaining in force) would cause half our wives to sue for divorce; she would get all our chuches mixed up in a fight and turn all our days into sorrow and night; in fact she would set all the town in a stew, if she told the tenth of the things that she knew. Now don't it set your head in a whirl when you think what you owe to the telephone girl?

HISTORIC HOMES OF N. E.

"Historic Homes of New England," by Mary H. Northend, is the latest publication by this well known North Shore woman. Colonial homes of New England have a never-waning fascination for those who appreciate the history of this country's early days, who delight in legends, and who are appreciative of the best in art and architecture.

With these homes are associated the names of most of the famous men of this period. In these houses they were born and married and lived out their sometimes tragic lives; in them they entertained their friends on a lavish scale; and not infrequently they converted the dwellings into hiding-places and fortresses, when times were troublous or war was waging. Their furniture was usually brought from over-seas, and in many of the mansions it still remains, carefully preserved and cherished, unsurpassed in beauty and creating an atmosphere of grace and dignity that modern houses all too often lack.

Of these old houses and the romantic episodes with which they are connected Miss Northend writes with sympathy and sure knowledge. She relates their history, describes their beauties of architecture and their significant characteristics, and tells of the wonderful old furnishings that many still retain. In fact, she re-peoples them with life of a bygone century.

A special word should be said of the illustrations, which are superb examples of the photographer's art, and could not have been obtained without unrestricted access to these famous houses and the treasures they contain. The combination of illuminating text and truly remarkable illustrations make this volume as beautiful a gift-book as one could desire.

Recent experiments indicate that round timbers of all the pines, of Englemann spruce, Douglas fir, tamarack, and western larch, can be readily treated with preservatives, but that the firs, hemlocks, redwood, and Sitka spruce, in the round, do not take treatment easily. This information should be of value to persons who contemplate preservative treatment of round posts, poles or mine props.

The King of England has given permission to have a part of the royal estate placed at the disposal of the school of forestry at Cambridge University for purposes of experiment and demonstration.

IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY

SPLENDID WORK REPORTED AT MEETING HELD WEDNESDAY

Interesting reports were given at the meeting of the executive committee of the Beverly Improvement society held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Robert Stowe Bradley, at Pride's Crossing, which was followed by a joint meeting with the Farms branch of the Improvement society and was brought to a close with a very delightful tea.

For the executive committee meeting Mrs. Bradley presided most happily, welcomed the members of the committee and spoke most encouragingly of the work of the Farms branch of the society.

Mrs. Howard A. Doane, chairman of the Ward 6 branch, presided at the joint session at four o'clock. Rev. Clarence Strong Pond, the treasurer of the Farms branch, reported that $60 had been expended for trees and with the other expenditures the society had $250 in its treasury, a fine showing.

Mrs. Franklin I. Preston gave a most interesting report as secretary of the Farms branch, in which she sketched the meetings of the year and the work accomplished. Through the efforts of Mrs. Bradley, Central Square was marked off with white lines as a protection to pedestrians and to regulate motor traffic. The Farms branch had the co-operation of the Beverly society in its campaign against the tent caterpillar. Farms boys destroyed 49,380 of these nests and the Beverly society paid them $49.35. The society paid for thirty-six trees on Haskell and Everett sts., the city furnishing the labor and through the kindness of George Cushing five large maple trees were added to the number set out.

In the way of street cleaning the rubbish barrels were painted and placed about the Farms, Mrs. Bradley made arrangements with two of the Connolly brothers and D. Linehan & Son whereby each contractor provided a man for the cleaning of the streets from Chapman's corner to the Manchester line, one day each week.

A committee was appointed to arrange for an entrance from the playground from Hale st., and it was finally decided to build a street directly from Hale street to Haskell street over the Bennett brook.

The society offered $50 to the West beach corporation provided the corporation appropriated a like amount for the improvement of the grounds about the pavilion but the acceptance has not as yet been noted.

Splendid work has been done in the way of sidewalk improvements and the $2,500 appropriation completed the curbing and sidewalks on Hale street from Pride's Crossing to the Pump cottage at the Farms, on Hart street to the cemetery, Haskell street from Hart to Everett and all of Everett street.

Several social affairs were held in connection with the work during the year and the twelve months have been notable in the history of the society.

A tea was served at the close of the meeting with Misses Frances and Rosamond Bradley, pouring.

BEVERLY HIGH OPENS NEW FIELD NOVEMBER 7.

It was announced Wednesday that the new Beverly High School athletic field will be opened on Nov. 7, and that Boston Latin School eleven would be the attraction. The grandstand is steel and concrete and seats almost 2,000 people. The field is one of the best schoolboy athletic fields in the country. It is estimated that the entire plant will cost $50,000. A big celebration is planned for the opening for there will be a parade followed by speeches and a band concert.

S. John Connolly of Beverly Farms is the chairman of the commission in charge of the improvements.

The officers of Andrew Standley camp, 117, S. of V., were installed last Friday evening at G. A. R. hall by Wm. E. Choate, Jr., district aid, of Camp 6, Beverly, assisted by members of Camp 104 of Saugus. The officers installed were: George F. Wood, commander, E. Fred Day, senior vice-com.; Wm. Marshall, junior vice-com. Following the official work a fine collation was served. Remarks were made by Mr. Choate, members of Preston Post 188, G. A. R., and visiting brothers from Camp 6 of Beverly and 104 of Saugus.

Thomas Lawlor has a position as chauffeur with S. W. Winslow, Jr., at North Beverly.

Dancing and other events seem to have come to a finish in Neighbor's hall for this season. The first affair in the hall this season took place on May 29th and nearly every week to date there has been at least one dance there. The attendance this season has not been as good as other years and one explanation for it seems reasonable—the new style of dances has attracted only a certain class. Others who could not or would not dance them have stayed away.

Mrs. McCarthy and children of Boston have moved to Beverly Farms and have taken up their residence with Richard Barrett on Haskell st.

After a season's vacation the Girls Club of the Beverly Farms Baptist church met last Tuesday evening, the meeting taking the form of a social and sale. The next meeting will be held on Tuesday evening, Oct. 27th, at which time the officers for the coming year will be elected.

Lawrence J. Watson, 2nd, is home from a three weeks business trip though New York State.

Although quite a number of new names have been added to the Ward 6 list this fall there is, however, a falling off of 14 from last year. The Ward 6 registration this year is 337, against 351 of a year ago.

The Beverly Farms football team, composed of former Beverly High school football players, who reside at the Farms, defeated the strong Cambridge Athletic club team Columbus day morning on the local playgrounds, by the score of 7 to 0. The game was featured by the clever work on the part of quarter-back Thomas Brady of the Farms team, whose experience as a member of the Beverly high team for two years enabled him to be of great assistance to the local team Monday. Sam McKinnon, who also played for the high school team last season, put up a strong game for the Farms aggregation his line plunging being one of the features of the game. Others who starred for the Farms team were, Penn and Hull, while Lavine, Poole and Benoit starred for the Cambridge boys.

Beverly Farms ball fans were much interested in the outcome of the World Series, the fans here being mostly Brave rooters. Many were fortunate to secure tickets for the games. Those who remained at home had the privilege of watching the black board score board at the depot, which Arthur Holland kept posted at the close of each inning.

WENHAM

At the village church Sunday the minister, Rev. F. M. Cutler, will preach on "Who is Satan?" Sunday school at noon. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6. There will be a preaching service at 7, theme, The parable of the drag-net.

The ladies' society will conduct a special supper at 6 p. m., Wednesday, followed by an entertainment at 7.30.

Sunday afternoon Henry Moulton, formerly well known in Wenham and recently a resident of Maine, was buried from the village church.

Charles Leach attended the "world's series" game Tuesday. Just forty-three years age he saw the same two teams play a championship game in Boston, when he was one of 13,000 spectators. He wonders whether any "fan" can excel his record, he having followed the Boston Nationals enthusiastically ever since the earlier date.

In Europe they shoot peasants, in Wenham only pheasants. This year an attempt seems to be making to equal European figures of total slain. Town-clerk Porter has issued forty-seven gunner's-licenses, as against twenty-four last year. All licensees are in the field this week.

Court action was taken in 29 instances in behalf of 67 children. Agents of the Society made 251 appearances in court during September. 12 parents were prosecuted for non-support and neglect of minor children and one adult was prosecuted for a chastity crime.

For the present we are selling the same high grade Gloves at the same prices as we did a year ago and we shall continue to do so as long as our present supply holds out (with the exception of our Regular Dollar Glove which we were obliged to advance to $1.15). When present stock is depleted and we have to make purchases we shall then be obliged to mark our Gloves according to then existing conditions. We do not wish to force our patrons to buy Gloves now, but we do feel we are not doing right unless we acquaint them with the actual conditions and suggest that it will be to their advantage to purchase one or two pairs at the old prices.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Mitchell are to spend the autumn at Manchester, but will go south for mid-winter, where they will have a house at Fernandina, Fla. The Andrew Carnegie, 2ds, are still in the Adirondacks, after spending part of the summer in Scotland. They will go to Fernandina, also, after a stay in New York. Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell will stop at Charlottesville, Va., for a visit on their way south with their son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw, 2d, who went to their farm, from Beverly Farms, last week. They have a most extensive place which will be given over to stock-raising.

◇ ❖ ◇

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Lowell Blake are planning to remain at Pride's Crossing until next Wednesday, when they will return to their Beacon street, Boston, house for the winter. They will come to their recently-purchased estate, "Malt Hill," Beverly Farms, when they return to the shore next season.

◇ ❖ ◇

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Taylor are planning to be at the Hotel Brunswick, Boston, this winter and they will move up from their Manchester estate about the first of November. They have spent the last three winters at Manchester, where their daughter, Miss Marcia Taylor, is a devotee of the out of door life. Their place, which they have named "The Craigs," will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. Stanwood and family, whose summer home is next to "The Craigs."

◇ ❖ ◇

The Russell S. Codmans are closing their house on Smith's Point, Manchester, the first of November and will move to their town apartments, 59 Marlborough street, Boston.

Chas. K. Cummings and Royal Robbins have decided to change the rig of the sloop Avenger, and the work will be done at Lawley's where the yacht is laid up. It is planned to replace the Avenger's original rig, which requires a longer mast and bowsprit. At present the sloop is a semi-knockabout.

◇ ❖ ◇

Mr. and Mrs. Francis W. Fabyan and family are among those remaining late on the Shore this season and their home at West Manchester is still open. The family will return to Boston the first of November.

◇ ❖ ◇

Mr. and Mrs. E. Charles Fitch (Ethel Tucker), who have the Gorman cottage at West Manchester have taken a house on Lime street, Boston, and will soon move into it. They will open their house at Manchester occasionally for week-ends.

SOCIETY NOTES

Gurnee and Ector Munn returned on the last trip of the Mauretania, on the 16th, and are with their mother, Mrs. Charles A. Munn at Manchester. Their brother, Charles A. Munn, Jr., and family, will return early in November, after several months in Scotland. Mrs. Munn, Sr., will remain at Manchester all the autumn, probably until Christmas, when she will return to Washington.

◇ ❖ ◇

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Lincoln have closed their summer house at Manchester Cove earlier than usual this autumn and are back to their attractive winter home in Boston. Their estate at Forest Hills is one of the finest in that section and makes a most beautiful spring and autumn home as well as winter residence. The Harvard Arboretum property adjoins them on two sides and Congressman Peters' home on the other.

◇ ❖ ◇

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Henry Barbour are to live in Cambridge this winter but will keep their Manchester house open for week-ends, motoring back and forth between the Shore and Boston. Mr. Barbour has been busily engaged all summer on his books, several of which will be published this autumn.

◇ ❖ ◇

Mrs. Henry C. Weston has concluded her stay at Beverly Farms for the season and has returned to her Boston home at 177 Beacon st.

◇ ❖ ◇

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Yates and Mrs. John C. Howe of the West Manchester year-round colony returned last week from a motor trip to Cape Cod.

◇ ❖ ◇

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Abbott of the West Manchester colony have returned to Boston for the winter.

Miss Charlotte Read, the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Read of the Manchester year-round colony, left Read's Island Thursday morning for New York where she will study play writing and stage management this winter. Miss Read was very active in the theatrical entertainments at the Elizabeth Peabody house on Charles street, Boston, last winter and showed great ability along that line.

◇ ❖ ◇

Charles Grafly, the well-known Philadelphian sculptor, who has a summer home at Folly Cove, Lanesville, has been working this season on a monument for the Panama Exposition. It represents a pioneer mother with her two children, a son and a daughter standing in front of her, and it will be set up permanently after the exposition is over at San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs. Grafly and their daughter, Miss Dorothy are still at Lanesville.

SOCIETY NOTES

It was with surprise last Saturday that friends of Spencer P. Kennard of Boston and Miss Madeline M. White of Lowell learned that unknown to their parents, they had been quietly married in Boston the previous day. After receiving the forgiveness of their parents the couple left on their honeymoon trip to New York. Mr. Kennard is 22, and his bride will be 20 next week. Mr. Kennard is a son of Mrs. Delphine Hills, with whom he made his home. He is a nephew of Arthur W. Kennard of 467 Beacon st., a member of the jewelry firm of Hodgson, Kennard & Co., of 25 State st., and Magnolia. His bride is the daughter of William T. White, head of the American Hide and Leather Company's works in Lowell. For a month the bride's parents have lived in the Back Bay. Relatives of the couple Saturday declined to say where the wedding was performed, but they admitted it took place Friday in Boston. Both Mr. and Mrs. Kennard are well and favorably known on the North Shore, where both are leaders in the coterie of young people at the Oceanside, Magnolia, and all of its many and varied activities. Mrs. Kennard was considered one of the most attractive girls at the Oceanside for the last two or three years.

The S. V. R. Crosbys are concluding their stay at West Manchester this week and are returning to their winter home in Boston. They will pay occasional visits to the shore during the winter as usual, especially during the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays.

The summer home of Mr. and Mrs. William Phillips at North Beverly has been closed and Mrs. Phillips has gone on to Washington to join Mr. Phillips, who has been there for some weeks. He is one of the Assistant Secretaries of State.

The Bernard C. Welds and the R. S. Reynolds Hitts, of Boston and Washington, respectively, are among the week's departure from Beverly Farms.

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Barr have gone to their country house in New Ipswich, N. H., for November, after a short stay at the Copley-Plaza, where they went after a visit at Morristown, N. J. Mr. and Mrs. Landon Humphreys, the latter Mrs. Barr's daughter, have taken the Gilbert Potts house in Morristown, which is near the fine estate of Mr. Humphreys' father.

The Chas. W. Joneses have closed their Magnolia house and are settled at 455 Beacon st., Boston, for the winter.

Edwin A. Boardman and family, who have made their year-round home at Beverly Farms for several years, are to live in Boston this winter. They closed their cottage on West st., Monday.

The Neal Rantouls of Boston are among the departures from Beverly Farms this week.

Mrs. James H. Beal has re-opened her Boston house on Beacon street, after spending the season at Nahant. Mrs. Beal's summer place is one of the most attractive on Nahant Road.

Rear Admiral and Mrs. W. H. H. Sutherland, who spent the season at Nahant, have returned to their house on N street at Washington for the winter. Their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bacon, who have also been at Nahant this season at the Ely cottage, have returned to Boston.

Rev. William Wood of New York and Ipswich is taking a course of study at Oxford University this year. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers Wood, who have "Brier Hill," one of the most attractive places at Ipswich.

Many North Shore people were seen in the large audience which greeted Dr. Karl Muck and the Boston Symphony orchestra so enthusiastically at the first of the winter rehearsals last Friday afternoon, which opened the 34th season of the splendid work of this orchestra. Among the North Shore patrons were Major and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson of West Manchester; Mrs. Winthrop Sargent, Rockport; Mrs. Francis H. Peabody of Beverly Cove; Mrs. Russell S. Codman and son, Charles R. Codman, Manchester; Mrs. Charles E. Cotting, West Manchester; Mrs. Roger W. Cutler, Pride's Crossing; Mrs. Gordon Abbott, West Manchester; Mrs. Harold Coolidge, Pride's Crossing; Mrs. Francis L. Higginson, Jr., Miss Juliet Higginson, Pride's Crossing; Miss Fanny M. Faulkner, Magnolia; Miss Mary Curtis, Pride's Crossing; Mrs. John L. Thorndike, West Manchester; Mrs. Samuel J. Mixter, Swampscott; Mrs. Augustus Hemenway of Manchester, and Mr. Wallace Goodrich of West Manchester. Today at Symphony hall Dr. Muck and his orchestra will play Mozart's "Masonic Funeral March" in memory of the late Gardiner Martin Lane of Boston and Manchester. Mr. Lane was a genuine music lover and through his membership in the firm of Lee, Higginson & Co. he was intimately associated with Major Henry L. Higginson of West Manchester, to whom Boston music lovers owe so much.

THE TIME IS RIPE for the opening of a campaign for a Public Library building for the residents of Beverly Farms and vicinity (Ward 6 of Beverly). Under the direction of Mayor MacDonald a drawing has been made of a proposed building and it is now exhibited in the Public Library room. The library room that now is, has been a great help and has served its purpose well; but long since the library has outgrown the facilities provided. Before the new Public Library building in Beverly proper was constructed the arguments for a new building in Beverly Farms availed but little because the library facilities in the main section of the city were as inadequate as those in Beverly Farms. Happily the situation has been changed. Beverly proper has a building of which it may well be proud. Now that the centre of the city has been provided for Beverly Farms' interest may well be cared for. Apart from the fire station and the little police office in Ward Six the City of Beverly has never been obliged to expend much money for public buildings. The request of Beverly Farms for a library building should be honored. Mayor MacDonald is interested in the enterprise and may be depended upon to favor any reasonable plan. He is to be commended for his interests in the project so much as to arrange for the drawings of a proposed building. Early in the next year an appropriation should be made for a lot. If this lot can be selected and purchased progress will have been made. The library building, so long needed, should soon become a live issue in Beverly.

THERE IS NO DOUBT that there is much justice in Gardner's assertion that this country is unprepared for war. It has never been the policy of America to be ready for an armed conflict, but his warning ought to be heeded and the navy especially should be maintained. The appointment of two men by the House and two by the Senate and two men by the President to serve on a committee to make careful investigations of the status quo of the army and navy can do no harm. Surely this could be done without resorting to jingoism or committing the nation to the follies of militarism.

THE PROGRESSIVES HAVE STOLEN the Prohibitionists' thunder. The Prohibition party claims that all of the more important planks of their party platform have been "scooped" by the Progressives. How about that?

CAN FRANCE AND GERMANY AND RUSSIA ever repay Belgium for her formidable resistance to Germany?

BELGIUM, the cock pit of Europe.

WITH ALL DUE RESPECT TO ENGLAND'S high ideals and unselfish loyalty to the French and Belgium peoples it must readily be seen that her present conflict is for self-preservation. Loyalty to a treaty with Belgium is but one phase of a serious warfare. Germany has long wished a way out to the sea to present economic opportunities for her citizens. In the face of her desires stood little Belgium. The treaty became a "scrap of paper," and while the world awoke to the fact at the moment of German attack, German rulers have long known the real value placed upon Belgium neutrality. To permit Belgium to pass over to German control would have been suicidal. The world respects England for its observation of Belgium neutrality, but the very reasons, economic progress and self preservation, that have inspired Germany to break the neutrality treaty, has caused England to enter into an armed conflict. So quickly did the conflict come on that but few people realized the deeper significance of the war. In simple words, Belgium, France and England are fighting for their economic and political independence, for their very life and the life of their political institutions.

THERE IS A CENSORSHIP ON NEWS from Germany, Russia, England and France, but it cannot equal the censorship on real news from Italy. Italy and its policy still remains neutral, but nothing can be heard from there as to any future plans or policy. Quietly hundreds of Italians are returning to the homeland. Has word gone out through all the earth that Italy requires her soldiers? No direct call for reserves has gone out, such as Germany, France and England sent out. But is such a course to Italy's interests? Is it a far guess to think, that neutral or belligerent Italy is quietly making ready for a contest which looks inevitable? It is only short of miraculous that neutrality has been maintained. It is evident that Italy's future policy will have a bearing on the war! How great Italy's influence will be is another question.

FROM THE PANAMA CANAL comes the news that a slide in the Culebra cut has hindered navigation and has necessitated more dredging by the commission. Such news is to be expected for some time to come. But it will not be long before the land about the great "waterway" has "settled" and dangers from slides reduced to a minimum.

THE DEMOCRATIC POLICY created consternation in the woolen industry. Then came the war with its embarrassments, but with it came the British embargo on wool. It has effectively established a protection for the American industries. It is an ill wind that blows no one good.

WELL DOES AMERICA KNOW that the Allies are fighting America's battle. Victorious Germany will never brook interference with her plans for colonization in South America if she wins!

BROWN UNIVERSITY is having a noteworthy anniversary. It is an institution that has grown and to which America and American institutions mean much.

WITH A LOW TAX RATE and a City Tax of only $12.60 Beverly may well be pleased with the work of its present administration.

GERMANY HAS CONSENTED to permit the Red Cross Society to place relief commodities in Belgium. A significant concession!

THREE THOUSAND PHEASANTS were killed on Columbus Day! Legislators may well plan to have the open season shortened. What a pitiable loss to the state? It is not so cruel to kill pheasants as peasants, but there are degrees of cruelty. Give the pheasants a chance! True, pheasants are listed by the game wardens as "game birds." Only in recent years this bird has increased in number so that they are noticable. It was the late Senator McMillan of Michigan that was responsible in a large measure for the increase of the pheasant in this locality. When he established his summer home at Manchester some twenty years ago he devoted part of the estate to a deer park and nearby was a large enclosure in which he kept a large number of most gorgeously colored pheasants, as well as other birds. After his death the deer were given their freedom and the pheasants, also, were liberated. Other pheasants were liberated along the shore at stated times and in stated numbers for several years, and these have increased so that today there are thousands of them.

GERMANY SEEMS TO CONTINUE its "whittling down" policy—using submarines to sink English naval vessels and avoiding a real naval contest. So far the submarine has had its day. It remains for the naval forces to meet. Or is this contest to be one of armed forces on land rather than on the sea?

THE RESCUE OF MAURICE ALLEN of Ware from a death in quicksands twenty-five feet below the ground was a triumph. A whole town labored a night and day to save a man's life. Such are the blessings of peace. What a commentary on the tragedies now being enacted in Belgium.

THE SOUTH, THAT OBJECTED so "generously" to a protective tariff for wool has been perfectly willing to cover the embarrassments of that district due to the cotton situation, by a national bond issue. Fortunately the issue failed.

A ZEPPELIN OVER LONDON and a few German bombs dropped on English soil would result in such a rallying to the English colors that it is doubtful whether Great Britain's army department would not welcome such a foray.

THE DROUGHT HAS BEEN BROKEN and rain fell. The pleasant weather was good but the rain was more than welcome. The forest fires are quenched and the hunting season is again opened.

AND TAFT CALLS PRIVATE LIFE "the apple tree of observation." True brother; so do the growers according to the prices being received for the fruit.

THE BUY-A-BALE-OF-COTTON slogan has been put in the shade by the "eat-an-apple-a-day" campaign.

THERE IS NOT MUCH IN COMMON in "Eliotism" and "Munsterbergism."

TIMES ARE AS HARD as the business man wishes to make them.

JUNE 17—MASSACHUSETTS DAY at Panama Exposition.

IT IS PROPOSED by the Boston & Maine to increase the fifty-ride book rates. For example the rates from Beverly Farms to Boston for fifty rides will be increased from $16.40 to $23.00, and from Manchester to Boston from $19.65 to $26.00. The fifty-ride books from the same station to Beverly will be increased to five dollars and seven dollars, respectively. The fifty-ride rate will be at the same rate as the single tickets now are. The railroads have been having a hard time of it. The H. C. of L. has seriously embarrassed them, but such an increase as is proposed is unfair to the residents of the towns and cities just outside the metropolitan zone. A comparison of the fares charged around Boston and around Salem as centers would be interesting. The proposed increases are too heavy and the remonstrances filed by the towns and cities along the line ought to be heeded by the railroad commissioners.

(From the Providence Journal)

THE MUNSTERBERGS, THE BERNSTORFFS, THE RIDDERS and all the subsidized agents of the German Government are persisting in their frantic appeals to the Journal and many other newspapers in the attempt to curb the honest and heartfelt indignation of the American people. These representatives of German "culture," together with the Kuhn-Loebs of the commercial world, in the fatuous "patriotism," or blindness, believe that the newspapers are responsible for the most spontaneous and universal protest that the American people has ever made in its history. If German money, or the specious arguments of German professors, could change the course of every newspaper in the United States tomorrow the sentiment of the country would still remain the same. For the German Kaiser and his Government have been convicted, not by the false reasoning of the American press, not by lies or special pleading, but out of their own mouths. America needs only a single justification for her attitude. She finds it in the one word—BELGIUM. William of Germany and his people have an account to square with God that no sophistry can wipe out. For they have wilfully, and in their mad passion for conquest, turned a fair land into a shambles, taken a peaceable little nation by the throat, torn it into bleeding fragments and crushed its very heart beneath their iron tread. The stories of individual German atrocities may not all be true, though there is proof that many of them are. But whatever is true and whatever is false, this one thing stands out so over-shadowing in its monstrous cruelty and barbarism that it forces the hoarse cry of "GUILTY" from every man and woman in the world whose being throbs with a spark of human love or the spirit of justice. The preservation of Germany's national power, her boasted military machine, her position in art and the sciences, and commerce, are no longer dependent for preservation on her victories in the field. They are destroyed already, and she will toil on towards the light through many generations of bitter years before she rises from her knees again. Not because great armaments will have beaten her down—not because she has been hurled back in her crusade of butchery and invasion. No. But because, purporting to be a great civilized race, worthy of "a place in the sun," she has proclaimed to the world that a treaty is only a scrap of paper, and, by the hand of a paranoiac who poses as the chosen of God himself, has deluged with the blood of murdered thousands a land whose peace she had sworn to protect and hold inviolate. All the tramping of Germany's legions, all the thunder of her bombs and batteries cannot drown out the cry of one little Belgian child.

The work of installing Manchester's new sewer system is now nearing completion. Practically all of the streets have been opened, the last being School street, from the Square to North street. James Nazzaro, the postoffice block barber, has sold his business and will sail next Friday for a visit to his home in Italy. Mr. Nazzaro has been in business in Manchester almost continuously for the last eleven years. He desires to become a naturalized citizen, but inasmuch as he is married and has a wife and children living in Italy he cannot procure his papers. It is for this purpose that he is going home—to bring his family here and becoming a citizen. He will return in May. Chas. T. Buckley of Beverly has bought the business and will have Tony Saco, who has been employed by Mr. Nazzaro, conduct the shop for him.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Lee returned Tuesday from a vacation trip to Maine.

Miss Mabel Walen has just returned from a week's visit with Mrs. Cora Killam of Needham.

Mrs. Charles D. Gay of Salem was in town Monday, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. F. L. Smith, School street.

Miss Helen Cheever spent the week-end at Wellesley Farms with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Meade.

Miss Eva Arel spent the week-end at the home of her parents at North Andover. Miss Arel makes her home with Miss Isabel Mackay, School street.

Dr. R. T. Glendenning is to go to Northampton tomorrow to spend Sunday with his daughter, Miss Gwendolen Glendenning, who is a sophomore at Smith.

Rocco Barbato, one of the laborers employed in sewer work at the corner of Central and Elm streets, Monday, had a close call when the ditch caved in, partly burying him. Rocco, who is 26 years old, was taken to the hospital Wednesday in the ambulance, as it was thought some bones may have been broken.

It is little short of an outrage the way the young men and boys wreck the bath-houses at Singing Beach every winter. Owners of bath-houses tire of going to the Beach every spring only to find that their house has been broken into, the wire screening torn from the windows, the doors wrenched from hinges, interiors demolished, and what not. One would think Manchester was the habitue of illiterate, uncultured, rough element such as are found in the slums of the city or in milling communities. Young men have been seen to stand off and deliberately stone a house at Singing Beach until the building was fairly battered to pieces. It is pretty well known who is responsible for these offenses and it would not be surprising to see somebody placed under arrest in the near future.

MANCHESTER WOMAN'S CLUB

The Manchester Woman's club held its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon at the Congregational chapel. The meeting was opened by Mrs. Grace K. Beaton, the president, and after the secretary's report was read and approved, the subject of the Red Cross Work in the schools was taken up. The sewing classes have been working on articles for the European soldiers, the material for which was furnished by Miss Loring. The pupils have used up all of the goods given for that purpose and as they were willing and anxious to do some more for this good cause, Mrs. Beaton was interviewed on the attitude of the club towards the Red Cross work. A motion was made and carried that the club donate ten dollars for this purpose. Mrs. Alice Joseph, who had resigned from the visiting nurse committee, was replaced by Mrs. Ethel Valentine.

After this business was transacted, the afternoon was left in charge of the music committee, Mrs. Edith Williams, chairman. A very fine program was furnished by the following artists,—Joseph K. Dustin of Gloucester, pianist; Miss Henrietta Gilman Tighe, reader, and Miss May M. Strong, soloist. Following is the program:

Piano solo, Two Characteristic Waltzes (S. Coleridge Taylor) by Joseph K. Dustin; reading, "The Matinee Girl," Miss Henrietta Gilman Tighe; solo, "The Magnetic Waltz" (Arditi), and as an encore, "The Happy Song" (Del Riego) by Miss May M. Strong; reading, "Sorrow and Joy," and as an encore, "The Last Rose of Summer," by Miss Tighe; piano solo, Nocturne in E Flat (Chopin) Mr. Dustin, (encore, "To a Wild Rose"); solos, "Roses In June" (German), "Italian Serenade" (Tosti) and "Sleepy Time" (Collins) by Miss Strong; reading, "Aunt Abby's Escort" and

"The Nine Suitors" by Miss Tighe; piano solo, "Military Polinaise" (Chopin) by Mr. Dustin.

To Mrs. Williams and her committee belongs a great deal of credit for a clever selection of artists and for a program well arranged. Mr. Dustin is very well known in Manchester and nothing more need be said than that he played with his usual fine technique and expression. Miss Strong is also fairly well known here, and her singing was a delight to everyone who heard her. Her voice is clear and quite filled the little chapel.

The reader, Miss Tighe, is new to Manchester audiences and she was very well received. She is a reader of considerable ability and is giving "Within the Law" this winter. By far her best work of Tuesday afternoon was "Sorrow and Joy," an allegory of the lives of the twin sisters, Sorrow and Joy. The work itself was quite emotional and showed the possibilities of Miss Tighe's sympathetic voice.

At the close of the program afternoon tea was served by Mrs. Robert T. Glendenning, the hostess, who was assisted in pouring by Miss Martha Knight.

The next meeting will be the open evening meeting at the Town hall, Wednesday evening, Nov. 4, when E. Harold Baynes will deliver an illustrated lecture on "Our Wild Animal Neighbors." Club members will be admitted on membership tickets, other tickets on sale for 25 cents for adults and 15 cents for students. It has usually been the policy of the club to hold the students' meeting later in the season, but it was found that Mr. Baynes would be in New England only for a month, covering part of October and part of November, so in order to procure a speaker so out of the ordinary the date was changed.

PARENT-TEACHER MEETING

FIRST GATHERING OF SEASON IN MANCHESTER, WEDNESDAY EVENING.

The first meeting of the Manchester Parent-Teacher Association this season, which was held Wednesday evening at the Assembly hall of the John A. Price school, was an interesting one and the hall was filled to its capacity. The meeting was opened by Mrs. Seddie Follett, the president, and the High school orchestra opened the program with a selection, "The Outlaw," after which the delegates to the fifth convention of the Massachusetts branch of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations, held at Worcester from October 15 to October 17, reported. Mrs. Follett and Miss Chapman were the delegates and their reports contained much of interest to both the parents and teachers present. Mrs. Follett attended Thursday and Saturday and Miss Chapman, Friday. Mrs. Follett mentioned briefly the reports of Mrs. Smith, who spoke on extension and increase in numbers; of the National Treasurer; and told of the 40,000 mothers who has been benefited last year by printed matter sent out by the Association. She spoke also of Mrs. D. O. Mears, the State President, who delivered a most helpful address on "Parents and their Problems." Among other things she said, "God's best gift is not Joy, but Opportunity."

At the Saturday session, Mrs. Follett found much to remember in the address of Dr. Hall, who spoke of "The Influence of the Home upon the School." He spoke particularly of six movements to bring the school and home into closer relationship, namely:

First, the Marsh Movement, so-called for the two teachers (sisters), who started it. They invited the mothers to meet at four o'clock one afternoon of each week to talk, to mend, to sew and to be taught to cook. It was found very helpful to the mothers, if imposing a little heavier burden on the teachers.

Second, the Physical Test. Each child should have a careful physical examination upon entering school and a record of the child's condition should be kept and presented to him at the end of his school life.

Third, the school house as a Social Center. School houses belong to the people who pay taxes and they are too expensive plants to be open only five hours of the day. They should be opened for social and all educational movements.

Four, the Oregon Movement, which was first put into practice eight years ago, when the principal of a school found that a girl who simply could not do algebra had made the task of bed-making into an art. She was made an instructor in this homely science in the High school and was given ten credits for bed-making. From this grew the custom, which has been taken up by a surprising number of schools, of allowing credits on the school record for excellent home and outside work.

Five, the After-School club, which is to give the pupils entertainment and work for outside time.

Six, the School Visitor. In these days the teacher does not have the opportunity of going into the pupil's homes as freely as formerly, so much of the personal touch is lost. The school visitor supplies this link.

Miss Chapman's report brought out the very newest ideas in mothers clubs' and school movements. One of the most interesting and most practicable for a town like Manchester was the plan of installing a dean for girls in High schools. Miss Laura E. Dyer was the speaker on this subject at the conference and she told something of its history and results in the towns which have tried it. The movement was started in 1908 at one of the Oakland High schools when a dean was appointed for the girls. She was in charge of the girls in a general way, seeing that they were not left too much alone, that, in case of illness, they are cared for, that there was a good reason for tardiness or dismissals. In addition to all this she was a social leader, she talked to the girls about healthful and regular personal habits and urged the return to the simple, normal activities in place of the artificially exciting ones that are now so prevalent. Perhaps more than all she encouraged idealism in girls, who are most impressionable at the high school age. Now there are deans in all the high schools of Los Angeles and Chicago and all report progress. Miss Dyer spoke also of the advisability of bringing the girls together in organizations which will still remain after school life is finished. She spoke very highly of the Camp-Fire Girls as an organization for the younger girls. There is a flourishing branch of the Camp-Fire Girls in Manchester. Mrs. Herbert Wright of Worcester gave some interesting statistics on "Mental Efficiency Dependent of Food." Among other things, she especially urged the use of the courser flours in bread making, as white flour loses three-fourths of its nutritive value in refining. The Woman's club of Worcester is to have many foods analyzed and will publish a booklet called "A Pure Food Book." Alfred McCann's book, which has been highly endorsed by leading physicians, was spoken of. It is "Starving America" and is very reliable. The afternoon exercises were held at the Boys' Trade School and Davis O. Snedden spoke on "The Problem of Systematic Moral Education in Schools," which he said is very complicated and still too new to receive a fair judgement. All we can do for the present is to respect the courageous leaders, who are daring to make a start in this movement. A. L. Barbour, Superintendent of Schools in Quincy, spoke on "Some Phases of Trade School Education." His address was interesting and intensely practical, dealing with a subject which has been before the public some time now.

Mrs. William L. Putnam of Boston and Manchester was the next speaker and, as the official delegate from the American Association for Study and Prevention of Infant Mortality, she spoke on "Pre-Natal Care." Prevention of infant mortality, she said, means not so much making sick babies better as educating the mothers to care for their children properly. Mrs. Anna Steese Richardson of New York spoke on "Our Baby Saving Campaign" and as national chairman of the committee on Child Hygiene she was able to speak competently on the work done in New York City, where although the people endure the noisy elevated, the automobile and siren horns and the traffic policeman's whistle, there is one thing they will not stand and that is the ailing baby. Through the campaign for Better Babies mothers have been taught to manage their homes more efficiently and to care for their babies properly, thus greatly reducing the infant mortality there.

Following these reports the speaker of the evening, Eugene Averell of Gloucester, principal of the Sawyer school, was introduced. He delivered a very practical address on "How Parents May Help the Teachers." He contrasted the clean, normal life of the country boy, where the home influence is the greatest, with the good influence of the church and school close seconds, with the life of a city boy, who, perhaps, has no home, or a substitute which is worse than no home, and who does not go to church and whom, therefore, the school alone reaches. The school must endeavor to reach the boy's home life and, if there is need of improvement, to do whatever is possible there.

"The street influence plays an important part in the life of the city boy," said the speaker, "and must be faced accordingly. It is here that the boy contracts the fatal habit of smoking cigarettes. The American Tobacco company is the greatest importer of opium in the country," continued Mr. Averell. "The liquor traffic is also met with here in its worst forms and the boy must guard against that."

"Parents may help the teachers to instill ideas of right-living in the children by having regular work for the children to do at certain hours, by knowing where their boys and girls are every minute of the time and, where this is impossible, by training the children to such truthfulness that they will not hesitate to tell their parents where they have been, by knowing their children's companions and by directing their reading."

As work for the Parent-Teacher associations Mr. Averell spoke of the establishment of playgrounds under proper supervision, fireside clubs for the boys under the same, of the necessity of more friendly visits, of district nurses and associated charities and of the encouragement of church-going. In concluding he said that in making the boys better men attention must be paid to the little things and he quoted from Michael Angelo, who said, "Trifles make perfection and perfection is no trifle."

After another selection by the orchestra the gathering adjourned to meet the social committee, who served ices and cake down-stairs.

ASSISTANT POSTMASTERS To Go.

Orders have been sent out from the Postmaster General at Washington notifying postmasters that in the interest of economy and efficiency the office of assistant postmaster will be abolished in some cities and towns and there will be promotions and demotions. Supervisors of branch post-offices will be demoted to assistant superintendents. Separate finance and mail handling divisions will be established in each office.

Just what postoffices this will effect has not as yet been made public by the postoffice department, but the order is supposedly a general one and will effect most of the cities and larger towns in the country.

There will be a Democratic Rally in the Manchester Town hall next Thursday evening, Oct. 29. The speakers assigned by the Democratic State Committee are ex-Mayor John F. Fitzgerald; Frederick W. Mansfield, state treasurer; Frank H. Pope, auditor; Hon. Geo. A. Schofield, candidate for congress; Chas. D. Smith, Esq., of Gloucester. It is planned to cover Marblehead, Beverly, Manchester, Gloucester and Rockport on that evening.

John J. Connors tells us that one of the most interesting features of his trip to New York city this week was his visit to the horse marts, where he had many acquaintances in years gone by. He saw some of the work of the French and British army officers, who are scurrying this country for 20,000 horses to land in England and France before the first of December. They had already secured 7,000 in Chicago and expected to get four or five thousand in New York and the rest they expected to pick up in Western cities. The only requisite aside from being fairly sound is that every horse be provided with a saddle and bridle and a blanket. The sale price is anywhere from $100 to $150 a horse.

BROTHERHOOD MEETING

Warren F. Spaulding of the State Prison, was the speaker of the evening at the Manchester Brotherhood, Monday night. The meeting opened with the usual song service. The report of the secretary was read. Rev. Mr. Warner, president of the Brotherhood, after a short address, introduced the speaker, Mr. Warren F. Spaulding, whose subject was "Crime and its Treatment."

"Most criminals," said Mr. Spaulding, "blunder or drift into crime through temptation, also often when under the influence of liquor." Sixteen thousand were arrested in this state alone for crime last year. Out of 25,000 criminals, 13,000 had served sentences before, amounting to a total of 87,000. Respect for law and self-respect keeps the majority of the people from committing crime. The largest number of crimes are committed when under the influence of liquor. The one great problem which confronts the State Prison Department today is the classification of crime. "We have the professional criminal," said Mr. Spaulding, who makes his living through crime; then there are those who commit misdemeanors while under the influence of intoxicants. Also a large number of crimes are committed by persons who are unfortunately demented.

"Seven millions of dollars were spent last year with very little impression, on crime, the State caring for one half of all the prisoners."

"The abolishment of crime is out of the question; we shall always have the criminal with us. The limitation of crime is a work for all in public welfare. What keeps us good will keep bad men good. Today when a man leaves prison he has a position awaiting him, if not, he is retained until such is secured. This has proved most satisfactory. When a man leaves prison, having neither money nor work, he is most sure to fall in his old ways again, and in a short while is again a convict. This precaution the state board is trying to take."

THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

MR. AND MRS. GORHAM DAVIS OBSERVE HAPPY EVENT AT MAGNOLIA

The spacious reception room of the Woman's Club on the Shore road, Magnolia, was the scene of joyous festivity Tuesday afternoon, when Mr. and Mrs. Gorham Davis, the former the well known liveryman, fittingly observed their 50th wedding anniversary. A formal reception was held from 2 to 6 o'clock, during which time some 200 of the friends and relatives of the well known couple called to greet them, extend their hearty felicitations and wish them continued success and happiness in life's journey.

The interior of the reception room and the smaller inner room presented a bower of beauty. Palms and many beautiful flowers, mostly handsome roses, chrysanthemums, carnations, dahlias and snap-dragons, all remembrances from friends, were used as decorations. There were many bouquets of 50 roses, carnations and chrysanthemums that were admired by all present.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis received their guests while remaining seated on a sofa on a raised platform in one corner of the large hall. The ushers were Frank W. Parsons, Lafayette F. Hunt and J. Gilbert Crispin, who presented the guests to the young-old couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis were assisted in receiving by their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Davis, who also had general supervision of the celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis were ably assisted by several of the Davis employees in making the decorations and helping out in other ways. They were John B. Carr, Cornelius McDonald, Fletcher R. McCallum and Clifford Wolfe.

The couple were generously remembered with many beautiful gifts, representing the kind wishes of their many friends and relatives. These were displayed on a table in the corner across from Mr. and Mrs. Davis, and among the remembrances were many gold pieces, amounting to a considerable sum, handsome embroidered linen, china, cut glass, spoons, a very fine tray, etc. Mrs. Bertha Hawes was in charge of the gifts.

In the corner at the left of the entrance, Sewall's orchestra, screened by a bank of palms and flowers, rendered music during the afternoon. A splendid program was carried out by Director Sewall, which included classic as well as the latest popular selections and all were heartily applauded.

In the smaller inner room, a wood fire in the large open fireplace sputtered forth its cheery blaze, which added greatly to the attractiveness of the scene. This was the refreshment room and the matrons were Mrs. Lafayette F. Hunt, Mrs. Henry W. Brown and Mrs. Frank W. Parsons. A tempting collation of ices, cake, with punch and cigars for the gentlemen, was served and the young lady waitresses were Miss Ethel May, Miss Jennie Brown, Miss Susan Lycett and Miss Beatrice Story. Louis Saunders catered.

The cake table was very pretty with its yellow shaded candles and bouquets of snap-dragons and dahlias. The punch table was on the opposite side of the room and was also prettily decorated.

Miss Elizabeth Brown and William Hunt were in charge of the guest book and they presided at a little table at the right of the entrance.

Among the gifts was a beautiful picture of a bird of paradise from Mrs. Davis' only aunt, Mrs. Maria Herrick Bray, who was probably the oldest guest present. She will be 87 years of age next April. Accompanying the gift was the following verses by Mrs. Bray:

"TO GORHAM DAVIS AND SUSAN ADELAID DAVIS: May this day, Tuesday, October 20, 1914, be

"Golden with the memories cast
O'er the still receding past;
Backward to the golden prime
Of joyous bridal time,
When from younger lips than now
Gently breathed the marriage vow;
And the bridegroom and the bride,
Heart in heart, as side by side
Saw the gates of life unfold
To the promised Age of Gold."

"Accept from Aunt Maria this token of remembrance, and with kindly greetings, I wish you continued years of happiness that shall bring peace serene and sweet."

MAGNOLIA.

Mrs. H. C. Foster entertained a number of friends from Gloucester at her home here the last of last week. Mayor Foster received a rather bad fall one morning the first of the week as he was leaving the house and dislocated his shoulder. He has, however, been able to be at the City hall to attend to his work.

Misses Marion Story and Marjorie May returned from Milford, N. H., where they have been spending a couple of weeks, Monday. Miss Story has resumed her position at the postoffice.

Mr. and Mrs. Fuller Andrews of Gloucester were Sunday guests of the D. C. Ballous, Magnolia avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hunt have taken the Wilkins cottage, formerly occupied by the McAuley family, on Magnolia avenue.

Rev. Walter S. Eaton will again occupy the pulpit at the Village church, Sunday, after an absence of two weeks. Morning service at 10.45; evening service 7.00.

The many friends of Mrs. James Wolfe will regret to hear of her illness at her home on Western avenue.

MARBLEHEAD HOTEL BURNS TO GROUND

The Ocean Manor, a summer hotel on Marblehead Neck, formerly The Nanepashmet, one of the best known buildings on the entire North Shore, was burned to the ground Wednesday evening. The flames were visible along the shore from Nahant to Gloucester.

An alarm was rung in from box 54 at 6.45, but before the Fire Department could reach the hotel, the entire building was in flames. Chief Adams, on seeing the structure was doomed, directed all his efforts to saving adjacent property and was successful.

The hotel has been closed for six weeks and the origin of the fire is a mystery. All of the summer homes near it are closed for the season.

The burned building was a four-story wooden structure, on the ocean side of Marblehead Neck, on one of the highest points of land there and served as a landmark to all vessels approaching Marblehead Harbor. It was built about 30 years ago by Robert C. Bridge, and was run for many years by Robert G. Brown.

Last spring the property was sold to G. Paul Brackett of Marblehead, who remodeled and refurnished it, changing its name. The building and furniture were valued at about $60,000, which is only partly covered by insurance.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE

ANNOUNCEMENTS IN CONNECTION WITH THE PEACE MOVEMENT AND BELGIAN RELIEF.

The Manchester Equal Suffrage League announces a public meeting in Manchester Town hall, next Wednesday evening, Oct. 28, at 8 o'clock, in the interests of the Suffrage situation and the Peace Movement in this country, and of relief for stricken Belgium. The reasons why the Suffragists are especially interested in Peace and in Belgium will be fully explained at this meeting, and the collection will be entirely for Belgian Relief. There will be no charge for admission. The public is cordially invited, especially all who are interested in patriotic work.

The chief speakers will be Mrs. W. O. Pinkham of Colorado and Dr. Samuel McComb of Emmanuel church, Boston. Mrs. Pinkham, was brought to Boston by the work of her husband, who is a minister among the sailors in East Boston, and for the last year she has been working for Suffrage in Massachusetts. Her experience as a voter in Colorado has shown her the great importance of votes for women. She speaks so interestingly and convincingly of the real conditions in Colorado that she is now in great demand as a speaker, and Manchester is fortunate to get her at this time. But we are doubly fortunate to have at the same time Dr. McComb, who has recently returned from England, and who will speak of the war conditions and of Peace. Dr. McComb is a Britisher and an Oxford man, but he says "I am also now an American." He is well known here (and in England) in connection with the Emmanuel Movement, and as a lecturer and writer on many subjects. In the last few years he has become deeply interested in the Suffrage Movement, and he was much interested to hear that the Manchester Suffragists are ready to help the helpless, almost countless, women and children refugees from Belgium. We believe that this interest is not confined to the

BELGIAN RELIEF FUND

A Belgian Relief Fund (Red Cross) is being raised in Manchester, aside from that at the Manchester Trust Co., and the papers are in charge of Harry T. Swett of the local postoffice. Any amount may be subscribed from five cents up and Manchester people are urged to show their spirit in these trying times by giving their mite, however small, toward this most worthy cause.

land's greatest ventriloquist, considered by many the cleverest artist of his kind in the world, returns to America after several years' absence. Mr. Prince is a wonder in his line. He is without a peer and has few, if any equals, in the ventriloquial art. The big spectacular feature will be Henriette de Serris and her great troupe of fifteen carefully selected professional models from the Academy of Sculpture, Paris. They present living reproductions of famous works of art, including the masterpieces destroyed at Louvain, Belgium, by the Germans, and those now in the steel vaults of Louvre, Paris. The subjects include "The Regiment is Passing," "At the Winning Post," "The Slave Merchant," "Priam at the Foot of Achilles," "Spring," "The Hunt of Meleagre," "The Angelus," and many others groups and bas-reliefs.

In Buying a Watch

The important points are accuracy, durability and appearance. Our watches combine these three characteristics at a reasonable price

It is also important to be sure of the reliability of the one who sells you the watch—and to pay cash. (Watches bought on credit are generally very expensive). For 47 years we have been selling watches. We stand behind every watch we sell. When you buy a watch from us you know that you are paying only what the watch is worth and that we are here to make it right if it should be unsatisfactory in any way. We carry the Hamilton, Waltham, Elgin, Howard, and the leading imported movements.

We welcome inspection of any of our watches at our Retail Store. Out-of-town customers will find an excellent assortment of watches in our Year Book. Further details about any watch shown in the Year Book will be sent upon request.

SOCIETY NOTES

At her residence at 249 Commonwealth avenue, Boston, Miss Alice Cotting was married at noon yesterday to Edward L. Kent of Norfolk road, Chestnut Hill. Miss Cotting has been in mourning for some time, therefore yesterday's wedding was a family occasion. The house was decorated with Southern smilax forming a background for quantities of pink roses. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Alexander Mann, D. D., rector of Trinity church. The bride had no attendant maid or matron of honor. Her wedding gown was of white satin, made with a full train and trimmed with exquisite old lace of rare pattern, which had belonged to Miss Cotting's mother. The bridal veil of tulle was caught in place with a small cluster of orange blossoms and a bouquet of lilies of the valley was carried. The only ornament worn by the bride was a pendant of diamonds and pearls, the gift of the bridegroom. Miss Cotting was given in marriage by her brother, Charles E. Cotting. Mr. Kent was attended by Ernest B. Dane of Chestnut Hill, as best man. After the ceremony, the bridal couple received the congratulations of the few who had witnessed it, and the number was so small that the services of ushers were not required. A wedding breakfast, at which all present were seated, was served, and Mr. and Mrs. Kent then left on a wedding journey. They are to make their home at 249 Commonwealth avenue. The bride has made her summer home at Pride's Crossing, with her late brother, Francis J. Cotting.

Colonel and Mrs. William D. Sohier and Miss Eleanor Sohier are to continue their stay at their Beverly Cove cottage for several weeks. They will return to their Beacon street, Boston, home before Thanksgiving.

The Mauretania on her last trip from Liverpool to New York brought over a number of people, prominently identified with the North Shore, all of whom had more or less exciting experiences during their travels abroad. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Cochrane were of the best known. Mrs. Frank Northen, who since her marriage has resided in England, came from her home, Stouts Hill, at Uley-Dursley, Gloucestershire, to pay a prolonged visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ezra C. Fitch of Manchester and Boston, and was accompanied by her young son, Thomas, who is delighted to renew affiliations on this side of the Atlantic. Evans Spalding, the son of Mrs. Francis R. Spalding of the West Manchester colony, was another of the Mauretania's passengers, having prolonged his travels beyond those of a year ago when he returned in mid-September on the Cincinnati.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Arthur Pierce (Irene Tewksbury), who have concluded their stay at Taber cottage, York, Me., were registered during the early week at the Plaza, New York. They were enroute to their St. Louis home. The Pierces spent several summers at Manchester and Pride's Crossing. Mrs. Pierce, who was a Chicago girl, spent her summers at East Gloucester, where the courtship of the oil magnate's son was carried on. Mr. Pierce is the son of Henry Clay Pierce of St. Louis and Pride's Crossing.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mrs. W. Scott Fitz and Mrs. Edward Wigglesworth of the Manchester colony, who have been spending the autumn at Jackson, N. H., have returned to Boston for the winter.

Lest We Forget!

IT was hoped that we might this winter start an Hospital Aid society in Manchester, for the benefit of the Beverly Hospital, and we had some hope that if we did so other villages that use this hospital would follow suit, and thus the interest in this house of mercy, might be awakened and stimulated; instead, we find ourselves asked to sew, to work and to give money to various societies that are trying to raise funds for the sufferers in this awful cataclysm—one that stirs to the depths all thinking human beings.

These societies are each and all of them worth while; they touch our sympathies and the natural thing to do is to give as freely as we are able without thinking twice. And we are moved to give our time, our energies and our money to this heart-rending cause. But is not discretion the better part of valor sometimes, and have we not a first duty to home, and all that home embraces? This year our charities are bound to suffer, have already suffered, and many of our people are likely to suffer, not alone because of this great war, but because the incomes of those who can and do support them are depleted from other causes nearer home.

Our hospitals must be and are supported by the people in the community, although often built by generous outsiders. Does not the Beverly Hospital, then, become our immediate care and responsibility? For do we not turn to it when we are in trouble?

Last year this hospital ran in debt as may be seen from the report and even so it was not able to efficiently do the work cut out for it, that is, it could not take care of all those who needed its care.

There can be no question that an efficient up-to-date hospital,—one that is able to boast of good doctors, good nurses and good house officers, and all modern life-saving devices and appliances,—is, perhaps, one of the greatest assets a community has, for does not the health of the men, women and little children of today safeguard the property of our community tomorrow?

Do we think about this deeply enough? Are we far-sighted, each one of us, when it comes to our part in this vital work.

That there is luxury in giving cannot be denied, and it is perhaps, the best satisfaction and pleasure there is. But linked with this is there not an element of duty? Many people have sufficient to give at home and abroad, and they are to be congratulated, but for those of us who have not enough for both, are we not neglecting our responsibilities, when we fail to have our charity begin at home?

Our own home needs seem humdrum when compared with the needs of thousands of suffering human beings abroad, and Belgium tempts us and appeals to us at the moment more than Beverly; perhaps we are ashamed not to respond, and a little bit shy when it comes to appearing indifferent, but is it not wise to pause before we give our full quota away, lest we forget that it is sometimes selfish to be generous and sometimes generous to be selfish?

Should our acres full crops yield
Spread our bounty o'er the world-wide field;

Should our harvest be too small
We should reap for home our all!

GRAND OPERA

The grand old Boston Theatre whose wide reaches and farthest recesses have reverberated and re-echoed with the marvelous music of every great opera singer of the world during more than sixty years will be the only theatre in New England to offer grand opera during the coming winter. Definite announcements made during the past week make it finally certain there will be no other grand opera in Boston. It is generally conceded that it has not been a dearth of singers due to the war which has caused this decision as opera artists of the first rank have been flocking in this country for weeks past in great numbers, in fact the artistic world of Europe may be said to have been shifted to the United States. Rather a noticeable reluctance to support opera at high prices, is believed to have cleared the field for the Boston Theatre Opera Co. The Boston Theatre Company as a result is doubly fortunate, first in being able to secure any number of marvellous operatic voices from Europe, never before heard in Boston, yet standing on a par abroad with many artists of great fame in America and, secondly, in offering opera at prices, 25 cents to $2.00, within the reach of all. The fact that the Boston Theatre is offering the only Grand opera to be heard in New England the coming winter is being rapidly taken advantage of by the public. Increasing interest is shown in club nights, the Boston City Club, with its 5,000 members having secured the house for the evening of Nov. 9th, and various colleges and clubs have other nights.

The fifth week of the season is to open with the company's first presentation of "La Traviata," familiar in its dramatic form as "Camille." The opera is full of lovely melodies and noted for its wonderful coloratura numbers, made doubly famous by Mme. Tetrassini. The difficult "Ah, fors e lui" will be sung by Miriam Ardini whose coloratura voice has already attracted marked attention. The opera will be given on both Monday evening and Wednesday afternoon.

The remarkable reception given Ciccolini for his work in "La Boheme" has led to a demand for another presentation of this ever popular Puccini opera which will form the bill for Tuesday evening.

"Faust," always of tremendous popularity with the public, will be the opera for Wednesday and Friday evenings. Johanna Kristoffy will add to her laurels in the part of Marguerite and Miss Alice Gentle will be the Siebel. Attilio di Crescenzo will portray Faust and di Biasi the character of Mephistopheles.

"Un'Ballo in Maschera," the opera which has its unique setting in Boston in the time of the Colonial governors, is to be given on Thursday evening with Opezzo repeating his successes in the role of Governor Richard, Count of Warwick, and Ramon Blanchart his marvellous interpretation of the part of Reinhart, the unhappy secretary.

Another performance which always commands attention and satisfied lovers of dramatic music is "Tosca," to complete the week on Saturday evening.

Letters remaining unclaimed at the Manchester, Mass., P. O., for week ending Oct. 24, 1914:—Miss Katherine G. Bans, B. Brennen, Mrs. Callaghaw, Miss E. M. Colver, Robert Carpenter, Mrs. Frank Damon, Miss Sadie Kelley, Miss Cella Lestrangle, Mrs. Frank Lynn, A. Lovering, John M. Manns.—Sam'l L. Wheaton, P. M.

October 30, 1914.

No. 44

A FOUR-HUNDRED MILE MOTOR TRIP from the North Shore through the Berkshires convinces one of the wisdom of the policy inaugurated some twenty years ago in the building and maintaining of three great trunk routes of State-owned highways in Massachusetts. The completion this fall of those three roads marks the successful culmination of this policy. The three main routes thus completed are: The southern highway, from Boston to the New York line, by way of Worcester, Springfield, Lenox and Pittsfield; the shore route, from Salisbury on the New Hampshire line to the tip of Cape Cod; and the Connecticut Valley route up and down the State, from Agawam on the Connecticut line, passing through Springfield and Greenfield, to the New Hampshire line at Northfield. The Boston-Pittsfield route has been completed by the filling in of gaps in Becket and Lee, the shore route by important work in Plymouth and Bourne, and the Connecticut Valley route by short bits of construction work in scattered places. These three continuous highways, of a type of construction the most permanent now known to road builders, put this state ahead of all her sisters in this kind of facilities. Excellent progress has been made upon several other routes. Perhaps the most important of these is the northern route across the State, from Boston to the New York line, by way of Fitchburg, Athol, Deerfield, Greenfield, North Adams and Williamstown. The "Mohawk Trail," as that section of this route which traverses Florida Mountain, between the Deerfield Valley and North Adams, has been christened, has been formally dedicated and is now open to traffic, though a short stretch on this side of the mountain was not in use three weeks ago when the writer made the trip. The State road on this northern trunk route has now been completed between Boston and Deerfield and between Charlemont and Williamstown. During the coming year it is almost certain that the existing gaps in Shelburne and Charlemont will be filled in. Although the Highway Commission has not yet accepted the concrete road as a definite advance over the bituminous macadam of which the vast majority of its highways are constructed, experiments along this line are being made. Still another type of road, bituminous macadam built by the preparation method, is also being tried. The majority of the new roads are at least 18, and in many cases 21 or even 24 feet wide. It might also be added that while the initiative in these trunk lines was taken by Massachusetts two decades ago, the other New England states have since taken up with the scheme and there are hundreds of miles of such roads in all the states, especially New Hampshire, which was early awake to the value of such motor roads as a summer resort asset.

IN HIS NEW BOOK ON THE WAR IN EUROPE, Albert Bushnell Hart, Professor of Government at Harvard discusses the antecedents of the present conflict and its effect upon this country. In discussing the benefits which he believes would come from adoption here of the Swiss system of military service, in addition to the value for purposes of national defense, Prof. Hart writes: This country is not likely to adopt the idea that it can afford to give or need give two or three years out of the most productive part of a young man's life to learn the art of war; but there is much to be said for the Swiss system of universal service for brief periods, amounting together to about six months, and more for the officers. The Swiss are very like the Americans in their individuality and democracy, and neither of those qualities has been cut down by such service. In spite of the undersirable side of the barrack life, which is a severe test of a young man's morals, such a universal service would do much to set up American youth, to push back their shoulders, inflate their lungs, train their leg muscles, teach them to do what they are told, make them aware that every man-child in the world is born to perform service at the behest of older people. It will take the boys out of the slums and the schools and the farms and the shops for a few months, show them how large their own country is, give them the feeling that they are responsible for its welfare and defense. If the European war directs the United States toward that course, it will not have been altogether evil.

DR. NEWELL DWIGHT HILLIS, a successor to Dr. Henry Ward Beecher in the pastorate of the Plymouth church, Brooklyn, is an optimist of highest rank. In Beverly before the Teachers' association he recently delivered an address on America and its Opportunity. So much calumny has been predicted by muck-raking periodical writers and paragraphers it is refreshing to know that the tide has turned and that the really deep thinkers of our age are conquering pessimism and its blighting influence. America is a great country and within its precincts the destiny of the highest hopes of humanity will be developed.

COLLEGE PROFESSORS have been blazing away at the immoral doctrine of Dr. Rudolf Steinmetz published in his book "The Philosophy of War," for a decade, but now arms are settling the contest that has been academic hitherto. In it he claims that loyalty and war are closely related ideas. To neglect war means to sacrifice the nobler qualities of national loyalty. It is this perversion of the idea of loyalty that is ruining Europe's national life.

IT SEEMS A THOUSAND PITIES to see so many apples going to waste when there are so many people living in the cities to whom even the poorest apples would be a blessing. The greatest misfortune of all is that the poor fruit will not even pay for the time required to handle them or the boxes and barrels needed to pack them.

PROHIBITION AS A NATIONAL ISSUE is one thing and as a State issue it is another matter. The Prohibitionists have seen the hole in the Progressive alignment! Will Walker's election assure either? But the plank shows the world do "move." Watch Russia.

THE UNPARALLELED WEATHER has continued. Many farmers back from the shore have completed their early and late fall work and have been able to do fall ploughing.

MUNSTERBERG STAYS. What a surprise! What other issue could have been possible?

THERE IS A DEPRESSION that was countrywide before the European War began. It has now become world-wide and a business condition already bad has become worse. During the winter months, beginning usually in January, and lasting until early spring there is a paucity of work for contractors, and consequently many workers, day laborers and mechanics are unemployed during this period. There were evidences early in the summer that the winter of 1915 would be a hard one. There are many ways in which this condition may be remedied. In early spring it is nearly impossible for contractors to complete on time the rush orders that are sent in to complete spring alterations before the summer season has set in. If many of the summer residents could only acquire the habit of laying their spring plans early and notify their contractors in the late fall, it would be possible for the owners of estates not only to obtain better prices for the work done, but they would have the added satisfaction of affording work to men at a time when it is most needed. Now is the time to make spring plans!

IN HINGHAM BY THE ENTERPRISE of some of its citizens a sanctuary for birds has been established. No hunter can lawfully violate the sacred precincts. This embargo on arms has become possible by an act of the legislature which makes it possible for property owners or selectmen in towns or mayors of cities to petition for the setting apart of favorable areas as reserve territory on which hunting is prohibited. By the terms of this act Hingham has such a sanctuary. Brookline in its fight against the destroyers of the pheasants envies Hingham's good sense.

TWO HUNDRED YEARS is not long measured in eons; but in the light of the history of our land it is a long while. The Congregational church in Hamilton is celebrating its two-hundredth anniversary this week. With the first settlement in New England dating only to 1620 a two-hundredth anniversary entitles a town or a church to distinction in our young republic.

COTTON WAS OUR TROUBLE in the Civil War and now Cotton is causing trouble again in this war. Still, why should Uncle Samuel become a stock broker in cotton? The southern problem is acute, but it is difficult to see what claim the growers have on the national government!

THE CELEBRATION OF TRAFALGAR DAY in Great Britain last week was no gala or festive occasion. The watchword in old England now is "England expects every man to do his duty." Those on the field are; but the recruiting officers are worrying over the slow responses to the call.

A FORTUNATE READER of a newspaper advertisement has received an appointment at the hands of the Mayor of New York at a salary of $5,000. It was a fortunate idea all round.

IT IS SURPRISING how few people, even public speakers and well-educated persons, know how to pronounce "allies" correctly. It is a good word to look up in the dictionary.

WITH THE NEW SEWERAGE SYSTEM in operation, Manchester will be in the lead for municipal progress made by small towns.

FITZ KREISLER'S DEATH was "greatly exaggerated."

PRISON SUNDAY calls the attention of the public to a part of the population that is receiving more care now than ever. The prison problem is still unsolved. How to make our penal institutions serve the ends of justice and yet afford transgressors of the law opportunities to re-establish themselves in society, is a problem that may well require the attention and study of our brainiest men. Dr. Warren F. Spalding brought a new message of this problem in his talk before the Manchester brotherhood. Now that the public is becoming interested in the reclamation work of prison sentences, progress will be made. To permit mere punishment for crime to continue, is not in accordance with good public policy. The Prison Reform society has inaugurated a good work that deserves and will have the co-operation of all citizens.

AN APPLE A DAY KEEPS THE DOCTOR AWAY. This is the slogan of the Apple Consumer's League, formed for the purpose of popularizing the fruit. Let every New England man and woman eat at least one apple every day. The resulting benefits will be enormous, first to the consumer's health and incidentally to the prosperity of the New England apple producer. The League points out that this year's apple crop is unprecedentedly large, while the war has practically closed the foreign market for American apples. The result will be that thousands of barrels of apples will rot on the ground, in spite of the fact that thousands of people in Boston and other New England cities would be glad to have some of the surplus crop at a fair price.

PEACE SUNDAY WAS A FINANCIAL SUCCESS. The responses made by the churches to the Red Cross societies' appeal for funds was gratifying. With contributions totaling $42,885.71, it is evident that some interest is being taken in the human side of this conflict. The returns from the Red Cross sale and tea at the Bradley estate showed that the North Shore was not lacking in its activities. The Red Cross society has a large work to do and it can find many legitimate ways to do good with the money received.

THE DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN BOOK claims to have saved at least a million dollars to soldiers and sailors through the direct payment of pensions by checks, but it turns out that the act abolishing the pension agencies was approved August 17, 1912, or seven months before Wilson's administration began.

Put Up The Sword

BY JOHN GREENLEAF WHITTIER.

"Put up the sword!" The voice of Christ once more Speaks, in the pauses of the cannon's roar,
O'er fields of corn by fiery sickles reaped
And left dry ashes; over trenches heaped
With nameless dead; o'er cities starving slow
Under a rain of fire; through wards of woe Down which a groaning diapason runs
From tortured brothers, husbands, lovers, sons
Of desolate women in their far-off homes,
Waiting to hear the step that never comes!
O men and brothers! let that voice be heard.
War fails, try peace; put up the useless sword!

HANDSOME NEW MOTOR BUS FOR MANCHESTER-GLOUCESTER SERVICE

The new auto bus for Story & Greenwood's Gloucester, Magnolia and Manchester line arrived the first of this week and made its first trip to Manchester Tuesday night. It is a new White purchased from Perkins & Corliss and the special enclosed body was built in Merrimac, Mass.

This new passenger conveyance is the last word in construction. It is especially adapted to winter service, fully enclosed with large observation windows, well heated and will accommodate 30 people comfortably. The finely upholstered seats are arranged as seats in a train, with room for two on a seat.

Automatic door and steps controlled by the driver is a safety against accidents. The North Shore is fortunate in securing this up-to-date bus, which is quick, convenient and comfortable for transportation. The enterprising concern announces that it will put another such car in service next summer.

ACCIDENT AT MANCHESTER

Fred Mullen, a resident of Gloucester, is in a serious condition at the Gloucester hospital, as a result of an accident at the Phillip Dexter estate at Manchester, just before noon yesterday, when his right arm was nearly severed from his body by a circular saw.

The Dexter place is off Forest street, toward the Magnolia station, and a portable saw-mill has been in operation there for some time. Mullen was working around the saw when his sleeve got caught and pulled his arm in, nearly cutting the member off.

His fellow workmen rushed to his assistance and hurried him to Dr. Glendenning, who gave him first aid and ordered his quick removal to a hospital. The unfortunate man was rushed to the Gloucester hospital on Short street in the auto bus.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE LEAGUE

MEETING HELD IN MANCHESTER IN INTEREST OF PEACE AND SUFFRAGE MOVEMENT

A meeting in the interests of Peace and the Woman's Suffrage movement was held at Town hall, Manchester, Wednesday evening with about fifty present, the meeting was under the auspices of the Manchester Equal Suffrage League of which Miss Louie R. Stanwood is president. Miss Stanwood delivered a short address of welcome and introduced the speakers of the evening, who were Mrs. W. O. Pinkham of Denver, Colorado, and Rev. Dr. Samuel McComb of Great Britain and Boston. Mrs. Pinkham, the suffrage speaker, is a woman of pleasing personality and one who made a decided impression on her audience. She said in part:

"For one who has lived many years in the West where women have been voting in the various states for periods of time varying from forty-five to two or three years, 'Votes for Women' has become as much of a common-place as 'Votes for Men.' When I came East about two years ago, I was much interested in attending anti-suffrage meetings and reading anti-suffrage literature. I learned some very curious things about my own state of Colorado and the other western states; it was most interesting, I can assure you. All of the women I know in the West study political questions conscientiously, and usually go to the polls with their fathers or brothers or husbands; in any part of the state where I had opportunity to observe, the women vote in as large numbers as the men; the homes in Colorado are happy and well cared for; mothers love their children and train them with care; the women in the West do not look or dress any different from women in the East.

"Moreover, thoughtful people are saying today that if women had had a voice in the counsels of the great nations which are at war, if the mother's point of view had helped to shape the diplomacy of these countries, perhaps this terrible calamity might have been averted.

"Another very common objection is that women in this country ought not to vote because some women in England have become militant in their demand for the ballot. A few weeks ago, it sometimes seemed worth while to say quite a little about militancy, but today when all the damage wrought by the women in their ten years of warfare, the lives lost (a few of their own), the buildings destroyed, the pictures injured, the empty buildings burned, and the bombs harmlessly exploded, is compared with what is happening in one day of the men's war that is now going on in Europe, it is so insignificant that it seems hardly worth mentioning! Militancy is not typical of the suffrage movement.

"Another very common objection offered is that women are already over-burdened. A woman working ten to fourteen hours a day and then going home to look after her little tenement home and her big brood of half-fed, neglected children is over-burdened! That is why some other women who care about her want the ballot.

"It is said that the majority of women do not want suffrage. Great reforms have never come about because the majority of the people wanted them. It is always the few who see the vision and sacrifice to make it real. The majority did not demand educational opportunities for women forty or fifty years ago, but today all are sharing in the benefits gained by the few. Right through the ages, this has been the method of reform and progress. It is not surprising that the political enfranchisement of women is no exception.

"There is no question before the American public today which is awaking more interest than that of equal suffrage. Especially is this true in Massachusetts since the Legislature has passed the bill submitting woman suffrage to a referendum of the voters in November 1915. Men and women alike are realizing that they can not afford to be uninformed upon such a great public issue. I trust that out of this meeting may grow the resolve on the part of all to be informed upon this great public issue and a desire on the part of some, at least, to strive actively to translate into law their ideals of liberty, justice, and progress."

Rev. Dr. McComb was the next speaker and he delivered a clear, concise address on the European War, its causations and consequences. In speaking of peace he said that the peace which could be brought about by the intervention of the United States would not be a peace founded upon stable and enduring foundations and that the terrible war into which Europe has found herself plunged must be allowed to run its course. Dr. McComb, who has but recently returned from England, finds the indifference of the American people inexcusable and he spoke of our neutrality as a political nation as contrasted with our interest as human beings.

The speaker set forth very clearly the causes of the war as he learned of them from "The White Papers," published by the New York Times and on sale for ten cents. These papers are the correspondence of the diplomats of involved nations just prior to the war, with the exception to that of Germany and Austria, who have refused to publish the letters which their diplomats exchanged at that time. Dr. McComb's opinion was that Sir Edward Grey, the English Secretary of Foreign Affairs, had done everything possible to avert the war and that if Germany had spoken the word, "Peace" Austria would have fallen back even after her violation of Servian territory and the great catastrophe which has befallen the nations of Europe would have been warded off.

It was of the consequences of the war upon which the speaker dwelt at greater length, especially of the suffering imposed upon the great middle classes. Rev. Dr. McComb made a stirring appeal for stricken Belgium, whose country has been desolated when she was depending wholly on her treaty rights, and who has made a noble stand for justice. The result of this stand has been a "land without a nation," as Dr. McComb expressed it, the country desolated and her people exiled to Great Britain or to Holland. It was for the aid of these refugees that the speaker appealed particularly and eloquently. They are in desperate need of clothing and the necessities of life that money can buy and they will be for many months to come. A sewing and knitting circle was suggested as a practical way in which Manchester women are able to help. Any contributions of clothing or money sent to the Rev. Dr. Saml. McComb of the Emmanuel church, Boston, will be forwarded to the proper Belgian authorities. If it is so desired Dr. McComb will also see that any contributions for the Germans will reach the proper quarters. He said in closing, "War at its worst is Hell; at its best it is a little better than national dishonor and national servility."

Dr. McComb was very earnest in his appeal and his cause is so indisputable worthy that it is hoped that Manchester will not fail to do her share in the movement.

Announcement was also made of the Suffrage Bazaar to be held at the Copley-Plaza, Boston, November 23. Manchester will be represented there and Mrs. Frank P. Tenney will receive any contributions which may be made. One-half of the proceeds of this bazaar are to be used for the Belgian Relief Fund.

The collection ($20.00) which was taken up at the meeting Wednesday evening was also put to that purpose and the League will be pleased to receive any other offerings for the Belgian people.

As one of the results of the meeting a circle for Belgian Relief work will be started in Manchester under the auspices of the Equal Suffrage league.

"THE ROAD TO HAPPINESS."

Quaint sayings of William Hodge in his big play success of the above title now in its seventh week at the Wilbur Theatre, Boston:

You can't fight trouble with tears: tears help trouble just the way water helps flowers.

Courage—confidence in the truth—this makes the road to happiness.

A smiling face cures lumbago.

You can't control a woman's heart with a sledge-hammer.

Laughter on the lips makes sunshine in the heart.

Let's take it easy now. If we start slow, we won't be so tired when we get where we're goin'.

Let 'em roast. While they're roastin' me they're lettin' somebody else cool off.

Old Father Time is the only sure fire detective in the world.

Let it rain; it'll make the ducks and the flowers happy.

Squeeze your mind and press on your heart and see what your tongue will do.

DEMOCRATIC RALLY

Enthusiastic Democratic rallies were held last night at all the towns and cities along the North Shore from Rockport to Marblehead. At the rally in the Manchester Town hall some 100 men (and two women) attended. The rally was preceded by a band concert in the square by the Manchester brass band, and there was plenty of red fire.

Frank A. Foster, chairman of the Manchester Democratic Town committee, who is candidate for representative, presided, and introduced as the first speaker Hon. Charles D. Smith of Gloucester, candidate for councillor.

Mr. Foster followed, speaking in behalf of the ticket as a whole and making special reference to the representative situation with three men running on the republican ticket, thus offering a favorable outlook for the democratic nominee.

Mr. McGovern of Boston gave an orational address on the great strides made by the democratic party the last two years and was followed by William H. O'Brien, formerly candidate for Congress.

Hon. F. W. Mansfield, state treasurer, gave an eloquent and common sense talk on the general situation and spoke at length on the work of his office. The last speaker was George A. Schofield of Ipswich, Congressional candidate.

The hall was effectively decorated with black and orange, and black cats and witches pasted on the walls added to the spooky effect. The committee and many of the guests dressed as ghosts and all the old Hallowe'en "stunts" and many that were newer were indulged in. The committee served apples, doughnuts and cider after the games were finished. The next meeting will be held Monday, Nov. 9, at the Chapel and members are requested to bring sewing materials in order to work on the sheets and pillow-cases for the Red Cross society; also all members who

The regular meeting of the Arbella club, Manchester, was held Tuesday afternoon at the Congregational chapel with an unusually large number of members present. William Hooper of West Manchester was the speaker of the afternoon and delivered a most interesting talk on "My trip around the World." The address was illustrated by stereopticon pictures. Miss Emily Ferreira sang very beautifully, as usual, and was called upon to respond to an encore. Miss Clara Corrin was accompanist. The next meeting of the club will be held Tuesday, November 10.

PROHIBITION CLUB

The Massachusetts Prohibition club at an enthusiastic meeting held late yesterday afternoon (Thursday) at the offices of the Prohibition State Com., 79 Milk st., Boston issued its first announcement of the political season in which caustic reference is made to the Progressive Party and all Prohibitionists are called upon to stand by their candidates on the State ballot.

Vigorous declaration for the maintenance of the integrity of the Prohibition party was made by the members who pointed out that the consistent fight made by the party against the liquor traffic, as an economic issue, had been largely responsible for the present spread of sympathy for National Prohibition.

Following the debate, which was tinged with acrimony, the club issued its statement.

NEW YORK HIPPODROME

"Wars of the World" will enter upon its eighth week at the New York Hippodrome, Monday, after having delighted nearly 400,000 persons during the opening period of its engagement. The recent experiment of inviting the clergy of New York in a body to witness the performance has brought from the latter strong endorsement in and out of the pulpit, with the result that many who are not ordinarily counted as theatregoers regard it as a duty to witness the spectacle.

"Wars of the World," in the language of the press agent, "combines all that is most majestic in massive melodrama; mirthful merry and melodious in musical comedy; startling sensational and scintillating in superb spectacle, while containing all the furious, frothy fun and frolic an army of clowns can furnish for the kiddies, and gorgeous, glittering, glorious gladness for the grown-ups."

Because of extreme drouth, the fire risks on the national forests in the Northwest have been greater this season than in any other since 1910, the worst year since the forests were created. Much less damage was done this year because experience in fire fighting was gained in the fires of 1910.

The Ladies' Sewing circle was entertained last evening by Mrs. Louis Hardy at her home on Hale st.

Leonard Hersey, the new proprietor of the restaurant in Central sq., has resigned his position at the United Shoe Machinery plant in Beverly, which he has held many years, and will devote his whole time to his restaurant business.

Quite a lot of improvements have been made lately on the various sidewalks at Beverly Farms. Besides the new construction, surface improvements on some of the old sidewalks have produced good results, and therefore appreciated by Beverly Farms people in general. George D. Batchelder and John L. Pierce of the Public Works Dept., have done especial good work in sidewalk improvement and have been handed many a compliment for same by the passers-by.

An Italian lecture will be given at the Chapel of the Baptist church on Wednesday evening, Nov. 18th.

BOSTON OPERA HOUSE

A new regime has been inaugurated at the Boston Opera House. Pending the time when it will be decided whether or not grand opera will be given in January, the big theatre has been taken over by the Allied Arts Association, a corporation composed of Boston Opera officials, headed by W. R. Macdonald, the business manager of the company.

The policy of the new lessees is to give a varied, interesting and highly attractive entertainment which will make a direct appeal to all classes of amusement seekers. There will be grand opera in homeopathic doses,—one act operas and scenes or acts from the standard operas, given in costume and with all scenic effects, motion picture films of only the highest order, orchestral numbers and the running accompaniment to the pictures furnished by a score of players from the regular Boston Opera orchestra, selections played on the big organ, an instrument but rarely heard and yet one of the finest in Boston, vocal selections by operatic artists of renown and lastly exhibitions of classic and modern dancing by some of the best known exponents of that art.

Mr. Macdonald has chosen for his motto "It costs so little and you get so much," a statement which is amply borne out. Reserved seats in the balcony and orchestra cost but 35c. and 50c. and there are 1,000 seats at 25c.

HAMILTON, MASS., OCTOBER 26, 1914.

To the Voters of the Sixth District:

Just before the Primaries in September, many advertisements were published and many speeches were delivered by my opponent in which the imputation was clearly made that I had been guilty of gross misrepresentation, if not downright falsehood in connection with my relief services rendered in London last summer. To my audiences, I explained that it was too late for me to produce any evidence with which to confute these accusations. I agreed, however, to write to the American Ambassador in London asking for a plain statement of the case. Furthermore, I agreed to publish his answer no matter what it might be. The answer has just arrived, and I append it herewith. It is well to remember that Ambassador Page is a Democrat, and an appointee of President Wilson's.

*You may be glad to know that the big Department that you organized, during your kind volunteer service here, has gone on doing its good work under the momentum you gave it. I shall always remember your kind and patriotic service with deep gratitude. The Embassy owes you much, as I am informing the Department of State in my official Report; but we who worked with you also owe you much, for you helped to make a trying time very pleasant, week after week.

SYLVESTER SCHAFFER AT B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Sylvester Schaffer, the most complete genius who ever lived, who has been declared by one New York critic to be to vaudeville what Napoleon was to war, comes to B. F. Keith's Theatre the week of November 2nd for twelve performances only. Schaffer is the highest salaried artist in the world. He does everything, performing an entire evening's entertainment all by himself. Schaffer is a coin and card manipulator; a juggler; a sharpshooter; a circus horseman; a trained animal exhibitor; a violinist; a strong man; a comedian; and a pantomimist. In fact, there is really no end to the accomplishments of this wonderful man. Schaffer appears alone. He introduces a half-dozen elaborate and beautiful scenic sets, and is assisted by all kinds of animals in his act. A herd of deer, a wild boar, a tame fox, some educated dogs, and a half dozen beautiful horses all contribute their part towards his finished performance. For instance in his juggling stunts, Schaffer utilizes a troupe of dogs; for his sharpshooting, a herd of deer wander around the stage, oblivious to the reports of the rifle. As a circus horseman, Schaffer displays the famous Spanish school equestrianism, with a beautiful stallion and a gelding; as a Roman chariot driver he handles a superb hitch of dapple gray steeds in the confines of the stage in the most masterly fashion. Schaffer's performance lasts one hour. He will be surrounded by a great vaudeville bill,

WENHAM

Last Saturday the Wenham tea house closed for the season. While in common with all other such enterprises the Wenham tea house has felt the hard times, still the year has been financially profitable. The ladies of the Village Improvement Society who have charge of the "tabby cat" feel especially elated over the words of approval received from patrons who are familiar with tea rooms all over the state.

Additional proof that Essex county is too populous for the existing system of indiscriminate gunning was given last week, when Miss Helen Burnham of "Overlook" was in imminent danger of being hit by the shot of a trespasser on her estate.

Mr. Henry A. Atkinson of Boston will address a social service forum at 7 p. m., on the subject "Supervised recreation and public playgrounds." Mr. Atkinson is an eloquent speaker, and a recognized authority upon this timely theme.

Wednesday a public supper will be served by the ladies society, followed by an entertainment. On Friday, Oct. 30, the ladies are holding an all-day sewing meeting with Mrs. Mary A. Batchelder.

Friday, Nov. 6, the department of church extension will conduct a cottage prayer meeting at the residence of Austin Patch. The hour will be 7.30 p. m.

Serving as a court of honor to examine boy scouts is one function of the committee on recreation of the department of social service. On Monday this committee, consisting of Albert A. Tracy, Harvey R. Williams, and Edgar W. Sawyer, with Herbert W. Porter ex officio, admitted Warren Sawyer to the second class of scoutcraft, and five boys to the tenderfoot grade, John Ames, Roscoe Brooks, Carl Flynn, Fred Stanton and Leo Wildes.

West Wenham's men, belonging to the Willing Workers, gave a supper to the organization in the Mapleville chapel Wednesday.

Strangers confuse Wenham with its neighbor town on the north. Sunday morning several attended the village church under misapprehension that they could there participate in the Hamilton bi-centennial.

At the C. E. business meeting Monday evening it was reported that Wenham's percentage of efficiency had risen from 44% to 48%. Officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows: pres., Miss Grace E. Glavin; vice-pres., Edgar W. Sawyer; sec., Marjorie Hill; treas., Florence Underhill. Also these chairmen of committees: Lookout, E. W. Sawyer; Prayer meeting, Helen E. Patch; Missionary, William Glavin; Social, Margaret Sawyer; Music, Dorothy Eaton; Flower, Natalie Eaton; Information, George Taylor; Finance, Florence Underhill; Good literature, Helen Trott; Sunday school, Helen E. Throughout the national forests the rangers are posting the roads with permanent guide signs which tell distances and directions, especially at forks and crossroads. The signs are usually put up in the winter when other work tends to be light. On some forests the rangers go on snowshoes, dragging loaded sleds and nail the signboards to the roadside trees.

Have You Visited THE DRESS PARLOR This Season

If not we extend to you a personal invitation to come and see the New Fall Dresses. Perhaps you do not know the extensive assortment we carry in this department.

Fall dress fashions whether street, afternoon or evening models, differ radically from those of last season. Many bodices are of semi-fitted line and the skirts are considerably fuller. There is no appearance of bouffant effect at the hips, on the contrary, the skirt in all its forms has a smooth fitting hip-line with the gradual introduction of fullness below which may take the form of a tunic or may be in the skirt itself. A bodice style follows the Moyen Age designs, having wholly unfitted lines and the long waist finish. The color tendency is very largely toward soft dark tones. Very dark navy (almost black), tete de negre brown, black, black and white, labrador blue, Deauville green, dark olive green, reddish brown and the new pretty tones are much in vogue both alone and combined with other colors.

ONLY WAY TO KEEP A SECRET

In life, usually, the only absolute, incontestable insurance of a secret is to tell it to no one. If one does not want a fact known, it is wise not to tell any part of it.—William George Jordan.

ROSE BEAD NECKLACES

The rose bead was originally the Rosary—made from the petals of roses by the devotees long ago, and through its use by the faithful, became a most precious belonging.

In place of the sombre beads of the Rosary, we manufacture varied styles for now-a-day adornment.

The color and fragrance of these flower beads are lasting.

We alternate these rose beads with small pearl and gilt beads, thus giving the necklace a most charming appearance. Illustrations actual size.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mrs. Marian Shaw McKean, former wife of Henry Pratt McKean, of Pride's Crossing and 238 Beacon st., Boston, will be married Sunday by Rev. W. H. Lyons of Brookline to Malcolm Graeme Haughton at the residence of her mother, Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw, 241 Perkins street, Jamaica Plain.

Thomas Silsbee has concluded his season's stay at Pride's Crossing and has returned to 115 Marlborough st., Boston, for the winter.

♦ ♦ ♦

Charles Gibson of Boston and Nahant and Gen. Wm. Pew of Salem were among those visiting at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. James Barr, for the Halloween Party given by Mr. and Mrs. Barr for the village people in New Ipswich, N. H.

♦ ♦ ♦

Herbert Warren Mason and family have closed their house at Ipswich and have returned to their Boston residence at 14 Gloucester st.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mrs. C. S. Hanks of the West Manchester colony has been among the North Shore women to interest herself in the Red Cross work. She has made a donation to the school children of Manchester who are sewing in their classes for the stricken Belgians under the auspices of the Red Cross society. The classes are willing to devote their time to the work, but are unable to furnish materials and any contributions toward this end will be gratefully accepted.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Bartlett, who have been at Beverly Farms all summer, will make their home at 43 Carlton street, Longwood, this winter. They were at 10 Monmouth Court last year.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. Francis W. Sargent, Jr., who have been spending their honeymoon at the home of Rush Street, Maryland, returned to Massachusetts the first of the week. They have a place at Hamilton, which they will make their year-round home. Mrs. George Lee, Mrs. Sargent's mother, is spending a few weeks at Hot Springs with her daughter, Miss Florence. Mrs. Lee entertained at dinner last Friday evening in honor of Miss Louise Inches, one of this season's debutantes.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mrs. George Putnam of Boston and Manchester closed her North Shore cottage last week, and is established at 191 Commonwealth avenue, for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Q. A. Shaw of Exeter street, Boston, are entertaining quite a bit at their recently completed home at Eastham, a charming Cape Cod town, where they are spending the autumn. The house has been named "Cedar Pines." Mr. and Mrs. Shaw are of the Pride's Crossing colony, where they have a very beautiful place called "Pompey's Garden."

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Fay have closed their cottage at Nahant this week and are again occupying their winter quarters at 287 Beacon street, Boston.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mrs. R. C. Winthrop and family closed their summer home at West Manchester this week and returned to their town house at Walnut st., Boston. Miss Clara Winthrop gave a party at her bungalow yesterday, it being a double anniversary—though most informal in its nature—the birthday of one of those present, Miss Alice Thorndike, and also the opening of the bungalow for the many happy parties and week-ends during the winter.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. John Martin Graham of Smith's Point, Manchester-by-the-Sea, closed their summer establishment there last week, returning to their Boston home on Commonwealth avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Francis W. Fabyan of the West Manchester colony returned to their town house at Boston the latter part of last week. Mr. and Mrs. George E. Warren of Manchester have opened their Beacon street home for the winter months.

♦ ♦ ♦

J. H. Walker of Detroit and a party of friends were at "Rockledge," the summer home of the Walker family at Magnolia over the week-end.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mrs. T. Jefferson Coolidge has gone to Boston for the winter, closing her house at Coolidge's Point, Manchester.

Many North Shore people are interested in the piano recital which Miss Virginia Wainwright is giving at the Tuileries (Boston) next Tuesday afternoon. Miss Wainwright, who is a daughter of Mrs. G. A. Wainwright, Longwood, will be assisted by Alfred Gletzen of the Boston Symphony orchestra; he will play the viola.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gannon Clark of Beverly Farms, are to observe their second wedding anniversary next Saturday. Mrs. Clark was Mary Head, one of the most attractive of the North Shore debutantes of her season and one of the first to be married. She married the late William Russell, who died shortly after the marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Clark's wedding two years ago was a charming but very quiet affair.

Plans are being made for the second Bay State Suffrage Festival, which is to be held at the Copley-Plaza Monday and Tuesday, November 23 and 24, and a number of North Shore people are among those especially active. On the ways and means committee are Mrs. Oakes Ames, Mrs. H. P. McKean, Mrs. Louis Agassiz Shaw, and on the general committee of men, who will assist at the dance are Prescott Bigelow, Jr., and Louis A. Shaw. Mrs. Franklin W. Hobbs is the chairman of the dance committee and Mrs. H. P. McKean is a prominent member of the same committee. The affair will doubtless be even more brilliant than that of last season. Half of the proceeds are to go to the Massachusetts Red Cross society. Vaudeville performances, a thé dansant and a bazaar in which over 50 cities and towns are to be represented, and exhibition of posters and a large dance on the second night of the affair are among the varied attractions.

BOSTON OPERA HOUSE

The trend of the times is indicated by the elevation of the cinematograph to the realms of art. The moving picture, once considered a low uninspired form of amusement, with its faulty workmanship, weak inspired, unsubstantial dramatic effects, in-artistic settings and generally low appeal, has run the course of public condemnation, toleration and final recognition, until now it has reached a point where it is looked on as a great power for the advancement of the good and the beautiful in the artistic and educational world.

The latest and greatest honor accorded this new enterprise is a place on the program at the Boston Opera House, the handsomest and most splendidly equipped theatre in America.

So great has been the success of the last film shown, "Julius Caesar," that it will be retained during the coming week. An idea of the scale on which the piece is staged may be gathered from the statement that more than 5,000 people participate in some of the scenes.

The dancing feature of the program will be the first appearance in Boston of Eugene Marum, "an American Mordkin." For the past two seasons he has been the idol of Chicago's smart set and he now makes his Eastern debut as Pierot and also in The Dance of the Young Arab. The operatic number will be the second act of "Martha," including "The Last Rose of Summer" and the "Good Night" quartet, given by the stock company and complete orchestra.

Letters remaining unclaimed at the Manchester, Mass., P. O., for week ending Oct. 31, 1914:—Edwina Avery, Charles Bartlett, Miss B. Davis, George Dumas, Mr. Daly, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Foster, Miss Agnes Higgins, F. H. Higgins, Mrs. Gilman McAllester, Miss Mary O'Donnell, Peter O'Connors, Miss Florence Pollard, Miss Mary Smith, Mrs. Lethia Vinton, Howard Willets, Adam Yanix.—S. L. ## He and She

She gave him her love, her life, her all.
He joined the ranks at his country's call.

He might have left her the boon of his name;
He was eager to join in the battle game.

He fell and his name is wreathed in glory;
She—but that is another story.

His name is bright with a nation's fame,
Her's is darkened with sin and shame.

How strangely in life things go awry!
I wonder why?

Enter an Old Business in an Entirely
New Way—New to Salem and Hereabouts,
New to the Country at Large, But—

JUST AS SURE TO DEVELOP into a tremendous industry as has the mail order business developed in the last few years, for it is based upon the most practical ideas that any thought could suggest, that is, the gathering together of merchandise at the very first cost and distributing it to the public through the least possible expense. It will incorporate all the advantages that are real that the ordinary distributor, commonly called the retailer, has ever been able to offer, eliminating in its entirety all the disadvantages to the consumers that a retail business has had to impose. High Rents, Big Interest on large Real Estate Investments, expensive help hire, electric lighting, double handling and carting of goods, exhaustive advertising, and the hundred and one items that have to enter into a retailer's expenses and added to the selling price for the public to pay,—all these will be eliminated in this new industry we are to enter. While the experience that is necessary to learn the people's wants, gained only through having come directly in contact with them through a retailer's way, is given to this enterprise at its very offset. We shall be recognized by the manufactures as wholesalers and jobbers and gain big advantages thereby in the purchasing of goods. This enterprise is unique in as much as it is a pioneer enterprise which has been accepted and endorsed by every person whom we first acquainted with it; from banker to manufacturer, professional man to day worker, all have seen the fine side of it the minute we've explained it.

The moving picture business is interesting many local people, said the Beverly Times, yesterday.

Latest in the way of a moving picture scheme is the plan talked over by a party of Beverly men for a tri-town moving picture offering. The plan as talked is to play in Hamilton two nights a week, Monday and Wednesday; in Essex, Tuesday and Friday, and in Manchester, Thursday and Saturday.

VOL. XII November 6, 1914. No. 45

THE SLAUGHTER OF THE PHEASANT has continued during the month and thousands of these birds which have added touches of moving color to the landscape have been slain. The pheasant was first introduced in this vicinity by a summer resident interested in the preservation of the fauna of the wood. Later the fields have been stocked through the agency of the state of Massachusetts. It would seem that the gunsmen of the state are laboring under the delusion that these birds exist solely for their sporting activities. There is an open season for bird-hunting, but there are other interests which are served by the presence of these birds. The pheasant problem is not easy to solve, but nevertheless there are those who feel that the pheasant should be preserved and that the open season for killing birds is now long enough. After hearing E. Harold Baynes' lecture at the Manchester Town hall, Wednesday evening, on animal life one cannot but have the deepest love for these and other beautiful creatures that fill our woods and fields. Rev. E. A. Chase's talk before the Manchester Brotherhood, Monday evening on "With Canoe and Camera in Nova Scotia" was also inspiring and educative in making one love and develop a respect for these out-door creatures.

THE DAYS OF THE PROGRESSIVE PARTY have long been numbered, but still thousands follow the forlorn hope of trying to turn the republican state of Massachusetts over into the hands of the democrats. The time has passed when the progressive party can justify its existence and additional evidence of this was given at the election Tuesday when the party went to smash. If it intended to rebuke the republican party it has done so quite effectively, but at the expense of the failure of its own doctrines. If the progressives have any principles worth fighting for they should be fought for within the fold of the republican party. What the progressive party desires to see engrossed upon the statute books of the state of Massachusetts they could easily attain through the republican party. As matters have stood during the last three years the progressive party has not only failed to attain its ends, but has blocked republican progress and assured the success of the democratic policies. There can be only one solution of the problem, that is an amalgamation of the two parties. It is coming rapidly and the sooner it comes the better it will be for all concerned in the successes of the principles for which the progressive and republican parties stand.

PERHAPS CONGRESS might have been induced to underwrite the apple crop after the cotton crop had been cared for.

THE ENTRANCE OF TURKEY into the embroglio has introduced a new element. It has been evident for over a month that German influences were being brought to bear upon the Turkish government. The passing of two German naval vessels into the hands of Turkey now appears in its true light. It was a subterfuge pure and simple. Now that Turkey has entered more developments are inevitable. The whole Balkan district will doubtless align as in other days. Italy still remains neutral; but the neutrality of Italy is menaced more now than ever. The entrance of Turkey has thrown aside the balance of neutrality that has hitherto existed. That more nations are involved is a cause for deep regret. The only bright light shining on the horizon is that the very greatness of the struggle may be an aid to peace. The issue may be more quickly reached. Italy still remains the enigma of the situation. Will she maintain neutrality, and if she maintains neutrality, what will be her status after the conflict if Germany wins or if the allies win? There are those who see danger ahead for Italy if neutrality is maintained, the idea being that if Germany wins it is unthinkable to believe that Italy will be permitted to remain unpunished for disloyalty to the Triple Alliance. When it comes to "scraps of paper" Germany does not respect them when they stand in the way of her wishes; but "scraps of paper" are formidable weapons in her hands if they bring about her desires or wishes. The Triple Alliance was a "scrap of paper" indeed, but Germany does not recognize Italy's right to refuse to aid her in her unholy conflict. Such a technicality as Italy advances—that the Alliance called for aid only in the event of an attack being made upon Germany—will not carry much weight with a victorious army. It will be with Italy even as it has been with Belgium. Italy cannot long remain neutral. It seems almost inevitable that her arms must be lifted and war declared against her ancient enemy Austria and the Germany empire her former ally. What a world of war and carnage! Horror is being heaped upon horror until life seems one horrible dream. If Italy's entrance into the conflict is the result of Turkey's attack it may be that the added strength of Italy's arms may be a great gain to the Allies. This war should end and end quickly; the sooner it is ended the better it will be for the whole world!

THE BEST NEWS OF THE WEEK came from the directors of the Rockefeller Foundation announcing the purpose of the founder to expend millions of dollars if need be to relieve the suffering of non-combatants in Belgium. That this efficient organization is to lend its aid to the great Belgium Relief problem is gratifying to every sympathetic American. Poor Belgium, a nation in exile and suffering! It will be many months before order can be brought out of chaos and peace out of war, and the comforts of living out of the distress of war. The Rockefeller Foundation will not be able to relieve all the distress of that great tragedy that has been committed, but it can in a measure relieve suffering. With the two great American institutions, the Rockefeller Foundation and the Red Cross society at work in the war zone America may well be proud of the sympathetic spirit of her people for the down-trodden of Europe.

IN THE INFERNO OF NATIONS Germany has justly earned a place all by her self.

UNDERNEATH THE EUROPEAN trouble is the eternal economic problem of life.

EVEN NEUTRALITY is costing Italy a pretty penny.

THE VANDALISM AT BEVERLY FARMS will soon be checked. The depredations of smaller and older boys have been borne with patience by the public long enough and the penalties of the law are to be meted out. In the late summer three boys broke into and entered a garage and took an automobile and were caught in the act. Judgment on the case is still pending. On Hallowe'en a group of men passed through the square near the "Pump Cottage" and left a trail of destruction behind them. Signs were torn down, fences overthrown, stone walls dismantled and other misdemeanors of a similar character perpetrated. Such vandalism will not be permitted to pass unnoticed by the police. Already information is in hand and important developments may be expected. The vandalism is deep-seated and it is difficult to lay the blame, but it is more than evident that the parents of many of the boys in that neighborhood are remiss in their duty to their children. All the training that school and churches may give children and growing boys can never make up for poor home training. Parents whose sense of right and wrong are so blunted as to be unwise enough to allow such acts on Hallowe'en, will some day pay dearly for the neglected duties of parenthood. Boys will be boys, but there is no reason why they should be hoodlums. There is opportunity enough in life to have "fun" without resorting to the vandalism that occurred on Hallowe'en.

THE LEGAL MAZE into which the New Haven difficulties have lead the directors of that body are bewildering to a layman who does not understand the "ins and outs" of corporate life and who knows less about the operations of the interstate commerce commission. He does know how to feel the loss of his quarterly dividend, however, even if he does not understand how it came about.

THE EMDEN SEEMS to be having everything her own way. But wait!

IT IS A TERRIBLE SENTENCE that Roland G. Usher, Associate Professor of History of Washington University, selected for the title page of his volume on Pan-Germanism. Madam de Stael is accredited as the author of the sentence,—“The Patriotism of Nations ought to be selfish.” Madame de Stael of Germany has opened a window into the German house. It is quite evident from the events of the last four months that the spirit of the line is the controlling element in the patriotic spirit of the fatherland. No patriotism should be so selfish as to preclude an interest in the progress of another nation. The spirit of brotherly love ought to be operative between nations as well as between men. The destruction of one nation by another works immeasurable loss upon both the conquered and the conqueror. The selfishness of Germany in wiping out Belgium has a reflex action. Its gains will ultimately mean loss. The structure of society that rests upon selfishness is national sin and all sin must reap its punishments. Sin is not to be mocked at and retribution will make inevitable claims upon nations builded upon selfish gains.

GERMANY HAS LEVIED a $9,000,000 indemnity upon Brussels. This is but one side. Wait until Germany receives her annual statement from the Allies. Germany is bitter with the American people for their sympathetic violation of national neutrality. Germany may violate Belgium's neutrality at will. All of Germany's criticisms of American independence will be unable to smother public opinion. America is neutral, but not a slave to Germanic ideas or ideals.

ITALY FINDS AN ARMED NEUTRALITY too heavy a drain for its exchequer. Perhaps the American democrats can suggest a tariff reform measure to help her problem.

APPLES EVERYWHERE, but a barrel of good ones come high.

Prepare For Summer Visitors

European War Likely to Create Demand For Accommodations Here

THE war in Europe is almost certain to increase travel in this country next summer and it will be to the advantage of those who cater to the wants of the summer visitors to prepare for it. Even though this titanic struggle is terminated before the travel season begins, which now seems unlikely, conditions in Europe will hardly be propitious for travel abroad and for the entertainment of American tourists.

This means that the vast army of Americans which every year has sailed for a vacation abroad must seek recreation and rest in this country. Not only should it lead to an appreciable increase in the number of visitors at hotels and summer boarding houses, but it should also result in keeping in circulation here the millions of dollars which these Americans have taken abroad to spend and so will make for the economic welfare of the country.

The number of Americans who go abroad every year for pleasure has been variously estimated. Some idea of it may be gained from the number of cabin passengers landed at the port of New York in a single year. In 1912, for example, the figures show that 146,915 persons arrived at New York in the first cabin and 198,041 in the second cabin, or a total of 344,956. The proportion of Europeans in this number was small. While impossible to distinguish between tourists and those whom business took abroad, it is reasonable to assume that the bulk of these returning Americans was made up of pleasure seekers. It is estimated that the amount of money which this country may thus retain next summer may be reckoned as between $100,000,000 and $200,000,000.

With the number of Americans, equipped with this spending power, kept in this country next year there is the prospect of rich harvest for those running hotels and summer boarding houses, particularly in New England. But unless present accommodations are enlarged before next summer there is a chance that many cannot be taken care of.

New England may be expected to exert its lure upon many of those kept home from abroad next year. With its wonderful opportunities for recreation and pleasure it should, in fact, get the cream of this business if the proper foresight is exercised.

It has been estimated that more than a million and a quarter people spend their vacations annually in New England. On the railroad lists there were last year 4,400 hotels and boarding houses with a total capacity of 222,100 persons. If all those who went abroad last year should seek a New England vacation at the same time there would thus be just enough room to accommodate them without allowing for the normal business.

It is currently rumored that Lee's Block, the most valuable corner in town, in which is located Allen's Drug store, is soon to change hands. The building is located in Central square, and contains besides a drug store offices on the second floor and a hall on the third floor used by the North Shore Horticultural society. There are also two tenements in a building connected with the property. The corner has been owned by the Lees for fully a hundred years, and some sixty years ago Lee's Drug store (now Allen's) was established there, being moved across the street. The property is now owned by Chas. O. Lee and Mrs. Mollie Lee, widow of the late Frank Lee. The place will be sold to settle the estate. Mr. Lee said yesterday there was truth in the report that the property is to be sold and admitted that M. J. Callahan will be the probable purchaser, and will take possession, probably, on Dec. 1.

A new hedge replaces the old one separating the freight yard from the rest of the property. And may we suggest that an effort will be made before next season to have the roadway leading to the station on either side of the track, resurfaced and—possibly—oiled.

The Manchester Trust Co., which was three and a half years old on Nov. 1, may well feel proud of its record. Starting in a small way on May 1, 1911, the deposits now total nearly three quarters of a million, or, to be exact, $748,000. The total assets of the bank amount to $894,000. As another evidence of the unprecedented growth of the bank it might be mentioned that the old vault is being replaced by a much larger one, which will be installed by Dec. 1. Safe deposit boxes will be one of the features of the new vault. The generous support which the summer visitors to Manchester and vicinity have given the bank is responsible in a large measure for its success.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE

The Manchester Equal Suffrage League held a very pleasant meeting, Monday evening, at the home of Mrs. F. P. Tenney, Bridge st.

The chief topic of discussion was Belgian Relief work, and it was found that Dr. McComb had made a deep impression in the Town hall on the evening of October 28. Some of the ladies are already knitting wristers for the soldiers and sailors, while the Suffrage League will make a specialty of relief for women and children. All who are interested in this work are invited to join us or to co-operate with us.

Announcements is made of a public meeting of special interest to be held in Boston on Sunday afternoon next (Nov. 8), at the Tremont theatre, at 3 o'clock, when Mrs. Pethick-Lawrence of England will speak, and will be introduced by the Mayor of Boston. Mrs. Pethick-Lawrence is one of the finest Suffrage speakers in the world and there is special interest to hear her at this time. The free seats at the theatre will probably all be taken early!

The news from the Suffrage elections in the Western states is still so incomplete that we can make no comment on it as yet. But it certainly looks as if the liquor interests had again won out against us in Ohio.

MR. MANN HEADS GLOUCESTER BANK

At a meeting of the directors of the Gloucester National Bank, Tuesday, Ralph H. Mann, who was instrumental in organizing the Manchester Trust Co. three years ago, was elected president to succeed Wm. H. Jordan. This is a pleasing bit of news for Mr Mann's many friends and acquaintances in Manchester.

The Gloucester Bank was established in 1796 as a state bank, and in 1865 was converted into a national bank, and it is therefore nearly a century and a quarter old. It has a rec-

MANCHESTER BROTHERHOOD

The Manchester Brotherhood met in the vestry of the Baptist church, Monday evening, and listened to an address by Rev. Edward A. Chase of the Washington Street Cong'l church, Beverly, on "With Canoe and Camera in Nova Scotia."

Stereopticon illustrations of his trip were shown. Among some of the most interesting were those of animal life. The views of the quick-waters were also very fascinating and showed in fine style the topography of that region.

He talked in a general way of the enjoyment of out-door life. "In entering the wilderness," said Mr. Chase, "it is always well to choose an Indian guide. He is always familiar with woodcraft and in the canoe there is none more skillful with the paddle. They know where the trout are to be found and one is almost always sure to arrive at his destination without mishap if the guiding paddle is in the hands of an Indian."

"Shooting with the camera," said Mr. Chase, "is almost as good a sport as with the rifle, and much more human." This, one could readily see by the very interesting pictures which Mr. Chase showed of bears, beavers and birds. One picture, that of a young moose was intensely interesting, as was also the story which accompanied it. When the cow-moose heard the sound of approachers it ran leaving the baby moose alone. A man in the party caught the young moose and held it by the head until it could be photographed. After they had done this they went their way thinking the cow-moose would again join her young. But this was not so, for some time later the young moose was found dead. Like most wild animals the moose will not go near its young when once they smell the taint of human hands, and consequently this young moose died of hunger and exposure. Mr. Chase urged all who go in the wilderness after photographs not to touch young animals in doing so.

Mr. Chase's lecture was exceedingly interesting and educating to those not familiar with this wild out-door life.

The attendance of the evening was ninety. The usual collation was served and a social hour enjoyed.

"WILD ANIMAL FRIENDS"

TOWN HALL, WEDNESDAY EVENING.

The Manchester Town hall was packed to its utmost capacity Wednesday evening when the students' meeting of the Woman's club was held. Mrs. Grace Beaton as president of the club opened the meeting, omitting the reading of the minutes and announcing that the next meeting would be at the Town hall on the afternoon of November 17, at the usual hour, half past three, when the Parent-Teacher association is invited to attend a lecture by Dr. Edith Southard of Wellesley College. Mrs. Southard has given a number of addresses in Manchester in previous years before various organizations, such as the Parent-Teacher association and the Arbella club, and all who heard her will be anxious to be present at her "Talk to Mothers" at the Town hall, November 17. Announcement was also made of a course of four lectures which will be given in the Town hall under the auspices of the Woman's club by Dr. Helen B. Cole of Beverly. Tickets, which are 50 cents for the course, may be procured from members of the Woman's club.

Mrs. Beaton then introduced Mr. E. Harold Baynes, who gave a splendid address on "Our Wild Animal Friends," illustrated with lantern slides. The slides were fascinating studies of the smaller animals and a few birds, including, especially, pictures of some of Mr. Baynes' many tame animal friends.

At the outset the speaker told a little of what he called "the language of the trails," which embraced the tracks of various animals in the snow, some of the tragic wood mysteries which a naturalist is able to solve by snow tracks. The pictures of the animals included many species, most of them being pets upon Mr. Baynes' New Hampshire estate. Among the most interesting were the pictures of Jimmy Bear and The Sprite, the latter a magnificent red fox. Jimmy was a little bear cub, which was taken into the Baynes home at a very tender age and kept until he grew too large "for private use," when he was presented to the New York Zoological Gardens, and Mr. Baynes assured his audience that Jimmy could be seen there today, the largest and finest black bear in the Gardens. The slides showing Jimmy as a cub were very appealing and, many of them depicting some of his queer antics, amusing. Jimmy had a particularly thrilling adventure with a cow, which he never forgot. It was upon the occasion of his first meeting with such an animal and the picture showed him standing on his hind feet looking over a wire fence into the pasture. Presently, Mr. Baynes said, the cow, too, became curious and came forward to meet Jimmy Bear, who incautiously went under the barb wire and into the pasture. The cow promptly tossed him over the fence and, in fact, many feet beyond. It made such an impression on Jimmy that later in the day when he met a second cow, he retreated hastily up a post, from which vantage point he surveyed the new acquaintance, she looking up at him. Finally she went off a few feet and stood there patiently. Jimmy slid down the post and advanced toward her as she stood with lowered head waiting for him to come near enough to receive a second toss. That cow got the surprise of her life, Mr. Baynes said, for when Jimmy Bear came within reach, he "stood up on his hind legs, squared off like a prize fighter and hit poor Mrs. Cow first on one side of the nose and then on the other, scampering back and climbing the post to safety before you could say 'Jack Robinson.'"

The Sprite was the animal which the speaker said he had "loved best of any in the world," a tiny little thing about the size of a kitten when it first became a member of the Baynes family. There were some fine colored slides showing The Sprite when he was very young, blue-eyed and alert. He was very mischievous, but all his mischief seemed only to make him the more lovable even to farmers who had lost their chickens through the depredations of The Sprite. A particularly good picture showed the fox, still very young, just before making a descent upon a neighbor's hen yard and "his whole expression seemed to ask politely; 'Will you kindly show me the way to the chicken yard?'"

As The Sprite became older he became, of course, more dangerous, and Mr. Baynes decided that the time had come when he must liberate the fox, now a splendid specimen, and after one unsuccessful attempt, the animal was left upon a hillside, miles and miles away from the Baynes home to have his freedom. The next night, as the speaker was sitting in his study, there came a patter of little feet on the piazza outside and a scratch on the door and, when Mr. Baynes opened the door, a red fox sat in the lamplight—actually smiling, the speaker said. Of course, The Sprite was taken in and after that he would go away, returning every night or every other night to his home. Finally there came a night when The Sprite did not return and he has never returned and Mr. Baynes was forced to the conclusion that he never will return.

Seldom has a speaker come to Manchester who has made his subject as appealing to such a "mixed" gathering as was seen at the Town hall, Wednesday evening and Mr. Baynes was given round after round of vigorous applause.

A GYMNIC

Watch Repairing

Do not neglect your watch. If you compel it to run longer than two years without attention you are inviting trouble. Dirt gets in, mixes with the dried oil and cuts the bearings like a file.

Regular care will add years to the life of your watch and save you money in the long run.

EVA TANGUAY AT B. F. KEITH'S

Eva Tanguay, the madcap genius of mirth and song, renowned the country over as the cyclonic comedienne, will return to vaudeville the week of November 9th, making her debut at B. F. Keith's Theatre in Boston. Miss Tanguay has not appeared in vaudeville for over two years. She has been starring at the head of her own company through the South and Middle West. Eva Tanguay occupies a niche all her own in the hall of fame on the American stage. She is unique. Her popularity is boundless. She is the greatest box office attraction in the world. Miss Tanguay will bring an entirely new act to Boston this season. She will sing a repertoire of brand-new and entirely original songs, while her costumes are said to surpass in novelty, beauty and effectiveness anything previously seen upon the American stage. Seats are now on sale for Eva Tanguay Week, and if the advance sale is any criterion, next week should be one of the biggest in the history of B. F. Keith's Theatre, from the point of attendance. It is quite likely a new record will be hung up before the week is over. This brilliant star will be surrounded by a wonderful vaudeville show.

"THE ROAD TO HAPPINESS"

William Hodge has entered upon the third month of the big success of "The Road to Happiness" at the Wilbur Theatre, Boston. It is no wonder that this unique impersonator of distinctively America types should have scored so pronounced a hit again in this new role of young Jim Whitman, for no one else on the stage today can equal him in this line of characterization. New England playgoers have only to recall his Freeman Whitmarsh in "Sag Harbor," his Stephen Tully in "Sky Farm," his Captain Plummer in "Peggy from Paris," his Mr. Stubbins in "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" and his Daniel Voorhees Pike in "The Man from Home" to appreciate the fact that his present new success as Jim Whitman is only the climax of his inimitable Yankee art. Speaking of "The Road to Happiness" and this latest role of Whitman, Mr. Hodge himself declares that the foremost reason why he decided to produce the drama, when he first read it, was the essential Americanism of this struggling village youth. "I take Jim Whitman to be the universal type of the ambitious young American of today," remarks Mr. Hodge, "and I feel that he represents

POSTAL SAVINGS

WAR IN EUROPE RESULTS IN BIG INCREASES IN DEPOSITS

The war in Europe is proving a big boon to postal savings in this country. From the very day hostilities opened across the seas postal-savings receipts began to increase by leaps and bounds and withdrawals fell off, a result quite contrary to the predictions of many well-informed persons who, in their imagination, saw lines of feverish depositors at post-office pay windows anxious to again return their savings to the boot-leg and body-belt depositories whence they came before intrusted to Uncle Sam. But the forecasters failed to reckon on the absolute confidence of the American citizen, regardless of the flag that first met his eyes, in the ability and purpose of the Government to carry out its obligations, not only among the nations of the earth, but with the humblest citizen of our land.

Two important results have followed; thousands of people, largely of foreign birth, accustomed to send their savings abroad, are now patrons of our postal-savings system; and enormous sums of actual cash have been released for commercial uses among our own people at a time when the need for every available dollar is pressing.

The growth of postal savings in the United States has been steady and healthy and the system has filled an important gap between the tin-can depository and the factory paymaster. On July 1, when affairs were running smoothly here and abroad and the transmission of money across the Atlantic was safe and expeditious, there was approximately $43,000,000 of postal savings standing to the credit of about 388,000 depositors. Since then over $10,000,000 of deposits have been added and the number of depositors has increased enormously. This unprecedented gain is the more striking when it is considered that the net gain in the last three months is larger than the gain for the entire fiscal year 1914. Scores of offices have done more postal-savings business since the war has been going on than was one by them during the previous existence of the service. The increases are confined to no special localities, but have been felt in every nook and corner of the country. New York City alone made a gain in September of more than a million, while Brooklyn showed a relatively big increase. Chicago reported a larger gain in the past three months than for the previous twelve months. More than 7,000 new accounts were opened during the period, bringing the number of depositors in that city up to over 21,000.

The unexpected increase in postal-savings business has not only added greatly to the general administrative duties of the system, but has brought up many new and interesting problems which have called for the careful personal consideration of Postmaster General Burleson and Governor Dockery, Third Assist Postmaster General. But their task has been lightened somewhat by the promptness of depository banks in furnishing additional security to meet the abnormal deposits. A number of the very largest banks in the country, which have heretofore declined to qualify as depositories for postal-savings funds, are now among the eager applicants for them.

What difference does it make who has all the money, so long as everybody's happy? Cheerfulness is better than money. You might lose your money, but you can keep on bein' cheerful, if you only keep up hope.

A man often wishes he could change his luck as easily as a woman can change her mind.

ROSE BEAD NECKLACES

The rose bead was originally the Rosary—made from the petals of roses by the devotees long ago, and through its use by the faithful, became a most precious belonging.

In place of the sombre beads of the Rosary, we manufacture varied styles for now-a-day adornment.

The color and fragrance of these flower beads are lasting.

We alternate these rose beads with small pearl and gilt beads, thus giving the necklace a most charming appearance. Illustrations actual size.

SOCIETY NOTES

The election of Mrs. W. Scott Fitz as head of the North Shore Horticultural society, at the annual meeting of the society in Manchester last Friday evening, is an evidence of the honor and esteem in which Mrs. Fitz is held by the members of the society, which is composed mostly of gardeners on estates along the North Shore between Beverly and Magnolia. Mrs. Fitz has taken an active interest in the society, especially in its annual exhibitions, for a number of years, and has served on the advisory committee, with other North Shore women, since the committee was brought into existence. It was largely through her advice, too, that the society was incorporated five years ago. One of the objects of the society little talked of, it is true, is to own its own building, in which for one thing its exhibitions would be held.

Captain and Mrs. Charles W. Littlefield of Kansas City, who usually spend part of their summers at Magnolia, have announced the engagement of the latter's daughter, Miss Mary Armour to James Clement Dunn.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gannon Clark will have the house of Mrs. Francis B. Rice, Commonwealth avenue, Boston, this winter, but will not go up from their Pride's Crossing estate until the first of December, probably.

♦ ♦ ♦

Judge and Mrs. William Caleb Loring of the Pride's Crossing colony are among those leaving this week for Boston, where they have a house on Gloucester street.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mrs. S. Parker Bremer will open her home at 33 Marlboro street, Boston, next Thursday for one of the week's most prominent charity events, the annual fair for the Talitha Cumi Home, to be held from 10 until 6.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Nicholas Reggio and their children will leave Beverly Farms late this month to spend the winter at 55 Pilgrim Road, Brookline.

The usual interest in Miss Julia Terry's subscription concerts in Boston is being felt this winter and many prominent women are acting as patronesses. Among these are Mrs. William Hooper of West Manchester, Mrs. Ezra C. Fitch of West Manchester, Mrs. Robert Stowe Bradley of Pride's Crossing, Miss Fanny Faulkner of Magnolia, Mrs. S. Parker Bremer of Manchester, Mrs. I. Tucker Burr of Nahant, Mrs. James H. Beal of Nahant, Mrs. Samuel J. Mixter of Swampscott, all of whom have been prominent in North Shore activities.

Miss Elsie Burr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. Tucker Burr of Boston and Nahant, is in Paris where she is awaiting an opening to do hospital work, and ex-Ambassador Robert Bacon, who sailed on the Lusitania recently is interesting himself in her behalf. Miss Burr is at the home of United States Consul-General Thackera meanwhile. She has been prominent among the Boston young women who have been training for social welfare work during the last two years. Her engagement to John Templeton Coolidge, Jr., of Boston was announced a number of weeks ago.

SOCIETY NOTES

One of those who are working actively in behalf of the war sufferers abroad is Mrs. Samuel Vaughn (Ellen G. Loring) of the Beverly Farms year-round colony. Mrs. Vaughn is planning to open a sewing room at the Farms, where all who are interested may go and work one or two days each week. This was announced by Miss Louisa Loring a few days ago at the meeting of the Improvement society at Beverly Farms.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. Francis L. Higginson, Jr., are to close their Pride's Crossing home within a day or two and return to their town house at 215 Commonwealth avenue, Boston.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mrs. Franklin Haven has closed her house on the Haven estate, Beverly Farms, and opened her Boston residence on Beacon st.

Through some mistake in the passenger lists of a fortnight or more ago, Mrs. Frank Northen's name appeared as among those arriving from England in New York. We are glad to correct the statement which was then naturally made that she was with her mother, Mrs. E. C. Fitch. Mrs. Northen is remaining with her husband in England. His four brothers and brother-in-law are at the front. Mr. Northen himself has enlisted in the Anti-Aeroplane corps under the admiralty and is on home defence. The Northens' country home has been turned into a hospital and Mrs. Northen has been giving her time and energy since the war began to the Red Cross work.

James F. Curtis of Boston and Manchester Cove, formerly Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, has been elected acting secretary of the New York Federal Reserve bank. He will advise upon legal matters.

The death of William Endicott last Saturday morning in Boston, removes another of the old-time residents of the North Shore, and one who has always taken an active part in the welfare of this section. Mr. Endicott was a native of Beverly and for years was prominent in Boston financial and commercial affairs. He was born nearly 89 years ago and was the son of William and Joanna (Rantoul) Endicott. When a young man he went to Boston and rose to a partnership in the big Hovey dry goods firm, retiring as senior partner a few years ago. He had been president of the New England Trust company and a director in other banking institutions. He was active in philanthropic work, was a member of the commission in charge of the addition to the State house and served as a director in several Boston hospital corporations. He always maintained an active interest in Beverly and had a beautiful summer home at Pride's Crossing and on the Neptune Boulevard. His brother Robert R. Endicott passed away on Sept. 18. His Boston home was on Beacon street and he came to Beverly early in the season and remained here until late in the fall. He leaves one son, William Endicott of Boston who has a summer residence on the Lothrop boulevard. The body was brought to Beverly for interment Monday.

SOCIETY NOTES

It is good news for the devotees of dancing in the fashionable coterie that Boston is to have a "Castle House," similar to that of New York, only on a smaller scale. Some of the North Shore's best known matrons are among the list of patronesses. For this invitation affair entirely the marionette ballroom of the new Toy Theatre on Dartmouth street has been secured. Castle House will be dedicated on the 25th of the month, and will be open every afternoon from 4 until 7 and every night from 8 until 1. It is to be managed by Mrs. Freeman of the New York Castle House. Miss Elizabeth Marbury, who is associated with the Castles in the New York house, and Miss Marguerite Souther, for the Boston end, will be associate managers. Mr. Thorne, who has been first assistant at Castle House in New York, will be the resident instructor and dancing partner. He was at the head of the Castle summer home at Long Island during the summer. ## It's Purely a Matter of Figures and Figures Never Lie

STATISTICIANS GIVE US THE FACT that the Retail Furniture Business is the most expensive. We shall append some figures below to illustrate their theory while we first draw to your attention a few facts as comparisons with other kinds of business.

Take the matter of floor space; think how much room the furniture business requires, no line of goods in existence demands so much floor space as does this and what does floor space mean but Rent, Rent, Rent, someone has to pay it; think who that some one really is.

Show space requires Light, and light is expensive, and every retail establishment in existence is obliged, because of location and long hours to use lots of this.

In no line of goods that is retailed do people want to see a larger variety to select from, because when they buy a piece of furniture they have bought it for years and they want it to be satisfactory in style and design. When they are making their purchase, thus a big stock must always be carried for you to buy from, perhaps one purchase in a year, which means more goods to be shown for the amount of business done, which makes very much bigger Taxes than on other lines of goods Retailed.

The Item of Help Hire

Is out of all proportion to other kinds of retail business. From the salespeople who demand the highest wages paid in any retail business down to the people who make the deliveries, they all get better pay.

Every item that can be mentioned works out exactly the same way, to prove that the Retail Furniture Business is a very expensive proposition that you, the public, pay for.

Now see the comparison of figures—based upon the same volume of business we certainly expect will be done here and from experience thus far our first year's business over here will be larger than any one year when in the retail—between our cost of doing business here and when in the Retail Business.

RETAIL		WHOLESALE
Rent .....	$ 4,800 per year	Rent .....	$ 200 per year
Taxes .....	1,200 " "	Taxes .....	500 " "
Pay Roll .....	25,000 " "	Pay Roll .....	5,000 " "
Lighting .....	1,200 " "	Lighting .....	100 " "
<hr/>		<hr/>
Different .....		$21,900

Just think of the saving on four items alone and they are by no means all the expenses that the business has to incur. Now who pays these expenses, the dealer or you? You know, of course, well enough it comes out of you. Now this saving that we make comes right off of our prices, and later on, when we acquaint you all fully with the practical side of this plan, we shall commence giving you concrete examples of the savings on different pieces of furniture over here.

Now all that you do to save yourselves money is to come to our Warehouse, which is only just away from the centre, where conditions are absolutely perfect for our operating our business economically so as to sell you your Furniture at again won out against us in Ohio." Who did the liquor interests win out against in California under woman's suffrage? For they have just heavily defeated prohibition in that state. It is a fact that only since women voted there have the liquor interests so gained the upper hand. Pasadena had no saloon at all before its women voted on the question.

There is no greater absurdity than to assume that all virtue lies with women. Each sex is what the other demands of it to be. If women are purer than men it is because men expect and demand purity of women. If women refuse to have anything to do with men whose lives were not above reproach men would rise to the standard required of them by women. Women have failed to hold men up to such a standard.

Votes do not bring holiness, but honesty, truth and reverence do. If one may judge by your quotations last week from Mrs. Pinkham's talk on suffrage her allusions to the militants in England and the present European war was of a flippancy to make one weep for one's sex.

TO NOURISH ANTIPATHIES and secret animosities in this country is not right nor in keeping with the true spirit of international friendship. Yet it cannot but be acknowledged that the ideals of Russia, Japan and India are not those of the Anglo-Saxon races. The war has given the contestants strange companions. In the future these nations must be compensated for their labors. Will that compensation be conducive to future peace and to the development of great humanities of the race? At this stage in the great war game it is impossible to make even a reasonable forecast. The removal of Turkey as an international power is assured. It may be that this will once and for all terminate the possibilities of Armenian persecutions. This will be a wholesome state of affairs insofar as this element is involved. Unfortunately however, war does not end with the conflict and there will be engendered in the spirits of all Germany, England, Russia, France and Austria enmities that will not be crushed in a century. To this day the Alsatians nourish the spirit of the seventies against Germany. Belgium is not likely to recover very soon from the terrible blow that has already been struck. How can the future be viewed in any other way than with apprehension? If the war could be terminated now, would it be anything more than an armed truce? The history of the beginnings of this war has still to be written. The spirit of German militarism must be conquered, but this is an entirely different feeling from wishing the annihilation of the German people. Germany, the land of peace, and its people must be spared, only the militaristic spirit must be conquered. A terrible war is this and despite the fact that the American sympathies are not with the German militaristic spirit it is impossible to view the general situation in Europe without dismay. The interests of the American and English speaking people should be one with that of the Teutonic races. The common interests in civilization which America, England and Germany enjoy are similar as far as culture, training, arts and sciences are concerned. From the Teutonic race has come the rich and priceless inheritances of the Anglo-Saxon race. It is a thousand pities that the war ever started. The treachery of Servia, the oppressions of Russia and the oriental spirit of Japan are not agreeable to the Anglo-Saxon mind. All that underlies this terrible struggle does not lie near the surface. Despite the fact that America feels that Germany must be conquered at all costs it is with no small degree of apprehension that the Russian and Japanese aggressions are noted.

EVEN THE BOSTON MAYOR'S energy and influence has not rescued the Grand Opera experiment.

SOUSA'S BAND gives a benefit for the Wellesley Restoration Fund the afternoon and evening of Tuesday, Nov. 17. This is to be given at Symphony Hall, Boston; tickets 50c., 75c., and $1.00, are now on sale at the box office. The proceeds go direct to the fund. As we all know the present need of Wellesley is tremendous. The fearful fire of last spring, which left only ragged, staring walls, and roofless arches, left not only the aching void in the memories of the thousands of Wellesley alumnae who had been housed there, and the necessity of new dormitories for the thousands to come, but also heavy losses in the apparatus of the departments of physics, zoology, geology, psychology. Before Jan. 1st, 1915, $550,000 must be raised. Here is an opportunity for a good time, and to help also, so do not forget the Sousa Benefit, Nov. 17.

CONGRESSMAN GARDNER is altogether reasonable in pressing the issue he has raised about American unpreparedness for war. The peace party in America will never be strong. It is possible to be a strong advocate of peace and yet favor a larger navy and a better equipped army. There is a middle ground between a fatal militaristic propaganda and a necessary and honorable preparedness for war. May our land never be afflicted, but there is no reason why the nation should slumber and sleep the sleep of negligent ignorance.

IN A LETTER to the Boston Transcript, Mr. H. G. Curtis praises the intelligent labors of Mr. William Endicott for the maintenance of the gold standard when it seemed in jeopardy. Mr. Endicott believed in the gold standard in trade and in life; but Mr. Endicott's friends will long remember him for his solid gold standard of worth that characterized his every activity. By the death of Mr. Endicott the North Shore loses a citizen it can ill afford to spare.

WILL PEACE EVER COME to us across our Southern border? Mexico is an incorrigible child. There are those who claim that the United States is conquering Mexico by "peaceful penetration." This form of aggression consists in making heavy investments and later demanding protection. The United States can ill afford to be found guilty of such treachery. The integrity of Mexico must and will be maintained.

THE ENTRANCE OF TURKEY into the European War will probably end its career as an independent nation and Russia will have acquired the City of Constantinople, which nature destined to be the capitol of that vast empire.

A PERUSAL OF THE NARRATIVE of the Italian campaigns of Napoleon would convince one that these were trifling adventures compared with the atrocities of the European War.

ON AUGUST ONE, it was quite evident that the map of Europe would be changed, but now it is the map of the world that is being reconstructed.

THE WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE propaganda seems to be successful in the west, however the conservatism of Massachusetts may object.

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY is wisely welcoming the members of the progressive party back to the fold.

THE ABSURDITY of the red flag law is quite apparent.

AMERICA CANNOT BE OVER-ZEALOUS in its proposals for peace at this or at any future time. The American Civil War lasted for four long years and this country resented very strongly any interference with its program by any outside nation. It is well for this nation to stand ready to render service as a mediator to any and all of the contestants of the war, but we may well maintain a dignified position of reserve until our services are required.

IN THE YEAR 1804 Napoleon Bonaparte wrote to the King of England: "France and England, abusing their strength, may long defer the period of its utter exhaustion; but I will venture to say, that the fate of all civilized nations is concerned in the termination of a war, the flames of which are raging throughout the whole world." Such a paragraph is apparently the truth today.

IT IS SAID THAT the Fore River Works are to be busy soon in the construction of a large number of submarines for use in this present war. The order it is said has been placed by a European nation. This seems strange to a layman. Is it possible for this country to maintain its neutrality and construct submarines for war service for a combatant?

CAN ANY GOOD THING come out of war? Culture, refinement and moral development do not have their rooting in the subsoil of armed conflict. Peace is the great friend of man and war is the scourge of nations and is death to every good quality that refines the nature of man.

HARVARD OR YALE? Whoever wins in the Bowl the railroads will have their income.

THE PROGRESSIVES are turning back home. Welcome to the fold; there is no place like home.

HOOF AND MOUTH DISEASE

PRECAUTION BEING TAKEN AGAINST DISEASE ALONG NORTH SHORE

Every precaution is being taken to guard against the spread of the foot and mouth disease among cattle along the North Shore. As one means toward this end the chiefs of police at the various towns have been notified not to allow any cattle to be transported through the streets without proper permits from the Department of Animal Industry.

Fred Freeland Walker, Commissioner of Animal Industry, State House, has sent the following letter to Chief of Police Sullivan of Manchester:

"May I ask you to extend to this Department in this very critical time your heartiest co-operation in the enforcement of this order. Any cattle, sheep, other ruminants or swine going at large, being driven, led or transported on the streets of your town should be immediately held up, and the person in charge of same placed under restraint, unless such person has in his possession a permit issued from the Department of Animal Industry, duly authorizing him to move such animals as are above referred to on the public highways as provided under order No. 14. I would refer you to Section 9 of Chapter 90 of the Revised Laws for your authority to so co-operate."

MANCHESTER A GOOD PLACE TO LIVE

From the compilation of figures by the state tax commissioner it would seem that Manchester continues to be one of the most fortunate towns in the state as regards valuations and tax rates. No other town in the county, and only six cities stand higher than Manchester in valuation, and only seven towns in the county have a tax rate as low.

Manchester valuation for 1914 is $16,785,200,—$55,000 more than in 1913. Those cities having a higher valuation are Beverly, $44,637,135; Gloucester, $25,917,913; Haverhill, $42,296,553; Lawrence, $79,813,490; Lynn, $90,305,830, and Salem, $39,632,600. Towns nearest Manchester in valuation are Peabody, $15,067,900; Swampscott, $14,039,344; Newburyport (city), $12,824,727; Marblehead, $11,110,946; Nahant, $8,686,200.

Manchester's tax rate this year is $11.20, against $8.80 last year. The towns having a lower tax rate are Boxford, Middleton, Hamilton, Newbury, Rowley, Topsfield, Wenham. Nahant's rate is $12, while that of Marblehead is $22. Swampscott has a rate of $16.80, Gloucester, $22, Essex $20, Ipswich $18, Beverly $15.50, —and this, by the way, is the lowest of any city in the state.

All of which seem to emphasize that Manchester is a good place to live. How many of the towns with rates lower than Manchester can boast of the civic improvements we have here,—sewer system, splendid harbor, excellent schools, magnificent beach, beautiful wood roads, stately residences, and—good streets, may we hope after the sewers are completed!

THE CAUSE OF PROHIBITION has been progressing during the last three months. In fact more gains have been made in that direction during these three months than in the preceeding three years. Russia has issued a ukase against the governmental sale of intoxicating liquors and France is now considering a similar action against absinthe and all liquors of a like nature. In the United States, West Virginia, Washington, Colorado, Oregon and Arizona have voted out the liquor traffic.

A BOSTON DAILY LIKENS the success of the Russian forces to a Napoleonic exploit. If the war continues along the proportions now assumed the frays of Napoleon will be interesting reading, but will cease to arouse awe. The lines of battle have never been equalled in any other war know in the history of the world.

IT IS WAR TO THE END say the British chiefs. The news we wish to hear is "The end to the war."

HERBERT B. HINCHLIFFE

SAD DEATH OF POPULAR YOUNG BUSINESS MAN.

The friends of Herbert B. Hinchliffe, provision dealer, on Beach st., Manchester, were greatly shocked last Saturday to learn of his sudden death at noon in his office.

Mr. Hinchliffe was a man of many admirable qualities, trusted and respected by all with whom he had business or social relations. During his business career in Manchester he had made for himself a host of friends. He was a man of inspiring personality, broad and generous in his sympathy with others, a happy and joyous companion in fraternity circles. He was an earnest worker for many years for the social interests of the Universalist church of Beverly, and was for two years president of the Ballou club, one of the leading clubs of the city. His musical abilities made him popular with young people and a large number mourn his death. Recently he had established a home at Manchester Cove where extensive repairs and improvements had been made in the property of the late William Kitfield. Here he had a beautiful home with his wife and father.

While outwardly his life seemed so buoyant, joyous and sunny, yet his closest friends had recently noted evidence of his anxiety over financial matters. Always a man who bore his own burdens and carried his own sorrows he refused to unbosom himself to those who would have counted it a privilege to give him their assistance. This burden became so uppermost in his mind as to overthrow his mental health, unbalance his judgment and cause him to raise his hand against himself. Dr. Stickney of Beverly pronounced death due to self-destruction. The sad news was carried to his wife on the hour she expected him home for his mid-day meal, and she has shown splendid fortitude in the presence of her great bereavement. Kind friends did all within the power of human sympathy to render comfort and helpful service.

Tuesday morning at 9.30 prayers were offered at the home in Manchester by Rev. A. G. Warner. Funeral services were held at the Universalist church, Beverly, at two in the afternoon. The church was filled with relatives, friends and associates of the deceased. The services were conducted by Rev. J. D. Tillinghast, pastor. The Weber Quartet of Boston sang "Abide With We," "Nearer My God to Thee," and "Sometime We'll Understand." Delegations were present from the Ballou club, the Beverly Firemen's Relief association, the Masons and Business Men's association. A large number from Manchester also attended. The floral contributions were magnificent. The profusion of choice flowers, including many designs and emblems attested to the esteem in which Mr. Hinchliffe was held. Mr. Tillinghast paid a beautiful tribute to the memory of one personally beloved in the community. Burial was in the Hale street cemetery. Mr. Hinchliffe is survived by his wife and father, to both of whom the sympathy of the community is extended.

SAMUEL COLBY ROWE

Samuel Colby Rowe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore C. Rowe, Manchester, passed away Wednesday morning at the age of 25 years, five months, after a long and painful illness.

He was graduated from the Story High school, Manchester, in 1907, and later received a diploma from the Salem Commercial school. His ability in his chosen vocation gained for him a splendid position with a Boston bank, but he was forced to give up on account of failing health. Everything was done for the young man and he took a course of treatment at a private hospital in the western part of the state. He rapidly failed, however, after coming home, and death ended his suffering Wednesday morning.

Cheerful through it all he but reflected the happy, Christian spirit within him. He is survived by a father and mother, sister, Mrs. Fannie Toppan, and brother, Frank A. Rowe, all of whom are deeply affected by his loss. Funeral services will be held this afternoon at two o'clock, at his late home, the Rev. Chas. A. Hatch, officiating.

MANCHESTER

Miss Gwendolen Glendenning of Smith College spent the week-end with Miss Dorothy Blaisdell at Wheaton college.

George H. Allen, West Manchester, had an ill-turn Tuesday at his office in Salem from the effects of which he is still suffering.

At their meeting Tuesday evening the selectmen granted to William W. Hoare license to maintain a moving picture show in Manchester. It is understood Mr. Hoare is one of three young men who are to operate moving picture shows in Manchester, Beverly Farms and Hamilton,—two nights a week in each place. Neighbor's hall is to be used in Beverly Farms for this purpose, but it is said a place is to be built in Manchester, and that work will be started at once.

TO THE MOTHERS OF MANCHESTER:

We all love our children and want to start them right in life. The questions what to tell them about the matters of sex, and when to give this instruction have to be answered. Unfortunately in the past, the education of children about the facts of sex was almost nil; but as one writer has said, "It is becoming more and more widely felt that the risks of ignorant innocence are too great."

If these facts must be made known to our children, who should teach them? Here is the answer given by one prominent authority on this subject: "If the elements of sexual education are to be imparted in early childhood, it is quite clear who ought to be the teacher; There should be no question that this privilege belongs by every right to the mother." Many mothers, however, are not fitted to give this instruction, and any opportunity to obtain information on this subject should be thankfully received.

Such an opportunity will be given the mothers of Manchester on Nov. 17, 1914, when Dr. E. E. Southard—a mother as well as a physician—will speak before the Woman's club in the Town hall, her subject being "Heart to Heart Talks to Mothers." In her talk Dr. Southard will take up the various phases of sex-education.

Every mother is not only welcome, but is urgently requested to accept this exceptional privilege to hear Mrs. Southard. Do not forget the place and time—Manchester Town hall, Tuesday, Nov. 17, 1914, at 3.30 p. m.

ARBELLA CLUB

The semi-monthly meeting of the Arbella club, Manchester, was held at the Chapel, Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock with a large number present. Mrs. F. H. Stannard of The Garland School of Boston was the speaker of the afternoon and, in an address which had an appeal to the older and to the younger girls as well, she told something of her work. She directs a school of about ninety girls, all of whom have come together to study one subject, broadly, homemaking. The school is divided into three groups, the so-called regular class, which meets five mornings a week; the Junior special class which meets three mornings of the week, and the Senior special class, which is composed of second year girls who hold classes three mornings each week. The school was begun in a small way and has had a slow but steady growth since 1902, and it is located in Mrs. Garland's home on Chestnut street. Under the course of study come the courses in family life and family relationship, home relationship, the study of children, food, which embraces marketing as well as cooking. The method which is used in teaching marketing seemed particularly practicable even for a club such as the Arbella club. A market man comes to the classes bringing his products with him and demonstrating the choosing and the cutting of the various cuts of meat, prevailing market prices and so on. For example, a side of lamb is taken for the first lesson; the meat cutter shows the different cuts, explaining which are suitable for certain purposes and which are economical, and then cutting the meat as it should be done in the market so that the lesson is thoroughly practical. Mrs. Stannard talked so entertainingly that everyone regretted that it was necessary for her to take her departure so early. Cocoa and crackers were supplied by a committee.

The next meeting of the Arbella club will be the Thanksgiving meeting which will be specially observed and all members are invited to make an effort to attend. A very fine speaker, Miss Ethel Hobart, a professional organizer of girls' clubs, will address the meeting.

N. S. H. S. ELECTS

At the meeting of the North Shore Horticultural society at Manchester, last Friday evening Mrs. W. Scott Fitz of the Manchester summer colony was elected president. The other officers elected were Eric H. Wetter-low, vice-pres.; Leonardo W. Carter, sec'y.; John Jaffrey, treas.; Patrick Gilmore, librarian. A. E. Parsons, William Till, George R. Dean, Herbert Shaw and James Salter, executive committee.

AS TO RAM ISLAND OWNERSHIP

We understand that from a recent decision handed down, the claim of the heirs of David Kimball of Manchester and Salem for the ownership of Ram Island, off the Manchester shore, is upheld and the island is recognized as the property of Walter L. Harris of Salem. Sidney Perley, Mr. Harris' attorney, finds that the first claim for Ram Island was made in 1722, and as it was finally settled in October, 1914, we wonder if there is a case on record rivaling this.

BEVERLY'S OLDEST CITIZEN

John Girdler, Beverly's oldest resident and the first Beverly man to reach the one hundredth milestone in life's journey, informally observed his birthday Wednesday.

Born in Manchester, Mr. Girdler was educated in that town and spent practically half his life there. For many years he was engaged in the outfitting business and equipped many fishing vessels for the Grand Banks. In his years in Manchester, Mr. Girdler was active in the affairs of the town and was an owner of much property, among his holdings being the property known as Tuck's point, and now used as the picnic ground for the town, the gathering place of the Elder Brethren, and famed far beyond the confines of Essex county.

At the probate court in Salem last week a letter of administration was granted on the estate of Eliza M. Gregory of Manchester, John Gregory administrator.

GYMNIC A SUCCESS

A novel and decidedly entertaining gymnic was given under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association at the Town hall, Manchester, last evening with a large attendance present.
The affair was in charge of Mrs.
George R. Dean, who is well known to Manchester people as a teacher of gymnastics. The program included numbers from the smallest tots in the public schools of the town to the mothers and teachers. The folk dances were more than attractive, in that they showed what one month of training could do in instilling some idea of rhythm and co-ordination of mind and body in the minds of beginners. The younger, as well as the older pupils, showed a surprising amount of quickness of thought and grace of motion in the dances, and the gymnastic drills were well carried out. Mrs. Dean's work is too well known here to need any comment.

Cake and candy were sold by a committee. At the tables were Mrs. John Prest, Mrs. Frank Floyd, Mrs. Harry Purinton, Mrs. John Connors and Mrs. Bohaker. Miss Ladd and Miss Fanny Knight of the corps of teachers sold the candy. Alfred L. Saben,
Chester L. Crafts and Alexander
Robertson were ushers. A few changes were made in the program, which was taken then as follows:

1. Simple Folk Dances and Singing Games—1st grade boys and girls.

2. Gun Exercises—Boys from the Priest School.
3. Folk Dances and Singing Games
—Pupils of 2d. and 3d. grades.
5. Folk Dances—Girls from the Priest School.
6. Dutch Dance—High School Girls.
7. Spanish Dance—High School Girls.
8. Indian Dance—Boys from the Priest School.
9. Mistress Mary in Flower Land—
Price and Priest School Girls.
10. Violin Solo—Miss Grace Salter.
11. Old English Dance—Mothers and Teachers.
12. Folk Dances—High School Girls.
13. Flag March—Price and Priest Schools.

Among the many pretty singing games played by the youngest children, those from the first grade, "The Pied Piper" seemed to be the favorite. The children took the part of the mayor, his advisor, the children, the piper and even the rats to perfection and seemed to enjoy all equally. The well-known story was cleverly set forth in dance even to the little lame boy, who was left behind when the cave closed behind his playmates and the piper.

Perhaps the most elaborate number on the program was "Mistress Mary in Flowerland" an adaptation of the story of "The Little Match Girl." The costumes in this were effective and the dances pretty. The Indian dance and the gymnastic drills by the boys were very creditably performed under direction of Miss Lila Goldsmith and Mrs. Dean. The work by the high school girls was very fine especially the Dutch dance. It seemed as if all the old attics in Manchester must have been ransacked to provide the splendid specimens of colonial costumes which were worn in the Old English Dance, which was executed with grace and beauty by the mothers and teachers. The following took part in this dance: Miss Lila Goldsmith, Miss Fanny Knight,
Miss Parker, Mrs. George B. Northrup, Mrs. Leonard Andrews, Miss
Ladd, Miss Bragdon, Mrs. Hans Dahl, Miss Lena Jones, Miss Wentworth, Mrs. John Baker, Mrs. Chester L. Crafts, Mrs. Cruikshank, and Mrs. Charles Scott.

The entertainment is to be repeated tonight at 7:45, admission is to be 25 cents and cake and candy will be on sale as last evening. The entertainment is worth while, not only as an entertainment, but as an introduction to the Manchester public of an educational feature, new here, but quite popular in larger towns and cities.

The parsonage has been re-decorated and makes a charming place in which to dispense hospitality of the old-fashioned sort and the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Hatch proved a delightful host and hostess.

PARENT-TEACHER MEETING

FIRST MEETING OF SEASON AT MAGNOLIA SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

The first meeting of the Blynman Grammar school Parent-Teacher association was held at the schoolhouse, Wednesday evening, with a large attendance. The meeting was a most satisfactory one from all viewpoints, and the new electric lights, recently installed, added greatly to the enjoyment of the evening. The meeting was opened by Mrs. H. C. Foster, the new president, who first announced the resignation of the present treasurer and appointed a committee of three, Mrs. D. C. Ballou, Mrs. Frederick Dunbar, and Mrs. Clifford Story to select a candidate, to be voted upon at the next meeting, Tuesday evening, December 8. The secretary, Mrs. Oscar P. Story, read the minutes of the meeting which the officers and teachers held at the home of the president some time ago to discuss winter plans. A motion was made and carried that ice-cream and cookies shall be served at each meeting and that each member present shall pay five cents for each dish of ice-cream he purchases. At this purely nominal price the expenses can be paid without being a burden on the committee in charge of the evening. The next meeting will be held at the school Tuesday evening, December 8, and Mrs. Higgins, State President of the Massachusetts Parent-Teacher association has offered to be the speaker of the evening.

Mrs. Higgins is a very enthusiastic worker and a fine speaker. Doubtless there will be a record attendance to hear her speak. Miss Mary Brooks of Gloucester was the speaker Wednesday evening and she delivered an interesting talk on "A Red Parent-Teacher Association," which was based on her own novel experiences in Southern California, particularly at the Indian reservations where she was a welcome visitor. The first, and perhaps the most extraordinary, because so crude, was the school at Cahuilla. The photographs of the place, which the speaker provided, showed the schoolhouse to be a rough board building, unfinished and not an especially inviting place for the home as well as for the work-shop, so to speak, of a white woman, for the teacher there is white and makes her home at the schoolhouse. Most of the boys and girls came to school bare-headed, barefooted and thinly clad, although the weather was cold, but most of them were fairly clean. The school session was much the same as in the eastern schools with one notable difference, the Government served bread and honey at luncheon time.

This seeming extravagance on the part of the Government was explained by the fact that the Indians seem to have no idea of the proper care of milch cows and allow them to run with the calves. Thus, they have no milk, and butter is at a premium. Another rather amusing custom was the doling out of cough syrup to the pupils by the teacher in charge. The syrup is furnished by the Government and some of the younger boys, particularly, always seem to regard it as a treat. Miss Brooks made one interesting commentary on the Indian students, that they seemed less mischievous and more respectful than white children, which is undoubtedly accounted for, partly at least, by the difference in the races.

MEETING

In the companionship of the white teacher in charge, Miss Brooks made visits to many Indian homes on the reservation. Some of them were amusing, some rather tragic and others merely pathetic. Most of the houses had only one room, a few were of adobe and one had a real window. The Indians seemed to prefer the floor to chairs or a bed, especially when ill, and in nearly every case where there was illness in the family, the invalid was found lying on the floor before the fire. The dirtiest home which the speaker visited was that of the widow, Benina, whose husband left her quite a number of cattle at his death. In accordance with the Indian custom, she had killed them off, one at a time, on feast days, until she had none left. Then she was not obliged to mourn any more. When Miss Brooks and her companion entered the house Benina and her daughter were sitting on the dirt floor looking at a tiny fire composed of two twigs about the thickness of a woman's finger. They had a caller and he, too, was looking at the fire. Two chairs were produced for the white visitors and they, too, sat and looked at the fire. Finally, Miss Brooks inquired about the possibility of purchasing some Indian baskets from Benina, for the Indian women make very fine baskets, taking great pride in never duplicating another woman's pattern or their own pattern a second time. The squaw lazily reached over to the corner and from under a huge pile of things, pulled out a gunny sack full of baskets. In so doing, she upset the pile, the heaviest articles on top, and did considerable damage which bothered her not at all. An even worse example of shiftlessness Miss Brooks found in a family of "squatters" who were living in the door-yard of a more prosperous family.

Many examples of ambition and strong characters were found among the red people, however. Boys and girls who were anxious to become missionaries, teachers and lawyers and who, moreover, were having an opportunity to fulfill their ambitions, were found. Miss Brooks related many more of her interesting experiences at various reservations and, particularly at the Perris Boarding school.

IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY BRANCH
MEETS AT BEVERLY FARMS

The Beverly Farms Branch of the Beverly Improvement society held its monthly meeting last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Howard A. Doane. Last year's officers were re-elected for the coming year, and are as follows: Chairman, Mrs. Howard Doane; secretary, Mrs. Frank Preston; treasurer, Rev. Clarence S. Pond.

Mrs. Doane and Mrs. Preston were elected to represent the Farms branch on the committee at the annual reception held in January in Beverly. Frank I. Lomasney was chosen as a committee of one to investigate the matter of a public dump. The members of the Branch were asked to co-operate in helping to raise money for the Beverly Hospital. The planting of an imaginary tree, which is being successfully carried out in the city proper was suggested and accepted, a number of the members agreeing to solicit funds. The meeting was concluded by a short talk by Miss Louisa Loring on sewing for the war sufferers abroad. Miss Loring told of the work that was being done all over this state and in many others and then asked that all who cared to help would send in their names to Mrs. Vaughn as she is planning to open a sewing room at the Farms, where all who are interested may go and work one or two days each week. The usual social hour was enjoyed at the

BEVERLY FARMS

The new Beverly High School Athletic field will be open tomorrow when the Beverly High football team will play the strong Rindge Tech. The opening of the field at this date is very much against the wishes and judgment of the Commission. S. John Connolly, chairman of the board, has sent a letter to Principal B. S. Hurd of the High School, stating the Board's exact position in the matter. Among other things Mr. Connolly says: "The Commission would much prefer not to open the field at all this year and in this opinion the Commission is guided by the best of authority relative to the condition of the field, and the probability of placing the field in such a condition that it would never be the field that it ought to be if used to any extent this year. The Commission, however, feels that public opinion, irrespective of the merits of the proposition, is in favor of having the field opened, Nov. 14, this taken together with the financial condition of the football team of the Beverly High school at the present time impels the Commission to reluctantly grant its assent to the opening of the field on that date, but the Commission will not be held responsible for the condition of the field, thereafter."

William Watt of Pride's Crossing, who was a candidate for alderman from Ward 6 last year has consented to run again this year if his friends and supporters of last year insist on tendering him a nomination. Caleb Loring, the present incumbent is a candidate for re-election.

The starting of Miss Jane M. Watson's adult class in dancing which was to have commenced last week was postponed until next Monday evening, when it will meet in Marshall's hall.

The coming wedding of Miss Margaret Quirk and Thomas Connors, two popular Beverly Farms young people, which is to take place during the week of Nov. 23 is bringing them no end of good wishes and congratulations from their host of friends.

Mayor Herman A. Macdonald was 32 years old Wednesday and he was reminded of the fact by receiving no end of congratulations and happy felicitations. Upon his desk was a large collection of flowers sent by a number of friends.

Mrs. Bridget Callahan, wife of Jeremiah J. Callahan of 629 Hale st., Pride's Crossing, died at the Beverly Hospital Tuesday after a short illness from pneumonia. She was 39 years old. Mrs. Callahan was well known here. Her maiden name was Murphy. She married Patrick J. Dillon, whose death occurred some two and a half years ago. About a year ago she married Mr. Callahan. She leaves besides her husband, two children by her first marriage. Funeral services were held at St. Margaret's church Thursday morning and burial was at the Montserrat Cemetery.

There are at the present time six vacant stores in Beverly Farms, and according to the present business outlook they are very likely to remain vacant until next spring, at least.

The desire to see a good game of football between the Beverly High and Rindge Tech., and also to see the new Athletic Field which opens for the first time tomorrow will no doubt take a large number from Beverly Farms to North Beverly.

Miss Ellen Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Murray of Haskell st., was operated upon at the Beverly Hospital, Tuesday, for appendicitis. She is reported to be comfortable at this writing. Miss Murray's illness is the second of its kind in her family as her brother Dannie has hardly yet recovered from a recent operation for this same trouble.

Dr. C. J. Murray, dentist, can now be found in his finely fitted up new office in the Murphy block on West street.

Postmaster and Mrs. Lawrence J. Watson have spent the past week on a vacation trip, visiting New York city, Phila., and Washington.

THIRTY LEAGUES UNDER THE SEA

The most remarkable motion picture ever made, which rivals the fantastic thrills of Jules Verne's wonderful novel, "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," comes to the National Theatre, corner of Tremont and Berkeley streets, Boston, for a positively limited engagement commencing on Monday afternoon, November 16th. "Thirty Leagues Under The Sea" was taken amid the beautiful submarine coral growth of the Bahama Islands by the Williamson Brothers, by means of the unique and astonishing apparatus for taking pictures under the sea which it took thirty years for their father to develop.

There will be one thousand seats at 25 cents, and two performances daily at 2.30 and 8.30.

SOCIETY NOTES

Major Henry L. Higginson, one of the North Shore's oldest and best-beloved citizens, for generations a summer resident of Manchester, observed his 80th birthday Wednesday. Born in New York, Nov. 18, 1834, Mr. Higginson was educated in Harvard, which he entered in 1851. Gallant fighter in the Civil War; benefactor of Harvard; founder of the Symphony Orchestra; builder of business; administrator of charitable funds; contributor to innumerable good causes which the world in general knows nothing of; and tireless server of his country and his community—such are the six decades which have been given to the service of his fellows by the "first citizen of Boston." What word for the young men of today has this veteran who has been through it all; war and peace; good times and bad; public life and private life; business career and cultivation of the arts? In an interview recently Major Higginson gave utterance to the following wise and pithy sentences: "Think of your job and not of yourself." "The only asset anybody has is character." "No single person amounts to much: it is all together that we count." "The only lasting satisfaction any one gets out of life is what he does for other people." "We get things that we don't deserve; and we deserve things that we don't get." "The great thing about doing something well is that it gets you a chance to do something else—the same way." "What pays the highest return is the human dividend."

The J. Warren Merrills of Manchester, are still at Hamilton, where they went in the late summer, but they plan to move to Boston after Thanksgiving, where they have taken a house at 39 Bay State Road.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Leland have been spending the autumn at their West Manchester estate as usual. They are returning to town, where they have a house at 422 Beacon st., the day before Thanksgiving.

♦ ♦ ♦

Amory Eliot, who was recently honored by being elected president of the Webster & Atlas bank, Boston, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the former president, John P. Lyman, had been for some time a director of the bank. He is a member of the bar and identified with the management of real estate trusts. The Eliots are still at Manchester and will, as usual, be here practically all winter.

♦ ♦ ♦

Announcement was recently made of the engagement of Miss Alice Boit of Brookline to Wm. A. Burnham, Jr. The marriage will take place in December, but because of the death of Mr. Burnham's mother at Manchester this summer, the wedding will be very quiet.

North Shore people are interested in the play, "Yellow Bird," by Pauline Bradford Mackie, which will be given at the Wilbur Theatre on Friday, November 27, at 2.30 o'clock, and on Saturday, November 28, at 10.30 o'clock. Mrs. Roger Noble Burnham of Magnolia will be one of the leading members of the cast. Mrs. Walter C. Baylies of Boston and Nahant is one of the members of the committee of endorsement.

SOCIETY NOTES

The Myopia drag fixtures for the rest of November are announced as follows: Saturday, Nov. 21—Ipswich Trotting park, 3.15 p. m.; Tuesday, Nov. 24—Topsfield Fair grounds, 3.15 p. m.; Thursday, Nov. 26—Thanksgiving Day. The Kennels, 12 m. Breakfast by invitation of Chas. F. Ayer, Esq., at Juniper Ridge at 1.45 p. m.; Saturday, Nov. 28—Details will be posted. The foxhounds meet Monday and Friday mornings.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mrs. George E. Barnard is to give at her country home in Ipswich, the Saturday after Thanksgiving, an auction bridge and tea for the benefit of the Red Cross. Those of the summer colony still lingering in that region have entered into this entertainment with active interest.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Prince have decided not to spend the winter at Pau, France, as is their custom, but will stay at their estate at Pride's Crossing, where they have been for the summer. "Princemere" is really in Wenham, the estate bordering on one of the beautiful inland lakes.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hunnewell, Jr. (Minna Lyman), who are still at Pride's Crossing, have planned to leave there on Dec. 1, and go to Wellesley, where they will spend the winter.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Treat Paine, 2d, of the Coolidge Pt., Manchester, colony, have sent out cards for the ball for Miss Ruth Paine at the Somerset, on the night of Friday, Dec. 4.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mrs. John S. Ford of Youngstown, O., closed her house at University Lane, Manchester, Monday, and is in Brookline for a stay.

The North Shore is represented at "the front" in the great European conflict by many who are well known and familiar to summer visitors here. Members of the Austro-Hungarian embassy were among those at Manchester this summer to leave at the outbreak of the war, and members of the French, German, Russian and British embassies, who were formerly here are taking active parts in the war, many of them on the field. Sir John Lane Harrington, son-in-law of Mrs. James McMillan of the Manchester colony hurried from Manchester as soon as war was declared. He is a colonel in the army. "If one thing more than another should imbue the private soldier with the spirit of emulation," says London Tib-Bits, "it is surely the record of those famous 'rankers' who fought their way upward to the position of General, and even to that of Field Marshal, the highest to which any soldier can attain. Col. Sir John Lane Harrington, who was British representative at the court of King Menelik of Abyssinia, rose from the ranks. He joined the Irish Fusiliers, and subsequently found himself a lieutenant of the Indian Staff Corps. For three years, from 1895 to 1898, he acted as vice consul at Zaila, afterward occupying the onerous position of British representative in Abyssinia, where he rendered invaluable service to his Sovereign and his country."

In the Social Register of Boston for 1915, which has just been issued, the members of its prominent families, whether residing in the city, in the country or abroad, are grouped under the one address, with the maiden and Christian names of the married women, the names of the daughters and sons in the order of their age, and the younger children, from 12 to 20, appearing under the title of "Juniors." The key to the married names of women is still provided through the instrumentality of the "Married Maidens." This year the scope of the Social Register has been increased to include Seattle and Portland, Oregon, and Southern California, comprising Los Angeles and Pasadena, practically covering, with San Francisco, all of the Pacific Coast. There are noted the marriages in Boston of 153 persons as compared with 196 last year; and the deaths of 50 women and 60 men as compared with 35 women and 50 men last year, an increase in the mortality and a marked decrease in the marriages.

MANCHESTER TOWN MEETING

QUESTION OF STREET LIGHTING UNDER DISCUSSION. TO BE DECIDED NEXT MONDAY

The question of street lighting was the principle thing discussed at the special Town Meeting last Monday, the issue being the substitution of electricity for the parkway system of gas lights in vogue here the last twenty years or more.

Few of the voters knew this question was to be brought up, as it was not specifically stated in the warrant. It was introduced under the heading of committee reports. The voters as a whole were not ready to pass on the question without further deliberation. Since then, the report of the committee has been printed and distributed about town so that by this time everybody ought to be ready to decide one way or the other. The whole thing is summed up by the committee in the following paragraph in their report:

"The Town is now using approximately 250 lights for which it is paying $32.48 per year each. The Welsbach Company's new offer is $37.96 per lamp, or, should it better that price by two dollars, $35.96 per lamp. The Manchester Electric Company's price is $33.48. This is the price on 60 candlepower lamps. Should 40 candlepower lamps, similar to those in the Town of Hamilton, be used the price would be $29.76 per lamp per year. It is the opinion of your committee that, should you decide on electric lighting, it would be advisable to use 40 candlepower lamps in some locations and 60's in other places, and to use still higher-powered lamps at dangerous corners and, possibly, in the center of town."

It was further pointed out that the electric lights would be on until 3 a. m., and also that if lights were installed, now would be the best time to do so, when the streets were more or less torn up by the sewer system. The Welsbach people on the other hand state they might be able to considerably lower their price in January after they have renewed their contract with the Standard Oil Co. A violent southwesterly wind storm of almost hurricane velocity swept this vicinity last Friday afternoon and early in the evening a heavy thunder shower set in which lasted about a half hour. BEVERLY HOSPITAL has been the beneficiary in other wills, but the bequest in the will of the Hon. William Endicott of Pride's Crossing, is a Providence. That institution has been serving the North Shore with an efficiency that cannot be challenged. The bequest is as honorable to the giver as it is deserved by the recipient. Mr. Endicott was a careful, but generous giver in his life-time and his public bequests in his last testament are characteristically philanthropic. The gift to the hospital was particularly needed. The institution needs other large and generous gifts to afford a large and more adequate endowment. It is certain that money thus invested will yield large returns in comfort rendered to the people of Beverly, Manchester, Hamilton and vicinity.

THE LOSS OF THE AUDACIOUS was a calamity, indeed, to the English navy. This dreadnaught was the best naval vessel lost in the present conflict. It was, however, nothing short of miraculous that only two lives were sacrificed. All naval losses are not so fortunate as far as human life is concerned. Judging from the length of time that expired after the Audacious met its accident before its fate was known to the world it is more evident that the censorship system is working well and that the newspapers missed a great "story"—for a while.

NOW THAT THERE IS A REAL POSSIBILITY of the United States Government recalling the troops at Vera Cruz the people may begin to breathe a little freer when confronted with the Mexican possibilities. The Vera Cruz incident seemed terrible the day the news was first broken upon the nation, but the European conflict has minimized its importance and with it its possible terror. The United States cannot afford to neglect the moral pretensions of its people by making war for economic reasons or because of a policy of "peaceful penetration."

THE OLD BELL IN THE STEEPLE of the Congregational church at Manchester has rung out its melodious tone for generations. A month or two ago it lost its pleasing, sweet toned voice, and now a new tune will be heard from the historic tower as the result of the vote Monday to install a new bell.

DECIDED PROGRESS toward the resumption of regular business is noted in the general financial situation. The opening of the Cotton Exchange in New York this week was followed by intimations from high banking quarters of the probable reopening of the Stock Exchange at the beginning of the new year. There were other distinct indications of improvement, including further heavy retirements of emergency currency, additional advances in most of the bonds and stocks quoted by several markets now in operation and an advance in the price of copper metal. All of which gives further assurance that business conditions will have righted themselves before another season and that next year will be one of the most prosperous at the New England resorts.

WOULD YOU LIKE to make this Christmas just a little different—and a little better—than all others of the past? Would you like to feel just a little better satisfied with yourself? Figure up about the amount of money you expect to spend, and then send a check for about one-tenth or one-twentieth of the amount to your church treasurer. If every person in town did that it would save the ministers a good deal of pleading for funds. Of course the suggestion is rather startling, but it would be quite in keeping with the Christmas spirit.

CARDINAL O'CONNELL has made a plea for religious tolerance and liberty in Mexico. In this country of ours religious liberty and tolerance have been dearly won. Religious bigotry and intolerance is contrary to the principles of our free government and foreign to the spirit of our land. Religious liberty is a priceless inheritance that must be won and held at all costs. The American people will delight in seeing Mexico throw off the spirit of intolerance and enjoy true religious liberty for all.

ACCORDING TO THE OFFICIAL RETURNS sent in to the State of Massachusetts, Essex county holds the record for the number of pheasants killed during the legal open season, Oct. 12 to Nov. 12. ### GAS VS. ELECTRICITY FOR MANCHESTER STREET LIGHTS

Editor North Shore Breeze,

After reading the report of the Committee on street lighting, there are a few things that I would like to call the attention of the Citizens to in order that they may understand the question when it is presented next Monday evening.

The Manchester Electric Co. has submitted a proposition which on its face appears to be more economical than the contract offered by the Welsbach Street Lighting Co., but we must consider that, even if we start with 60 candlepower lamps, these lamps depreciate and lose their efficiency, sliding down the scale of candlepower until they burn out, and unless the Manchester Electric Co. handle their business in a different manner from other electric companies, these lamps will be used until they burn out, so that while we may be paying for 60 candlepower, the average capacity of these lights will be very much less.

The electric light possesses also this disadvantage: The lights are very uncertain, as every citizen who uses electric light in his house is well aware, and every citizen who goes to church is well aware, that these lights go out when the wind blows hard, or when the rains fill the manholes, or when the tide is extremely high as is often the case at the West Manchester-Beverly Farms line. The fuses blow out at the most inopportune times, as it goes without saying that a windy and rainy night is the time when we most need the lights.

It is true that we did have very unsatisfactory service from the Welsbach Street Lighting Co. last winter, which was occasioned by a combination of circumstances; the quality of gasoline was extremely poor, the winter was an extremely cold one, and the men who lighted the lamps lacked experience.

I don't think that anyone can complain of the present service and in view of the fact that last winter was the only time that we have been troubled by the service in the many

AT BEVERLY LAST SATURDAY one of the best, if not the best recreation ground owned by a small city in the State, was dedicated. The commission of which S. John Connolly of Beverly Farms, was chairman, has done its work well and the speech of the chairman was heard with marked attention and was justly applauded. The completion of this structure is another mark of progress of the present administration, headed by Mayor Macdonald of Beverly Farms.

THE SHOP-EARLY CHRISTMAS campaign has broken bounds. It has been commercialized so early that the humanitarian impulse may not appear as conspicuously as formerly. It is a human slogan despite its fall from grace. Shop early and spare the nerves of storekeepers and mail-carriers. It is none too early to lend a hand.

OUT OF ONE HUNTING SEASON into another and out of one danger into another! Hunters may well wear a red hat, but reckless hunters will even mistake that signal crown. The humane spirit in man sees but little fun in shooting innocent game.

OUR TOWNSMAN, Major H. L. Higginson is eighty years young and in the vigour of his life. The Breeze for the townspeople takes pleasure in wishing Mr. Higginson many more years of happy and prosperous service in life.

THE VANDALS in a neighboring village are learning that offense against property rights of others is a very serious matter.

OLD CONNECTICUT may have had her Blue Laws, but Old Harvard may fly all the red flags she wishes in the nut-meg state tomorrow.

"TURKEY IS MARCHING to slaughter," says England. Phew! But won't there be a royal gobble.

years that we have had this system, I think we can be reasonably sure of good service, especially if we make contracts from year to year.

The service used by the Welsbach Street Lighting Co. in this town is the same service that is used by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in all of their Park System and State Boulevards.

I am informed that the Welsbach Street Lighting Co. make their contracts the last of December with the Standard Oil Co. to cover a calendar year, and that if they can make a proposition to us after the first of January, it will be materially less than the price they have been compelled to quote now as gasoline is 40% cheaper at any garage in Massachusetts than the Welsbach Street Lighting Co. are paying the Standard Oil Co. for it now, and I hope that the citizens will thoroughly consider this matter before they tie themselves up on a ten-year contract for electric lights.

Very respectfully yours,
—A CITIZEN.

PARENT-TEACHER MEETING

The November meeting of the Parent-Teacher association, Manchester, was held at the Price school Wednesday evening. The meeting was opened by the President, Mrs. Seddie Follett, and Mrs. D. T. Beaton read the report of the committee in charge of the Gymnic which was given last week at Town hall. The affair was very successfully financially. Great credit is due Mrs. George Dean, who devoted a great deal of time to drilling those who participated, and who gave her services without any charge. It was unanimously voted that the Association send Mrs. Dean a suitable expression of gratitude.

The musical part of the program Wednesday evening was furnished by Mrs. Raymond C. Allen, who sang two solos, "'Twas You," and "Don't You Mind the Sorrows," which were greatly appreciated. She was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Charles E. Williams.

Mr. Mackin announced that a friend of the Parent-Teacher association had kindly offered to give the organization a lecture by Dr. Johnson of Beverly, to be delivered at Town hall in January. It was voted that the offer be accepted and that the regular January meeting of the association be made an open meeting with Dr. Johnson as speaker.

The subject is a most interesting and instructive one to everyone: "Preventative Medicines," and the Manchester public is cordially invited to attend.

C. C. Carsten of the Association for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, of Boston, spoke on "The Protection of the Family Virtue." Mr. Carsten is a speaker of pleasing personality and his address made an evident impression on his audience. Four things, Mr. Carsten said, were needed to practically do away with the tragedies in child life, which he and his fellow workers see daily in their work. They are: first and most important, the virtue of family self-support; second, standards of morality and decency in family life; third, discipline; fourth, education.

If a family has not the consciousness of financial independence, said the speaker, it is almost impossible that the other needed conditions can be brought about. Out of the one hundred cases of boys in the Concord reformatory which were looked into by the association which Mr. Carsten represents between fifty and sixty homes were found unsuitable to send the boys back to, which would seem to prove that ordinary standards of morality and decency are woefully lacking in parts of our communities. The speaker told of a girl of fourteen years who ran away from her home and mother one night in November about two years ago. Upon investigation it was found that the girl's home was spotlessly neat, that her mother prided herself upon being a good housekeeper and a disciplinarian. She was a disciplinarian of the old-fashioned sort, but the girl was too high spirited for that sort of government. An agent from the Association for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children called on the mother and tried to persuade her to let someone try to bring out the good in the child, but the sense of being interfered with was too strong on the mother's part and, as the law could not step in in such a case, the girl was returned to her home. A year later the woman had her daughter brought into the juvenile court in Boston on charges which would place her in an industrial school, the worst possible place for such a girl.

Discipline, said Mr. Carsten, need not be of the iron-clad variety so long as the desired results are obtained.

The fourth needed factor in American home life is a suitable amount of education for the boys and girls, not merely just what the law compels. The speaker said that it was a proven fact that the critical years between fourteen and sixteen are more likely to be wasted at work than at school because of the fact that children of that age can earn only small wages under even the best conditions and that at the end of the two years they are either where they started or worse off. Mr. Carsten defined the education he had in mind as not only secular education, but also religious.

After the close of the program the social committee served sandwiches and tea in the room below.

MANCHESTER WOMAN'S CLUB

"HEART TO HEART TALK TO MOTHERS" AT TOWN HALL

Dr. E. E. Southard of Wellesley spoke before a large meeting of Manchester women, guests of the Manchester Woman's club at Town hall in a "Heart to Heart Talk to Mothers," Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Southard has spoken at Manchester a number of times before, several times at the Arbella club and once at a meeting of the Parent-Teacher association members, and she is to deliver another course of lectures to the Arbella club girls this winter. She has been on the platform for about eight years and has worked with many college students, particularly with the Wellesley girls. Her addresses are all marked with the same scientific, sane truthfulness that makes them so valuable to her audiences.

Announcement was made at the meeting of the work that has been started among the women of Manchester in aid of the European War sufferers. Yarn will be furnished to those who care to knit anything for this splendid cause, to which the Manchester women will doubtless respond with their customary promptness. Materials and directions may be secured from Miss Annie L. Lane at her home at 5 Vine street. Mrs. Beaton, the president, also made another announcement of the course of three lectures by Miss Cole of Beverly. The course will begin early in December and tickets are already on sale at the price of fifty cents for the course. The next meeting of the Woman's club will be held at the Congregational chapel, Tuesday afternoon, December 1, when Mrs. Marion A. Downes will deliver an address, "Little Stories of North Africa." Mrs. Annie M. Sinnicks will be the hostess for the afternoon.

MANCHESTER BROTHERHOOD

THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE NEWS-PAPER

The Manchester Brotherhood met last Monday evening at the Baptist church. Francis M. Stanwood, a well known summer resident, was the speaker of the evening. His subject was the "Development of the Newspaper."

Mr. Stanwood is a journalist and for a number of years was connected with the Boston Journal, and at one time president of the Hotel and Railroad News Co. He spoke of the first newspaper that was published in Frankfort, Germany, and from that date to the present time, was covered in his extremely interesting talk. In May 1835 the New York Herald was established by James Gordon Bennett, and in twenty years developed to a circulation of 36,000. Harry J. Raymond in 1851 organized the New York Times. The New York World was a marked success. In 1833 the New York Sun was established and in 1868 Chas. Anderson Dana bought a controlling interest in the paper.

There has been said that there are but ten great newspaper properties in the United States.

The Boston Globe is considered the leading paper of that city, and was organized in the early seventies with a capital of $300,000. Later taken over by Gen. Taylor. The Boston Post leads in circulation. In 1805, F. M. Stanwood became manager of the Boston Journal. The Boston Transcript has for a long time been owned by the Duttons. The Mandells of Wenham and Boston, are now greatly interested in that paper.

Mr. Stanwood also spoke of the famous "Carleton Letters," and of the inauguration "write-up" of Grant by Edmond Yates for the New York Herald. Lady correspondents were admitted to the field only a comparatively few years ago and proved a great success for certain lines of work.

A large majority of the people do not appreciate the power of the press. The cost of news to the public is at a very low minimum. System, care, and good judgment are all acquired in the production of a newspaper. By reading carefully anyone of the large daily papers you receive news from all over the world. The system in which this news is gathered together was one of the most interesting parts of Mr. Stanwood's talk. The work of the Associated Press was also explained.

The usual collation was served, consisting of ice-cream and cookies, a treat by Mr. Stanwood.

BENJAMIN C. MARBLE

Benjamin C. Marble passed away at his home on Washington st., Manchester, early Tuesday evening at the age of 81 years, 2 months. He had been suffering for a number of years from hardening of the arteries, and has had a number of serious setbacks during that time. He had another ill-turn Monday, from which he did not rally.

Mr. Marble was a native of West Gloucester, being a son of Benjamin and Nellie (Harlow) Marble. He spent the greater part of his life in Manchester. For many years he was the caretaker of the extensive Townes estate at Old Neck and Dana's Beach, and continued as caretaker of the estate when it was sold some fifteen years ago to the late Senator McMillan. He was a wood carver by trade.

He was a member of Magnolia lodge, 149, I. O. O. F., and was a constant attendant and an earnest worker in the lodge before his illness. He married a Manchester girl—Miss Annie Rowe, who died several years ago.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon with prayers at the house, followed by services at the Crowell Memorial chapel at 2.30. The Odd Fellows will conduct their services also.

GEORGE ABRAM ROWE

George Abram Rowe passed away last Saturday night at the age of 78 years, at his late home on the corner of Sea and Summer streets, death resulting from a stroke of apoplexy which he suffered the early part of that week.

Mr. Rowe was a native of Manchester, a son of the late Captain Abram and Olive (Goldsmith) Rowe. He was a cabinet maker by trade, this being the prevailing trade in Manchester in the days when he was a young man. He enlisted at the age of 26 in the 19th Mass. Volunteers, Co. H., and served until Oct. 13, 1862. He was a member of the old Manchester Cornet Band,—a famous organization in its day in these parts and he was a singer of ability in his younger days.

He is survived by a widow, one brother Theodore C. Rowe and two sisters, Mrs. Charles Danforth of this town, and Mrs. Eliza Lowe of Essex. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon.

That Magnolia women are willing and even anxious to do their part toward alleviating the suffering of the Belgian refugees was evidenced by the large number who gathered at the home of Mrs. B. M. ### EQUAL SUFFRAGE

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Boston Suffragists announce another public meeting in the Tremont Theatre on Sunday, the 22nd, at 3 o'clock, when Dean Sumner of Chicago, Bishop-elect of Oregon, will be the chief speaker. Dean Sumner is famous for his fight against vice in Chicago and is one of the most courageous speakers in this country. His subject will be,—"The Dawning Consciousness of Woman's Loyalty to Woman." Prof. Albert Bushnell Hart, of Harvard, will be the other speaker on this occasion.

The great Suffrage and Red Cross bazaar will come off on Monday and Tuesday next at the Copley-Plaza Hotel, Boston. Manchester is sending some very attractive contributions to the North Shore table. Mrs. H. E. Russell has the flower table, Miss Louie Stanwood has the book table, and many other North Shore ladies are on the various committees. The whole affair will end with a ball for the young people on Tuesday night.

A number of Boston Suffragists have formed a Peace Committee, to help on the work for the "New Peace" (in response to the appeal of Mrs. Pethick Lawrence of England). Mrs. Lawrence more than confirmed what Mrs. Pinkham said in Manchester,—that, women, and especially American women, must take the lead in a great world movement for permanent peace.

People in Manchester may be interested to know that Boston women are planning a public meeting in the interest of Belgian Relief, such as we had in Manchester some weeks ago. Thus Manchester got ahead! And we believe that in the matter of Equal Suffrage, when it comes to the polls next year, the town of Manchester and the state of Massachusetts will be found to be not so far behind the West as many believe!

BELGIAN RELIEF ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The Belgian Relief committee in Boston, through Dr. McComb, wishes me to thank the women of Manchester for all they have done and are still doing, for the unhappy Belgians. They acknowledge the gift of twenty dollars from the Manchester Equal Suffrage league, also contributions of clothing and other articles from several persons; and the work of the Woman's club and the school children, together, is highly appreciated. They assure us that the need continues to be very great,—they need all that we can spare without neglecting our own town.

cities in which he has appeared.

Realizing the difficulties of presenting a play of such magnitude, Mr. Lonergan has given his talented and versatile company an extra week's rehearsal and the result may well be anticipated with pleasure by the patrons of the house. Special effort has been made by the scenic and electrical staffs to produce all of the elaborate effects which contribute so much of the success of any production of this classic.

Mr. Lonergan will offer the original dramatic version, precisely as it was arranged for the stage by W. G. Willis in 1885, from Goethe's celebrated poem of the same name. It contains all of the scenes which made Gounod's operatic interpretation so famous, also all of the characters which have become so familiar with lovers of literature and art. The version which will be seen at the Empire Theatre is the one in which Henry Irving and Lewis Morrison starred for so many years with such singular triumph.

PEG O' MY HEART

There's joy in the heart of me
Peg o' my heart,
'Tis the rare Irish part of me
Peg o' my heart;
Night, sweet with dreams of thee,
Day's music seems of thee,
The moon tells her beams of thee,
Peg o' my heart.

Love for thee sings of thee,
Peg o' my heart,
Prayers of thee strengthen me,
Peg o' my heart;
None takes the place of thee,
Dreams of the face of thee,
Waken God's grace in me,
Peg o' my heart.

God save thee, soul of me,
Peg o' my heart,
Blood of the pulse of me,
Peg o' my heart,
God's mirrored trinity,
Faith, hope, divinity,
Throb in the soul of me,
Peg o' my heart.
Love for thee blesses me,
Peg o' my heart,
Smiles of thee, tears of thee,
Peg o' my heart,
Bring me so near to thee,
Binding thee, dear, to me,
Closer each year to thee,
Peg o' my heart.

I, too, am a child with thee,
Peg o' my heart,
God has been mild with me,
Peg o' my heart;
The birds' sweetest melody
Chimes with the knell o' thee
Hours while I tell of thee,
Peg o' my heart.

not be asserted that gypsy moths are also disappearing, although they are less numerous than formerly.

A well attended meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Thorn-dike Parker, Larch Row, Thursday, to make hospital supplies, bandages, etc., for the wounded soldiers in the war. A large amount of work was accomplished and articles finished will be forwarded at once. Meanwhile the knitting goes rapidly on at the homes of those interested. Knitters are wanted.

GAIETY THEATRE, BOSTON

Monday, November 23, will be somewhat of a gala day at this popular place of amusement, being the sixth anniversary of its entre to the modern theatres of Boston. Now as then, the Gaiety easily holds first rank as the leading theatre of its class, still presenting the high grade of burlesque, which has become so immensely popular throughout the United States.

Perhaps at the present day no form of entertainment receives more universal patronage than the modern burlesque, chiefly due no doubt, to its diversified style of performance, embracing as it does, the best in musical comedy, vaudeville, drama and minstrelsy.

A Little Christmas Forethought

Just now—even though it seems early—is the time for you to attend to certain of your Christmas needs.

Stationery that is to be die-stamped for Christmas, Individual Greeting Cards to be engraved, monogram articles and other things that have to be made to order, watches that are to be engraved and regulated, sterling silver pieces to be engraved—all these things should be attended to at once.

If your order is placed now, the work can be done promptly and your mind relieved of it before the Christmas rush starts in.

Another suggestion: Do not suffer the embarrassment of running out of engraved personal cards just at the time when you need them to send with your Christmas gifts—the time when it is next to impossible to get engraving done. See to it immediately that your card stock is replenished if it needs to be.

These are matters which your own common sense will tell you should be attended to at once. A little forethought will prevent many last-minute regrets and disappointments.

Orders will be attended to by mail or at our store.

Among the many New England people who are directly interested in the big European war are the Topsfield relatives of the former Marion Pierce of that town, now the wife of Capt. E. H. Pentecost of the British Royal Naval Reserve, who is at the front. Up to the time of the war breaking out Capt. Pentecost spent a great deal of his time in Topsfield and is well known in this section. He married Miss Pierce in 1908 while he was commander of the Cunard liner, Saxon, and the youngest captain in the service of that company. Captain Pentecost has had a varied career. He speaks Portuguese fluently and some years ago became a Brazilian citizen and was captain of a Brazilian battleship during the last Brazilian revolution. Feeling later, however, that he did not want to relinquish his English birthright he returned home and went into the Navy Reserve and entered the Cunard service.

SOCIETY NOTES

A touching reminder of Major Henry L. Higginson's 80th birthday was paid him by the Boston Symphony orchestra at Symphony Hall last Friday night. Frederick L. Cabot conceived the idea that it was fitting that the orchestra which has brought a maximum of pleasure to hundreds of Boston Music lovers through Major Higginson, should render some tribute to him. As soon as the hall was filled for the performance, Dr. Karl Muck rapped for silence and Mr. Cabot spoke a few words of appreciation for Major Higginson's efforts and the orchestra expressed the sentiment of everyone present with the good old German "tusch." The audience rose to its feet with vigorous applause and Major Higginson repeatedly bowed his acknowledgment of the tribute of those who have so much to be grateful to him for.

The Cercle Francais of Harvard, assisted by the Cercle Francais of Radcliffe, are to present a farce, "Les Petites Godin," by Ordonneau and Chivot at the Agassiz House, Cambridge, Dec. 2, and at Copley Hall, Boston, Dec. 3. Boston and Cambridge society is giving its patronage at this first dramatic event of the season at Harvard.

One of the big affairs of the season will be the double Shakesperian bill which has been arranged by Edward Vroom to be presented at the Boston Opera House under the auspices of the New England Relief Fund on the night of Dec. 14. On the committee in charge are Mrs. Gordon Abbott, Mrs. S. Parker Bremer, Mrs. Prescott Bigelow, Mrs. William H. Coolidge, Mrs. Lucius M. Sargent, Mrs. William Sheafe, Mrs. Q. A. Shaw, Jr., Mrs. W. Scott Fitz, Mrs. Franklin Haven, Mrs. Augustus Hemenway, and Mrs. Charles A. Kidder.

A ball in compliment to Miss Frances Moore, daughter of Mrs. Clarence Moore, of "Swiftmoor" at Pride's Crossing, will be given at Washington on New Year's Eve. Miss Moore was presented at the English Court a year or so ago and was prominent in the social life at St. Moritz last year, but this is her first winter in America since she came out. Her father, the late Clarence Moore, who perished in the Titanic disaster, had many friends at Washington who will doubtless bestow many pleasant attentions upon his daughter this winter.

Philip Dexter and family have returned to Boston after a long season at Manchester, where they have one of the largest and grandest estates on the whole North Shore.

Mrs. Joseph Leiter is entertaining quite extensively at Washington this season in honor of her sister, Miss Frances Williams. Mrs. Leiter has already given her a dinner dance and a large ball will be given later in the season. This affair will probably be a costume party and it is said that Mrs. Leiter and Miss Williams will both appear in Oriental costumes.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Frick and Miss Helen Frick have closed Eagle Rock, their Pride's Crossing estate, and are in New York. The family will occupy their mansion on the site of the old Lenox Library, work on which was begun two years ago, and which occupies an entire block front in Fifth avenue, between 70th and 71st streets. In front of the mansion is a sunken pool and Italian gardens, and the art gallery, which is the distinctive feature of the house, occupies 3,500 square feet and contains works of Rembrandt and other masters.

Mrs. John A. Burnham and family will close their country home at Wenham the middle of next week and will return to the town residence at 57 Commonwealth avenue, Boston.

The death of Miss Beatrice Colt, youngest daughter of U. S. Senator LeBaron Colt, at Bristol, R. I., last week, after a brief illness, from typhoid fever, is learned with deep regret by her many young friends of the North Shore. She was twenty-three years old.

MAJESTIC THEATRE

Not in many seasons has our stage been graced with so attractive and successful a romantic drama as "Omar, the Tentmaker," the spectacular Persian love-play in which Guy Bates Post will inaugurate a limited engagement at the Majestic Theatre, Boston, beginning Monday evening, November 30th, with bargain matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

The play relates the engrossing love-life of one of the most engaging characters in the world's history, Omar Khayyam, the merry-souled Persian poet and mystic of the eleventh century. In the title role

Mr. Post has endeared himself in the affections of New York theatergoers during the past season to a degree unrivalled by an actor since the passing of the late Richard Mansfield. It is rare indeed that an actor so completely visualizes an heroic figure that his conception is universally accepted at par value by even the staunchest admirers of the person in question. Such, however, is the notable achievement of Mr. Post in his remarkable characterization of the beloved Omar.

Rev. and Mrs. Chas. A. Hatch spent Thanksgiving in Beverly with Rev. and Mrs. Don Ivan Patch.

Rev. and Mrs. John Quint (Grace Lane) of Chelsea spent Thanksgiving Day at the home of Mrs. Quint's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Lane, Vine street.

The school committee has changed the dates of the fall term of the schools. They will close on Wednesday, Dec. 23, and reopen on Monday, Jan. 4. This arrangement conforms more nearly with other towns and cities in the vacation dates at Christmas time.

One of the largest family reunions in Manchester was that which gathered about the festive board at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Cheever, Bridge street. Besides their daughter Helen, and Mrs. Cheever's mother, Mrs. Anna Woodbury, her sister, Mrs. Ernest Mead (Etta Edward, of Wellesley Farms, were present; also Mr. Cheever's parents, Woodbury) and Mr. Mead and son, Mr. and Mrs. John Cheever and son Richard, and Mr. Hill of Boston, a friend of the family.

Another large gathering was at the home of Mrs. Susan Hooper, Union street. Besides her son Charles and daughter, Miss Ethel Hooper, who is home from Winthrop for the holidays, there were present Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Hooper, and Mrs. Arthur Hooper and young son, Franklin, of Gloucester, also Mrs. Charles Hooper of School street, and Mrs. Hooper's sister from Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius F. Rabardy of Central street, who have the honored distinction of being one of the oldest, if not the oldest couple in town, had a happy reunion of their family yesterday. Some sixteen persons, representing four generations, gathered about the festive board. In addition to their daughter Miss Etta Rabardy, Mrs. Rabardy's son, Frank E. Smith and Mrs. Smith of Salem were present, also Fred Smith and wife and two children of this town, representing the third and fourth generations,

BAD FIRE AT CEDAR ACRES

The barn and the bulb house at Cedar Acres, the estate of B. Hammond Tracy, at Wenham, were destroyed by fire at 1 o'clock Monday morning. The loss is set at $12,000.

In the barn four horses and several cows were burned to death, and a number of wagons and sets of harness were destroyed. In the bulb house were lost 20 acres of gladiolia bulbs which were stored there.

The fire started from an unknown cause in the barn, a wooden building of 80 by 60 feet, and spread to the bulb house, which was of like dimensions. The firemen found the blaze beyond control, but were able to save the house.

"ROAD TO HAPPINESS"

There is one dramatic company playing in Boston this season that has an unusually notable galaxy of veteran stage artists. This is "The Road to Happiness," William Hodge's big play success which is now in its fourth month at the Wilbur Theatre there. As the play comprises so many quaint character bits, Mr. Hodge found it essential to secure a number of old-time actors and actresses thoroughly expert in character impersonations.

Mr. Hodge has apparently given

COURTESY TOUCHED HER

Two slick-looking drummers, having a few hours' layover in Seaside, decided to dine at the village hotel.

With the roast beef and roast pork on the bill of fare was also some young chicken.

One of the drummers turned to the pretty waitress and asked:

"How's the chicken?"

The young lady blushed; then answered demurely:

"Oh, I'm all right. How are you?"—Houston Post.

THE BEST PLAN for Belgian relief work in which all may co-operate is the Dollar Christmas Fund being raised for homeless Belgians. The terrible havoc and distress which follows war will be increased by the harsh conditions of winter. With all means of support wiped out and every provision for the winter brought to naught, together with the German demands for indemnities a problem is presented that the whole world must recognize and meet. It is a question of life and death. Starvation and death are the enemies that these brave Belgian people face. The English Shilling Fund and the American Christmas Dollar Fund are co-operating institutions. Every dollar contributed to these funds goes into direct relief work. President Wilson writes in his proclamation: "It has been vouchsafed to us to remain at peace, with honor, and in some part to succor the suffering and supply the needs of those who are in want." America can well afford to make special sacrifices during the Christmas season of giving and give at least one dollar to the Belgian relief work. Already our English cousins have raised a generous fund. Henry Clews writes: "It is estimated that close upon two million people with breaking hearts have fled from their country leaving shattered homes and hopes behind." The flight of the innocent, the unfortunate, the women and children, the aged and the helpless, from their Fatherland presents one of the most agonizing and appalling pictures of human misery in the annals of history, ancient or modern. It is for these distressed ones that especial appeal should be made for all to send a dollar—more if you can—as a Special Christmas Gift from America. Such a gift will surely be remembered by the beneficiaries long after the war has ceased and no man's Thanksgiving or Christmas day will be the less happy because in some cases the gift may entail some measure of personal sacrifice. Individuals who have leisure and inclination to make careful subscriptions should apply to Honorary Secretary Percy Bullen, 66 Broadway, New York. Checks should be sent to Treasurer Henry Clews at the same address.

THE SCARCITY OF GAME in the markets and the small number of deer killed, reported to the state, indicate that the supply is limited. There are many hunters, but little game bagged. Is it not about time to close the season?

THE WAR HAS BEEN a fortunate scapegoat for the democratic party. It has spared the administration many a serious criticism for the present nation-wide depression.

BLUE WOULD BE A GOOD COLOR for the Bowl!

THERE HAS NEVER BEEN A TIME in the history of the North Shore when so many appeals have been made for funds for philanthropic work. And in consequence there has never been a time when so much money has been given for humanitarian work at home and abroad. But the needs have been great and the North Shore has not been deaf to the demands made upon it. A noble response has been made to the Red Cross society appeals for their department of foreign relief work and their funds should be increased, but in addition everyone should spare a dollar for the Dollar Christmas Fund for Homeless Belgians. There is no doubt now that the philanthropic enterprises all over the country, especially in New England, will face financial embarrassments unknown in the last two decades. There is only just so much money available for the maintenance of public charitable enterprises. When heavy demands are made for any one great purpose there is certain to be a diminution in the gifts to other enterprises. According to this law the year has been particularly unfortunate. First, apart from any unusual expenditures for charitable purposes the business world faced last spring an unavoidable business depression which may be seen reflected in the omission of dividends and the large number of men discharged. Then came the Salem fire which made heart-rending demands upon the purses of all New Englanders and resulted in phenomenal contributions by rich and poor for the people of that stricken city. Every philanthropic institution for the time being felt the strain of the heavy giving, but without complaint, for Salem held the "field" by rights of immediate needs. Then came the demands for Belgian relief and all of the needs made by the opening of the great war. Generously has the public responded to the demands. Such beneficiaries are worthy and should be helped, but a serious problem is presented thereby. For local institutions, hospitals, old folks' homes, social settlement houses, homes for children and the countless institutions that are being supported by the public, ought not to be left uncared for this hard year. These institutions are always with us and should be maintained. The world is full of generous givers, but many give on the impulse and without due weighing of conditions. Persons with limited incomes and good hearts, strained to give to the Salem Relief and are now called upon for war relief funds. Now come the local needs, and these suffer. The endowment incomes are limited this year and the giving is less generous because of the other great demands. But is this not a time for thoughtful giving and quiet consideration of the whole principle of giving? Is it right to make these philanthropic enterprises which ought to be maintained suffer because of some crying necessity that presents itself either at hand or far afield. True giving does not rob Peter to pay Paul. There is a responsibility at home that must be borne before other responsibilities can be borne honorably. The giving public should subscribe generously to the War Relief Funds, but they should contribute generously to all of their regular benevolences.

ALL HARVARD MEN are delighted with the results of the game, but for charitable reasons and for sweet sentiment sake, what a pity poor old Yale could not have dedicated their precious Bowl with a victory? It was a great game and a big Bowl.

A MANCHESTER BOY carried the ball for a ninety-five-yard gain in the Harvard-Yale game. The cheers that young Coolidge received were merited.

IT WAS A BOWL-ING SCORE—not football.

IN THEIR RETRENCHMENTS due to war conditions the Breeze suggests to the owners of large estates the inadvisability of cutting too deeply into maintenance expenses. Already the cessation of work has begun to work ill to the tradesmen and laborers on the North Shore. The times are hard. Every reasonable opportunity that can be afforded for work on the Shore should be made available. There is much repairing that is usually left until spring which could be done in the winter season to the advantage of the property owners and to the contractors. Look over your spring plans and see if there be not some way of starting that work early in the season. If there should be such a movement started and continued it would be a great help in meeting the financial difficulties of many contractors.

MAYOR CURLEY IS TRYING OUT an interesting proposition. He has taken advantage of a state law making it possible for a city to employ women policemen for special work. There is a great need for such social service and it is to be hoped that the Mayor's experiment will prove successful. The Mayor claims that he knows of certain industries that need attention. If all that he says be true his suggestion is more than valuable. Despite the merits of his contest with a certain industry for moral wrongs in the administration of its affairs there is a wide field of service open for a woman of integrity, firmness and tact to remedy certain evils which everyone knows exist in large cities.

THE NEGROES OF BOSTON object to the melodies of their race and to ditties written by white men and attributed to them. The censored volume has been removed from the schools of Boston. The school committee has acted wisely in so doing. The remonstrance should have been heeded; but the objections made by the men of the colored race are interesting. It represents another stage in the development of that race. It is a sign of progress indeed, but not a sign that is encouraging. The time will come, when the race has climbed still higher, that these early songs of the war days will have a place in their history that will be dear to them.

MASSACHUSETTS, WHICH HAS HAD such a proud record for its progress in philanthropies, state-governed and organized charities and social welfare work is woefully behind in its attitude to the question of biennial elections. Too much time is now given to legislation and too many laws are put upon the statutes of the State. The public should be spared the expense and irritation involved in annual elections. The day should come and right quickly when the annual election system is abolished. A biennial election would be a public boon.

THESE ARE DAYS OF SEVERE ECONOMY in everything. It has reached the printing offices of the country and the Boston typographical Union has passed resolutions urging all of their members to use extraordinary economy in the use of inks, paper, typographical brass, type metal and machines appurtenances. Everybody feels the burden of the war.

AN EDITORIAL WRITER in the Boston Transcript makes a striking comparison when he asserts that the entire standing army of the nation seated in the new Yale Bowl would not tax its seating capacity.

ONE WAY IN WHICH the serious menace of the hard times can be avoided is by every householder carefully seeing to it that petty bills are promptly cared for.

IN MODERN WARFARE there are two arms of military service for protection and aggression, the army and the navy. This present war has presented a spectacular land campaign unequalled in the history of the world and the attention of the reading public has been focused upon that branch of the military. The naval battles have been of a less spectacular nature. Careless writers have commented upon and criticised the inactivity of the German and the English navies. It is true that the Audacious has been lost and that the Pacific contest was notable for Germany, but there has been no one contest in which either Germany or England has aligned a creditable naval force. There have been naval scrimmages, but no decisive battles. Is it therefore to be asserted that the navy of Great Britain has been inefficient? On the contrary it is apparent that despite the losses Great Britain has maintained because of the snipping naval policy of Germany that Great Britain has gained the supremacy of the sea without a naval conflict. The German fleet is bottled up and has not dared to meet the issue in open sea. It is of course impossible for anyone to forecast the future. The German fleet may force its way out and make a determined attack upon the naval forces of Great Britain. It is evident at the present that Germany by its policy of naval inactivity has conceded to England the supremacy of the sea without a contest, for the present at least.

THE TENNESSEE INCIDENT has created more alarm in America than the incident warranted and the Secretary has been too severely criticised for his suppression of the news. The circumstances justified the procedure. The liberty of the press in America entails a peril that cannot be minimized. To have run the risks that are incident to the curse of yellow journalism would have been unwise. All is well that ends well. The incident is in the past and no harm has been done. With the public mind harrowed and vexed by the Eastern situation and the tales of war the Department in Washington has been very fortunate in handling the Smyrna incident with such skill.

IT IS UNFORTUNATE in some ways that the news concerning the gift of fifty thousand dollars to the Beverly Hospital was not carefully defined in the newspapers. The gift will eventually reach the hospital treasurer, but probably not for years. The public ought to know this, for such a gift while welcome, if wrongly announced, tends to discourage other givers. If the Breeze is informed correctly the sum has been reserved for an individual who receives the annuity through life and then the money goes to the Hospital.

THE ADMINISTRATION IS ENDEAVORING to smother out the Army investigation instituted by our Representative; but Congressman Gardner is not easily subdued. The investigation should be made and at once. There can be no merit or sense in the opposition. If his assertions be not true then the facts brought out will prove the statements.

THE GOVERNOR'S THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION is of unusual merit. The sentence "On that day, and on all days, let us with reverent minds and hearts pour forth our gratitude to him for peace, prosperity and happiness which is our priceless possession" in a few words expresses the significance of the good day.

THEY SAY IT COSTS $25,000 to kill a man in war time. We've always contended that one live man was worth a dozen dead ones.

One of the many blastings in the Square, made necessary because of the solid ledge opposite the Police station through which the sewer must pass, came near having bad results. Last Saturday afternoon one of the explosions seemed to throw its full force toward the buildings on the northerly side of the street. One large rock was hurled through the plate glass window in Swett's Fish market and struck a chair from which Mr. Swett had arisen on the psychological moment the rock hit, otherwise he might have been injured. Another of good size was hurled through the door. Another, not very large, broke through a window in Beaton's store and struck Mr. Beaton a glancing blow on the shoulder. Fortunately no one was hurt.

From the State House, Monday, was issued the following information: "Patrick O'Brien of Manchester, Saturday reported that he had shot a buck deer in the Manchester woods. This kill was made Nov. 19. On the same date Brion J. Manion, also of Manchester, reports that he shot a doe in the Manchester woods. These two deer killed make a total of five killed in Essex county during this open season, which is a very small report when compared with other years."

The Arbella club held its Thanksgiving meeting at the chapel Tuesday afternoon with Miss Ethel Hobart of Boston as the speaker of the afternoon. Miss Hobart is a professional organizer of girls' clubs and the secretary of the Massachusetts Federation of Girls' clubs, and she told many interesting things about her work. She is a rapid, concise speaker and in the short address she gave Tuesday afternoon, she brought home to her audience a clear idea of the meaning of being a club member and of her work organizing clubs, particularly among working girls. After the address, the executive committee served ice-cream, cake and candy and a pleasant social hour was enjoyed.

DEFERRED UNTIL MARCH

QUESTION OF ELECTRIC LIGHTING OF MANCHESTER STREETS BRINGS OUT SPIRITED MEETING

One of the most spirited meetings in recent years, and one that was largely attended, was that of last Monday night in Manchester, to consider the question of substituting electric lights for the Welsbach gas lights now in use. It was finally voted to defer the matter to the annual meeting in March.

The first business of the evening was the reconsideration of the article in the warrant calling for the acceptance of Putnam's court, so-called, which had been passed over at the first meeting. Several spoke in favor of this action and it was shortly voted that the lay-out be accepted and allowed, and $50.70 was appropriated for the land damage to be awarded to Mrs. John Griffin, the amount to be transferred from the excess and deficiency account.

Art. 9—reports of committees—was next under consideration, and this meant the report of the special committee on electric lighting. For fully a minute the meeting assumed the aspect of the proverbial quaker meeting, nobody offering to speak on the issue one way or another. But this proved to be the lull before the storm that was brewing.

Frank P. Knight, in order to bring the matter before the town, moved that the town accept the proposition of the Manchester Electric Co., for furnishing electric lights for the streets of Manchester, as contained in the report of the committee on electric lighting.

Chairman Ralph Henry Barbour of the committee spoke at length on the question, his remarks referring especially to the communication in the Breeze of the week before. Mr. Barbour said that the electric lights would be provided with a 15 percent reflector, which would tend to throw the light a maximum distance. As to the matter of lamps burning out and passing all the degrees of candlepower from 60 to 0, he thought this could be provided for in the contract with the company. Referring to the possibility of interruptions in the service he said it would not be long duration at any time. He felt it was good business to patronize local industries, to say the least, and not have to deal with a firm away off in Philadelphia. In reference to the Welsbach Co. giving a possible better price next year, he was in doubt. He said the proposed war tax of 2c. a gallon on gasoline had resulted in a raise of $1,500 in the figure this year; next year it would be something else. By throwing down the electric light proposition it gave the gas people the opportunity to dictate as they see fit. Of course the lights are better today than they have been in the past; anybody expecting to lose their job would make their best effort. Last winter the town had to threaten to bring suit before any attention was given to protests, and then the president of the company came on from Philadelphia. In a few years, Mr. Barbour said in closing, the sightseeing busses from Boston in passing through Manchester would announce to their patrons "This is Manchester-by-the-Sea, the only town in the country lighted by gasoline."

Chester L. Crafts as a member of the committee spoke in favor of electric lights. It was his opinion that the town would do well to accept the offer now, when the streets are open; he thought the electric lights would give better lighting and more general satisfaction. Despite the few disadvantages, such as lights going out once in a while, he felt it would be a mistake not to take up with the proposition now.

Frank P. Knight gave a few figures on the present lights. In 1913, he said, 1347 lights were reported out, and this year, up to Nov. 1, there have been reported 1294 lights out. The figures for this year are, Jan. 354, Feb. 361, Mar. 119, Apr. 80, May 97, June 127, July 63, Aug. 62, Sept. 23, Oct. 8. The figures told two things very plainly, he said,—that the most lights were out in the winter months when they were most needed, and that the service had grown best as the year advanced and the company knew they must brace up or lose the job.

Charles C. Dodge said that he had found the Welsbach lights were in use and giving satisfactory service in such places as Orange, N. J., New Haven, Conn., and in residential Boston, such as Ashmont and Milton. The lights were alright in Manchester, too, he added, but we haven't had the right gang to take care of them. The electric lights in Hamilton were not in it with the gas lights in Manchester he had been told by a Hamilton milkman. He admitted that statistics sometimes told queer stories, but he wished to state that the figures for number of lights out for the year up to Feb. 1, 1914, showed that it was only one-half of one percent; and for the year previous to that it was less than one-quarter of one percent, and this is a mighty small percentage of the whole. With electric lights if one is out, all are out. What we want, said Mr. Dodge, is selectmen with back-bone to see that the company lives up to their contract. He favored holding this whole matter over to the March meeting.

Albert Cunningham hoped that when the vote was taken every citizen will vote and not be "timid." As for him he thought better to leave well enough alone.

Selectman George R. Dean of the committee related some of the difficulty experienced by the board in trying to get the company to live up to their word and give better service. The board had done all that any fair-minded men could do. The system went from bad to worse. He thought the board had showed they had backbone when they gave the company just one week to come to terms or the board would institute a suit against them. We were dealing with a company 300 miles away. In referring to Hamilton street lights again Mr. Dean called attention to the fact that Hamilton has 200 lights on 36 miles of streets, while Manchester has about 18 miles of streets and 250 lights, and in addition we propose to have a 60 c. p. light, and the price is to be about $1,200 under the Welsbach Co. price.

William J. Johnson thought the town ought to think this matter over well before changing.

Town Clerk A. S. Jewett thought everybody ought to testify how they

The Rev. C. M. Ellinwood of Boston delivered a splendid address at the Congregational church Sunday morning on "Another Chance," taking for his text Christ's words, "Go thou, and sin no more." The Rev. Mr. Ellinwood is an impressive speaker and his words will remain for a long time in the minds of those who heard him. He said in part that incessant activity of mind and body is growth and that with this activity must come the making of mistakes, which may easily become habits. If the habit of ill-doing is formed, the judgment becomes so warped that it is almost impossible to reform and that means misery and degradation within and ruin without. There are two very important causes of mistakes, particularly among young girls, namely, faulty training in youth and the common lack of reserve. Ninety-five per cent of the girls who go wrong have defective mothers and in almost every case the catastrophe comes into their lives because they have never learned to have proper reserve with strangers, because they trusted everyone who was courteous and polite to them. Reserve is not instinctive; it must be taught to the child. The speaker's work in Boston (Florence Crittendon Home) is in giving another chance to girls who have stumbled upon life's road and he told many interesting facts about the home and the girls whom it cares for and educates and finally sends out into the world, where over 80 per cent of them lead upright lives for the remainder of their years.

A jolly Children's party was held at the Congregational chapel Monday evening by Harmony Guild and the members succeeded in "rolling back the tide of Time" and in becoming little girls again. White dresses, curls and long braids, dolls and Teddy bears were much in evidence. The evening's entertainment was quite in keeping with the character of the party and the participants indulged in childish games with hearty amusement. Pop-corn balls, cocoa and animal crackers were served by the committee. The evening was brought to a close by the singing of the "old songs" by the company and by a number of solos by Mrs. Charles A. Hatch.

The Church Aid society will meet next Wednesday evening, Dec. 2, in the vestry of the Baptist church.

The Woman's Missionary society of the Cong'l church will meet with Mrs. E. A. Lane, Vine st., next Thursday, Dec. 3, at three o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. William W. Joseph of Manchester spent Thanksgiving Day with Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Brown of Magnolia avenue.

The Magnolia students at the Gloucester High school attended the football game between Gloucester High and Lynn High at Lynn yesterday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Foster of Winchester, were in town last Saturday, spending the day with relatives.

The usual morning service will be held at the Village church Sunday at 10.45 with Rev. Dr. Walter S. Eaton occupying the pulpit and in the evening a meeting in the interests of the "No License" campaign with an address by the pastor will be held. This is a subject that is vital to Gloucester and the outlying districts and at this particular time it is greatly desired that a lively interest be shown in it.

The piano, which has been needed for so many years at the Village church, has at last been procured, partly through the efforts of the special committee, Mrs. Jonathan May, Mrs. George A. Upton and Rev. Dr. Walter S. Eaton, but mostly through the generosity of a friend of the church, who donated the necessary balance.

The fall business meeting of the directors of the Magnolia Women's clubhouse association was held at "The Parsonage" Monday night. George A. Upton, who had been the president of the association for some

Mrs. Helene Sherman Kehoe will have the position during the coming season.

Miss Isabel Winslow has closed her Magnolia cottage. She left Tuesday for Boston where she will spend the winter.

LIGHTS COST LESS

In these days of high prices it is refreshing to note that Beverly is to get a substantial reduction in the price of its street lighting; a new contract will soon go into effect which saves the city over $6,000 a year, besides giving many more lights than at present. Much credit is due Mayor MacDonald for this reduction and he has given the matter considerable study. Beverly is one of the best lighted cities in the Commonwealth, and in comparison with other cities it is not paying a high price for its lights. —Beverly Citizen.

Nomination papers for City election must be on file with the City Clerk by Dec. 2nd. The election will be on Tuesday, Dec. 15th.

ONLY ONE YEAR

A gentleman who has made a study of our municipal affairs says that Mayor MacDonald has really only had one year in office, to show what he could do in the way of municipal reforms. The first year he was handicapped by a board who were not in sympathy with his ideas and succeeded in blocking nearly every move he attempted. The people did not like this as was clearly shown when these men failed of being re-elected. All that Mayor MacDonald has accomplished, and he has certainly done much for the betterment of the city, has been done in a single year.—Beverly Citizen.

DEFERRED TO MARCH

felt about it,—doctors, expressmen and others out at all hours of the night. He favored retaining the Welsbach lights.

F. P. Knight said he liked to see things put on a fair footing. It had been told that the electric lights would deteriorate and lose part of the brightness. Do not the present lights smoke up and become so dirty that the lights lose much of their brightness. And as to cost, by using the 60 c.p. electric lights we save $1,140 over the present lights; and over $2,000 if we used a 40 c.p. light as the Welsbach light now is.

Austin Morley spoke in favor of electric lights. He said there was no better system of electric lighting in the country than here, with all the wires underground, and any man who speaks against it is not up-to-date. He hoped the town would own a plant here in time.

Selectman Cheever thought it was good business to accept this proposition of the electric light company. He told how this matter was first brought before the town, that it was he who had asked the company's representative why they couldn't submit figures for lighting the streets, and that the company were not seeking it of their own will.

It was voted on motion of E. P. Stanley that if electric lights were installed they be kept lighted until one-half hour before sunrise.

C. C. Dodge again hoped the matter could be held over to the March meeting, and meanwhile why can't the electric company set up half a dozen lights of the electric persuasion so that we can all judge for ourselves.

Herman C. Swett moved when vote is taken it be a ballot.

The moderator was about to put the main question when Edward S. Knight offered a motion to refer to the March meeting, giving as his reason that he did not believe this meeting competent to act on the question, that there was no specific article in the warrant calling for the question, that no action is valid unless the subject matter thereof is contained in the warrant. He raised a point of order.

The moderator ruled the point out of order and that inasmuch as the question came up in town meeting in one of the regular articles, and the matter had been submitted to a committee to report at any regular or special meeting, it was perfectly in order to act on it at this time and in this manner.

Mr. Knight did not feel that the town ought to enter into a contract for ten years, especially in a matter to do with electricity. A question of $100,000 was involved.

Mr. Jewett thought the voters ought to have ample time for consideration and could see no harm in holding over for the March meeting.

Mr. Dodge thought this matter, brought up now, was a sneaky piece of business on somebody's part. This is a big question and it ought to be plainly written in the warrant so that he who runs might read.

F. P. Knight did not favor deferring. He said the gentleman moving to defer and raising the point of order had been here at the previous meeting and all this evening and could have raised his point long ago instead of waiting to this late time, and trying to force it now.

Walter Calderwood thought the company ought to extend the option until March.

F. P. Knight: The Manchester Elec. Co. have not asked us to submit figures, we asked them.

E. S. Knight did not see any need of hurrying.

Austin Morley thought the work ought to be done as early as possible, that the March meeting would carry it along too far.

Alfred C. Needham thought it was extremely bad taste to appoint a committee and then go to work and knock them and not even thank them for their endeavors. He hoped to see electric lights installed; it was the best up-to-date system.

The motion to defer was put and lost, 77 voting to defer, to 64 against.

The meeting dissolved at 9.15.

BEVERLY FARMS

Many happy family reunions around the festive board was the order of things at Beverly Farms yesterday.

Beverly High won from Salem yesterday at the new athletic field in the annual football game, by a score of 12 to 0, before an enthusiastic crowd of nine to ten thousand. Two Beverly Farms lads, John Toomey and Howard E. Morgan, Jr., took part in the affair and both played a great game. As Morgan graduates next June this will be his last game with the Orange and Black. Toomey goes to school another year, and if he is so desires would stand an excellent chance of being selected for Captain of next year's eleven.

Unless a man amounts to a good deal, he should not say he has done his best.

BEVERLY FARMS

One would judge that nearly half the population of Beverly Farms was at the new athletic field in Beverly yesterday forenoon to witness the annual football game between the Salem and Beverly High schools. It is needless to say, perhaps, that Beverly Farms people did their share of "rooting" for the Orange and Black.

Miss Ellen Murray of Haskell st., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Murray, returned last Sunday from the Beverly Hospital where she was operated upon for appendicitis. Miss Murray is now getting along very nicely, much to the pleasure of her many friends.

Charles McCarthy has spent a portion of the past week visiting friends at Dorchester.

Miss Ruth Hardy is visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hardy, Hale st. Miss Hardy has completed her course as a trained nurse at the Faulkner Hospital at Jamaica Plain. For the past three months she has been training at the Massachusetts Gen'l Hospital.

Harry Hannable and family left the first of the week for a visit among relatives at Kittery, Me.

The marriage of Miss Elsie Louise Donovan of Beverly Cove to William H. Bresnahan of Pride's Crossing, took place in Beverly, Wednesday evening, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Fr. Curran of the Star of the Sea Church. Following the ceremony a reception to relatives and near friends was held at the home of the bride's parents, after which they left for a short trip. Upon their return they will reside on Ocean st., Beverly.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Elliott, who have resided at Beverly Farms nearly all their lives, have moved to Beverly. Mr. Elliott is a foreman in the Street Dept. and moved so that he may be nearer his work.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. McDonnell helped make up a family reunion at Danvers Center yesterday.

Samuel Fogg, who recently married a Boston woman, has taken up his residence in that city and is conducting a lodging house there.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace J. Craig of Greenwich, Conn., have been visiting friends at Beverly Farms the past week.

Nicholas Macome and family have moved to Boston for the winter. Mrs. Macome was formerly Miss Margaret Foley.

Mrs. George F. Wood, Hart st., is reported to have been quite ill all of the past week.

Arthur D'Avignon, who has had charge of the repair department at the Standley Shoe store for several years has resigned to accept a similar position in Boston. He moved his family to that city the first of the week.

Harry J. Guinnivan and family partook of their holiday dinner with Mr. Guinnivan's parents in Beverly.

John Gray and family, who have lived in the Little cottage on Haskell st., for a number of years past, plan to move to Cambridge tomorrow.

Indications point to belief that Ward 6 will give Mayor Macdonald a handsome vote in the coming city election. No other time, except when Charles H. Trowt was elected Mayor, has the Ward 6 voters been so unanimous for a candidate as they are this year for the Mayor's re-election.

James Kerrigan and family of High st., spent the holiday with friends at Danvers.

The matter of providing an entrance to the playgrounds from Hale st., after much work and many committee meetings, has taken definite shape and it is expected that at next Monday's meeting of the aldermen an order will be introduced for the carrying out of the scheme. There are two propositions which are to be considered; both practically mean the building of a new street from Hale to Haskell. One idea is the following of the brook, which would be covered, and the other follows the brook only part way.

WHY THE YOUTH'S COMPANION SHOULD BE IN EVERY FAMILY.

"If I could take only one paper," said the late Mr. Justice Brewer of the Supreme Court, "it would be The Youth's Companion—a little of everything in a nutshell, and unbiased." The Companion is a family paper in the completest sense. It provides reading that, without failing to interest the young, still interests the mature. It unites young and old through their common enjoyment of delightful fiction, agreeable miscellany, and the clear exposition of public questions.

So carefully is it edited, so varied are its contents, that it would easily supply a family with entertaining fiction, up-to-date information and wholesome fun, if no other periodical entered the house.

If you are not familiar with The Companion as it is to-day, let us send you sample copies and the Forecast for 1915.

New subscribers who send $2.00 for the fifty-two issues of 1915 will receive free all the remaining issues of 1914, besides a copy of The Companion Home Calendar for 1915.

THE SPRINGFIELD REPUBLICAN

A newspaper of character. Able, independent, readable. Established in 1824 by Samuel Bowles. Daily (morning), $8; Sunday, $2; Weekly, $1 a year.

The Republican takes seriously its responsibilities to the public. It appeals for popular support by service that is guided by intelligence and a purpose to inform, assist and incidentally entertain and instruct its readers.

It gathers the news with enterprise and alertness, and presents it in attractive and convenient form. It disdains to employ the style of the circus poster and seeks to make itself typographically pleasing and tasteful.

It is extremely liberal in its provision of reading matter in all of its three editions. Its editorials constitute one of its distinguishing and most valued features. Literature, art, science, education, religion, philanthropy—all receive generous treatment in its columns; likewise agriculture and industry. Special attention is given to the various healthful outdoor sports.

The Weekly Republican is made up with great care for the wide audience outside of the local environment. It is, in fact, a rich weekly magazine sold at a remarkably low price.

Subscription Rates: Daily (morning), $8 a year; $2 a quarter; 70 cents a month; 16 cents a week, 3 cents a copy. Daily and Sunday, $10 a year; $2.50 a quarter; 85 cents a month; 20 cents a week. Sunday, $2 a year; 50 cents a quarter; 5 cents a copy. Weekly (Thursdays), $1 a year; 25 cents a quarter; 10 cents a month; 3 cents a copy.

Specimen copies sent free on ap-to sell the most remarkable bargain in the magazine world this year.

The Secret of Successful Giving

Have you ever noticed that some folks seem to have a "knack" in buying Christmas presents? No matter how much or how little they spend, their gifts seem to be inspirations. And yet Christmas shopping doesn't seem to worry them much.

What's the secret?

Why, merely originality, tempered with good taste. They find things that other people never see. Many of these fortunate folks, whose "knack" is the envy of their friends, depend upon our Store or our Year Book. Our stock is so large and so varied that they find things that a hurried inspection in a crowded store fails to disclose.

Incidentally, that is one reason that the shoppers with a "knack" do their Christmas shopping early, before the real Christmas rush begins. It is a point worth remembering, for originality in giving is even more effective than costliness. It tends to make the Christmas purse go farther, and it makes your Christmas gifts more welcome.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Francis W. Sargent, Jr., (Margery Lee), who spent October at Farmington, Md., to hunt with the Harford hounds, are now at their home in Hamilton. Owing to the prevalence of the foot and mouth disease, all hunting in Maryland and the vicinity of Baltimore has temporarily ceased.

◆ ❖ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Ames and their family are settled in their town house, 15 Commonwealth ave., Boston, for the winter, after spending the autumn at North Easton, where they went after leaving Pride's Crossing in September.

◆ ❖ ◆

Mrs. Richard J. Monks and her daughter, Miss Grace B. Monks, are planning to close their summer home at Kettle Cove, Manchester, next week. They will go to New York for a few weeks and upon their return take a suite at the Charlesgate, Boston, for the winter months.

◆ ❖ ◆

Mrs. Clarence Moore will present her daughter, Miss Frances Moore, at a big tea at Washington on the afternoon of Dec. 19, instead of at a large ball as was formerly planned.

◆ ❖ ◆

Miss Mary Greenough left this week for a visit with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Greenough at their home on East Sixty-third st., New York. Both families have summer cottages at Eastern Point, Gloucester. Miss Greenough was recently presented to Boston society at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Davis Greenough, Jamaica Plain, at an afternoon reception, followed by a dinner and dancing in the evening.

◆ ❖ ◆

Miss Charlotte Baylies, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Baylies of Boston and Nahant, left Boston last Saturday for a visit with friends in New York. The Baylies family spent Thanksgiving at their Taunton place, Mr. and Mrs. Baylies and the girls returning to Boston Friday and the young men remaining at Taunton until Monday.

◆ ❖ ◆

Mrs. Henry L. Sigourney, of Boston and Nahant, presented her third daughter, Miss Katherine Sigourney, at a dance at the Tuileries Monday night.

◆ ❖ ◆

Dr. and Mrs. Henry F. Sears, who have spent the summer and autumn at their Beverly estate, have returned to Boston for the winter.

Miss Heloise Meyer of Lenox spent Thanksgiving at the Hamilton home of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George von L. Meyer. She was entertained at the breakfast of the Myopia Hunt club at Charles F. Ayer's place at Hamilton with the von L. Meyers. Others who were present were Mrs. Hobart C. Chatfield-Taylor of Chicago, who was accompanied by her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Hendricks H. Whitman; Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Denegre, Mr. and Mrs. George von L. Meyer, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman, Mr. and Mrs. Rodolphe Agassiz and their daughters, the Misses Marie and Anna Agassiz, T. Dennie Boardman and other North Shore people.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Hall and family, who have been at their Magnolia cottage all autumn, returned to Salem, Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Hall were of those who lost their homes in the terrible Salem fire of June 25, and they have taken a cottage on Chestnut street for the winter.

◆ ❖ ◆

Mrs. William Madison Wood and Miss Irene Wood have sent out cards for an "at home" on Tuesday, Dec. 15, from 4.30 until 7 o'clock at the Hotel Somerset, Boston, to be followed by dancing at 8.30 o'clock. Mrs. Wood, Miss Wood and Miss Irene Wood will receive Thursdays in January at 21 Fairfield street.

Miss Frances Bradley, the third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Bradley of Boston and Pride's Crossing, is to make her debut at an at home on the afternoon of Saturday, Dec. 12, at the Commonwealth ave. home of the family. Miss Bradley is a girl of great personal charm and will undoubtedly be a success this winter. She is a sister of Mrs. Roger W. Cutler, who was a great favorite with North Shore circles before her marriage, and of Miss Rosamond Bradley, who is a philanthropic worker.

IT IS TO BE SUPPOSED that there would be those who would consider the present destruction of Belgium a just retribution for the atrocities committed by King Leopold in the maintenance of the rubber trade. The unfortunate thing is that the retribution does not seem to fall upon Leopold and his cult, but upon the industrious people of Belgium. There is such a thing as national retribution, but students of history must be careful how they read the story of nations and how they try to account for terrible misfortunes.

A BULLETIN READS, "Holland wants peace." If the truth were known there are more nations than little Holland that want peace. These are not neutral nations either.

IF AS A CHICAGO DOCTOR SAYS, one-fourth of the cancer fatalities are due to a wrong diagnosis, it would seem to be in order for some one to diagnose the "docs."

SOCIETY NOTES

It is a pleasing bit of news to members of the Essex County club that the new building is about ready for occupancy. The northeast wing of the new clubhouse will be open for the use of members and subscribers in a few days.

♦ ♦ ♦

Mrs. Russell Sturgis and family are remaining at their estate at Manchester later than usual this year, owing to the unusually good weather.

♦ ♦ ♦

Lt. and Mrs. C. P. R. Rodgers came on from Washington to spend Thanksgiving and the week-end with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George von L. Meyer at Hamilton.

♦ ♦ ♦

The marriage of William A. Burnham, Jr., and Miss Alice Boit, is to be solemnized at twelve tomorrow in Longwood.

♦ ♦ ♦

The death of Lucius Tuttle, retired head of the B. & M. railroad, occurred at his Brookline home last Monday night, from heart failure. He had been ill from the previous Wednesday. Mr. Tuttle had entered the railroad service in 1865, rising from clerk to president. His summer home was in Magnolia.

Arthur Lithgow Devens died last Monday in Cromwell, Conn., where he went from his home in Manchester, about three weeks before, with the hope of benefiting his health by means of absolute rest. He suffered a shock last Thursday and died from hemorrhage of the brain. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Agnes R. Elwood; a son, Arthur L. Devens, Jr., of Milton; two daughters, Elizabeth E. Boardman, wife of Gerald D. Boardman of Auburn, N. Y., and Agnes D. Hamlen, wife of Paul M. Hamlen of Boston, and a sister, Miss Mary Devens of Cambridge.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE LETTER

It is pleasant to report that the great Suffrage and Red Cross Bazaar and Festival, held in Boston last week, was both in artistic and a financial success, being larger and more beautiful than that of last year. It was said at the the Copley-Plaza that it was the only really successful bazaar that had been held in Boston this fall. The North Shore table, which had a generous donation from Manchester, also included a showing of Marblehead pottery and contributions from Beverly, Salem and Lynn. This table, like all the others, did a "good business" and the "market," the restaurant and the dance all report great crowds and enthusiasm. Perhaps the most beautiful table of all was Mrs. Russell's flower table, which looked like a little walled garden. In spite of the great expense of the whole affair and the "bad times," it looks as if the committee would be able to send fully three thousand dollars to the Red Cross, being one half of the net proceeds.

At the bazaar, I had charge of the book table, together with several Boston authors, and as I looked over the autographed copies donated by many distinguished writers (some of whom came in person), I asked myself why it is that such as these—Alice Brown, Maud Howe Elliott, Josephine Preston Peabody, Samuel Crothers, Wm. Dean Howells, Basil King, Prof. Albert Bushnell Hart and many more—are all suffragists? And I knew that it was more than a matter of mind, it is also a matter of heart; for these poets, playwrights and historians who study human life, are full of human sympathy, and that is what makes them suffragists.

At the National Woman Suffrage convention in Nashville, Tenn., Mrs. Stanley McCormick (Katherine Dexter of Boston) was elected Vice-President of the National organization. Dr. Anna Shaw was unanimously re-elected President, and the whole convention was conducted with great dignity, much to the disappointment of the Anti-Suffrage newspapers which were looking for a sensational "split" in the Suffrage ranks. Many persons will be relieved to know that the convention voted against the policy of "blacklisting" certain congressmen. In this connection, the Christian Science Monitor (Boston), says:

"Equal Suffrage up to its present promising stage in the United States, has won every step of its way by appeals to reason rather than by passion. More to the demeanor of its advocates than to any other cause does it owe its strength. **** "The patience, the intelligence and the good judgment displayed by the suffragists of the United States as a rule have won their battles."

EQUAL SUFFRAGE AND BELGIAN RELIEF

The Manchester Equal Suffrage League will hold its next meeting at the home of Mrs. J. F. Rabardy, on Monday evening, Dec. 7, at 8 o'clock. This meeting will be chiefly a "knitting bee," and all who are interested in Belgian Relief work are invited to come in, and are urged to bring or send any articles for the Belgians, especially for children. Miss Stanwood will give an account of Mme. Vandervelde's Belgian meeting in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Treat Paine, 2d, of the Coolidge Point colony are giving a dance to introduce their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Paine, at the Hotel Somerset, Boston, tonight.

Although there were an unusual number of forest fires on the national forest of Oregon and Washington this year, the loss of merchantable timber has been relatively small.

COUNTING THE COST

I OFTEN wonder," said a local merchant recently, "why our bill for toll calls isn't larger each month, when I stop long enough to consider the use we make of the telephone, both at the store and at home. There isn't a town where I do business but seems nearer to me than even next door. I can beat many competitors by selling my goods over the telephone before they can get there by train; I can get into every town in New England all in one day, tell about my stock, quote my prices, make my deals and sit right here with my eyes on the home store all the time. Most of the people I sell to like that way of doing business.

"As for the folks at home, they keep in touch with all their friends everywhere, and my daughter at Wellesley isn't a bit lonely, for she has mother's counsel, and it's the same way with Bob in Boston.

"Do you think I would let that telephone out of my reach? No siree! It's not only money in my pocket in my business, but we are in the center of a big world of real live people, just because we can call up any one, anywhere."

1,000 CHILDREN A MONTH

The thirty-sixth annual meeting of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children was held Tuesday, December 1, 1914, at the Hotel Vendome, Boston. Mr. C. C. Carstens, secretary and general agent of the society, announced that the society had investigated 4,848 cases in the last twelve months and had under its protection 12,513 children during the same time,—more than 1,000 children a month. 965 cases were prosecuted in the courts on behalf of 2,636 children. In the Boston office alone, 144 parents were prosecuted for non-support and neglect of their minor children, while 40 people were brought to justice for sex crimes against young girls.

YOUNG LADS CAUGHT IN MANCHESTER

Chief Sullivan and Officers Sheehan, Cook, and Bullock of the Manchester police, performed a clever piece of work early Sunday evening, when they took into custody, three Gloucester lads, who after being caught red handed with loots, which they had plundered from James T. Beaton's store on Central st., not only confessed to breaking and entering, but two of them admitted no less than 21 breaks in Gloucester last week, among the summer cottages at West Gloucester. They are Benjamin Clark, 12, James DeCoste, 11, and William Brymer, 11.

The downfall of the trio was brought about by Chief Sullivan of Manchester and his officers after the lads had stolen a leather bag from the brakeman of the 3.56 train Sunday afternoon. Soon after the youngsters left the train the loss of the bag was discovered and the police were notified. Suspicion pointed towards the three boys, who in the meanwhile had disappeared. Later the bag was found by Officer Sheehan near the electric light station.

A search was made for the lads but they could not be found. West Manchester and the Cove were scoured without results, until about 6.15 o'clock, when Officer Cook discovered DeCoste in the Square. The boy was alone and he was walking under difficulties apparently, with his coat and pants pockets bulging forth very conspicuously. The youngster was promptly taken into custody by the officer and brought to the police station.

Young Brymer and Clark when apprehended by Officer Sheehan in Derosier's garage preparing to take an automobile and skip the town. Everything was in readiness but starting the machine.

The boys were taken to Gloucester later by City Marshal Marchant and Inspector Sullivan, and being juveniles were allowed to go to their homes. They will appear in the juvenile session of the district court next Tuesday.

VOL. XII

December 4, 1914.

No. 49

THE LITERATURE that was available before the present war began on German plans seems surprising now in view of the activities of early August. Usher's volume on Pan-Germanism is a readable book outlining in a graphic way the probable plans of the great empire. All of the chapters are interesting and reveal the keen mind of a careful observer. The facts are carefully massed and sensible deductions made. The chapters on the United States and its relation to the Pan-Germanic plans are the least important of the work. The most readable book is by Dr. Karl Graves, formerly a German spy and later in the secret service of Great Britain. The volume is entitled "The Secrets of the German War Office." The work leaves a strange impression on the mind and one feels as though the chapters were interesting stories of keen detective work. In the hands of the publishers when the war broke out it has the appearance of being a pre-war production. Whatever opinions one may form of the volume it will be read with intense interest in the light of the war that actually came. For a real portrayal of the workings of the German mind and for a cold-blooded typed expression of opinion and ideal F. Von Bernhardt's volume of "Germany and the Next War" is the best now being sold. The ethical ideals of the German mind in regard to war are somewhat surprising to the American conscience, but if one is to consider war, is one to expect ethics? Such really is the blindness of might making right. The book is closely written, somewhat tedious and cannot be recommended for light reading. It is a sober volume, that will arouse new lines of thought. It is carefully translated so that even German reading Americans will prefer the translation. V. A. Cramb considers the volume worthy of a reply and writes "Germany and England." Whether the volume should have been answered will be for the individual reader to determine. If not wearied already by the distresses of the war it would be much more sensible for those who wish to obtain a broad view of the real difficulties abroad to read one or more of these books and less second class news accounts of detached engagements. The real issues may be more easily understood by less reading of unimportant details and more reading of literature that reveals the purposes, the modes of thinking and the military and economic ideals of the nations at war abroad.

AN INGENIOUS NEWSPAPER writer asserts that Der Tag means T-urkey, A-ustria, G-ermany. An interesting alliteration.

THE CITY OF BEVERLY has many candidates for the office of Mayor,—but one good term deserves another.

THE ROOT CAUSE of juvenile delinquency is the problem in the maintenance of order in a community. The Manchester police on Sunday were able to round up with despatch a group of young boys from Gloucester, who have been causing much trouble in that section. In Beverly Farms during the summer the police captured a trio of lads who had taken a car from a garage. But police vigilance can never solve moral problems. There are many causes for moral turpitude in children and growing boys. Whatever may be the underlying cause in these or in other cases of juvenile delinquency it is certain that by far the largest factor in the maintenance of juvenile rectitude is home-training. In nine out of ten cases it will be found that weakness in parental discipline means the destruction of all respect for law and order in the community. If a boy does not learn how to obey in the home administration of family law he is not likely to obey the laws of the community. Obedience is the great law of human discipline. It is much easier for the parents to instruct boys at home than it is for the boys to learn the penalties of disobedience by the administration of punishment by the social unit, the town or community. The boys of the North Shore may well learn a lesson from the experiences of the boys recently taken by the police. There is always a discovery. Eventually everyone pays the penalty for wrongdoing. It is a pity that the lads have to learn their lesson in such a way.

IT IS ALL BUT IMPOSSIBLE to gain any idea of the terrors of war at this distance from the field. The cares involved cannot be imagined. For instance, the serious difficulty that confronts the relief work for the homeless Belgians is not the relief of the honorable men which the war has impoverished, but the segregation of the criminals set free before the Germans came. The inmates of all kinds of reform prisons and institutes were set free. These are at large and are a serious menace to the sufferers.

THE BEVERLY FARMS Improvement Society excels in every good work. It has been interested now in the financial campaign for funds for the Beverly Hospital. An ingenious "Tree" scheme was evolved by some brilliant mind. As a result the society will be able to contribute one hundred and fifteen dollars to the Hospital Fund. This new success of the society is worthy of commendation.

GRAVES SAYS IN HIS VOLUME the German army has stores for a year, "the authorities being well aware that war in Europe at the present time could and would not last longer than that period." Let us hope his prognostication proves true, but the cruel civil war in America lasted four long years, though it was thought a three-months service would be sufficient when volunteers were called at the beginning of the strife.

NOW IT IS ANNOUNCED that there will be an increase in all single tickets upon railroads within the state beginning on January 1. It will be hard for the travelling public to pay the additional money for transportation, but the increase has some justification. There is no reason why a railroad corporation should be forced to run their affairs at a loss.

THOSE PEACE TREATIES were an awful waste of perfectly good paper,

NO ONE WHO HAS EVER READ the "Rise and Fall of the Dutch Republic" can ever forget that mighty, little nation. Now the plucky people of that small country are earning new laurels. They have declined to receive any help from any outside nation or organization or individual, for their relief work for their Belgian neighbors. For their stricken neighbors they have opened their doors, their hearts and their purses. Holland is the Hero nation if Belgium be the Martyr nation.

NO MAN WILL MINIMIZE the suffering of the human race in this terrible war; but everyone must have given at least a passing thought to the sufferings of horses in this conflict. The Boer War used up many of the horses of the world and this war will be the cause of the destruction of thousands more. Maudlin sentiment that is wasted upon the brute world while humans suffer is condemnable and all must but feel that the slaughter of so many horses is a crime against civilization.

A STORY COMES ACROSS THE WATER to the effect that Germany and Austria still have 18,000,000 men in reserve. And then there are the babies, too. Even yet it may develop into a respectable sized scrap.

TOO BAD THE WHALES have about all been slaughtered. They might be scooped out and converted into submarines.

MANIACS

By Robert J. Milne.

If a man is level headed,
With a kindly humane heart;
Thinks that slaughtering peaceful Belgians
Isn't quite a manly part,
Backs the plucky little beggar
'Gainst the bully on his track;
Some folks here are sure to brand him
As an Anglo-maniac.

If a voter loves his country and her toiling millions too,
And he backs up every principle
That's broad and fair and true,
If he plumps when votes are needed—
Gives monopolists the sack—
Would you brand him as a true man,
Or a Demo-maniac?

If a man believing women
Take an interest in our laws,
That our progress would be furthered
If they triumph in their cause,
Stands up boldly to defend them
From some ribald's base attack;
Would you call him honest-minded,
Or a Sisso-maniac?

If a man goes home directly
When his working day is o'er,
And he wears a smile that's cheery
As he steps inside his door,
Loves his home and wife and children—

Sports may deem him slow or slack—
Would you call that model father
Just a Kiddo-maniac?

If a man takes all the comfort
That a meerchaum pipe can bring,
As he's seated in his rocker
Feeling happy as a king,
"Peace with all the world" his motto
As he smokes reclining back,
Would you call him a good fellow,
Or a Nicotiniac?

Ours is a land of freedom,
For her sons shall ne'er be slaves,
And our glorious flag unfurled
Stands for truth where'er it waves,
Proudly then stand up for justice, E'en though some, behind your back,
Speak of you with narrow motives,
As a foolish Maniac.

CHRISTMAS MAIL

In order that the Christmas mail may be handled promptly and satisfactorily the following suggestions are offered to the public:

Prepay postage fully on all parcels. Address parcels fully and plainly. Place name and address of sender on all matter. Pack articles carefully and wrap them securely; do not seal them, as sealed parcels are subject to postage at letter rate. Mail parcels early; they may be marked "Do not open until Christmas." Insure valuable parcels, fee 5 to 10 cents. Patrons wishing to insure a number of parcels may obtain the cards at the Postoffice to be filled out before bringing the parcels to the office for weighing. Written inscriptions, such as "Merry Christmas," "Happy New Year," "With best Wishes," and numbers, names or

It is RUMORED that the Kaiser has given word that the resignations of all attaches of the embassies to the nations at war with Germany be received. Whatever Germany's explanation of the war may be in the future it is quite evident that the Kaiser considers that the foreign work of the embassies has signally failed. This is evident. It will be difficult to prove to America whatever the initial causes of the strife may be that Germany by a determined stand for peace could not have averted the war.

letters for purposes of discriptions, are premissible additions to parcel post mail. Books may bear simply dedicatory inscriptions not of a personal nature. Other written additions subject parcels to letter postage. Communications prepaid at letter rates may be sent with parcels prepaid at fourth class rates provided they are firmly attached to the outside of the parcel. Cards bearing tinsel, mica, sand or other objectionable material liable to rub off in the mail, are unmailable unless inclosed in a tightly sealed envelope, and prepaid at letter rate. Cards bearing writing enclosed in an envelope, transparent or otherwise, sealed or unsealed are subject to postage at letter rate. Cards enclosed in transparent envelopes must have the stamp affixed to the envelope.

Experiences with forest fires on the national forests this year show that automobiles, where they can be used, furnish the quickest and cheapest transportation for crews of fire fighters. Motor rates are higher than those for teams for the actual time employed, but the total cost per distance traveled and in wages paid to men in getting to fires is much less. The time-saving is self-evident; trips which ordinarily require two days time by team have been made by automobile in a few hours.

Friends of Robert Schilliday are glad to see him out again, and back to his position at Philip Stockton's, after undergoing a successful operation at a Boston hospital.

BREACH OF PROMISE CASE

PROMINENT CITIZEN CHARGED WITH TRIFLING WITH A WIDOW'S AFFECTIONS.

For sometime, it is alleged, one of our prominent citizens has paid more or less attention to a young and beautiful widow of this town, forgetting or at least not heeding the advice of the immortal Mr. Weller to his son Samuel to "beware of the vidders."

He now claims that he was not serious in his intentions and that he was not attached to her, but, however that may have been the widow became attached to him and as he seems to have lost interest in the matter she has attached his property, which is a form of attachment that he does not enjoy.

The result is, that he finds himself the defendant in a first-class breach of promise case and his questionable attitude towards the widow will be given an airing in the near future.

The parties in the case are so prominent that it is feared no court room will hold the vast crowd desirous of attending the trial, so it will be held in Manchester Town hall, on Friday evening, Dec. 18th, under the auspices of Col. H. P. Woodbury Camp, 149, S. of V., for whose benefit the proceeds will be devoted.

In other words, it will be a Mock Court Trial, and it promises to be one of the most enjoyable affairs of many years, as a large number of our leading people will participate in the proceedings.

The committee having the trial in charge have engaged Col. A. V. Newton, the well known lawyer-lecturer of Worcester, to attend to the details and personally conduct the entertainment.

Col. Newton has had remarkable success in conducting similar entertainments and without doubt the breach of promise trial will be here, as elsewhere, an event long to be remembered with pleasure.

MANCHESTER WOMAN'S CLUB

"LITTLE STORIES OF NORTH AFRICA"
SUBJECT OF INTERESTING TALK.

The usual semi-monthly meeting of the Manchester Woman's club was held at the Chapel Tuesday and Mrs. Marion A. Downes was the speaker of the afternoon giving her "Little Stories of North Africa," assisted by "Hassan" the typical Arab guide. Her descriptions of Algiers, Blidah and Tunis were in themselves interesting, but were made more so by her native costumes. The first one in which she appeared was the quite well known street dress of the Mohammedan woman. It was made of white wool and consisted of a flowing headdress, the long face veil, a waist ornamented with heavy silver jewels and very full, quite long trousers and sandal shoes. "Hassan" appeared in the Arab burnoose and gandora, which are comparatively well known. His turban was of silk, beautifully embroidered by hand. Algiers is usually divided into three parts, the business section, where the buildings are all white, the residential part, which has been called the Riviera of North Africa, and the native quarter, which is perhaps the most interesting. Mrs. Downes was privileged to attend some of the evening services, to which the Arab women are not admitted, and she gave some of the unique forms and ceremonies. The dance of the native women at the graves of the holy men, she also gave, accompanied by Hassan on the native drum.

The speaker next told something of the home life of the native women and wore the regulation harem costume, a round red cap, low necked, short-sleeved waist and short full trousers with a wide girdle about the waist, all of thin red silk.

From Algiers Mrs. Downes and her party went to Blidah, where she had her first and only Moorish bath. Tuesday is the gala day for the Moorish women to go to the baths and Friday for them to go to the cemetery; these being their only recreations. They have a saying in Blidah that "all scandal starts in the bath or in the cemetery."

The speaker next donned the costume of the hill woman, who plows in the fields while her husband makes jewelry. The dress was of a heavy striped material of one piece only, fastened on the shoulders with heavy jewelry and gathered in at the waist with a girdle. With this a round head-dress was worn and a wig of black and red worsted. This same Biskra, one of the most beautiful oases in the Sahara, was the next place visited. Robert Hichens in his "The Garden of Allah" has given a wonderful description of it. At Biskra, too, Mrs. Downes was fortunate enough to see the dance of the whirling dervishes. It was held up-stairs in a mosque in a large room where the men sat about on the floor with the musicians and the Marabout at one end. With the starting of the music, a great trembling of the body began among the dancers and then a little running step forward and back. Finally in the excitement of the dance, the dancers stuck hat-pins through their cheeks, nose, lips and ears. The speaker had with her a pin which she herself had taken from the cheeks of one boy.

At Tunis the richest and the poorest people of all Africa gather and the speaker appeared in the characteristic dress of the women of each class. The first was the costume of a wealthy Tunisian Jewess, a heavy brocaded silk, embroidered with pure gold or silver. The head-dress was a pointed cap which fell to the waist line in back and which had wonderful embroideries in gold. The costume had a rather plain waist and short tight trousers, all wrought with gold. Mrs. Downes said that it was not an unusual thing for a Tunisian Jewess to pay $1,000 to $2,000 for a single costume, but that when they are worn out the dealer will take it back, burn away the silk and pay for the gold or silver according to weight.

The last costume which Mrs. Downes wore was that of the underground cave dwellers of Tunis, being, in fact nothing more than rags of bright colors held together by the typical jewelry of the country. Twice each year the men of the underground colony go away to an oasis to plant crops for their families and, in closing, Mrs. Downes sang their farewell song in Arabic.

The program possessed the virtue of uncommonness and was correspondingly enjoyed by the large audience present. Mrs. Carolyn Allen, accompanied by Mrs. Edith Williams sang two solos which were appreciated. Five dollars from the club treasury was voted to purchase Christmas seals for the anti-tuberculosis fund and these will be on sale at the next meeting, when it is hoped that all may be disposed of.

After the close of the program the meeting adjourned for afternoon tea, served by a committee. Mrs. Annie Sinnicks was hostess.

THE CHRISTMAS THOUGHT.

Ideas on Christmas giving are rapidly changing among the sensible. Those who think as they give are looking for a year-round service as the important thing.

In a week of shopping, with all its strain, you will not find a better gift than a year's subscription to The Youth's Companion. It offers its service, its clean entertainment, its fine suggestiveness week after week; and the end of the year, which finds many a gift in the attic, dust-covered and forgotten, brings The Companion again, with all the charm of last Christmastide.

No American monthly at any price offers the same amount of reading, and none can offer better quality. Less than four cents a week provides this best of Christmas gifts—$2.00 a year. If you subscribe now, all the remaining issues of the year will be sent free, and The Companion Home Calendar. A copy of the Calendar is also sent to those who make a gift subscription. Send for sample copies, and the Forecast for 1915.

WAR TAX ON TELEPHONE CALLS

Speaking today of the Federal revenue tax of one cent on all telephone messages costing fifteen cents, and over, which went into effect on Dec. 1st, Manager I. W. Rolfe of the telephone company said:

"The preparation for the collection of the one-cent tax has been a big job for the telephone company. It involves instructions to the operators for the collection of this tax at public pay stations and the making of special preparations for billing subscribers.

"The law requires the telephone company to collect this tax, in addition to the regular charge for the message. Notification of this new tax is being sent out with the bills to all subscribers, and other notices have been placed near all public telephones.

"The new law applies not only to all messages on which the initial rate is fifteen cents or more per message, but also to all messages on which the total charge for a single conversation, including overtime, amounts to fifteen cents or more. Thus, while a call at the initial rate of five cents or ten cents bears no tax, should the conversation be prolonged over the period which would make the aggregate charge fifteen cents or more, the tax of one cent is imposed.

"A subscriber making a toll call from any of the automatic pay stations will be asked by the operator to 'Please drop one cent Federal tax in the twenty-five cent slot.' When the penny drops, it will be heard by the operator.

"In cases where calls are made from subscribers' coin box telephones, the one-cent charge in each case will be billed to the subscriber just as toll calls are billed."

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE.

The most massive and beautiful musical act in vaudeville, B. A. Rolfe's "Ye Colonial Days," with a beautiful stage setting, a large company of talented musicians, handsome costumes, and gorgeous light effects, comes to B. F. Keith's Theatre next week as one of the features of a very strong show. This big musical act is up to the high standard established by Mr. B. A. Rolfe as a vaudeville producer. Chick Sale, who has not appeared in Boston in several years, returns from a long and successful tour of the West. Mr. Sale is without a peer as an impersonator of rural characters. He will offer his country school entertainment, impersonating in turn a school marm, a foolish girl scholar, a tough red headed kid, a nice little girl, and the chairman of the country school committee and town constable. Mr. Sale's act is one long hearty laugh from start to finish.

The propellers of aeroplanes such as are used in the present European war may be made of selected ash, which is both strong and light and will not split under vibration or shock, or of built-up layers of spruce with mahogany centers. The framework of the machines, too, is generally made of wood, spruce being much used on account of its straight grain and freedom from hidden defect.

If you are not under discipline or restraint, you are not amounting to much.

BEVERLY FARMS

A public meeting is called for all interested in a Village Christmas tree to meet at the Beverly Farms School House, Saturday evening, Dec. 5th, to find out what interest there is and make the necessary arrangements. The idea of having a public Christmas tree in some central point on Christmas Eve has been adapted by many towns and has been a very happy occasion. It would seem, from present interest shown, that a similar affair at Beverly Farms would be a great success.

Joshua Younger, one of Beverly Farms' oldest and most respected citizens, has been reported on this week's sick list.

Patrick Lee, age 65 years, well known at Beverly Farms and living in Pickett's court, died on Thanksgiving Day at the Relief Hospital as a result of injuries received when he was struck in Scollay square, Boston, by an automobile. The accident occurred at 12.50 o'clock while he was attempting to cross the street and he died at 4.45. The deceased had lived at Beverly Farms for quite a number of years and had many friends. He was employed by local contractors.

Henry Williams, who has been one of the popular clerks at Brewer's Market, has a position with Messrs. Cobb, Bates & Yerxa in Salem.

Preston W. R. Corps is to give another of its popular suppers, for which a small charge will be made. It will be served in G. A. R. banquet hall from 5 to 7, Dec. 15th.

James Naylor moved his family to Railroad ave., Beverly, Wednesday, where they will make their future home.

The Beverly Farms branch of the Improvement Society met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Miss Jane M. Watson, Everett st. Reports were made by various committees and plans for work for the coming year were discussed. The sum of $10.00 was appropriated for the planting of three trees on Everett and Haskell sts., to take the place of three that recently died. After the conclusion of the business session a social hour was enjoyed.

Former Alderman and Mrs. Chas. H. Hull, well known former Beverly Farms residents, and now of East Taunton, arrived here yesterday afternoon for a few days' visit.

Miss Muriel Publicover is conducting a dancing class in Beverly which meets every Friday evening.

Andrew Standley camp, S. of V., announce that they will hold a public whist party in G. A. R. hall, next Thursday evening, Dec. 10th.

F. W. Buis of Salem. The bride was gowned in blue serge with white trimmings and carried a bouquet of pinks. The maid of honor was Miss Beatrice Vaughn, a sister and the best man was Arthur S. Vaughn, a brother of the bride. The ceremony was witnessed by relatives and close friends of the contracting parties. Mr. and Mrs. Smith will reside at Beverly Farms.

Mrs. John T. Elliott of Hart st., is suffering from a recent fall which dislocated her shoulder.

Among the recent real estate transfers at Beverly Farms is recorded that of Eleanor O. Stone of Lynn to John J. Riordan, land and buildings on Hart st., 135x140 ft. The estate is now occupied by former Alderman Robt. E. Hodgkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter F. Ward have leased the tenement in the Eldredge house on Valley st., recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Elliott, who have moved to Beverly.

"PEG O' MY HEART"

Now in its fourth month, with no indication of an end to its popular run at the Cort Theatre "Peg O' My Heart" is proving that Boston will keep a good play longer than any city other than New York. The story of the play is one that appeals to all classes of theatregoers and its brilliant wit is so genuinely appealing that the bright sallies are appreciated from the top of the house to the boxes. J. Hartley Manners, the author, has made of Peg a character that is lovable, amusing and delightfully frank in her exposition of the snobbery of her aristocratic English relatives. One of Peg's lines, after she has observed some of the priggishness of these relatives indicates her opinion of their manners. She says: "They'll not make a lady of me—not if I can help it." She prefers to be the simple, honest young girl her father brought her up to be and though their life had been one of poverty Peg preferred that to living in the atmosphere of sham with which she found herself surrounded.

"OMAR, THE TENTMAKER."

native of California, is universally recognized as one of the foremost dramatists in America, and in his latest work he has surpassed his previous successes, "The Bird of Paradise" and "The Rose of the Rancho," both of which are pleasurably recalled by all theatregoers. For a number of seasons Mr. Post has been regarded as one of the foremost dramatic artists of our stage, but it has remained for his splendid impersonation of the beloved Persian poet to entrench him definitely as the most interesting figure in romantic roles since the passing of Richard Mansfield. Scenically, the equipment for "Omar, the Tentmaker" is so massive and elaborate that only the largest stages in America will accommodate the succession of huge settings which are a conspicuous feature of the attraction. It is doubtful if the alluring and picturesque atmosphere of the Orient has ever been so faithfully reproduced upon the stage as in "Omar, the Tentmaker." This lavish stage adornment is the achievement of Mr. Tully himself, in association with Wilfred Buckland, who for ten years served as art director for David Belasco. Especial attention is called to the bargain matinees Wednesday and Saturday, when good seats can be obtained for $1.00.

WENHAM

Wenham neighbors and friends rejoice with Dr. Hoyt that his auto collision Sunday resulted in no damage to life or limb.

Next Tuesday will be the date of the Village church fair. Besides the usual attractions, there will be the presentation of a pageant entitled "The Seven Ages of Woman," (with apologies to Wm. Shakespere).

At the Village church Sunday morning the minister, Rev. F. M. Cutler, will preach on "The Bible." Sunday school at noon. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6. A social service forum in the large auditorium at 7 will be addressed by Michael J. Tracy of Lynn, on "The Aim of the Labor Movement." There will be a cottage prayer meeting Friday at 7.30 at the home of Deacon A. A. Tracy, Friend court.

West Wenham's Willing Workers will conduct an entertainment entitled "The Family Album," Wednesday evening, at the Mapleville chapel.

An informal meeting of the Wenham Lyceum was held Tuesday evening in the village chapel, at which it was decided to call an annual meeting for the election of officers on Tuesday evening, December 1, at 7.30

LET this be a hearty invitation to you to visit our Retail Store in Salem in your quest for Christmas gifts.

IT is our earnest belief that your Christmas shopping will be accomplished with less trouble, less worry, less weariness, and with a considerable saving of time and money, if you will bring your shopping list to our Store first of all. A trip to Salem will pay you well.

We believe this—

Because our friends tell us it is so. Many of them come from Boston, Lynn, Lowell, Lawrence, Newburyport and from even greater distances.

Because we make a special point of searching out things with a refreshing originality that sell at moderate prices. Ours is one of the largest and most varied gift stocks in the whole Country.

RECENTLY the Editor of the "Seen in the Shops" department of Vogue visited Salem to see the new things in our Store. This woman is a shopper of the broadest experience. Her business is to know what the stores in all the big cities of the Country are offering, and to illustrate these things in Vogue. She is constantly in search of the new and novel. She selected many things in our Store—things she had never seen in any store before, even in New York. She was able to find these things easily and quickly, because everything was on one floor, easy to get at, and plainly marked with the price. She was delighted with the result of her trip.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Mitchell have taken a house at Palm Beach for the season and will settle there early in January. Mr. Mitchell left Manchester Monday for a three weeks' hunting trip to South Carolina. Mrs. Mitchell will leave the middle of next week, and both will spend Christmas and New Year's with their daughter, Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw, 2d, and family who are at their new stock farm in Virginia. John Mitchell, who is at Harvard, will also go to Virginia for the holidays.

◆ ❖ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Rice, who make Indian Hill, Ipswich, their year-round home, plan, as usual, to have a large number of guests for each week-end during the winter.

◆ ❖ ◆

Herbert M. Sears and his daughter, Miss Phyllis Sears, who are remaining unusually late at their summer home at Pride's Crossing, will return to Boston immediately after Christmas and will occupy their residence, 287 Commonwealth ave., for the remainder of the winter.

◆ ❖ ◆

Summer visitors to the "Fort" at Marblehead will notice a great change in the Ferncroft cabin. It was originally constructed as a log cabin with rough bark and logs prominent. All that has been changed to neat construction of shingles, with some alterations in the design including new entrances. It is expected that the cabin will be continued as a restaurant.

◆ ❖ ◆

Eben D. Jordan is in the South on a gunning trip, accompanied by a number of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Jordan left Boston some days ago for New York and Mrs. Jordan was planning to visit her people in Philadelphia before returning to the Hub.

◆ ❖ ◆

One of the select events of the week will be the tea which Mrs. Robert S. Bradley is to give at her Commonwealth ave., Boston, home tomorrow afternoon to present her debutante daughter, Miss Frances Bradley. Conrad's orchestra will come over from New York to play for the dancing to follow the reception.

The largest debutante event of the season in Boston was the ball Mr. and Mrs. Robert Treat Paine, 2d, members of the Magnolia summer colony, gave at the Somerset Friday night to introduce their older daughter, Miss Elizabeth Mason Paine. The ballroom was undecorated, excepting for a half-dozen Christmas trees beneath the balcony, making a background for the receiving party. On each side were large gilt baskets filled with the many flowers which had been sent the debutante, and a few small potted plants were also used. Mrs. Paine's gown was of white satin partially covered with black pailletted lace. The girdle was of peacock velvet, and there was a single pink rose on the corsage. Miss Paine was in white satin, with drapery of chiffon, held in place by garlands of pink roses, the bodice done with spangled tulle. Miss Ruth Paine, the younger daughter, who arrived after the Friday evening dancing class, was also in white satin with spangled tulle and pink roses. The ball was under the management of S. V. R. Crosby and P. S. Sears.

SOCIETY NOTES

The Charles P. Searles' are settled at their Boston home, 280 Commonwealth ave., after a long season at Ipswich, where their summer home "Inglisby" has been the scene of many an hospitable affair the past summer and autumn. Miss Corinna Searle is one of the most popular of the younger coterie along the North Shore and is much in company with the girls at Manchester and Magnolia during the season. She gave a luncheon to the Sewing Circle of 1914 at her Boston home last week on Wednesday.

◆ ❖ ◆

The James H. Proctors have opened their house on Commonwealth ave., Boston, but merely for the convenience of their children. They are to remain at Ipswich until after Christmas. Mr. Proctor's new stable is the wonder and admiration of the whole North Shore.

The Early Division of Common Land in Manchester

Paper by Raymond C. Allen, before the Manchester Historical Society.

THE earliest grants of land in Manchester were made by the Town of Salem when Manchester, then called Jeffrey's Creek, was a part of Salem. The earliest record appearing seems to be a grant in 1636 of some three hundred and eighty acres to the following people:

Thomas Mores widow	10 acres
Samuell Archer	60 "
William Allen	50 "
Srg. Dixy	50 "
Jo. Sibley	50 "
Geo. Williams	40 "
Jo. Moor	40 "
Jo. Black	30 "
Srg. Wolfe	50 "

From this time until 1640 various grants were made by Salem to numerous individuals at Jeffrey's Creek.

In that year a number of the land holders of Jeffrey's Creek then living in Salem and desiring for one reason or another to part with the settlement at Salem, addressed to the General Court a petition to grant to them the right to erect a village at Jeffrey's Creek and to allow to them such enlargement thereabouts as was not granted to any other settlement.

The following is the text of that petition as contained in the Manchester Records:

We whose names are subscribed belonging to the Church & Town of Salem (being straitened in our accomidations soe that we are not able comfortably to subsist; having advised and taken Councell about our present estate & condition it being Judged fitt & free liberty being granted us to remove, and noe place being soe convenyent for our easy removall as Jefferyes Creek lying soe neere us & most of us having some small quantity of ground allotted to us there also Doe therefore Joyntly & humbly request the Hon. Court to give us power to erect a village there & to allow us such enlargement thereabouts: as is not granted to any other plantation. Thus leaving our request to yr wisdom & consideration with our prayrs for a blessing from heaven on yr psons & proceedings wee rest yr Humble petitioners

This petition was granted by the Court and a Committee appointed to settle the bounds. The territory granted to these petitioners and definitely set off to them by metes and bounds became known as the Four Hundred Acres and while the original description of these Four Hundred Acres is probably not in existence, the record of it is on file at the State House. It is also contained in a printed copy of the Manchester Town Records, Book 1 page 13:

This grant formed a nucleus of the Town of Manchester, and its governmental basis.

There is an important and unique distinction to be observed in the conduct of the community's affairs. As the ancient records are carefully studied it will be seen that the early settlers held their Town meetings for the election of their Town Officers and for the general government of the village. They also held what were called proprietors meetings, practically the sole business of which had to do with granting and dividing land. The original grantees of Four Hundred acres constituted a group of proprietors who had a common interest in all the land which had been granted to them in severalty. It will be remembered that the petition to the Court asked for such enlargement at Jeffrey's Creek as had not been granted to any other plantation. This enlargement covered practically all the land outside the Four Hundred Acres and lying within the present Town lines of Manchester excepting therefrom such grants as had previously been made to individuals. Most notable of these grants are probably the grants to Richard Blynman which comprised the present Coolidge and Magnolia Point and grants to Thomas West of Beverly which included a large part of West Manchester lying between Highland Ave., Brookwood Road and the Beverly line.

From time to time as the families of the proprietors grew, as some of the proprietors died, and their estates were divided; and as new proprietors were admitted, the divisions of the common land were made. These divisions were as a rule in lots of about ten acres. The interest which a proprietor originally held was termed a right in the common land, and as estates were divided, we often find persons owning fractional parts of a common right and consequently when a division of land was made and some lot fell to a certain right owned in its entirety by numerous individuals, rather a complicated ownership resulted, usually but not always adjusted by sale or exchange.

It is the purpose of this sketch to briefly look over the boundaries of the old Four Hundred Acres and also of the more important of the general divisions of the common land. These are in general,

- 1st the Four Hundred Acres
- 2nd, Several small special divisions adjoining the Four Hundred Acres, and adjoining previous grants outside the Four Hundred Acres.
- 3rd, a division of Common Land in 1685 of land near the marshes at Kettle Cove and on the hills now known as the University of Pa. property.
- 4th, The west division of 1699.
- 5th, The east division of 1705.
- 6th, The north division, the south division, the Cedar Swamp division, the Shingle Place Hill division, the Brushy Plain division, and the Poplar Plain division and Kettle Cove Pond, all in 1718.
- 7th, The division of 1763 which was practically the last division of Common Land of any importance.

I have prepared a general plan of the Town upon which these divisions are shown in approximate outline and with the aid of this plan, we will proceed to discuss briefly these several divisions of Common Land.

THE FOUR HUNDRED ACRES

The Four Hundred Acres received the greatest prominence in modern times through their relation to the settlement of damage suits upon Old Neck Beach. The decision in this suit hinged upon the question of whether or not the land which the Town took on Old Neck Beach was originally a part of the Four Hundred Acres. If it was a part of the Four Hundred Acres it belonged to the proprietor and not to the Town. On the other hand if it was outside the Four Hundred Acres and not a part of the "Enlargement" granted to the proprietors, it might be shown to have been the property of the Town. The discussion concerning these Four Hundred Acres and the testimony relating to them form a large part of evidence in the so-called Beach Bank Case or as it is known in the Court Files, the Inhabitants of the Town of Manchester vs. Andrew C. Slater. The case is reported by Justice O. W. Holmes in 160 Mass. Reports, page 471.

About 1685 a Committee was chosen and given authority to renew and ratify the bounds of the Four Hundred Acres granted to the Proprietors and it appears from the Town Records of Manchester that at that time, the following persons were owners in the Four Hundred Acres:

Samuell Friend	40 acres
William Allen	25 "
John Sibly	50 "
Joseph pickworth	30 "
Samuell Leach	50 "
Robert Leach	37½ "
John Norman	92½ "
Nicholas Mincson	25 "
Samuell Allen Sr.	25 "
Onesephorus Allen	25 "

The spelling in the old records is entirely phonetic but their mathematics appear to be correct.

Following now the description of the boundaries of the Four Hundred Acres, we find the first bound to be a black Oak tree marked with four marks adjoining to the northeast side of Lee's lot. This black Oak tree was in all probability at or near Roberts & Hoare's shop on Elm Street where today there is a clump of very old Oak trees. From this black Oak, the line runs northeast passing several line trees on the way to a Hemlock in Millitt's swamp which is the swamp near Pleasant Street and the old Essex road. This line of the Four Hundred Acres followed substantially the line now indicated by the ancient stone walls passing over Powder House Hill just west of the standpipe, to Pleasant Street. From the Hemlock near Millitt's swamp the line still ran northeast to a black Oak which was a corner bound. This corner bound was probably at the northeast corner of Millitt's swamp lot or in the neighborhood of Jack's hill. From this bound the line ran easterly to a little White Pine by the edge of the Brook above Jones's meadow. This bound was in all probability near Saw Mill Brook in what is now the Baker field just below Mill Street. Many deeds of the property in this neighborhood refer to this tract of land as Jones's meadow, Jones's Orchard, or Jones. From this Pine tree the line followed the brook and edge of the upland down to a Hemlock tree a little above the Cold Spring which is now in existence but has been bricked up by the Water Department and forms a part of the present water supply. It is near the site of what used to be called the little pumping station. From this point near the Cold Spring, the line turned and crossed the meadow just above to the present location of the pumping station of the Water Works to a point on the knoll of the land of the Essex County Club near the angle in Lincoln Street. From this point it crossed the meadow on the south side of what is now Summer Street until it reached a point on the present eastern boundary line of the McMillan estate whence the line followed the line of the McMillan property across land formerly owned by Richard H. Dana and now owned by Harrison Caner to the sea just east of the ancient stone walls on the ground. Then leaving Eagle Head, the line followed the ocean until it reached a great white Oak on the eastern bank of the little Cove on the present Hemenway estate, known as Baby Rack Beach. From this point the line crossed the Neck as it was then called or Smith's point as we know it now, northwesterly of thereabout to a birch stump near a steep bank near the river. This point I am inclined to think was on the steep bank just in the rear of the Augustus Smith Homestead. From this birch stump the line ran to a Pine Stump by Lee's lot near the Town which probably was close to the present culvert on Central Street. From this point the boundary line ran to the point first mentioned near the present location of Roberts' & Hoare's shop. The outline of this tract of land has been shown in red on the plan.

It is interesting to note in this connection that the proprietors distinctly drew the line between their ownership and the Town's as is evidenced by the following from the report of the Bounding Committee:

"It is allso agreed by the above said commettee that notwithstanding the Landing Place at the water side blow the town bridge be in the said four hundred Acurs as allso the land and Medow bought of the Joanses by the Town for the ministry; allso a way a Chart way from the Town Comans thro the four hundred Acurs where the way now is that gose to the seador swap and Likewise the way that gose to and through the brushee plain the said ways to Remain to the towns use from the Coman land to the water side at the Landing Plase below the bridge aforesaid; the said town to have and to hold the said ways for ever; and allso six Acurs of land or there abouts in the plain in and near the place called melits lot these the above mentioned premises is Reserved to the use of the town to have and to hold for ever and there is full satisfaction with a lowance out of the town Coman land aded to the aforesaid four hundred Acurs in Lue of the afore said premises and comprehended within the aforesaid bounds of the said four hundred Acurs as is now bounded by the said Committee."

CHRISTMAS WITH ALL of its holiday Good Cheer and Merry Making is with us again. What a serious affair the long winter would become without the charm of Christmas cheer and giving. As the old folk say, it "breaks up" a long winter. Many of the old customs have been abandoned, but the joy of Christmas is more charming than ever. Last year Manchester Square was the scene of a Christmas celebration that will long be remembered by those who participated. It is now assured that the Christmas Tree success of last year will be repeated. It was a pleasant evening. The Christmas Tree lifting its evergreen branches against the white of the church, laden with electric bulbs and aglow with light made the sight impressive. The singing by the Arbella club and the hearty co-operation of all the townspeople made it a festivity long to be remembered. It is well that the Tree is to become an annual feature in our town life.

AND NOW THE MERRY MAKING SPIRIT has taken hold of Beverly Farms. The Improvement Society has inaugurated a movement for a Municipal Christmas Tree to be lighted on the evening before Christmas. An available spot has been secured on Vine street. The expense involved in such an enterprise will not be great. An hour's program of music by the band, carol singing by a choir and the singing of Christmas anthems by the people gathered around the tree. The expense for the evening is to be borne by voluntary subscriptions. Rev. Clarence Strong Pond of Beverly Farms is the treasurer of the society, to whom subscriptions may be sent plainly marked for the Village Christmas Tree celebration.

MUCH HUMAN SYMPATHY has been expressed for the Belgian, but in your gifts remember that your responsibilities abroad begin only when your duty here has been done. Quiet honorable giving here may be less spectacular and remain unrewarded, but it is nevertheless demanded. Give if you can for those abroad, but look about you first and see if there are not tasks at hand that you have neglected.

THE LACK OF JUDGMENT and proportion shown by certain metropolitan journals is indicated by the fact that a certain issue of a Boston daily gave as much space to a disagreeable trial down in Maine as was given to the consideration of the world struggle in arms.

THERE IS SOME MORAL SENSE left in the nations of the earth when one notices with what zeal all endeavor to cast the blame of the war off their shoulders onto the "other" nation.

THE NEUTRALITY OF ITALY is the marvel of the last four months. That Italy is unprepared for war cannot be asserted. It is not fear and a lack of preparation, but poise and balance that has characterized the leaders of the nation. The war broke out almost without warning and in the mad frenzy that followed it was a miracle that the Alliance was not able to draw Italy into the fray. With a firmness that is admirable the Italian people refused to be stampeded into a quarrel in which they had no part. Fortunately the alliance could command the service of Italian arms only in the event of an attack. The alliance, however, in this conflict is the party making the attack. The Italian people have never been able to support the alliance with any enthusiasm because of the age-old enmity of the nation toward Austria. The occasion would seem to dictate to Italy the advisability of entering the conflict on the side of the Allies, thus acquiring a claim which at the day of judgment would grant to the Italian government the opportunity of obtaining certain concessions which they claim should be made because of Austria's aggressions in other days. Italy seems to have armed her people. A state of watchful waiting exists. The army is mobilized and every preparation has been made against "the day." But the poise of the governmental authorities has prevented a fatal move that would injure the nation.

THE STUDENT OF THE WAR OF 1870 cannot refrain from comparing the successes of the early Franco-Prussian War and the status of affairs in Europe at the present time. After three months of the war the victory of the Prussian forces was assured. The armies of France had been conquered and the result of the struggle could plainly be foreseen. Today the situation is somewhat different. The Prussian army has been driven back from Paris and it faces the Allied forces on all sides. The Russians are pressing in from the west, and France and England from the south and east. In the North Sea the German fleet is effectively bottled up. At this date the definite outcome of the struggle cannot be foreseen.

THE PRESIDENT HAS MADE a ruling against the proposed plan of a Massachusetts company to construct submarines for the use of one of the Allies. The company has voluntarily agreed to refrain from filling the order. This company is showing good judgment in abiding by the President's suggestion. To a lay mind the whole proposition appeared to be a violation of our professed neutrality. If by some strategy the letter of arbitration treaties could have been satisfied it would nevertheless appear that the construction of any kind of fighting equipment would be contrary to the spirit of neutrality and the desires of the American people.

THE ANNALS OF CRIME that fill the papers is but another evidence of the stringency of the times. Police authorities claim that every period of business depression causes a corresponding increase in crimes ranging from loafing and general disorderliness to burglary and highway robbery.

HE HAS DISCOVERED true Christmas Cheer who pays his just and honorable bills first and makes his Christmas gifts out of his own money. The merchants can tell strange stories of lavish Christmas bills that are still unpaid.

ON TO PARIS IS HEARD AGAIN, but it does not sound quite so ominous as it did in early September.

THE CITIZENS OF BEVERLY will vote next Tuesday. The present incumbent, Mayor MacDonald is a candidate for re-election and should have the support of the citizens desiring an honest government. Mayor MacDonald has served the people efficiently and is entitled to, and probably will receive another term. Ward Six will do well to support its present Alderman in his candidacy. The No-License campaign in Beverly has not been prosecuted with any degree of enthusiasm because of the certainty of a "No-License" vote. Beverly may have a "scare" one of these days if the No-License party fails to maintain a serious campaign of education each year.

THE OPENING OF THE STOCK EXCHANGE in the city of New York for trading in stocks, even if only on a cash basis, is an indication that business conditions will soon be more encouraging. For the longest period in the history of the exchange no business has been done. But it was better thus. If the board of managers had not decided quickly and firmly upon this form of action it is entirely a matter of speculation what would have happened in the business world. That a countless number of men would have been ruined by the shrinkage in value is certain.

PRESIDENT FRANCIS F. ROWLEY has issued an appeal for a Christmas for the horses. He suggests that everyone who can should carry small bundles and relieve the dumb friends of the great burdens of the hard Christmas week. There is no end to the demands now being made on human sympathies.

EVERYBODY WHO STOPS TO THINK knows that the tax rates and valuations for taxation are adjusted by the Board of Assessors and not by the executive officer of the city, or board of selectmen, in town.

AN APPEAL

FOR WAR SUFFERERS AT DINARD, FRANCE, FROM MRS. NINA L.
DURYEA

"To the Editor of the (N.Y.) Times:
"Your readers will be gratified to learn the results of the Appeal you recently published from my sister, Mrs. Nina L. Duryea, in behalf of the wounded and Belgian refugees at Dinard. They are described in a private letter to me, which has just arrived, dated Oct. 22, to-wit:—

"I have received over 2,000 francs already, from my appeal in the Times. I sent 500 francs to London, and bought splendid flannel and yarn. Then, I advertised in the tiny paper here for knitters and plain sewers, and I pay them a small wage to make large chest and back protectors. The yarn I am having knitted into wristers and stomach bands,—so nice and warm for the poor soldiers. Thus, the poor are helped to earn, and the wounded are benefited. I have Mrs. Bell to help select the workers, because she knows well who of the poor, are most deserving and wretched. Only yesterday, a poor creature whose husband had been killed, had a baby. I gave her all the clothes the poor little naked stranger needed. It was heart-touching to see her thankful surprise. We now have over 4,000 wounded soldiers here, besides several thousand homeless and helpless starving Belgian refugees. We are so far to the West, that no Red Cross help has reached us, and yet the whole country is filled with sufferers, who are wholly dependent upon the limited help we can furnish. If possible, get people to ship me a case of half worn coats and trousers. The slightly wounded have to stay in bed while their ragged uniforms are cleaned and mended. A group of eight little girls arrived recently with batch of refugees, having partly walked and partly carried nearly 200 miles, their parents having either been killed, or lost in the wild flight, and so young that not one of them knew their names or where their homes had been. Paris has its millionaires, with many splendid hospitals, while we are dependent upon our own personal means. So, do ask people to deny themselves just a little,—a cigar, or a cocktail each day, or an evening at the play, and send us each their contribution. We have had not one adequate surgeon, but at last a fine Englishman has come, but he has exhausted his supply of anesthetics, and many are dying from the shock and pain of operating without it. It is sickening! Ask people to help us, and they will receive blessings forever."

IN THIS HARD YEAR Christmas gift-making should be sensible. It is a lamentable fact that the merchants admit that at Christmas it is possible to sell goods unmarketable at any other time of the year. Something must be purchased for that friend and good money is paid out for a "jim crack" that will lose its usefulness and will be early thrown out with the waste. If only Christmas purchasing would be sensibly done it could increase the charm of the holiday-giving. Giving must be a part of the Christmas season, but it ought to be an honorable part.

THE CITIES OF HAVERHILL, Lawrence and Lowell have abundant reasons to remember the crisis of 1914. It seemed assured that their efforts for a dredged river way to the sea would be crowned with success. A contingent appropriation was passed by the state of Massachusetts for the work, but the war economy forced the item out of the national appropriation bill and now the fight must be made all over again. The three cities have abundant reasons for their ambitions and the collapse of their plans is a loss to the whole state of Massachusetts.

THE WEEK BROUGHT a disagreeable day or two, but no one complains. The weather since the last of August has been so good that it does come a little hard to accept the cold and cheerless weather of early winter.

AFTER ALL NO CHRISTMAS PRESENT is so welcome as a weekly letter from home. This is just what a local newspaper is.

The surf at Singing Beach and all along the shore, in fact, was wonderful to behold the first of the week. Eaglehead was one mass of white foam and spray as the massive waves dashed wildly over the huge rock and kissed even the pine and hemlock trees covering the top of the eagle's head and its neck. The rocks off the beach usually standing out boldly, were hidden from view, a white boiling sea being the only reminder that they were still there. The whole beach between Eaglehead on one end and Hemenway's point on the other was covered with a big white blanket of froth and foam as the waves dashed with a roar on the sands.

WOMAN'S CLUB LECTURE

"ECONOMIC CONDITIONS IN EUROPE"
SUBJECT OF INSTRUCTIVE TALK
BY MISS COLE

The heavy rain of Monday night doubtless kept away many people who would otherwise have enjoyed hearing the address on "Economic Conditions in Europe," given by Miss Jennie Cole of Beverly at the Congregational chapel under the auspices of the Manchester Woman's club, this being the first of a series of three lectures.

At the outset Miss Cole spoke of the economic conditions in the allied countries and in the offensive countries, later upon the causes of the war followed by a very brief resume of the modes of operations of the countries engaged.

England has the advantages of territorial unity, a well established government and a large manufacturing trade; France has real thrift coupled with art and literature, and the wonderful economy of the French people has been the country's preparation for the present war; Belgium, a tiny country, which could go into the area of Texas 22½ times, has one of the strongest constitutional governments in the world, a splendid code of laws and the thrift of the French intensified; Russia is "the land hungry monster of the earth," and has the biggest army in the world, which advantage is somewhat offset by the lack of progressive training.

Of the offensive nations, Germany has had the most tremendous development, which has all come within the last 40 years since the Franco-Prussian War in 1870 when France lost Alsace and Lorraine. The intensive economy of Germany is equal to that of Belgium and its production greater than that of Belgium, and Germany controls vast amounts of the supplies of potash, nitrogen and phosphorus, which mean so much in agricultural activities. Germany's vast trade has grown up within the last 25 years and is due to (1) the supply that meets the world's demands, (2) an extensive credit system and (3) the very careful packing of all goods. A great asset to Germany is the domesticity of her people. Italy, although a member of the Triple Alliance, has not yet come into the war, and Austria is characterized particularly by the "heterogeneous conglomeration" of races in her territory, and she joined the Triple Alliance to protect herself from aggressions from the East.

Perhaps the greatest cause of the war is the old thorn which has been rankling in the side of France since Germany took from her the two provinces of Alsace and Lorraine in 1870. Bismark's "policy of blood and iron" brought about the Triple Alliance to keep Russia in her place. For many years wars and unsatisfactory peaces which were established tended to the Bulgarian war of 1913, which also was settled unsatisfactorily by leaving Albania with the important port of Trieste independent. After the assassination of Ferdinand of Austria on June 28 of this year, Austria in less than a month's time had sent her ultimatum to Servia, Germany ordered Austria to demobilize her troops and two days later had turned her own forces toward France. During this process Belgium was depopulated as Germany pushed her way to Ostend, which she hopes to make the basis of operations against England.

Everyone regretted that Miss Cole was obliged to bring her talk to such an early close and everyone present felt that the time was well spent.

MANCHESTER BROTHERHOOD*"MENTAL HYGIENE" SUBJECT OF INTERESTING TALK

The Manchester Brotherhood held its regular semi-monthly meeting at the Baptist church last Monday evening. The meeting was opened by the usual song service, after which the minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary. The president, Rev. Mr. Warner and vice-president, Rev. C. A. Hatch were elected as delegates, to act in conjunction with the other societies, and the Arbella club, in arranging for the annual Christmas carnival.

The speaker of the evening was Dr. Geo. L. Kline of the Danvers Hospital. Dr. Kline's subject was "Mental Hygiene." He first acquainted his audience with the expense which is required to maintain such an institution as that at Danvers. Last year, said Dr. Kline, we cared for 1,450 patients at an expenditure of $354,500, or about $4.50 per person each week. He explained in a very interesting way the different classes of mental trouble and the form of cure which they practice. They examine their patients much in the same way as general physicians. Nearly 50% of those admitted to this institution for mental trouble might have been prevented. A very large number of cases are due to the use of alcoholic liquors. About 50% of the patients leave the hospital cured or greatly improved of their trouble. The speaker dwelled to some extent on the various mental diseases and also read a few reports of the past life of some of the inmates. These reports were from their files at the hospital and showed in a great many cases that the disease was hereditary. Dr. Kline also advised parents of marriageable sons and daughters to use care that they do not enter into family ties that will increase mental paralysis through inheritance.

At the social hour after the meeting Dr. Kline remained and answered the numerous questions which were forth-coming from the various members. Owing to the severe weather the attendance was small, only 45 being present. The usual collation was served.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS MEET*CONVENTION OF GLOUCESTER DISTRICT IN MANCHESTER WEDNESDAY

The annual meeting and institute of the Gloucester District of the Massachusetts Sunday School association, which was held at the Congregational church at Manchester Wednesday afternoon and evening was a success and was largely attended. The afternoon session began at two o'clock, the preparation service being conducted by the Rev. A. G. Warner of the Manchester Baptist church, in the absence of the Rev. W. W. Campbell of Rockport; this was followed by greetings by the pastor, Rev. Charles A. Hatch with a response by the president, Rev. Mr. Warner.

In his address of welcome Rev. Mr. Hatch referred to the fact that the entertaining church in the year 1810 formed one of the first Sunday Schools in the country, the teachers of which were Harriet Newell and Anne Judson, two of the earliest of American missionaries to the East, and it was with the feeling of pride and fitness that the church extended this invitation to hold the institute in its historic building.

The Bible study was led by the Rev. Joseph F. Fielden, a retired Baptist minister of Worcester, who gave a running commentary of the gospel of Matthew. The address of the afternoon was delivered by Rev. Carey W. Chamberlin, D. D., of the First Baptist church of Beverly, who spoke exceedingly well on "Evangelism in the Sunday School," bringing out forcibly the strong point of the great opportunities thus presented for influence upon the boys and girls of the adolescent period. The report of the secretary and treasurer, the Rev. Mr. Hatch, was followed by the report of the departmental secretaries—Home, Mrs. Howard Gee of Rockport; Elementary, Mrs. Joseph T. Moulton of East Gloucester; Advanced, Rev. W. T. Hale of Gloucester; Adult, Rev. Denton J. Neily of Gloucester. The report of the latter embraced the remarkable work on Cape Ann in the Sunday Schools and Brotherhoods, particular mention being made of the Men's Brotherhood of Manchester, which is undenominational. A second interesting address was given by Hamilton S. Conant, general secretary, who gave an informal talk of "Optimism in Sunday School Work." After prayer by the Rev. Edw. W. Lutterman of Gloucester and an intermission, the department sessions, which were very well attended, were conducted by Rev. Mr. Fielden. Mrs. L. E. Ware of Worcester, Mr. Conant and Miss Katherine C. Bourne of Foxboro took part in these.

After the close of the afternoon session supper was served in the Congregational chapel under the auspices of the Sunday School and after dinner speeches were given by Robert Baker, Alfred L. Saben, Rev. Denton J. Neily, Rev. C. H. Williams, Ph. D., of Gloucester and Rev. C. A. Hatch.

The evening session opened at quarter past seven, the devotional service being conducted by the Rev. Mr. Williams of Gloucester followed by an address, "The Work in Our Homes" by Miss Katherine C. Bourne, who spoke of the innumerable great advantages of a Home Department in a Sunday School, both to the schools and, more particularly, to the students. In this connection, she told many interesting facts about her own work along this line. Mrs. L. E. Ware of Worcester was the next speaker on "The Work for Our Children." She dwelt upon the meaning of the church and of the needs of the children in the church. She said, "The Sunday School must do more than to teach the children to worship; it must prepare them for church membership." The Sunday School has also a mission to teach children the great lesson of helping others, of service.

The meeting was fortunate in being able to hear Rev. Donald H. Gerrish of Lynn, who delivered an inspiring address on "The Challenge of the Harvest." The greater part of his talk had to do with the far reaching influence of the Sunday School, concerning which he gave some interesting figures. Eighty percent of the men in the churches were in the Sunday Schools in youth, but only 20 percent of the Sunday School students are affiliated with the church in later life. The Sunday School could contribute inestimably more under careful cultivation as it is a recognized fact that it is not measuring up to its responsibilities. Whenever there is a decline in morals, restoration is possible through the training of the children and the great task of the church is to reach the multitudes of young people who must be the saviours of the country. To reach them while they are still young is the challenge to the competency and sincerity of the church and the test of our Christainity. Rev. Mr. Gerrish told of many incidences which had come within his own observation, all interesting and his address was thoroughly enjoyed.

Owing to an accident the stereopticon views, which were to have been shown of the methods of the Northfield Summer School of Sunday School could not be exhibited.

Officers were elected for the following year as follows: President, Alfred L. Saben of Manchester; vice-president, Willard S. Pike, Gloucester; secretary and treasurer, Rev. Charles A. Hatch, Manchester; secretary of the Home Department, Resolutions, which had been drawn up by the committee, Rev. Denton J. Neily and Abbott B. Foster, were passed. The first was one of appreciation of the stand taken by President Wilson with regard to the European War and the establishment of peace; the second, of gratitude for the advance which has been made during the year in the cause of temperance and an expressed determination of work for a "saloonless America;" the last a resolution of thanks for the generous hospitality of the Congregational church of Manchester. The meeting closed with the benediction by Rev. Mr. Williams

CHRISTMAS CARNIVAL ON VILLAGE GREEN, MANCHESTER

Twenty-seven organizations were represented at a meeting held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Hooper, West Manchester, last evening to talk over the plans for the Christmas tree and carnival to be held on the Village green on Christmas eve.

Fred J. Merrill was appointed marshall of the procession and all the various organizations in town are to be represented in the line of march, with banners. The Girls' Glee club and the Boys' Glee club of the High School will sing carols and the Arbella club and Boy Scouts will have selections. Buglers will be assisted in the procession by the Manchester band. The crowd will sing the Manchester Hymn, Silent Night and America.

Samuel Knight's Sons Co. will furnish a large tree, which will be erected on the same spot as last year, in front of the Town hall and church, and alongside the Centennial elm. This will be beautifully decorated by the Arbella club girls and lighted. The festivities will start at 8.30, just after the Christmas exercises at the churches. If stormy, the celebration will be postponed until the next fair night.

The question of making this an annual feature at the Christmas season was also discussed and it is possible some provision will be made for this through the regular channels of town affairs.

Charles W. Sawyer will again serve as Santa Claus, in which capacity he was a decided success last year.

GLOUCESTER BOYS IN TROUBLE AGAIN

James DeCoste, William Brymer and Benjamin Clark, the youthful burglars who were captured at Manchester a week ago Sunday, after committing a series of breaks, in Gloucester, nearly gave the police the slip Monday.

According to the admission of one of the boys, they again broke into the Roberts cottage at West Manchester Monday afternoon looking for axes, with which they intended to go into the safe-burglarizing business, but their career was brought to a sudden halt, by the arrest of one of them at Salem that evening, while the other two were later captured at Swampscott.

The custom of wearing a pulpit gown, gaining in popularity in churches throughout the country, has been adopted by Rev. C. A. Hatch of the Orthodox Congregational church. The following item appeared in the church calendar last Sunday: "The pastor begins this morning the well known custom of wearing a pulpit gown which is made possible through the generosity of the Christian Endeavor society. To some this may seem an innovation not sanctioned by custom or propriety. But the history of our church tells us it was long the custom for our Puritan and Pilgrim pastors to wear the Geneva gown; but on the arrival of our Methodist brethren from England with their opposition to such ecclesiasticism, our early pastors gradually abandoned the custom for the plainer unconventional dress. But a return to the older custom is being practiced, especially in the larger churches. Your pastor joins in with the custom, sincerely hoping that no offense will be given."

WINTER CARE OF ORNAMENTAL PLANTS

The following timely item dealing with the winter care of shrubs, trees and flowering plants, comes from the Extension Service of the Massachusetts Agricultural College.

"Those who have newly planted shrubs and trees should see that they are properly mulched with good stable manure or leaves before cold weather. This will prevent severe losses from winter killing and if the manure is spaded into the soil next spring the shrubs will be greatly stimulated and their growth more luxuriant. Of course older shrub borders should be mulched also, but not necessarily as heavily. Mulching is one of the most important factors in the maintenance of thrifty plantings. All bulbs such as iris, daffodils, lilies, crocuses, etc., should be planted at once if not already. The best time to do this is October and early November. The flower border should receive a heavy mulching of manure, preferably just after the first severe frost which stiffens the ground. In this way the frost can be kept in the ground all winter, preventing destructive alternating thawing and freezing. Where long ungainly shoots occur in the planting, out of all proportion to remaining growth, these may be removed before winter as the action of the wind might be detrimental. It is generally better, however, to defer the pruning until very early spring in most cases. Shrubs such as forsythia which bloom on the previous season's growth should not be pruned until after flowering."

Further suggestions on pruning will be sent out later or upon request to P. H. Elwood, Jr., Extension Instructor in Civic Improvement, M. A. C., Amherst, Mass.

$1,500 CAMERA IN THE STUDIO EQUIPMENT OF RAYMOND L. DITMARS

In connection with the visit to Tremont Temple, Boston, of Raymond L. Ditmars' animal and insect films, beginning Monday, Dec. 14, an interesting story is furnished by the famous Curator of Reptiles at the New York Zoological Park which sheds considerable light on the costliness of microscopic photography and the production expense of "The Book of Nature," as the films are billed.

Dr. Ditmars has in his remarkable studio at Scarsdale, N. Y., a single camera for motion picture work that represents an investment of $1,500. It is fitted with an imported Goertz lens that hasn't an equal anywhere in this country for searching out the hidden secrets of Nature that are too minute for the human eye to perceive.

Without this special camera, with its elongated neck and peculiar adjustments, it would never have been possible to trace the birth and development of the frog from the magnified egg through the tadpole period to its final stage of growth.

There are many other interesting subjects treated in Dr. Ditmars' lectures which were obtained by this expensive camera. Among these may be mentioned the birth of the Salamander; the singing Katy-did; Black-snake eggs hatching; the Juggling Fly, etc.

I have wronged myself oftener than others have wronged me.

BEVERLY FARMS

The wisdom of Mayor MacDonald's plan in consolidating the various departments of the city, is shown again in his appointment of Commissioner Blackmar to be the right man in the right place. The street department is now doing a good job about the city in filling in the low places and "cradle holes" with crushed stone and tar for the winter which will probably carry the streets through in good condition until spring. This is indeed a contrast to past experiences, when almost everything was left until completely worn out.

John J. Murray, for several years past chauffeur for John H. Linehan, has given up the position and will probably accept a similar job in Boston.

There are plenty of vacant tenements in Beverly Farms at the present time and they will no doubt remain so until spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Connors (Margaret Quirk) have returned from their vacation trip and have set up housekeeping at 35 High st.

The Pilgrim Wanderers were royally entertained last Friday evening in Marshall's hall by John West colony, Pilgrim Fathers. Following the business session a drama was presented entitled "A Thief in the house," in which the following took part in a most creditable manner: Joseph Rourke, Vibert Publicover, Henry Wright, Howard E. Morgan, Jr., Lewis Hamberger and James Connolly. There were violin selections by Miss Ethel Townsend; selections by Miss Mildred Gerrish and Muriel Publicover; recitations by Ezra P. Williams and Lewis Hamberger. A collation was served and the affair closed with some good old-fashion dancing.

John Toomey and Howard E. Morgan, Jr., two popular Beverly Farms High school boys, have been awarded their Orange and Black sweaters with the letter "B" on them, a partial reward for their good work on the Beverly High team in the football season just closed.

The annual Christmas tree and entertainment of St. John's Episcopal Sunday School will be held on Thursday afternoon, Dec. 24th, from 4 to 6

An informal reception was tendered Michael J. Connolly, of Waltham and Beverly Farms, by about 50 lawyers last Tuesday evening at the Boston City club. The affair was a congratulatory event upon Mr. Connolly's recent appointment as associate Judge of the Waltham Municipal court.

A large meeting of the Parent-Teacher association was held Tuesday evening at the Blynman Grammar school, when Miss Gilbert addressed the meeting in place of Mrs. Milton P. Higgins, the state president of Worcester, who was unavoidably detained on account of a large convention in her city. Miss Gilbert was an interesting speaker and everyone present enjoyed her talk, which dealt with the work of Parent-Teacher associations, including many details of the convention of the Massachusetts Branch of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations held at Worcester this fall. Quoting from Dr. G. Stanley Hall, Miss Gilbert spoke of four movements which are bringing the school and the home into the old-time close relationship again: First the Milwaukee movement, which was originated by a few teachers of Milwaukee, of bringing the mothers and teachers together one afternoon each week for sewing, cooking and chatting; second, the opening of school houses for social centers, for public meetings and concerts in the evening; third, the visiting teacher, who goes into the pupils' homes, thus achieving the much-needed individual touch in instruction; and fourth, the Parent-Teacher association, which has brought about and is bringing about so many improvements such as supervised playgrounds, equipment for manual, gymnastic and domestic training in schools. Miss Gilbert also made special mention of the Dean of Girls, who has been appointed in Chicago high schools for a social guide, and advisor to the girls. She has been a great success. The Oregon movement, that of giving school credits for excellence in home work, which has such an influence on the boys and girls who cannot be otherwise reached.

After the address by Miss Gilbert, readings were given by Miss Nora Flaherty and piano solos by Miss Ella Hoysradt and Miss Laura Abbott and the social committee, Mrs. D. O. Ballou, Mrs. John F. Burke and Mrs. Frank Abbott served ice cream and crackers, which were sold at five cents a plate.

Beverly Farms is to have a Village Christmas tree. The meeting held at the School house hall last Saturday evening was well attended and much interest was shown. After considering the matter it was voted to have the tree and the several committees were appointed to make the arrangements. It is planned to have a large tree set up in Marshall's field, off Central square, which will be decorated and illuminated with colored electric lights. The Beverly Farms Band will play; there will be singing and other entertaining and pleasing features. There is much interest shown in the affair by Beverly Farms people and the event even now is being looked forward to with much pleasure.

The City Campaign has been quite warm all through the past week and Ward rallies were held in various parts of the city by Mayor Herman A. MacDonald, who seeks re-election, and his opponent, Alderman Wylie. Former Alderman McPherson, who is also seeking the berth of Mayor has confined his campaign to personal soliciting and the sending out of circulars.

Mayor Herman A. MacDonald held a rousing rally in Marshall's hall last Saturday evening which was attended by an audience that taxed the hall's capacity. Upon the invitation of the Mayor to all candidates for Alderman to participate John C. Kelliher, candidate for alderman-at-large spoke; as also did Alderman Caleb Loring, who seeks re-election in Ward 6, and William Watt, who is also candidate for alderman from Ward 6. The Mayor's address bearing upon his record and the city progress under his administration was received with hearty applause.

On Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Burton, Hart st., moved to Boston for the winter.

George W. Larcom has broken ground on Vine st., where he intends to soon move his carpenter shop from Valley st.

Edgar Thibeault, who has made Beverly Farms his home since last spring, on Tuesday went to Arichat, N. S., for the winter.

Mrs. William Marshall (Esther Hull) and children went to East Taunton last Friday to remain until after Christmas visiting Mrs. Marshall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Hull, former Beverly Farms residents.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Roberts of Williamstown have spent the past week at Beverly Farms visiting friends.

"One good turn deserves another" is the popular feeling in Ward 6, as regards Mayor Herman A. MacDonald, who seeks re-election, and indications point to his getting the largest vote in his home Ward, Beverly Farms, ever given a candidate with the possible exception of that given Charles H. Trowt for mayor, a few years ago.

The annual Christmas tree and entertainment given by the Sunday School of the Beverly Farms Baptist church will be held at the chapel on Christmas Eve, commencing at 6 o'clock. The Christmas Concert will be held the Sunday evening before the holiday.

Next Tuesday is election day for Mayor and other Municipal officers. The Ward 6 voters will vote, as usual, in G. A. R. hall. The polls open at 6 a. m. and close at 4 p. m.

WAR PICTURES AT THE BOSTON

At the exhibition of the Belgian War Motion Pictures at the Boston Theatre this week there has been a series of spell-bound audiences, who have followed the graphic delineations of war with breathless interest.

There are pictures of infantry in action, of the artillery fire, of soldiers falling and comrades pulling them from the trenches, and of Red Cross workers helping the wounded, Belgian and German alike, after the battle. There are refugees, thousands of them, ever present hurrying from the advancing Germans, and then miles of ruined cities and villages and shell furrowed roads. Burning cities, broken and ruined bridges, soldiers and citizens lying dead, side by side, also have been caught on Mr. Weigle's film. There are 4,500 feet of film divided into four reels. The pictures show the battles of Alost, of Lierre, of Aerschot, of Malines, and the fall of Antwerp. Here is war in all its terror and destruction.

Exhibitions are given every hour from 11 a. m. to 11 p. m.

WENHAM

At the village church Sunday morning the minister, Rev. F. M. Cutler, will preach on "Spiritual efficiency." Sunday school at noon. Y. P. S. C. E. meeting at 6. "Forefathers' Day" will be observed Sunday evening at 7 by a stereopticon service in the large auditorium, consisting of "A tour of the world with the Pilgrim Fathers," visiting Congregational shrines on the way. Wednesday evening at 7.30 a study conference will be held under the department of missions, considering "Child welfare and missions."

Wenham was represented Thursday in the council at Danvers Highlands to install Rev. Albert V. House, by Albert W. Dodge and Rev. F. M. Cutler. The latter extended the right hand of fellowship in behalf of the South Essex churches.

On Tuesday evening the Wenham Lyceum held its annual meeting (the first since 1911) and elected the following officers: Chairman, H. R. Williams; vice chairman, H. W. Porter; secretary, Mrs. G. H. Perkins; treasurer, W. Arthur Trowt; board of workers, J. B. Pickett, Clarence Evans, A. A. Tracy, Chester Cook, Miss Coppinger. The meeting was held in the chapel of the village church, with H. R. Williams in the chair, and was well attended. It was voted to arrange at least one entertainment this season.

At the meeting of the executive committee of the Wenham Village Improvement Society, at "Brookby Farm," the home of Mrs. Adeline P. Cole, the following officers were elected: President, Miss Helen Burnham; vice-presidents, Mrs. A. P. Cole, Mrs. Genevieve Magee, Mrs. Anna Pickett. It was reported that the site for the prospective building is almost all paid for, an additional instalment being paid this winter.

ETHEL BARRYMORE AT KEITH'S

Ethel Barrymore, the most popular star on the legitimate stage, comes to B. F. Keith's Theatre the week of December 14th, for a positively limited engagement of one week only at the head of the greatest vaudeville bills ever booked. Miss Barrymore will appear by special arrangement with Charles Frohman in a one-act playlet by Sir Charles Young entitled "Drifting Apart," supported by Mr. Charles Dalton.

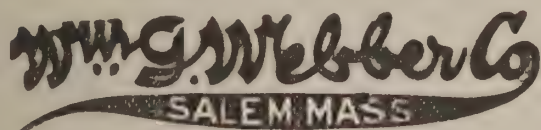

Engraved calling cards—newest styles—work done promptly by Ward's, the Boston stationer. Order them now in plenty time for Christmas.—The Breeze Office. adv.

"THE SPOILERS" AT NATIONAL

Owing to the fact that previous bookings made it impossible to continue its enormously successful engagement at the Boston Theatre, it was arranged to transfer Rex Beach's great romance of the Alaskan gold fields, "The Spoilers," to the big National Theatre, Tremont and Berkeley streets, for a limited engagement. In securing "The Spoilers," the National surpasses the high standard in previous photoplay productions which have made this great theatre the picture palace of the people of Boston.

"PEG O' MY HEART"

The appealing power of a good, clean comedy is being demonstrated in the continued stay and popularity of "Peg O' My Heart," which has passed the one hundred performance at the Cort Theatre. This play has become firmly established as a favorite in Boston and in the fourteen weeks of its run Peg has appeared before approximately 100,000 theatregoers. That is a record seldom achieved in this city, yet public interest in this charming little Irish girl has not decreased in the least. She seems not to be a stage character, but, rather, a living, personal part of the big audience and her quaint wit and native honesty keep the ripples of laughter going steadily.

The Early Division of Common Land in Manchester

PART II.

With the Four Hundred Acres as a basis it was quite natural that the first grants of land should be adjacent to the original grant and this we find to be the case. From time to time lots were granted to individuals or groups of individuals sometimes upon account of their personal common right and quite often indeed for the purpose of paying some of the obligations of the proprietors. Some of these lots were also sold in order to provide revenue and some were laid out for the use of fishermen. On the whole, however, these various grants were made in no systematic fashion but rather as the immediate need seemed to require.

Among such divisions may be mentioned a grant to Samuel Allen, Samuel Leach, and John Sibly of land on the south side of Wolf Trap Brook. This land forms today the University of Pa. property and part of the farm owned by W. H. Coolidge, Esq., near the Gloucester line. The little brook which runs just east of the Old Cove school house was known in the old days as Wolf Trap Brook. Another of those divisions was one of eighty one acres which were laid out in 1685 to 12 proprietors. This grant included a larger part of the land on both sides of Pine Street between Powder House Hill and Cheever's pasture. At this time also there was laid out to Widow Bennett, Moses Bennett, and Aaron Bennett about twenty acres which was probably what we have more recently known as the Foster pasture, near Bennett's Ice Pond.

Many peculiar descriptions are found of which the following two are typical. A lot of land was laid out to Manesas Marstun and this is bounded in the language of the description: "On the southerly side there cometh to the place called by the name of the old wheels neaet Squirts Gutter." Again a lot of land was laid out to Thomas West and after describing several boundary trees, the following description occurs: "And so the long rock bounding the said land so far as the said long rock extends westard and from the west end of said rock southwesterly or thereabouts to a white pretty big pine tree and standing upon a great high rock which is almost to the admiration of them that do behold it."

As a general thing these divisions seem to have been for the purpose of filling out gaps and straightening lines along former holdings.

It was not until 1694 that there appears to have been any systematic division of common land. In that year a vote was passed defining common rights in the land and referring to previous votes passed in 1677. By this action in 1695 a number of people not descendants or grantees of the original proprietors were given rights in the common land in recognition of their public spiritedness in Town affairs.

WEST DIVISION

In 1699 a Committee was appointed to divide the west end of the Common land in Manchester. This division is known as the West division and consisted of thirty-eight ten-acre lots. These lots bounded southerly upon land now owned by Mr. Denegre, westerly on Capt. West's farm near the Beverly Town Line, northerly on the Ipswich lots, easterly upon what is now known as Cheever's Commons and land now owned by Mr. Gorman and Mr. Walker. This division is shown on the plan in blue. Among the proprietors to whom the lots were granted, appear the following names: Geo. Norton, Joseph Woodbury, Isaac Whittier, John Cross, Aaron Bennett, John Lee, Samuel Allen, Oneseprus Allen, Hannah Leach, John Sibly, John Knowlton, Abram Masters, John Goy, John Bishop, James Friend, Daniel Williams.

EAST DIVISION

In 1701 it was voted at a meeting of the proprietors that a division should be made in the easterly part of the Town and another division in the western part of the Town, and a Committee was appointed and given authority for dividing the land and for settling any complaints by the people to whom land was granted in relation to their bounds and were also authorized to employ artists to assist them in so doing. This division was made in 1705 and the first portion of it is known as the East Division and included land bounding easterly on the Gloucester Town line, south partly with the road to Gloucester and partly with the Ocean, westerly by land formerly owned by Nathan Allen and now owned by Mr. Dexter and extending a little northerly of the Magnolia Station of the Boston & Maine Railroad. This division of land is shown on the plan in green. The other lots at the westerly end of the Town formed an addition to the west division at its southerly and westerly end.

The next divisions of common land occurred in 1716, when at a proprietors' meeting it was voted that every proprietor who lived in Manchester in the year 1716, should have twenty acres of land for each single right.

These divisions were the North Division, South Division, the Cedar Swamp Division, the Shingle Place Hill Division, the Brushy Plain Division and the Poplar Plain Division, and the Kettle Pond Cove Lots. In making these divisions a line was drawn from the meeting house in Manchester to a Hemlock tree in the Ipswich line as the old records say, "Near where Mr. Potter's logs were laid last year." The common land to be divided was on the east of this line. The north division was bounded westerly partly by the Beaver Dam Meadow, and partly on the land known as Beaver Dam Hill, northerly by the Ipswich and Gloucester line, easterly by Leach's land, southerly by the northerly ends of the south division. This land includes Baker's Saw Mill on its western side and a considerable portion of the Dexter property on the east. It is shown on the map in brown. The lots were long and narrow in order that everybody might have wood at about the same distance from the settlement.

The South division was bounded northerly by the southerly ends of the North Division Lots; easterly by Robert Leach's old lot; southerly by the Bryery plain lot, partly and by Bears land, Jones land and Poplar Plain; and westerly partly by the way by Jones and partly by the Beaver Dam River near where the mill stands. This division is shown in green on the plan and is included almost entirely in lands owned today by the Essex County Club and by Mr. Philip Dexter.

The Cedar Swamp Division was a division into small lots of swamp land between what is now the Essex Road, the Essex Line and Millstone Hill. These lots bound the westerly side of the road to Essex and extend from about opposite the sharp turn in the road just above the Baker farm to the Essex line.

The Shingle Place Hill Division was a division of small wood lots on Shingle Place Hill which is known by the same name today. This division extends from the road to Essex just beyond the Baker farm, northerly to the Beaver Dam Meadow.

The Brushy Plain Division and the Poplar Plain Division were divisions into small lots of two or three acres each of the land lying southerly of the south division and are almost entirely included in the land today owned by the Essex County Club.

The Kettle Cove Pond lots were on the marsh land at the Cove. There were thirty-eight of these in small lots of about one-half an acre each and they were highly prized both for fodder for cattle and for furnishing thatch for covering the roofs of the cottages. One of the boundaries of these lots is described as a stake near where Goodman Allen's cow was drowned at the coming in of the tide. This was probably a perfectly definite boundary in 1718, but leaves considerable to be desired in definiteness in 1914. These lots are shown in brown upon the plan.

In 1763 the greater part of the remaining common land was divided into ten lots varying in size from twenty-eight to forty acres. These lots were each granted to several people accordingly as they had rights in the common land. The lots today are enclosed with old walls almost exactly as they were laid out in 1762 and the measurements given in the lay-out fit on the ground remarkably well. In general, the division, as will be seen by reference to the map, disposed of a long narrow irregular strip of land extending from a point near Mr. Denegre's estate at West Manchester northerly and northeasterly to the Ipswich line, bounding westerly on the West Division of 1699 and easterly on the Cedar Swamp and Millstone Hill Lots. This division entirely surrounded the Bayberry marsh known today as Lord's Cranberry Meadow.

Moses Hill upon which the new standpipe is situated lies within this division, and the land known as Dark Woods where it has been proposed to erect an almshouse is also within this division. This division of 1763 is shown in yellow on the plan.

The division of 1763 completed the division of Common Land and a few years later the proprietors conveyed to the Town of Manchester all their interest in such land as had theretofore been granted to the Town and in any Common lands which might still remain undivided.

There is no record as to who laid out the actual lines of the various division or whether anyone having any special knowledge of surveying ran the lines. It is probable, however, that they were run by somebody fairly well skilled in such work as in a great many cases where the writer has had occasion to re-run these ancient lines, he has found them well marked by ancient heaps of stones diverging less than ten feet from a straight line in a distance of nearly a mile. In fact, it frequently happens that lines re-run in modern times between ancient stakes and stones of the older bounding prove to be much less accurately run than the old lines themselves.

Bounding some of the divisions, particularly the lots of 1763 division, are many ancient stone walls. These walls are built of immense stones over the tops of hills and down steep banks with seeming disregard of the labor involved. Tradition says that these walls were built by slaves. It is more probable, however, that they were built by bondservants as there never could have been, from the records, a sufficient number of slaves in Manchester to ever have accomplished this work. It is quite likely that the law passed by the Town fining anyone who did not maintain a fence or wall about certain lots of land had much bearing in the matter.

The foregoing description of the various divisions of Common Land has been given somewhat briefly and in a more or less general way. The general knowledge, however, of their location and the time when they were granted are essential to any comprehensive understanding of the titles of the wood lands in Manchester and that is the excuse of this paper. (Concluded).

Do Your Christmas Shopping NOW !!

It is only one week to Christmas and to avoid the bother and disappointments experienced last year your shopping should be planned at once and purchases made well in advance. Early shopping will enable you to save money as there is time and opportunity to make leisurely selections, enabling you to get just what you want at the price you wish to pay.

Then again, twice the number of gifts can be purchased in half the time as there are no crowded aisles, nor overworked salespeople, no long waits for change or for parcels. It enables you to purchase the cream of the stocks, thus getting the best, most distinctive and unusual gifts, and to make comparisons as to price, quality, etc. Early shopping prevents the disappointment of gifts being received too late for exchange, or to be delivered or altered.

If buying is done in Salem gifts are purchased of merchants you know and who can be quickly and easily reached to meet any such exigency. Watch the advertisement of Salem merchants for offerings of exceptional values that no one can afford to overlook. Now is the time to plan your shopping and make your purchases.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

For the week including Christmas, there has been arranged one of the greatest bills of comedy features and novelties, that will appeal specially to children, ever offered at this popular playhouse. "Hiram On The Farm," a big rural comedy with rube comedians, fiddlers, dancers, trained pigs and roosters, and all manner of comedy artists, will be presented by Fred J. Ardath and his big company. Another big laughing act will be Joe Boganny and his own troupe of Lunatic Bakers, with giants, dwarfs, midgets and various sized bakers of all ages, in "Fun In A Bakehouse."

Lew Dockstader, the famous minstrel star, will be an attraction at B. F. Keith's Theatre the week of December 28th. Mr. Dockstader will head one of the strongest bills ever offered in Boston.

CORT THEATRE, BOSTON

Since the beginning of the theatrical season new plays have come and gone in Boston but "Peg O' My Heart" still continues her merry way at the Cort theatre, where this popular comedy is approaching its fifth month of prosperity. Since Labor Day, when this play opened the season of the Cort, some of the greatest stars of the stage world have appeared here and only one has gone beyond a few weeks of endurance. To those who have seen Peg, however, this might cause but little wonder for plays of problem, sex and other usual themes appeal only to a limited class—each according to its light. "Peg O' My Heart" is different. J. Hartley Manners, the author, has written in this a story that appeals not only once but many times in such a vein of varied pathos, romance and humor that the seeing of it the second or third time improves upon the first pleasant impression.

It is announced that the scale of prices for the extra Christmas Day matinee will be the same as that of the regular matinee of Wednesday, from 25 cents to $1.50.

BELGIAN WAR PICTURES

Without any doubt whatever, the Belgian Battlefield Motion pictures at present being shown at the Boston Theatre, are one of the most impressive and powerful sermons ever preached either on the stage or in the pulpit. Not one of the thousands and thousands of spectators who have seen these wonderful films ever leaves the theatre, without having been absolutely convinced of the utter wickedness of war, of the terrible ruin it leaves in its wake and of its complete uselessness.

These films are without any question the greatest argument for disarmament and permanent peace ever advanced. Exhibitions daily at hourly intervals, from 11 a. m. to 11 p. m.

PARENT-TEACHER MEETING

"LITTLE CITIZENS OF THE WORLD"

The Manchester Parent-Teacher association met at the Price School, Wednesday evening to hear Mrs. Anna Sturges Duryea of the World Peace Foundation, 40 Mt. Vernon street, Boston, on "Little Citizens of the World." Mrs. Duryea was greatly enjoyed when she spoke at the Woman's club last year and a large attendance was present Wednesday evening to hear her address, which was notable for its clearness and rapidity of thought and action and for touches of irresistible humor. Mrs. Duryea is a pacifist and one who believes in the salvation of our present day civilization through world consciousness or world citizenship, which must be taught the children of our country and of other countries so that another terrible lesson such as the present European War need never be. Necessarily, the speaker's talk involved much of the war and her comments contained many pungent truths which will linger in the minds of her audience for many days. At the outset, she spoke of the breaking down of the barriers of the countries across the seas and of the closer contact of the races. She quoted Dr. David Starr Jordan, who asks, "Is Europe forging a great peace?" and said that the two great lessons of the War are, first, that the military system of the world and not the peace movement of the world, is at fault; second, that for years men have said that the maintenance of great armies and navies preserved the peace of the world and there were twenty thousand million men in Europe, tinder for the great conflagration, which has shocked the world. After all, it does not so much matter who touched the match to the tinder; the main fact is that it was there ready to burn—to quote Dr. Jordan again, "If nobody is loaded, nobody will explode."

A log raft containing one million feet of cedar, said to be the largest ever floated on the Pacific, recently made the trip from British Columbia to Puget Sound. It was 100 feet long and 70 feet wide; it stood 15 feet out of the water and 20 feet under.

The old spirit of enmity and hostility which was necessary and profitable in the primitive days is out of place in twentieth century civilization; it is destructive without being in any way constructive. We are living in a combination of two strange periods, the mediaeval and the modern and we must make a choice between militarism and progress. In proof of this, Mrs. Duryea spoke a little about the history of civilization and she said in part, "If in the old days when man was first gaining a footing upon this wild old world of ours, after emerging from the lower kingdoms, he had not been a fighting animal, we should not be here now. I am a pacifist and a woman and I want to say, particularly as I see some gentlemen in the audience, that I do not believe that the fighting spirit in man is an indication of original sin, but that it is out of place today. Early in history, the clan spirit was developed and all through the history of man runs the golden thread of growing friendship and co-operation. We cannot use primitive methods in the twentieth century with any profit; old-time war methods don't gain what they used to for the countries engaged."

The speaker told a little of the interesting Hague conferences of the second of which has been said that there was "all the world together in one room." It was here that the Hague Court, an international tribunal where countries should bring their differences, as individuals to an ordinary court, and should abide by the decision of said court, was first discussed. In 1902 the practicability of this "Utopian dream" was demonstrated by Theodore Roosevelt, then President of the United States, who called the Hague court to settle the difficulty between America and Mexico. Times are constantly changing and many of the old-time things such as piracy, duelling and religious persecution, once considered highly respectable occupations, are done away with, and considered barbarous and war will surely join that list in the near future. The time has come to substitute friendship and co-ordination for hostility and the great European trouble in the end will doubtless be settled by an international conference at a great capital, Washington perhaps, when the United States will take the lead in the settlement. The eyes of the world are at present fixed on the quiet man at the White House, who has changed the slogan, "Watchful Waiting," from a term of oppro-

VOL. XII December 18, 1914. No. 51

The Breeze extends the compliments of the season to its large family of more than two thousand readers and wishes them one and all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

The Christmas week issue of the Breeze will come out on Thursday instead of Friday and patrons are urged to send in or telephone their items of news and notices early next week.

SOME SURPRISING ADVANCES have been made in the cause of National Prohibition. This issue so long dormant now bids fair to become a national issue of no inconsiderable proportion. For a generation efforts have been made to keep this question out of national politics and it is certain that such plans met with success. But now the national parties must face the issue and make a stand. The Bull Moose party in Massachusetts placed itself on record in favor of national prohibition. It is a well known fact that William Jennings Bryan is an ardent advocate of a prohibition policy for the national government. There are those who believe that his activities in that cause are but veiled movements of the national democratic organization, to feel, as it were, the national pulse. If the Bryan policy appears to be received with favor it will be a simple matter for the President to move up and get into line. This week the amendment which prohibits the manufacture for sale of intoxicating beverages comes before Congress. What the future is no one can now foresee, but it is no more than evident that in the near future the liquor problem will be a great factor in national politics.

CONGRESSMAN GARDNER SEEMS to be having a troublesome time with his proposed Army and Navy investigations. Those who know the Congressman from this district know that he is no "jingo." There is a vast difference between militarism as it is known in Germany and plain common sense in preparing for the worst in the event of international disputes. No one thought that a world war ever would break out in Europe. It is now asserted that an invasion of the United States is improbable and that war with America is unlikely. But who knows? Militarism is not desirable. America has no desire to reintroduce into this country a blight that is now showing the ruin it can cause. But this country assuredly cannot afford to allow its naval and army policy to be "too" laissez faire. There is a respect that nations pay when the other nation is able to execute its demands.

THE CITY ELECTION in Beverly resulted in the re-election of Mayor MacDonald on Tuesday last. The election was the triumph of public opinion over the tyranny of a local daily paper. The contestants for the office were Willard O. Wylie and James MacPherson; the campaign was hotly contested by all the candidates. The Mayor, seeking re-election, was opposed by one of the local papers in a merciless manner. The result of the election is due in no small degree to that sense of human justice which is latent in the human mind. The objections of the voters of the city to that form of newspaper aggressiveness were marked. The defeat of Mr. Wylie was not unexpected, but his retirement from public life in the service of the city will be a distinct loss. He has served the city in the board of aldermen with efficiency and honor. It is unfortunate for all concerned that he had not left the field free for the mayor. As it now stands his personal ambitions for the present have been thwarted and the city loses the service of an honorable citizen in a most important position. If Mr. Wylie had waited there is no doubt but what eventually he would have received the endorsement of the citizens of Beverly and been elected Mayor. The re-election of Mr. MacDonald was a personal triumph. With pluck and fearlessness he has worked his way up by his own ability to the position which he now holds. His first term of service was somewhat hampered the first year, but his last year was among the best in the annals of the City of Beverly. The vote that Mr. MacPherson received will well repay a thought. The margin was small but the Mayor was vindicated and will enter upon a second term. This will be the first time in the history of the city that any man has been re-elected after his second year of service. The two-year tenure was due in no small degree to a gentlemen's agreement arranged by a group of political aspirants. The two-year plan made it possible to "distribute" the honors. Caleb Loring was re-elected alderman from the Beverly Farms ward as was to be expected. He has rendered efficient service and deserved the re-election. The license vote showed a gain. The "Yes" element gained especially in the Beverly Farms ward. There are those that believe Beverly is making a serious mistake in maintaining such a laissez faire attitude to the question. Beverly may well watch out. It is universally true that growing cities usually have an increased "yes" vote. Beverly should look to its laurels. It is nevertheless apparent, despite the journalistic attacks of a certain newspaper the people of Beverly have done their own thinking. It is a wholesome sign.

ONE WAY IN WHICH the financial stringency may be aided is very simple. Economy is indeed in the air, but those enjoying the usual prosperity of other years should not "catch the fever" just to be in style. The unnecessary wholesale retrenchments that sometimes accompany the hard times are often due to a form of psychological frenzy that seizes everyone. Expansion and wholesome business activities are two of the factors that will contribute to relieve the difficulties of hard times.

THE CAMBRIDGE CITY COUNCIL has decided to open a city employment office for the convenience of its employers of labor and for working men seeking employment. In these hard times every means should be tried to relieve the depressing conditions.

MAYOR MACDONALD'S HOME WARD gave him the contest-winning vote.

AT THE PRESENT TIME TAXES upon real estate and stocks and bonds and other personal possessions are levied on an equal footing. For example a man may have one thousand dollars invested in real estate that yields him ten percent. He may also own stocks or bonds that yield only four or possibly five percent. Supposing that the tax rate is fifteen dollars on a thousand, he will pay fifteen dollars on his ten percent real estate and fifteen dollars on his four or five percent bonds. The result is that the interest returns on such personal property is exceedingly small. It has in it an element of injustice that may well be considered. It is now proposed to differentiate the rates of taxes. A resolution has already passed the Massachusetts legislature preparing the way for such a plan. The four mill tax suggested (four dollars on a thousand) is operative in many states. If the resolution be passed in the legislature this year it will then go to the people in a referendum in 1915. It is apparent that the owners of intangible property should be relieved of the excessive burden now laid. It is believed and with good reasons that a lower rate will bring to light many millions of dollars worth of personal property.

THE PARDONING POWERS of the Governor and his Council have not been used with any great degree of discretion during these last few weeks. It looks as though all one needs to do in these times is to commit a particularly heinous financial crime and then appeal for a pardon and escape.

THE CELEBRATION of the one hundred years of peace between Great Britain and the United States may be less spectacular than it would have been if this war had not broken out, but the services of prayer in the churches will be none the less hearty and sincere.

THE NEW TELEPHONE TAX is fifteen to one.

IT IS BUT A FEW YEARS now, since the Municipal Christmas Tree idea was inaugurated and yet in an incredibly short while the idea has taken root. Last year the Christmas tree was a decided success in Boston and it gave the originators of the idea in Manchester an opportunity to try the plan in Manchester also. The success that attended that effort is already history. This year the Christmas tree will again adorn the village green. Beverly and Beverly Farms are also to celebrate with a municipal tree. There is nothing being left undone by the committees in these places to make the plans for Christmas eve. If the elements are but propitious the young folk in these North Shore towns will spend a memorable Christmas Eve.

MR. J. ARTHUR BEEBE of Boston and Falmouth, a former summer resident of Manchester, has made Harvard University the principal beneficiary of his will and Harvard will have the use of this fund for general purposes. Despite the fact that the invested funds of the University are large it needs and should have the generous support of its alumni. The alumni of Harvard are particularly loyal in their giving to their Alma Mater. A State University has a state back of it and may always call upon the taxpayer for the maintenance of the institution. Harvard can depend alone upon its income from tuitions and from its invested funds to meet its current expenses.

THE CALL FROM PANAMA by Goethals for torpedo destroyers to guard the entrances of the big ditch brings home the fact that there is war among the nations.

A. PIATT ANDREW HAS ENLISTED in relief work in France; but is not this what he criticized Congressman Gardner for? Imitation is the sincerest form of flattery.

FOR MANCHESTER POSTOFFICE

The fight for the postmastership of Manchester, which has been on for several months has culminated in the Democratic Town committee indorsing the candidacy of Frank A. Foster. Mr. Foster is chairman of the Democratic Town committee, and has been an earnest worker in the party for many years. He is president of the Essex County Democratic club, and before coming to Manchester some years ago served on the Beverly Democratic City Committee, was a member of the Board of Alderman for several years, and served on the School Committee. With his wide acquaintance among party leaders, backed by long and active service in the ranks, it is counted his chances are good. The position carries a salary of $2300.

N. Y. HIPPODROME

In an effort to overcome the general impression that the current offering, "Wars of the World," has some relation or reference to the conflict raging abroad, the management of the New York Hippodrome has addressed a communication to the leading organizations of New York setting forth the real character of the attraction, which is described as "a flirtation with history."

After running nearly three months to enormous business, the management has ascertained, through diligent inquiry, that the name of the attraction has proven sufficiently misleading to deter some patrons from attending the performance---hence the present campaign of education to inform the public as to the real character of the production. The employment of the title "Wars of the World" is purely in an allegorical sense. This is attested by such episodes as "War of Sports," "War of Pleasure," etc., all of a frivolous nature.

It should be the constant endeavor of every man to deserve the good opinion he has of himself.

Boxmakers in the United States use more than four and a half billion board feet of lumber each year or more than one-tenth of the entire lumber cut of the country.

Of two million sheep annually grazed in the state of Utah, more than a million are on the national forests, or including lambs which are fattening for market on the forest ranges, over a million and three-quarters.

In addition to his own fire detection system, the supervisor of the Palisade national forest, Idaho, was notified of each fire by from five to ten different local settlers, who thus showed their co-operation in working for fire suppression.

A mountain lion recently killed in the Grand Canyon game preserve, which adjoins the Tusayan national forest, measured ten feet from nose to tail. Mountain lions and other beasts of prey, such as wolves, coyotes, and wild cats, are killed by forest officers and game wardens because they are a menace to stock and to game animals.

Many a fellow never gets to the front because he is too fast.

MANCHESTER WOMAN'S CLUBVISITING NURSE ASSOCIATION MAKES REPORT; INTERESTING TALK BY MISS KNIGHT

At the meeting of the Manchester Woman's club Tuesday afternoon, the yearly report of the Visiting District Nurse association was read by the chairman, Mrs. Caroline Knight in the absence of the secretary, Miss Ellen Clarke, and the report of the treasurer, Mrs. Ethel Valentine was read and accepted. Judging from the report of the association, the work has been highly successful in a financial and philanthropic way and there is a very satisfactory balance in the treasury. Mrs. Annie Sinnicks and Mrs. Caroline Knight have been elected for another term of three years.

The question of having the Manchester Woman's club represented officially at the community Christmas tree on the village green Christmas eve was put to vote and it was decided that the club should take part in the observance and that a banner should be procured to be carried during the marching. It is interesting to note how readily the Manchester organizations are to do their part this year towards the celebration, which last year was so much of a novelty.

The opening number of the program Tuesday afternoon was a selection by the Glee club, composed of Mmes. Carolyn Allen, Henrietta Calderwood, Flora Hersey, Harriet Baker, Ruth Blaisdell Hoare, Annie Knight, Eva Rand, Mary Deane, Emma Knight and Marianna Cheever, with Mrs. Edith Williams as accompanist. The song was "Happy Birds" and was very well rendered.

The speaker of the afternoon was Miss Mabel Frances Knight, who gave a fascinating talk on "Romances and Legends of Touraine and Brittany," embracing mostly the histories of the storied chateaux on the Loire.

The lives of the Duchess Anne and Duke Louis, afterwards Louis XII, and Charles VIII at Amboise were made vivid in a dramatic manner. Louis fell in love with Ann when she was but a girl and she told him that she would never marry any one but a king, which was the cause of Louis' attempt to gain the throne of France. When he was in prison, Ann became betrothed to Maximilian of Austria. Charles VIII, unwilling that the fair province of Brittany should pass into the hands of Austria, protested and waged war upon his fair subject, falling in love with her himself and finally making her queen of France, thus carrying out her own prophecy. Anne's almost motherlike affection for her boyish husband is now a matter of history and they loved best of all to live at one of their beautiful chateaux and amuse each other. It was during one of these happy periods in their lives that Charles fell in one of the beautiful old gardens of the place, striking his head a blow which resulted in his death. Anne, a widow, retired to Brittany and when the gentle Charles' will was read, it was found that his earnest wish was that Duke Louis, who through the death of Charles, become Louis XII of France, should marry Anne. Louis sought her there and in the beautiful surroundings made love to her again as he had in the old days when they were almost boy and girl together. Thus it was that Anne was twice queen of France.

It was to Amboise, too, that Francis II, son of Catherine de Medici, brought his bride, Mary Stuart, who was so lovely that she charmed the people. While Francis and Mary were leading lives of amusement and pleasure, the people of France were suffering from the terrible cruelties of Catherine de Medici and when Francis died, Mary was obliged to return to her Scottish home.

One of the most distinctive as well as the most interesting of the chateaux in Brittany is the chateau at Loché where is found the beautifully executed statue of Lady Agnes Surrall, who died on the ninth of February in 1449. When Lady Agnes was but a girl in her picturesque home in the Breton woods, King Charles XI's horse became hurt in the hunt and the party stopped at her chateau for another mount for the King, who was then the prince. The only horse procurable was Lady Agnes' own palfrey, which, unused to the noise and confusion of the hunt refused to be mounted by Charles. The Lady Agnes fed the horse sugar and rode him easily, whereupon said Charles, "Nay, then, I can do aught that a maid can do," but realizing the ungraciousness of the remark, he amended it to "At least I can do anything if you will but show me the way." Years afterwards, when King Charles was not disposed to give Joan of Arc the credit which was her due as the saviour of her country Lady Agnes urged the Abbott Nicholas to do what he could for the Maid of Orleans. The abbott was thrown into prison and Lady Agnes exclaimed to him when he returned upon the shameful-ness of Charles' ungratefulness and Nicholas reminded her of the far away day in the Breton woods when Charles had said that he could do anything if Lady Agnes would show him the way. Lady Agnes disappeared shortly after that and, for years, was seen no more. Finally when Charles returned victorious after his wars and paid a tardy tribute to Joan of Arc, Lady Agnes Surrell was recognized as the queen of the left hand, who had urged Charles on to victories and justice.

The home of Madame de Sevigne in Brittany still seems alive with her personality and the wonderful old gardens are the same and the rooms in the chateau still contain the personal belongings of the woman, whose writings have become so well known. The landscape garden by Le Notre is one of the finest to be seen today, and was always an inspiration to Madame de Sevigne.

Miss Knight closed her interesting address with an account of the tradition of the Mont St. Michel, which is said to be the purification of the beautiful but wicked city of Is that was sunken in the olden days. The Mont St. Michel is a fortress wonderfully fashioned for defense by Nature and it is a beautiful and valuable belonging of France. It is fortified not only by its own strong walls, but by the horrible quicksands surrounding it. It is also the situation of a beautiful convent containing a beautiful statue of St. Michel that travelers from all parts of the world come to see. An interesting legend is connected with the immense boulders which guard St. Michel. Once in a hundred years, they are supposed to take human form and on St. Sylvester's Eve, to rush down to the water to drink enough to make up for their century's abstinence. When Rollo the Norseman and his men landed here many hundreds of years ago, the monks told them of this legend and as the evening was near at hand

Rollo and his men decided to wait and see this wonderful thing. It all happened as had been foretold and the Norsemen took advantage of the opportunity to sack the place in the absence of the guards. The monks had not told them all of the legend, however, that if the guards came back they would crush humans before them unless a five leafed clover was held as a protection. The Princess Jaselle, who with her companions, was studying in the convent had heard the conversation between the monks and Rollo and she and her friends saved the Norsemen from destruction when the boulders came rolling back from the sea, by bringing them five leafed clovers in time. Later when the King tried to check Rollo's advance into France by offering him Nurstria, Rollo accepted only on the condition that it be the Princess Jaselle's dowry. He renamed it Normandy and their wedding bells were the first chimes of Normandy.

ownership of the munitions of war, the limitation of armament, leading sometimes to the decrease of the armies and navies, and of the establishment of the International Police, governed by a Commission and answerable to an International Congress. The idea, still in its infancy, of course, is that the best tenth of all the armies and navies of the world be picked for this work, making a body stronger by far than any army ever mustered. Then if any one nation will not listen to reason the International Police will take control of the situation and war between two countries will be as unhead of as war between two of the United States.

It is not right that these important peace lessons should have to be learned through some horrible disaster of blood, tears and destruction, the speaker said. Our children must be taught more than the love of home, of community and of country, all necessary; they must be taught world consciousness, or world citizenship.

A trio from the Manchester High School, Miss Porter, violinist; Miss Bragdon, pianist; and Frank Knight, 'cellist, furnished two selections, "Belle Nuit" and a Serenade by Victor Herbert, which were beautifully rendered and which added much to the enjoyment of the evening. It was also voted at this meeting that the Parent-Teacher association be identified with the Christmas Eve. celebration on the Common and march with the other Manchester organizations. At the close of the program the social committee served crackers and hot chocolate.

SOCIETY NOTES

A special Suffrage Committee in Boston is planning a Twelfth Night ball and dramatic entertainment at the Toy Theatre, as a benefit for the Women's Emergency Corps in England, which is doing such splendid work there for the Belgian refugees and for the employment of working women and girls. Many prominent society women of Boston and the North Shore being interested in this benefit, it will undoubtedly prove one of the social events of the season. The committee in charge comprises: Mrs. Robert Gould Shaw, Mrs. William Sturgis, Mrs. George Gove, Mrs. Geo. R. Fearing, Jr., Mrs. Robert Grant and Miss Louie R. Stanwood.

It is said that the German invaders of Belgium, whatever else they may have destroyed, have been careful not to injure park trees. The cavalrymen, so a report goes, are forbidden to tie their horses to trees for fear that the animals will gnaw the bark. Germany was the first nation to apply forestry on a large scale, some of the crown forests having been under scientific management for over a hundred years.

Rev. Dr. Walter S. Eaton will preach a Christmas sermon at the Sunday morning service at the Village church, service beginning at 10.45. In the evening Edward H. Frye of Boston will read Edward Everett Hale's best known work, "The Man Without A Country." Mr. Frye is a very fine reader and every one always enjoys hearing him, and the story which he has chosen needs no comment. The service will begin at half-past seven o'clock Sunday night and will continue to begin at this hour through the course of concerts. The Colonial String Quartet of Boston, which played at the church last Sunday evening, furnished, many thought, the finest musical program ever given at the Village church. The new piano was found to be all that has been hoped for it.

A pretty party was given at the home of Mrs. Theresa Knowles, Magnolia ave., Tuesday evening, for Miss Marion Scott's birthday. The house was attractively decorated with laurel and Christmas greens. About twenty-five were present and all enjoyed to the fullest the games, music and dancing. Refreshments were served.

A surprisingly large number of substances, ranging all the way from the condensed fumes of smelters to the skimmed milk of creameries, have been tried or suggested as means of preserving wood from decay. Most of them, however, have been found to have little or no value for the purpose. Certain forms of coal-tar creosote and zinc chloride are the most widely used wood preservatives.

WILL LEAVE GLOUCESTER CHURCH

The Rev. Charles H. Williams, who as been pastor of the Trinity Congregational church, Gloucester, for the past eight years, has received a call from the Second Congregational church of Oberlin, O. He has the matter under consideration.

The Uinta mountains of Utah, included with the Wasatch, Uinta, and Ashley national forests, should become a favorite recreation region, because of the many small lakes within depressions scooped out by glacial drifts. Seventy such lakes can be counted from Reid's peak, and one particular township, 36 miles square, contains more than a hundred.

No man can be popular unless he has learned to keep his troubles to himself.

In his effort to be known as a good fellow many a man shows evidence of overtraining.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE AND BELGIAN RELIEF

The Manchester Equal Suffrage League held its December meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Rabbard, on Tuesday evening, Dec. 8th. This meeting was chiefly devoted to Belgian Relief work, and a goodly number of knitted articles, made by the members and their friends, were brought in, also mittens and stockings purchased in the "shopping district" of this town. A big bundle has since been sent up to the Belgian Committee in Boston, and Mrs. Washbrook of West Manchester is still collecting little garments, etc., for Belgian children. The Suffrage League is making a specialty of the children's things, and members of the Manchester Woman's club are knitting for Belgian soldiers, so that Manchester is certainly contributing well to Belgian Relief. The new committee room at 426 Boylston st., Boston, is a very busy place, receiving articles for the "Christmas Ship"—the "Har-palyce"—which will sail on Christmas Day.

The Manchester Equal Suffrage League will have a Christmas party immediately after Christmas Day.

BEVERLY FARMS

The Beverly friends and members of the Willard O. Wylie committee, have taken out papers and will petition for a recount. Alderman Wylie was defeated by Mayor MacDonald for Mayor by 29 votes.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. McDonnell and daughter Miss Katherine McDonnell, left Wednesday for a week's visit in New York city.

Mayor MacDonald has made the following statement relative to the election results: "I am deeply grateful to the people of Beverly for their loyalty and support in the election just held and I realize that were it not for the earnest efforts of many of my good friends, my election would have been impossible. Seldom has a campaign been filled with so much misrepresentation and abuse as this campaign and I trust that the people of the city will never again be called upon to go through another campaign of this sort. I shall endeavor, in every possible way, in co-operation with the Board of Aldermen to give to the City of Beverly the very best administration possible."

The Girls' club of the Baptist church will hold a Children's party on Tuesday evening, Dec. 29th. Miss Avis Carlton has been engaged for the evening.

William Watt, through the Breeze, wishes to thank his friends and supporters for the vote given him in his candidacy for Alderman of Ward 6, in Tuesday's election. He says he is proud, and justly so, of the support given him, and he deeply appreciates it.

Lewis Hamberger has acceted a position at the Harry Quint (florist) store in Boston over the holidays.

Only 7½ per cent of last season's 400 fires in national forests of Utah, southern Idaho, western Wyoming, and Nevada caused losses in excess of $100.

Virginia uses more wood for boxes and crates than any other state, followed by New York, Illinois, Massachusetts, and California, in the order named.

Those familiar with the eastern mistletoe only have no idea of the great losses due to this parasite in the forests of the west, where it counts next to fire and insects in the amount of damage done.

In parts of the west where trees are scarce, sage brush is used for fuel. In Nevada the large main stems are trimmed by Indians at $3.00 a cord and delivered to the user at about $6.50. Sage brush burns rapidly and is rather dirty but produces good heat.

There is one suit that never seems to fit, and that is a suit for damages.

Herman A. MacDonald was re-elected Mayor of Beverly for a second two-year term on Tuesday in an exciting three cornered contest in which the largest vote in the history of the city was recorded. Mr. MacDonald won by 29 votes over alderman Willard O. Wylie, former alderman James McPherson, who was third, receiving a surprising large vote. The contest was not decided until the returns from the last ward were in. Ward 6—the Mayor's home ward, stood by him nobly, giving him the largest vote of 208 ever given any one here in a contested fight and the good margin was sufficient to over come the losses in some of the other wards.

A new granolithic walk is being laid at the Beverly Farms School, from the main entrance to Haskell st.

The Village Christmas tree will be at Marshall's field, off Central Square on Christmas Eve, the exercises commencing at 8 o'clock.

Andrew Standley camp, S. of V., are planning to hold another public whist party in G. A. R. hall after Christmas.

The contest in Ward 6 for Alderman was quite a pretty contest, although its interest was lost to some extent over the fight for Mayor. Alderman Caleb Loring was elected by a vote of 155 to 127 given William Watt. Alderman Loring lost 4 votes from last year, and Mr. Watt gained 26 over his showing of last year.

At the election on Tuesday, in Ward 6, there were 308 votes cast, of which five were by women. As the registration in the ward is only 352 it is plain that the ward was looked after pretty close in getting out the vote. For those few who did not vote, there was some good reason, principally because they were away from the city, sick or had some equally good excuse.

WENHAM

A second supper, this time a Dutch supper, was served "by and for" the "men of Wenham" on Thursday evening in the village chapel, the same committee being in charge as upon the former occasion. The large number in attendance greatly enjoyed the program of eating, drinking, music, readings and speeches. Steps were taken looking toward a permanent organization.

The Wenham girls' club, so prominent two years ago, resumes activity and conducts an invitation dance Friday evening, Dec. 18.

At the village church Sunday morning the minister, Rev. F. M. Cutler, will preach a Christmas sermon, and the choir will render a special program of music appropriate to the occasion. Sunday school at noon. Y. P. S. C. E. meeting at 6. At 7 a Christmas choral service will be held in the large auditorium.

Mrs. N. W. Pitman, leader of the study conference under the department of missions on Wednesday evening, enlisted the co-operation of many younger and older mission workers for the occasion, and consequently succeeded in offering a fine program, much appreciated by a large number of attendants and participants. The theme was "Child Welfare."

Many Wenham people are interested in the coming vote in Congress on National prohibition, promised for Dec. 19, and hope that one of their Christmas presents will be an affirmative decision of this important question. Wenham, being on the direct road to Portsmouth, has daily demonstration of the way the interstate commerce law serves to nullify local option in adjoining cities.

THE SPRINGFIELD REPUBLICAN

A newspaper of character. Able, independent, readable. Established in 1824 by Samuel Bowles. Daily (morning), $8; Sunday, $2; Weekly, $1 a year.

The Republican takes seriously its responsibilities to the public. It appeals for popular support by service that is guided by intelligence and a purpose to inform, assist and incidentally entertain and instruct its readers.

It gathers the news with enterprise and alertness, and presents it in attractive and convenient form. It disdains to employ the style of the circus poster and seeks to make itself typographically pleasing and tasteful.

It is extremely liberal in its provision of reading matter in all of its three editions. Its editorials constitute one of its distinguishing and most valued features. Literature, art, science, education, religion, philanthropy—all receive generous treatment in its columns; likewise agriculture and industry. Special attention is given to the various healthful outdoor sports.

The Weekly Republican is made up with great care for the wide audience outside of the local environment. It is, in fact, a rich weekly magazine sold at a remarkably low price.

Subscription Rates: Daily (morning), $8 a year; $2 a quarter; 70 cents a month; 16 cents a week, 3 cents a copy. Daily and Sunday, $10 a year; $2.50 a quarter; 85 cents a month; 20 cents a week. Sunday, $2 a year; 50 cents a quarter; 5 cents a copy. Weekly (Thursdays), $1 a year; 25 cents a quarter; 10 cents a month; 3 cents a copy.

Specimen copies sent free on application. The Weekly Republican will be sent free for three weeks to anyone who wishes to try it. All subscriptions are payable in advance.

MANY a Christmas stocking has held gifts that were given after much puzzling and wrinkling of brows, and after that, after all, weren't appreciated as greatly as the giver hoped. No such trouble when gloves are given. They form almost ideal remembrances. They carry comfort, daintiness and modishness combined. The very shape of the box or package that holds them is enticing and "duplicate presents" are not a cause of regret, if Santa Claus brings a number of pairs. You'll not be sorry if you stop frequently at our glove counter when you do your Christmas shopping.

SOCIETY NOTES

The new club-house of the Essex County club will be informally opened Saturday night when a dinner-dance will be given by the members of the North Shore winter colony. It is expected seventy or more people will be there and it will be a sort of Christmas party. The new building is now fast nearing completion. The office was moved from the Red Barn some weeks ago. The new club-house is built more for winter use than the old one and winter sports will henceforth prove a big attraction for those who have returned to town as well as those living here the year round. The Winter Sports committee have arranged for skating and coasting, a skating pond having been formed by damming the brook. A limited number of skis, sleds and toboggans have been provided. Members are advised to inquire by telephone as to the conditions of the ice and snow before coming down from town.

♦ ❖ ♦

Mrs. Chas. S. Hanks and daughter, Miss Clarina Hanks, who have spent the autumn and winter thus far at their West Manchester estate, are remaining there over the holidays. They plan to close the house about the fifth of January.

♦ ❖ ♦

Mrs. Gardiner Martin Lane of Boston and Manchester, and her young daughter, Miss Katherine Lane, are spending the Christmas holidays in Baltimore, with Mrs. Lane's parents, Prof. and Mrs. Basil Gildersleeve, at their residence on North Calvert st.

♦ ❖ ♦

Mrs. Chas. H. Tweed gave a reception for Miss Mary Tweed at the Colony club in New York, Friday of last week. The Tweeds have a summer home at Beverly Farms which they keep open for week-ends throughout the winter.

Capt. E. H. Pentecost of the Topsfield year-around colony was a passenger on the Orduna, on its last sailing from New York for Liverpool. Capt. Pentecost is a member of the navy reserve, which he has gone over to join.

Mrs. William F. Draper, who has many friends in Boston and on the North Shore, is to give a New Year's Eve dinner and dance on Dec. 31, at her home in Washington, for Miss Beatrice Clover, the debutante daughter of Rear Admiral Richardson Clover, U. S. N., retired, and Mrs. Clover. Early in January, Mrs. Draper will entertain at dinner for the ambassador of Italy and Contessa Macchi di Cellere, and on Jan. 21, she will entertain at dinner, with Cardinal Gibbons as the guest of honor. Mrs. Draper and her daughter, Miss Margaret Preston Draper have spent much of their time in Italy for the past five or six years. They plan to come to the North Shore next year again.

An association to give aid to French soldiers in the trenches has been organized in New York with headquarters at the Hotel Vanderbilt. To stimulate interest in this relief and to secure funds therefor in New England, a committee has been organized in Boston which has issued a circular which makes the following appeal to the public: "This winter on the Aisne, along a battle line extending a hundred miles, in trenches of frozen earth, the men of France and of her allies, covered with ice and driven by hail and sleet, are fighting for the ideals of democracy. It is not only shells that kill, but there is the suffering from cold and exposure. Will you help to relieve that suffering? When in the snows of Valley Forge your ancestors struggled to create this Republic, the strangers who came to their aid were La Fayette and the people of France. Let us now manifest our sympathy by efforts to relieve the suffering of her soldiers." The prime object of the fund is to provide an outfit of necessities known as the La Fayette Kit to be devoted to the immediate relief of the unavoidable suffering of the men in the trenches. The kits contain the following American-made articles: Fleece-lined shirt, fleece-lined drawers, 2 pair woolen socks, 1 pair woolen gloves, abdominal belt (with six safety pins), dark muffler, colored handkerchiefs and small cake soap. Two dollars will provide one kit which will have enclosed the name of the contributor. It has been arranged with the French authorities for the immediate free transportation from New York to Havre of all package received by them and for the delivery of these packages to the soldiers in the trenches within twenty-four hours after arrival in France. It is expected that weekly shipments will be made, the first for Xmas delivery having left on December 12th, 1914. To become a contributor send $2.00 or more; to become a subscriber send $20.00; to become a sustainer send $100.00; to become a founder send $500.00. The whole of each contribution goes to the soldiers in the field, and the executive committee in New York undertakes to pay all expenses. Cheques and money orders should be made payable to La Fayette Fund and mailed to the Old Colony Trust Company, 17 Court street, Boston. Members of the La Fayette Fund Boston committee are: Mrs. Russell Codman, Mrs. Allen Curtis, Mrs. William C. Endicott, Jr., Mrs. John Chipman Gray, Miss Alice M. Longfellow, Mrs. F. H. Prince, Mrs. Wolcott, Mrs. Francis S. Watson, Herbert Browne, Henley Luce, W. K. Richardson, Barrett Wendell, Templeman Coolidge and Robert M. Winthrop, chairman.

CORT THEATRE, BOSTON

Outlasting all other plays that have been presented in Boston this season "Peg O' My Heart" still beckons the theatregoer to the Cort Theatre for an evening of clean, clever and amusing comedy. The success of this play is a mark in Boston's theatrical history that bids fair to outrival all others. With almost the original cast of players who appeared in the two years' record run at the Cort Theatre in New York city. This is the best company Oliver Morosco could assemble and its members, even to those playing minor parts, are actors of fine abilities. Three members, H. Reeves

Smith, Hassard Short and Peter Bassett were with the original company in its opening performances and these three now have recorded nearly 750 performances each in their parts. Only one member has played in "Peg" less than 300 times. Miss Florence Martin portrays Peg, the bluntly honest Irish girl who truly deserves the Irish term of endearment, "Peg O' My Heart."

To guard against tree repair fakers, or quack tree surgeons, the Massachusetts forestry association will inspect the shade trees belonging to its members, free of charge.

Numerous cards have come over to Boston for the dance Mrs. Clarence Moore of Pride's Crossing is giving at Rauscher's in Washington, on Tuesday, Dec. 29, to present her daughter, Miss Frances Moore. A number of Boston men, undergraduates at Harvard, are going over for the event and will be house guests of their classmates who are home for the holidays.

E. Walter Clark, former commodore of the Philadelphia Corinthian Yacht club, treasurer of the syndicate that built the Defiance, a summer resident of Marblehead and a member of many yacht clubs, has the largest fleet of racing yachts owned by any one man in this country. Lately he has purchased the cup sloop Defiance from the other members of the syndicate and also the 65-foot sloop Istalena, which was owned by George M. Pynchon.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO December 24th, there was signed at Ghent, in Flanders, the treaty of peace between Great Britain and the United States, which marked the close of what has happily proved to be the last war between English-speaking peoples of the earth. Today the city of Ghent is at the very center of the terrible conflict that rages in Europe. The American Peace Centenary Committee cannot permit this anniversary to pass without inviting the thoughtful attention of their fellow citizens to the contrast presented by the century-long period of peace which English-speaking peoples have enjoyed among themselves on the one hand, and the appalling destruction of life, property and great monuments of civilization which the European war involves on the other. It had been our confident hope that the example which the English-speaking peoples have set in their relations with each other would be followed by the other great nations of the earth in their several international relations. It had been our earnest desire that the spirit of peaceful and friendly cooperation which each of these peoples manifests toward the people of the United States would also mark their dealings with one another. Unfortunately this was not to be, and we are sorrowfully called upon to mark our centenary celebration in the midst of the most terrible and destructive war that history records.

Even at such a time, we must avow once more our emphatic faith in the supremacy of justice over force, of law over might. We rejoice in the peaceful relations of a hundred years among all English-speaking peoples and particularly in the undefended and unfortified line, nearly four thousand miles in length, which divides the territory of the United States from that of the Dominion of Canada. The mutual trust, forbearance and helpfulness which make that undefended boundary a link and not a barrier between two peoples, we offer as an example to our warring brothers across the sea.

In addition he owns the 90-foot schooner Irolita, which he has raced for several seasons; the power boat Zipalong, used as tender to the Irolita, and a number of small craft, including the Marblehead one-designed 17-footer Skid-dymarink. Just what Commodore Clark intends to do with all these yachts is not known at present. It is said that he intends to change the Istalena to schooner rig. With the Istalena changed and re-rigged for the 1915 season, what Commodore Clark intends to do with the Defiance is somewhat of a mystery. The majority of the yachtsman who followed the racing of the big cup sloops last season, have the opinion that the Defiance can be changed in rig so that she will show her real speed. There is no doubt that the hull of the Defiance has as speedy lines as either the Resolute or Vanitie. To make the changes necessary in the Defiance will be very expensive. On the other hand the sloop rigged as a schooner with a moderate sail plan, in the opinion of other yachtsmen, would prove a very fast and comfortable cruiser.

It had been our purpose, when our Committee was organized in 1910, to plan for a great celebration of the centenary anniversary by various methods which have now, because of the terrible war which is still convulsing Europe and disturbing the whole world, become impracticable until the close of the conflict.

But we appeal to the people in all the States and to all civic bodies to mark this notable anniversary by suitable exercises in the churches of all denominations on the 14th of February, the date agreed upon for that purpose with our associate, the Canadian Committee; by formal addresses at the Capitals of the respective States on the 17th and 18th of February, the dates of the ratification and proclamation of the Treaty; and also by appropriate exercises in all the schools on the 22nd day of February, or on such later date or dates in the spring of 1915 as may be locally deemed preferable.

By which all the children of America should be instructed on the significance of this great event, and of the happy prospect which is assured to us, in spite of this horrible war, of another century of continued peace between all the English-speaking peoples of the world.

—THE AMERICAN PEACE CENTENARY COMMITTEE.

THE SPRINGFIELD REPUBLICAN

A newspaper of character. Able, independent, readable. Established in 1824 by Samuel Bowles. Daily (morning), $8; Sunday, $2; Weekly, $1 a year.

The Republican takes seriously its responsibilities to the public. It appeals for popular support by service that is guided by intelligence and a purpose to inform, assist and incidentally entertain and instruct its readers.

It gathers the news with enterprise and alertness, and presents it in attractive and convenient form. It disdains to employ the style of the circus poster and seeks to make itself typographically pleasing and tasteful.

It is extremely liberal in its provision of reading matter in all of its three editions. Its editorials constitute one of its distinguishing and most valued features. Literature, art, science, education, religion, philanthropy—all receive generous treatment in its columns; likewise agriculture and industry. Special attention is given to the various healthful outdoor sports.

The Weekly Republican is made up with great care for the wide audience outside of the local environment. It is, in fact, a rich weekly magazine sold at a remarkably low price.

Subscription Rates: Daily (morning), $8 a year; $2 a quarter; 70 cents a month; 16 cents a week, 3 cents a copy. Daily and Sunday, $10 a year; $2.50 a quarter; 85 cents a month; 20 cents a week. Sunday, $2 a year; 50 cents a quarter; 5 cents a copy. Weekly (Thursdays), $1 a year; 25 cents a quarter; 10 cents a month; 3 cents a copy.

Specimen copies sent free on application. The Weekly Republican will be sent free for three weeks to anyone who wishes to try it. All subscriptions are payable in advance.

No. 52

BRITAIN'S COAST has been attacked and the theories that have hitherto been held by the people of the Kingdom concerning the impregnable character of its naval defences have been exploded. The attack may be in the nature of a feint and have no real bearing upon the ultimate victory either of the allies or of Germany. It is, however, certain that there are some secondary results of the bombardment. It shows that Germany has abandoned all forms of civilized warfare and declined to abide by the international law which provided for immunity of unprotected cities and towns. That the British fleet has been unable to properly patrol the coast is plain; else how was it possible for the German cruisers to make their raid and successfully retreat. It shows to the government the tragic blunder that was made when Helgoland was ceded to Germany. While the attack has caused a deep feeling of apprehension to pass over all England it has stirred the patriotism of the young men with such a spirit that the recruiting officers have been busy. That any nation should countenance such villainy seems unthinkable, but it is to be presumed that the reply would be "all is fair in war." To remonstrate with Germany over its activities before Hartlepool, Scarborough and Whitby would avail nothing. And no appeal need be made to neutral nations; the facts do not need to become a matter for national communications. The nations of the earth have heard and know the meaning only too well of the British raid. If the German fleet has swung free of the North Sea base there ought to be some interesting developments. The Hartlepool attack was Germany's answer to the battle off the Falkland Islands even as that battle was England's answer to the Pacific encounter. Human nature is exceedingly cruel in its balancing activities that are born of revenge. War is a return to the semi-civilized state of man when the law is an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth. The raid has stirred all England and that feeling, perhaps, will find expression in a sea attack upon Germany's naval forces. Hartlepool is but a small matter compared with the violation of Belgium neutrality and its dire consequences. The German government has tried to justify the Belgian raids as measures of military necessity, but what military necessity compelled armed cruisers to shoot up three defenceless towns? The whole incident reveals the atrocity of war and the low depths to which a nation can sink under the miasmatic influence of the War God.

A MERRY CHRISTMAS at home with sad thoughts for the broken homes in Europe! There is no Christmas in the trenches.

THE FRATERNITY MEMBERS of the colleges in America do not have so high a standing in their studies as do the non-fraternity men, it is asserted. There is no sense in disparaging the value and advantage of book instruction and knowledge. But life is as much a matter of persons as it is of books. The man is greater than the book. Books are mere methods of convenience in communicating the thoughts of men. The non-fraternity men do not necessarily deny themselves of companionship, but it is nevertheless true that a fraternity is one of the most helpful institutions in college life for the promotion of good-fellowship in the highest and best sense of the words. It is well to study books, but friendship may mean more in the enrichment of a human life in the end. Knowledge of books and men both have their place in life, and while the college may "mark" a man in ranks by studies, life gains may best be obtained by friendship.

WELLESLEY COLLEGE has felt the embarrassing circumstances incident to the European war as much as any institution hereabouts. The fire which caused so great a loss was discouraging, but the royal way in which the graduates of that institution rallied to her colors was inspiring. The improvement fund grew rapidly under the pressure and self-denial of the loyal workers in Wellesley's cause. But the war has put a check upon its financial progress. To gain the $750,000 which has been promised the institution needs but $15,000. Such a useful institution ought not to be embarrassed by failure in this exigency. Some kind friend or friends should come to the rescue.

THE NEWSPAPERS indicate that the conditions of depression are showing themselves in an outbreak of crime. In one trade alone, that of carpentry, there are two thousand men out of employment in the city of Boston. The weaker men, who in times of peace are law-abiding, find in the idleness of unemployment and the pinch of poverty, conditions which instead of steadying them appears to open opportunities and irritations which lead to crime. It is a sociological symptom that cannot be overlooked.

A MILD CRITICISM of the financial policy of Boston University has drawn President Murlin's fire. President Murlin was doubtless delighted to have the opportunity to present his case. He has done it well. A policy of "pay as you go" need not necessarily mean a policy of retrenchment. It is seen by the figures that the annual budget has increased, showing progress. The increase has been due to broader fields of work and not to salary increases as much as such increases are desirable.

THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT can surely take some middle ground in its Army and Navy policy. The nation ought never to be fully prepared for war, but it ought to be possible, nevertheless, to develop some policy of national defence that would not open the nation to the attacks of a European power.

SHALL IT BE electric lights or gas lights? Even this discussion is pleasanter than the choice between lantern light and candle light. The ancient fathers would have considered the Manchester streets veritable "white ways." The conveniences of yesterday are the inconveniences of today.

ONE OF THE MARKED RESULTS of the retrenching policy which has been operative on the North Shore during the last three months is the decrease in the foreign laboring population in most of the towns.

GERMANY KNOWS How to play the war game; every move counts and no move is an error. There was no particular merit in the Hartlepool incident, but it was perpetrated with a purpose. The Agardir incident throws a flood of light upon Germany's methods. Into a Morocco harbor a German cruiser steamed. Germany wished to discover whether an alliance existed secretly between France and England. She found out. The underlying motive that impelled the Whitby attack was successful. As an incident to rattle the nerves of the English people it was a failure. Such an idea is not reasonable. Four German battle line vessels were not sent out for that simple purpose. The bombardment was an incidental item in a larger problem. But Germany has nevertheless done Lord Kitchener a good turn. It has meant at least two new army corps. What has Germany in mind?

THE WISEACRES are already electing a president for 1916. But we have no fear of lightning.

SOME FACTS ABOUT THE EX-POSITION TO OPEN AT SAN FRANCISCO
FEB. 20, 1915.

(Matter and electro furnished by Francis M. Chase, general manager of the Trans-Continental Publicity Party, of Boston, San Diego and San Francisco. Mr. Chase has agreed to furnish the Breeze with similar features from time to time, during the preparatory and active period of California's unprecedented exposition.—ED.)

The Panama-Pacific International Exposition has been authorized by Act of Congress of the United States as the nation's celebration of the construction and opening of the Panama Canal. It is officially located at San Francisco, the central and dominant harbor city of the Pacific Slope. By proclamation of the President of the United States the nations of the earth have been invited to participate therein.

The exposition will be held in the year 1915, opening February 20th, closing December 4th, a period of 288 days.

On the day it opens it will represent an aggregate expenditure of about fifty million dollars. A sum of about $20,000,000 has been raised entirely by the citizens of California, to enable them properly to perform the duties entrusted to them by the nation.

Actual construction work was publicly begun October 14, 1911, President Taft turning the first spadeful of earth and on February 2, 1912, he made official proclamation of the celebration, inviting the nations to join therein.

THE PRESENT WAR HAS SHOWN the usefulness of the submarine and its indispensable power in warfare, but a man of peace cannot but feel that they are "mean little rats." The type of warfare for which they stand is repugnant to the modern sense of fair play.

THOSE WHO KNOW the military ideals and fanaticism of the Crown Prince of Germany cannot but devoutly wish that the Kaiser's throat trouble will soon be cured. It is a well known fact that the father's peaceful desires have many times been antagonized by the son.

THE WAR STILL READS like some unreal and far away dream. The correspondent who wrote from Vienna is more nearly right when she says, "it seems as though the whole world had suddenly gone mad." That hits it just right.

THE INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION to study the Foundations sounds like some new-fangled name for a labor organization, but it is only a government investigation of a few choice richly endowed charities.

The Panama Canal, by affording a more direct waterway for lines of ocean travel, will promote the commerce of the entire world, and thus advance the welfare of every nation.

New areas of productivity will develop, and new commercial exchanges will be established.

The location of this celebration on the line of what is termed "the meeting place of the East and West," will, therefore, best enable the Exposition to illustrate and emphasize the good work of the Canal, and must prove of the greatest geographical convenience to all countries and peoples.

The influence of the Canal upon the world's commerce and civilization has been considered in the plan of the exposition. It is made contemporaneous and beautiful, its classification of exhibits comprehensive and its power for good should be greater than that of any previous International Exposition.

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts will be adequately represented by the following Board of Managers: Peter H. Corr, chairman; Mrs. Charles S. Hamlin, Mrs. John Hays Hammond, George F. Mead, Alexander Sedgwick, Charles O. Power, secretary.

The Mock Trail Breach of Promise case in the Town hall last Friday night was a pronounced success from every standpoint. The hall was filled to its capacity, every seat being sold. The characters, as announced in a previous issue of the Breeze, all carried off their parts in splendid fashion from the presiding Justice down. Mrs. Nellie Smith as the plaintiff and Albert Cunningham as defendant had their respective witnesses and the jury of twelve brought in a verdict of $3.48 against Mr. Cunningham. G. A. Knoerr as a German witness was the particular bright spot in the whole show. There were some local hits which created more or less merriment all through the performance.

Mr. Carter will call and show the lamp and will leave one on a few days' trial. adv.

Persons passing by the Charles O. Lee house on Union street have been attracted by the Christmas decorations in the rooms on the lower floor, which are most attractive this year as usual. All the windows and glassed-in piazza are set off in greenery and Christmas decorations. The feature of the display in one room is the collection of birds of the wood, all local, the birds resting in branches. This collection includes also a small owl and a squirrel. If everybody took the active interest in decorations at this season as does Mr. and Mrs. Lee Christmas would be made all the more enjoyable for everybody.

We still have a very good assortment of very useful articles for Xmas gifts. Come in this afternoon and evening and see for yourself. E. A. Lethbridge. adv.

MANCHESTER BROTHERHOOD

"SAVING OF MEN," SUBJECT OF INTERESTING TALK.

The regular meeting of the Manchester Brotherhood was held in the vestry of the Baptist church last Monday evening. Rev. Albert E. Isaacs of Dorchester Temple, Boston, was the speaker of the evening. Rev. M. Isaacs took as his subject, "Saving of Men."

The saving of men this side of the grave is a problem which confronts our great nation, said the speaker. The United States government is spending large amounts annually in their health department, and for sanitation and pure-food perfection. The government in making laws do so with the one idea of saving men; to give to man the greatest opportunities towards progress. Our states and cities are also endeavoring to improve such conditions. This makes its beginning with the public school and system in which they are conducted. As the average life of man is 33 years one is endeavoring to get the most out of this short period. The child enters the schools at the age of five years and from that time on he is administered to, in the most productive manner.

Two of the most important things in a man's life is morality and religion. Without either of these there can be no progress.

In some of the foreign countries the governments have tried to extend morality and religion, but this is not a governmental problem, but one that should be left to the church. Such nations that have tried it, have not proved successful. The saving of men physically, mentally, and morally in home and civil life is indeed a great problem. The Sunday schools that are attended by many millions of our young boys and girls, study and are instructed on the inner life of man. The progress of life is all upstream and a large amount of will-power is required along with the help of our institutions and schools to keep on the path of progress.

Rev. Mr. Isaacs spoke of a number of incidents which occurred at different periods of his life, proving most interesting.

At the close of his address the minutes of the previous meeting were read. It was announced that the Manchester Brotherhood would not be represented at the Christmas Carnival owing to the fact that most of the members were also members of other organizations which were to be represented and therefore there would not be a sufficient number to form.

The usual collation was served at the close of the meeting.

NORTH SHORE HORTI. SOCIETY

This society will hold its annual banquet on Jan. 27. The banquet will be furnished by a caterer and will be followed by a short entertainment. Dancing will continue until twelve o'clock. Music will be furnished by Long's orchestra. Further, details will be given at a later date regarding tickets, etc.

The next meeting of the society will be held on Friday evening Jan. 1st. All members are cordially invited to be present and help to start the society on a successful New Year.

Mr. Frank S. Gifford of the Essex County Agricultural School will lecture on "Breeds of Cattle." The meeting will commence promptly at 7.30. The society extends a cordial invitation to any one interested in this subject.

BOSTON OPERA HOUSE

The New Year will usher in an interesting and important theatrical undertaking, when the Henry Jewett Players will open their season of repertoire in the Boston Opera House, with a performance of "As You Like It," on January 1. The new company will be under the artistic direction of Mr. Jewett, who needs no introduction to the American public; and Mr.
W. R. Macdonald, of the Boston
Opera Company will be manager.

The aim of the new enterprise, stated simply and briefly, is to present the best of classical and modern plays, with the utmost attention to perfection of assemble, at the lowest possible prices. The company is one of unusual excellence and even balance, English throughout. The closing, during the past fortnight, of two splendid English companies in New York, gave Mr. Jewett and Mr. Macdonald a large number of remarkably able players from whom to choose their own company.

The prices for these productions will be truly popular, ranging from fifteen cents in the gallery, to fifty cents in the orchestra. Public approbation and support assured, as at last Boston will have the opportunity, so long discussed and coveted, of seeing Shakespeare adequately and understandingly produced, in a house that is a dignified and worthy setting for the classics, and at prices that all can afford.

MAGNOLIA

The second of the annual series of concerts at the Village church was given Sunday night with a large congregation present. Edward H. Frye of Auburndale, a reader of many years' experience, gave Rev. Dr. Edward Everett Hale's "The Man Without a Country" in a manner not soon to be forgotten by his audience. Mr. Frye's reading is of the quiet sort but intensely dramatic and his account of the life of Mr. Hale's hero, Philip Nolan was so graphic that the audience was at once in sympathy.

The story hinges upon the ruin which fascinating Aaron Burr brought to Nolan, then lieutenant in the United States Army and stationed at Fort Adams on the Mississippi. When the story of Burr's treason came out Lieut. Nolan was of those who were caught within the net. In a moment of frenzy he, at his own trial, called down a curse upon the United States and expressed a wish that he might never set eyes upon his country again. His wish was fulfilled in a more tragic way than he had ever dreamed of for he was sentenced to a lifelong exile from his homeland. On a government ship he cruised for years, many times transferred, sometimes allowed to land upon a foreign shore, but never hearing or reading a word about his country.

Through many trying and tragic experiences Philip Nolan expiated his youthful impetuosity, living for fifty-six years the hitherto unprecedented life of the man without a country and becoming more reticent and gentle with each succeeding year. He made friends occasionally with officers on the boats and these men moved heaven and earth to secure his pardon at Washington, but without avail.

When, at last he came to die an officer by the name of Danforth broke the silence of half a century and told poor Nolan the history of the country he had loved so well in spite of his one great misstep. The gentle old man's last moments were brightened by the news and he died peacefully, happy, perhaps, that at last he was going "home."

Mr. Frye's interpretation of the well remembered scene of the frigate duel in which Nolan takes charge of the men, the captain having been shot down, and inspired them to a splendid victory, was very fine and the pathos of the scene on the Portuguese slave vessel touched every person present.

DOCKSTADER AT KEITH'S THEATRE
Lew Dockstader, the foremost minstrel comedy star of the universe, and Henry E. Dixey, the distinguished American actor, will be the two principal headliners at B. F. Keith's Theatre next week in a bill that fairly bristles with good things. Lew Dockstader will offer his original Rooseveltian monologue, appearing as "Teddy" in "My Policies." Henry E. Dixey will present his latest "Mono-Drama-Vaud-Ologue." This clever and strikingly versatile artist will offer a jumble of singing, dancing, recitations and character work that is both unusually attractive and displaying the highest histrionic ability. This big spectacular feature will be William J. Dooley and his company of juvenile entertainers in "The Lawn Party," a big musical comedy revue.

It is a mistake for men to imagine women are always talking about their dresses. Sometimes they are talking about their hats.

It is quite superfluous for a man to tell a woman he isn't worthy of her. If she thought he was, she wouldn't want him.

All arrangements for the Village Christmas tree have been made. The event takes place in Marshall's field, off Central Square, where a fine large tree has been set up and decorated with tinsel and hundreds of colored electric light bulbs. The celebration will start at 8 o'clock sharp this evening (Christmas Eve) although the tree will be lighted at dusk. The entertainment program will consist of music by the Beverly Farms Band, Carols by the school children and by the populace, a reading by Miss Bartlett, dances by the children and a visit from Santa Claus, who will distribute candy to the children. The exercises will last an hour, but the tree will be kept lighted until mid-night and will also be lighted on Christmas from dark to mid-night. Everyone is expected to come, join in the exercises and have a good time. In case of a heavy storm the exercises will be postponed until the first clear night.

The recount of votes cast in the recent municipal election took place at City Hall Monday under the direction of the Board of Registrars. There was little change in the result. Mayor Herman A. MacDonald gained 4 votes, making his election by the recount 33 votes instead of 29. Of interest and much satisfaction to the people of Ward 6, the Mayor's home Ward which gave him 208 votes, or a lead of 147 votes over his competitors, was the fact that the Ward 6 vote was found to be absolutely correct, as reported on election day.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Naylor, Hale st., are rejoicing over the arrival of a fine baby boy, which came to their home the latter part of last week.

Mrs. Winthrop F. Low is in Baltimore, Md., visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Grove, former residents of Beverly Farms.

Beverly Farms boys and girls should pay some attention to the request of Mrs. John Caswell, if they hope to be privileged to skate on the pond at her estate this winter. Mrs. Caswell has had some notices printed to the following effect: "For several winters Mrs. John Caswell has tried to get good skating on her pond. This year she hopes, if the boys and girls of Beverly Farms understand that it is for their good as well as hers, they will keep the following rules: 1. No fires allowed. 2. No one must break trees or shrubs, or throw anything on the ice. 3. Until January, no one must skate on flooded fields, but must keep on ice across the brook. This water is deep in places. Mrs. Caswell keeps a ladder and rope there in case of accident, and these must not be taken away. If these rules are not kept, no skating will be allowed."

The news of the death of Judge Joseph T. Wilson of Nahant, which occurred at Orlando, Fla., on Tuesday, caused sincere regret among many at Beverly Farms who knew him well. He was the senior member of the carpentry and building firm of J. T. Wilson & Son with a branch place of business on Haskell st. ## Protection for the Home

The strongest desire of husband and wife is the welfare of their children.

The husband works hard to provide for them, and would be glad to know how best to safeguard them.

The wife works hard, too—in the home—and is equally interested with her husband in sound insurance protection, such as that offered by the

NET COST LOW IN THE POSTAL BECAUSE

2nd. Renewal Commission Dividends and Office-Expense Savings covered by the guaranteed dividends, go to Postal Policyholders in subsequent years.

3rd. Beginning at the close of the second year, the usual contingent policy-dividends, based on the Company's earnings, still further reduce the cost each year after the first.

It will pay you to find out just what the POSTAL LIFE can and will do for you. The Company issues all the standard legal-reserve policy-forms: it supplies full personal information to all applicants—men, women and young people—and distance from New York does not hinder. Just write and say:

"Mail me life-insurance particulars for my age" and be sure to mention this Paper.

In your letter be sure to give

1. Your Full Name
2. Your Occupation
3. The Exact Date of your Birth

The request for information places you under no obligations and no agent will be sent to visit you. The Postal Life does not employ agents but gives its policyholders the benefit of agents' commissions—the first year and every other.
